Oklahoma 'Insulted,' Wants to Quit Bowl

University of Oklahoma, sizzling over insults hurled at its won't-sit-down football players New Year's Day, Wednesday proclaimed it doesn't "have to go" to the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma's Board of Regents asked the Big Eight Conference to amend the contract requiring the league champion to play in the game, and at least one Orange Bowl Committeeman agreed that would be a splendid idea.

President George L. Cross said in Norman, Okla., his request stemmed directly from the hassle over Oklahoma players not using a knee-high dugout for its substitutes during the 21-6 victory over Syracuse New Year's Day. The Sooners were pelted with insults, paper cups and ice cubes by irate box seat fans who paid $7.50 to see a bunch of broad backs.

"I want to go on record to this board (Oklahoma Board of Regents) that our team will not go to Miami again until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior at the sideline," Cross asserted.

"If there isn't a clear understanding about that behavior," fired OB Committeeman Van C. Kussrow, "I, for one, don't want that team back. We paid Oklahoma to come here. they didn't pay us."

Cross said the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level.

Kussrow could only gasp at this.

"And I," he finally said, "was one of the men who negotiated the contract which brought Oklahoma here."

Under terms of the new three-year contract which started with the Oklahoma-Syracuse contest, no Big Eight team can appear in the Orange Bowl two years in a row. The rule was waived this year due to the Bowl's Silver Anniversary, but Oklahoma now is ineligible for the game until 1961.

A just-expired five-year contract called for the Big Eight champion to meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. Oklahoma played in the Orange Bowl three times — defeating Maryland in 1954 and 1956, and Duke in 1958—under that pact. The Sooners lost to Tennessee in 1939.

Cross proposed that the Big Eight select one of its members, but not necessarily the champion, to play in the Orange Bowl until the contract runs out. (The present contract definitely calls for the cham-

Ike Against Stiffening Integration

Says Voting Rights More Important

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected the idea of new federal legislation to enforce public school integration. He said it was more important for the new Congresss to strengthen Negro voting rights.

Eisenhower made the statement during an unprecedented 50-minute question-and-answer session with more than 500 members of the National Press Club which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The President said that once the right to vote is firmly guaranteed by federal law, state and local voters would solve the school problem and insure the "proper observance of their other rights."

Eisenhower described as "tragic" the fact that public schools were shut down in some areas to avoid compliance with Federal Court integration orders. He said the image of America was being damaged overseas because thousands of children were being deprived of their rightful education.

The President also covered these subjects:

FEDERAL ECONOMY — A balanced budget and stabilized cost of living would increase chances for tax relief. However, he is not thinking in terms of personal income tax cuts in 1960. He warned special pressure groups to lay off demands for heavy federal spending in their areas.

POLITICS — He will take a hand in the selection of a 1960 Republican presidential nominee if the front-runner turns out to be a man whose basic philosophy clashes with his. He said there were at least a dozen "fine virile men in the Republican Party I could gladly support."

MISSILES — Russia undoubtedly is ahead of the U.S. in some phases of rocket development and it would be "stupid" to assume otherwise. But U.S. scientists have made "very remarkable progress" in a comparatively short time. He has the fullest confidence in the "balanced" American approach to defense.

RUSSIA — Eisenhower would welcome more visits like that of Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. On the

Warning on Budget Pleas to Congress

Don't Bypass Ike, Secret Note Says

It Aims At Defense Officials

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's budget chief has warned defense officials against going over the President's head and asking Congress for more military funds than the new budget provides.

The edict was laid down in a secret memo which Budget Director Maurice H. Stans sent two weeks ago to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. It ruled out both public and secret bids to Congress for more money.

While the memo did not threaten any reprisals if the order was disobeyed, it said "executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations."

The memorandum was made public at a time when many Democrats were complaining that the President's new defense budget was sacrificing national security in favor of a balanced budget.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 31, fell into the hands of Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D. Pa.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, who made it available to United Press International.

He called for an immediate inquiry into what he termed this "latest affront" to congressional dignity.

"What kind of groveling, heel-clicking faceless wonders will this memorandum make of Defense Department witnesses before the armed services and appropriations committees of the Congress?" Flood demanded.

"It is a sham and a fraud to say that this memorandum is other than a deliberately-intended threat and gag to witnesses. It is what the letter leaves unsaid that is the true evil! The Sword of Damocles indeed . . . in this atmosphere, Machiavelli would be a rank amateur."

The Stans memorandum said in part:

"It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record."

The memo said direct congressional questions must be answered frankly. But it said any witness "who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget" should point out that Eisenhower's decision was reached "from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of over-riding national policy."

Trujillo Finds 3 Is a Crowd; Puts Chill on Batista, Peron

By PEGGE PARKER
Herald Special Writer

CIUDAD. Trujillo, Domincan Republic — There is a crowd. And no one is more painfully aware of it than unloved, unwanted, unemployed dictators.

Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo and his two deposed colleagues, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and Juan Peron of Argentina, have agreed to ignore each other.

They live within a few blocks of each other here, but they have not met. They don't want to meet.

Their relationship is icily formal. And it is as clear as the blue waters of the Caribbean along side this dictatorship paradise that any untoward delay in the departure of Batista's 150 refugees will be met with, "Here's your sombrero, what's your hurry?"

Batista is keeping himself occupied these days with a depressing mixture of memories and regrets. He has broken the silence of his gloomy meditations only once, releasing a statement Wednesday that he was "forced" to flee because he was short of arms.

Written law for granting asylum, plus the gentlemen's agreement among Latin American bosses (who never know who will be next), was sufficient assurance for Batista to fly here in wildest haste.

But as an American businessman here put it: "Trujillo does business only with winners, even if he hates their guts. He has already recognized Castro and wants no political identity with Batista, his party, or his hangers-on."

To Batista's embarrassment, the Trujillo government already has hinted it may turn over his four evacuation planes to Castro.

When Perez Jimenez fled Venezuela, Trujillo promptly returned that plane to the new Venezuelan government. It would surprise no one if Batista receives the same treatment.

Although Trujillo set up Batista with a plush ultra-modern bungalow next door to his own castle-in-Spain-style Foreign Office, he has snubbed him completely. Trujillo has made no "courtesy gestures" whatsoever.

He Sees 'Years of Danger'

Senate Unit Backs Up Dulles on Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won firm backing from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday for his insistence on the right of Western Allies to keep their troops in Berlin.

A resolution supporting this stand was informally approved during a closed-door briefing by Dulles on the international situation. The resolution also backs Dulles' insistence on maintaining free access to the city inside Communist-dominated East Germany.

Dulles called on the American people to face up to years "full of danger" with self-sacrifice and self-discipline.

"We shall need the national will to stand firm in the face of the aggressive threats and probings from the Sino-Soviet bloc," he said.

Formal action on the resolution, aimed at voicing the committee's sentiment in advance of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's talks this weekend with President Eisenhower and Dulles, was held up pending further discussion.

Dulles told the committee the need for "austerity and sacrifice" may continue for generations.

"We may face a period even harder than we have become used to," he said.

The secretary declared:

"The price of failure would be the destruction of all our national objectives . . . We must press on with courage to build surer foundations for the interdependent world community of which we are a part.

"This will call for austerity and sacrifice on the part of all."

Dulles told the committee U. S. foreign policy has three basic purposes: To block aggressive force, to promote human dignity and freedom, and to stimulate economic growth and inter-dependence.

"These goals are not attainable in a few years, but will require decades and perhaps even generations."

Dulles said the primary threat is the rapid economic and industrial growth of Red China and the Soviet bloc through forced labor.

The U.S. must stand firm in the face of Communist threats and probings, he said, and make "whatever national sacrifices may be necessary."

Winter Hits North Again

CHICAGO —(AP)— Winter started a vigorous comeback Wednesday as a broad front of Arctic air plunged southward into the midcontinent.

Temperatures tumbled to near zero at noon in North Dakota and were expected to reach 15 below by early Thursday in northern Minnesota.

Colder weather was in store for much of the area from the Rockies to the Appalachians by Thursday afternoon.

How Fans Stand On Sit-Down

By GENE MILLER
Herald Staff Writer

That hardy breed of mankind which enjoys sitting on hard boards and watching padded players knock each other down — the football fan — got a chance to get in some off-season controversy Wednesday.

Oklahoma was both denounced and praised for its standing-room-only stand.

Fans, coaches and innocent bystanders offered comment. Here's what they said:

"No coach wants his boys in a cave," said Haywood Fowle, Edison High coach. "That dugout stuff is no good. They would do better to build a new tier on the stadium."

The Miami Jackson coach, Roy French, sat behind the Oklahoma team himself. "I came to see the ball game and didn't," he grumbled. "So I went home at halftime and watched TV."

A baseball-preferred fan, Joe Stewart, 5155 NE Second St., had the whole thing doped out: "You watch. The Big Eight will go to the Rosebowl and the Big Ten will come here. Both bowls need a change of scenery anyway."

Miss Jude Lowenhaupt, a telephone operator, said, "We sponsor them. The players are just like actors and actresses. They're salaried personnel. They ought to sit down when they're told to."

"Paying $180,000 for those college boys — that's ridiculous," said Peter Timmons, of 153 NW Second St. "They ought to hire the pros, that's what."

Patrick Lawton, an elevator company superintendent, said, "Oklahoma should be ashamed of itself. I don't care if it ever comes back."

Jack Sitt, an E. Flagler St. merchant, sided with Oklahoma. "I don't blame them. If I was playing, you couldn't keep me in that pit, that dungeon."

Nick Kotys, Gables High coach, waved the Oklahoma banner. "I don't want my boys sitting on a bench either. They get too complacent. I want them exhausted afterwards — even if they didn't get in."

Jess Yarborough, an Orange Bowl Committeeman and former coach, held his aching head.

"Why did I ever bring that up? It was so little. The whole thing has been blown up and magnified."

New Auxiliary Building

Herald Expands Press Facilities

Six high-speed newspaper press units soon will thunder out another tribute to Miami's dynamic population progress.

They are being installed by The Miami Herald in a new auxiliary building in the city's Northwest section.

The additional, full-color units will go into operation this spring, in March or April, General Manager James L. Knight announced Wednesday.

The equipment will bridge the gap pending completion of The Herald's new 20-million-dollar building which will rise between Venetian and MacArthur causeways on Biscayne Bay.

Plans for the big central building call for 8 presses consisting of 59 units.

"But our circulation growth has been so rapid that we cannot wait for completion of the new plant," Knight pointed out.

The extra equipment will mark a sharp jump in printing capacity over The Herald's current 32 units in operation at the present downtown location.

The auxiliary plant will remain in operation even after opening of the new building, the general manager said.

"The equipment will enable the paper to solve many production problems which have developed in our circulation growth," he explained. It probably will be used to produce The Herald's state editions and possibly some of its suburban issues.

The auxiliary building fronts on NW 24th Ave. between 22nd and 23rd St. Its 21,000 square feet will provide space for 24 units if needed, and will house complete wrapping, bundling and mailing equipment.

Gearing to meet the challenge of South Florida's dramatic growth, The Herald already had acquired warehouse facilities across the Seaboard Airline tracks from the new auxiliary building. The warehouse added storage space for 7,500 tons of newsprint. The facilities will be served by their

Goldwater Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Republican senators Wednesday postponed for a week a showdown vote on the question of installing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as their campaign chairman.

The postponement was announced by Sen. Styles Bridges (New Hampshire) chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, as he left a closed meeting of his Republican colleagues.

The senators had assembled to consider a proposed rule change which would let those GOP senators seeking reelection next year choose the campaign chairman. This move apparently would assure the selection of Goldwater.

Super-Salesman Talks Up Revolt at Waldorf

Arise, Ye Capitalists of U.S., And Trade, Mikoyan Cries

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, hobnobbing with the capitalists his country calls warmongers, Wednesday night appealed to American businessmen to go over the head of their government and trade with Russia.

Mikoyan's frank appeal capped a day in which he declared he liked Americans — and seemed determined to prove his point.

He toured Macy's department store, discussed international trade and finance with men in Wall St., and sipped American-made vodka with millionaires at a reception given by former Gov. Averell Harriman.

After tasting the luxuries of capitalism during the whirlwind tour, Mikoyan criticized this nation's trade policies toward his homeland in a speech before the Economic Club at the Waldorf-Astoria.

"There was a time when you knew what you could buy and sell from Russia," Mikoyan said, "but it appears during the cold war you forgot."

He recalled that back in the days of Henry Ford Sr. the auto maker had "dealings with our government" at a time when "your government had no relations with us."

"Today," Mikoyan complained, "businessmen have to hire a group of lawyers to find out what they can and can't sell to us. Recently we tried to buy some chemical equipment from your country here. But when it was not forthcoming, we asked the company 'Why,' and they said the State Department was checking it but made no decision."

The Russian's speech received limited applause when he began it, but the audience warmed up to the Kremlin's trade expert and ended by laughing and applauding.

In the afternoon, Russia's expansive representative attended a reception in the posh Park Ave. home of Harriman, an old acquaintance from World War II days when Harriman was U.S. ambassador in Moscow. There he rubbed elbows with a host of wealthy Americans including Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Cuba Decides to Go On Executing War Criminals

180 Shot: Speedup Ordered

HAVANA —(AP)— Cuba's provisional government appeared determined Wednesday to continue executing Batistans adjudged war criminals, regardless of what the world thinks. Revolutionary tribunals moved swiftly to bring more suspects to trial.

Estimates of the number jailed in the island nation's six provinces swelled from 4,000 to 6,000. Suspects are still being hunted down. Perhaps 5,000 or more remain at large. Some are accused of acting as informers, others of a variety of misdeeds.

Fidel Castro, the civil war victor who now heads the Cuban armed forces, has recommended long terms at hard labor for those convicted of lesser crimes. He reiterated Tuesday night that murderers and traitors must die.

He ordered tribunals to speed the trials. His topflight commanders backed him up.

Castro and other Cubans contend that Cuba has as much right to exterminate war criminals as the Allies had in condemning Nazi leaders at the Nuernberg trials after World War II.

There is evidence of a growing irritation among Cubans over world criticism of the executions, particularly from the U.S.

Cuba's man-in-the-street said the critics failed to condemn atrocities under the dictatorship and that U.S. arms supplied to Batista had contributed to the killing of hundreds of innocent civilians. The U.S. arms shipments were suspended last spring.

It looked for a while early Wednesday as if the revolutionists were relenting.

John J. Skelly, a newsman from Washington accredited at the foreign ministry to distribute government statements to foreign correspondents, gave news agencies a statement saying the provisional government had ordered a suspension of the executions.

Skelly said the statement was authorized by Carlos Franqui, press coordinator at the Presidential Palace and director of the newspaper Revolucion, an organ of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Franqui was quoted as saying the suspension was ordered after Castro conferred Tuesday night with Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and a presidential secretary, Louis Zuch.

But key points in the statement were denied later by the presidential secretariat and by Franqui.

Reporters assigned to the Presidential Palace were told executions in fact are continuing in accordance with due process of law and Castro and Urrutia did not meet Tuesday.

It said both Cuban and foreign newsmen will be invited to watch the trials and names of all persons executed will be published, along with the charges on which they were convicted.

Because of Eye Ailment

Billy Graham Told To Rest, Cut Pace

ROCHESTER, Minn. —(AP)— Evangelist Billy Graham will have to take at least a month's rest and then curtail future activities as a result of a serious eye ailment, his personal physician said Wednesday night.

Dr. Kenneth Gieser of Chicago, working with Mayo Clinic physicians, said early tests had confirmed an angio spastic edema of the macula in the left eye. He said the blood vessels back of the retina were not ruptured as was first believed.

(A spastic edema was described as an abnormal swelling of blood vessels brought on by accumulation of serous fluids because of muscle spasms back of the retina.)

Grady Wilson, a Graham associate, said the minister would continue under examination and treatment here, probably for the rest of the week. He said Graham also would take the month's rest which was advised by the doctors.

Wilson said Graham still was planning to undertake the Australian revival campaign, with its start delayed to Feb. 15 instead of the earlier planned Feb. 8 date. But Wilson said the Australian schedule probably would be somewhat shortened.

Wilson said a complete report covering Graham's physical condition was not expected until later as examinations are continuing. He said also it had not yet been decided where Graham might spend the three weeks of ordered rest after he leaves the clinic, expected at the end of this week.

Panama Lets Coast Law Stand

PANAMA CITY, Panama —(AP)— The National Assembly unanimously rejected a U.S. request for reconsideration of its law extending Panama's territorial waters. The extension to 12 miles boxes in the Panama Canal entrances.

An assembly resolution asked friendly nations to support the extension from the previous three-mile limit. The law passed last month promised free passage to innocent shipping.

During a debate on the U.S. request, former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd called for Panama to receive half of the gross revenue from the canal, which is operated by the U.S. under long-term treaty.

Boyd, who has presidential ambitions, asserted that the U.S. makes 100 million dollars from the canal while paying Panama only $1,900,000 a year. He said Panama was not seeking a voice in canal administration but considered half of the total income as its fair share.

The Panama Canal Co. reported that in the year ending July 1 it collected nearly 43 million dollars in tolls and made a net profit of $2,656,000. The U.S. pays Panama $1,930,000 a year for use of the 10-mile-wide canal strip, which includes three miles of the water off each end.

Six Sailors Die as They Ram Truck

PENSACOLA — (UPI) — Six Navy men were killed and three others critically injured Wednesday when their Navy carry-all vehicle ran a stop sign and plowed into a huge tractor truck, the Highway Patrol said.

State Trooper N. F. Tippin said witnesses reported the Navy panel truck ran a stop sign at about 50 miles an hour. The driver of the big truck, Robert K. Albaught, was not injured.

The Navy identified the dead as Richard A. Saah, driver of the carry-all; William M. Hammond, Michael G. McMahon, Frederick E. Bates, Darcey C. Parella and Thomas J. Ragsdale.

All enlisted men, they had been in Pensacola on Navy business and were returning to Whiting at the time of the crash.

Cuban leader has been paying all his own bills.

Presumably, this is the least of Batista's worries. Rumor holds that he carted off upward of 50 million dollars on the plane ride from Havana alone.

The treasure was so frantically guarded at the landing that one of Batista's children got lost in the shuffle and boarded a New Orleans-bound getaway plane. The child is now at Batista's Daytona Beach estate.

Batista's loyal troops dine well on steaks and lobsters served a la carte from the best hotel in town. The daily food bill runs to $150, payable in cash. It is.

Meanwhile Senora Batista has been house-hunting, obviously eager to move out of the government bungalow before Trujillo's hospitality becomes even chillier.

She has personally inspected the penthouse suite of the Hotel El Embajador twice. Ordinarily it rents for $400 a day.

The hotel manager said he would be pleased to extend a diplomatic discount and charge a mere $300 a day — without food. She smiled, sipped a cup of tea and went away.

It has now been learned that the Batista party will move next week into a semi-luxury hotel, also near the sea, where the bill is $35 a day, plus food.

Batista followers have turned the La Paz Hotel lobby into a milling, thronged madhouse of noise and shrill Spanish babble. Juke boxes juke all day long and American-imported slot machines are cranked from dusk to dawn.

And in the same hotel lives Argentina's famed ex, Juan Peron, his pretty secretary and two poodles. He maintains a deaf-dumb-blind attitude toward the entire Cuban situation.

He too is paying his own way, although life these days affords few, if any, flings and parties.

The local cocktail gossip insists Peron is broke, that Evita salted away the chips in Switzerland in her own name and died without a will.

At any rate, Peron's favorite pastime is pushing a basket around an American-style supermarket called "Wimpy's."

He is the most popular customer in the supermarket. He kids all the girls, drinks coffee at the soda counter, and buys loads of expensive imported foods and lots of steak at a dollar a pound.

He told the regents he thinks the Orange Bowl will welcome such an amendment as an "out." He said he thought Oklahomans and Miamians were "bored with each other."

"I would not use the word 'bored'," said Kussrow. "But my personal feeling is that we might be better off choosing a team at large.

"Oklahoma can only come here in 1961.

"If we decide to break the contract, I would suggest doing it immediately. Prospects are not too good in the Big Eight this season."

Ernie Seiler, who joined Kussrow in negotiating the new contract, said he felt the Orange Bowl Committee would take no immediate action.

Ernie Seiler, executive vice-president and general manager of the OB: "We haven't been officially notified of any Oklahoma announcement. We'll have to have a meeting on it.

"We already had planned to send somebody to the annual meeting of the Big Eight to discuss the dugout situation."

W. G. Ward, OB schedule chairman, also proposed a "take-it-easy" attitude until the situation develops further.

"Oklahoma's football teams have been popular here, and will always be in demand," Ward said.

Dugouts were added to the Orange Bowl this year to prevent such a situation. Syracuse acceded to the request that players use the dugout.

In New York, a CBS-TV spokesman said the Oklahoma demand — even if it leads to a bust-up of the Orange Bowl's contract with the Big Eight "will have no effect on the televising of the Orange Bowl game."

"Our contract," said the spokesman, "is with the Bowl, not the Big Eight. The contract is good for two more years regardless of who plays."

own railroad sidings along Seaboard's main line.

Miami and The Miami Herald have marched forward hand in hand in South Florida's vibrant growth pattern.

Florida's population has ballooned 60 per cent since 1950, with Dade scoring the largest numerical gain. The county numbers more than 860,000, which is 350,000 more than in 1950. Experts predict between 1¼ and 1½ million residents by 1965.

The Herald became the first Florida paper to break the 400,000 circulation barrier in 1958, scoring a paid Sunday distribution of 414,656 the last Sunday in February.

Daily circulation has swelled from 175,985 in 1950 to an average of 302,264 for the six-month period ended last March 31. Sunday circulation has skyrocketed from 203,746 to a six-month average of 366,584.

The advertising barometer shows the area's progress, too, placing The Herald out front in the nation in weekday advertising and second only to The Los Angeles Times in daily and Sunday totals.

The site of the new bayfront building is being cleared of all existing buildings, Knight said. Meanwhile, plans are being completed preparatory to breaking ground.

Allies Pledge to Act at Once

West Assures Soviet On A-Control Posts

GENEVA — (UPI) — The U.S. and Britain promised Russia Wednesday they will permit installation of nuclear control posts on their territory as soon as an East-West treaty to ban atomic tests is signed.

The assurance was made by U.S. and British delegates during an hour-and-20-minute session of the three-power nuclear conference.

The Western pledge was an attempt to allay apparent Soviet fears that the U.S. and Britain might sidestep accepting a control post network on their soil until posts had been set up in other countries.

In London, meanwhile, authoritative sources said the U.S. and Britain had dispatched identical notes to Moscow Wednesday expressing their readiness to resume the East-West conference on prevention of surprise attacks.

But the Western notes said the scope and agenda of the talks should be firmly determined in advance, the sources said.

The sources said France, Italy and Canada, which had participated on the Western side in the earlier phase on the 10-nation talks in Geneva, backed the Anglo-American stand.

The surprise-attack conference had broken up Dec. 18 without even succeeding in approving an agenda. The Russians in notes earlier this week had called for resumption of the talks today — a target date which the West felt it was physically impossible to meet.

Sunday Show Has Mikoyan

NEW YORK —(AP)— NBC will carry an hour's interview with Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan on its television and radio networks Sunday. The "Meet the Press" interview will be on TV from 6 to 7 p.m. (Miami time) and on radio from 6:30 to 7:30.

Original arrangements were for the show to be recorded in advance. It was changed to a live show as a result of alterations in Mikoyan's schedule to permit him to meet Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday and President Eisenhower Saturday.

Johnson Cited

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars announced Wednesday that Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, has been named to receive its gold citizenship medal award. Presentation will be at a dinner Feb. 3.

other hand, he has no intention of trying to reach any sort of formal agreements with Mikoyan in their meeting here Saturday. His hope, he said, is that they can "get behind each other's facial expression, see what we are thinking, (to see) if there is an honest, peaceful motive."

GERMANY — Russia's proposals to demilitarize West Germany amount to "an exercise in futility." But this country is "ready to make any assurances and material moves" to assure the Russians they are in no danger of German attack.

RED CHINA —The rapidly growing industrial and military might of Communist China poses "a rather bleak problem" for both the U.S. and the free nations near the Chinese mainland. He said "we must indeed be watchful."

RETIREMENT — In 1961, when he leaves the White House at age 70, he wants to retire to a rocking chair at least "until I really want to get out and go to work."

'Pea-Soup' Hits London

LONDON —(AP)— Twenty automobiles crashed in one pile-up. Ferry boats ran together. Hundreds of airline flights were canceled. Shipping on the Thames anchored in disgust.

Britain was having its worst fog of the winter Wednesday.

Activity in 62 of Britain's 89 counties was at a slow pace or lay prostrate beneath the fog. There were no reports of loss of life although visibility in many parts of London was the length of your arm.

Queen to Open Tour in June

LONDON —(AP)— Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will begin their Canadian tour June 18, Buckingham Palace announced Wednesday.

The queen will open the St. Lawrence Seaway during the six-week tour. The palace has not yet announced any details of the tour.

Ike Names Mason to Succeed Cole

MASON

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Norman P. Mason, now Federal housing commissioner, was nominated Wednesday to be chief of the Housing and Home Finance Administration.

President Eisenhower picked Mason, 62-year-old Republican, to succeed Albert M. Cole, whose resignation from the government's top housing job was announced Tuesday.

Cole is going into private industry as executive vice president of Reynolds Aluminum Service Corp., a Reynolds Metals Co. subsidiary. His job will be to develop the use of aluminum in construction.

Mason has been commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, biggest unit of FHHA, since 1954. He is a legal resident of Chelmsford, Mass.

Mason's selection is subject to Senate confirmation. In his new job he will get $21,000 a year—$1,000 more than he received as FHA commissioner.

Mason is a former chairman of the board of Investment of the Central Savings Bank at Lowell, Mass.

Fireman Dies as Apartments Burn; Police Nab 2 Suspects

PITTSBURGH —(P)— A fireman perished and an apartment building was badly damaged early Wednesday in a fire which officials said apparently resulted from an argument between the building's handyman and a woman custodian.

Detectives arrested Ernest Geler, 41, and Miss Ann Owens, 49, within a few hours of the blaze, which broke out shortly after midnight.

Officers said Geler and Miss Owens—who lived in the basement of the building—accused each other of starting the blaze. Both were charged with suspicion of felony.

The dead fireman, Bartley O'Malley, 34, was trapped on the second floor and overcome by smoke.

Church Installs A New Bishop

Lichtenberger

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Protestant Episcopal Church Wednesday formally installed the Rt. Rev. Arthur Carl Lichtenberger as its 21st presiding bishop.

Elaborate ceremonies at stately Washington Cathedral marked the installation of Bishop Lichtenberger, who has held the church's highest office since last November.

Heading the induction ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, retiring presiding bishop, with the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of Washington Cathedral, administering the oath of office.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.) was chosen to read the Scripture lesson. Symington comes from the new church leader's last diocese. Bishop Lichtenberger was bishop of Missouri from 1952 until his election to office last fall at the church convention in Miami Beach.

Landslide Ends Hunt for Body

SAN FRANCISCO —(P)— A fourth landslide has ended the search for the body of a 16-year-old boy who was buried by tons of mud and rock on a beach near Golden Gate bridge.

The attempt to recover the body of Bill Soltero, entombed Monday while on a hike with his girl, has been abandoned.

"There's no sense in going any further with it," said Fire Chief William Murray after a new slide almost drove searchers into the Pacific Ocean.

280 Ballots, Still No Mayor

WORCESTER, Mass. —(P)— The Worcester City Council has cast 280 ballots in an election for a mayor but has not yet reached a decision.

The mayor must be elected from the nine councilors. Councilor Joseph C. Casdin, aspiring to be the first Jewish mayor in this city of 200,000, several times received four of the five necessary votes.

Mark Twain

COLDWATER, Mich. —(P)— The Branch Community Health center had to stretch its plans to celebrate the birth of the 10,000th baby since it opened in 1939. Mrs. Thile Crandall gave birth to twins and No. 10,001 was included in the celebration, too.

Female Weaker Sex?

CLEVELAND, Ohio —(UPI)— John Diplo, 65, is a somewhat battered but living refutation of the old saw that the male is the stronger of the species.

Diplo, owner of a shoe repair shop on the city's westside, fell victim to an assault by a woman strongarm bandit weighing about 300 pounds on a five foot six inch frame.

The heavyweight female clubbed Diplo on the head with a pop bottle, flung him aside and escaped with $30 from the register.

Harvester Strike Settled

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Negotiators for the International Harvester Co. and the United Auto Workers announced agreement Wednesday on a three-year contract to end a two-month strike.

Agreement was reached after a marathon 18-hour bargaining session. Contract talks had begun in June, 1958, but bogged down and the strike was called Nov. 13.

The pact is subject to ratification Friday by the UAW Harvester Council and Saturday by the striking UAW locals.

The walkout idled 37,000 employes in 15 plants in Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana and California.

The proposed contract calls for wage increase of six cents or 2½ per cent, whichever is greater, for all employes retroactive to Aug. 23, 1958.

Wage increases of the same amount will go into effect Sept. 14, 1959, and Oct. 3, 1960.

A Strange Way To Run An Airport

No Time For Pettiness

ALL the positive voices that say it can, or it cannot, be done are not on television commercials. Take the glittering new 20th St. Terminal at Miami International Airport, for instance.

Formal occupation date for the terminal—set a year ago — arrives today. It will not be observed as planned.

Port Authority Director George M. McSherry says the partially-completed building is ready for safe, efficient operation. But he accuses the airlines of dragging their feet about moving from their present overcrowded quarters on the 36th St. side —of saying from the start the deadline could not be met.

The airlines deny this vehemently. They say that numerous items such as ramps, parking and baggage facilities, directional signs and communications apparatus are partially or wholly lacking. To attempt full-scale operation under these conditions, they assert, would be catastrophic.

WHY such a controversy should arise is hard to understand. Both parties to the dispute should be dedicated to the same goal of providing Dade County with the best air service possible, and that includes ground facilities. On that level it becomes a simple matter of pocketbook for the airlines as well as the community that thrives on tourism.

The point at issue should, it seems, be easily dissolved. If the terminal is not ready, let's get it ready with all speed. If it is ready, the airlines should move in with all speed so that this magnificent facility may begin fully to serve passengers and produce revenue.

This is one more example of how the affairs of our airport have been presented to the community as being in a constant state of muddle. There have been repeated controversies over the terminal and over the various contracts and subcontracts that marked its construction and expansion.

NO LATER than last Friday, Commissioner Robert M. Haverfield demanded that Mr. McSherry be summarily fired on the grounds that he concealed some vital information about the terminal hotel concession from the commission. The fact that Mr. Haverfield failed to get a second to his motion spoke eloquently of its real worth.

All in all, it seems a strange way to run an airport that is the nation's most successful from a standpoint of financial return, is the second busiest and will soon take over the No. 1 spot.

We repeat: let's stop this unseemly bickering, give the Port Authority director a chance to discharge his responsibilities without harassment from the rear — while holding him strictly accountable for mistakes — and settle down to achieve Miami's destiny as one of the world's great centers of aviation. Too much is at stake for pettiness.

The Outlook: Rosy, Indeed

A good report on it comes from Richard Edgerton, state hotel and restaurant commissioner. After a tour of Gold Coast resort beaches, he reported telephones in most hotels and motels "ringing off the walls" for reservations in the weeks ahead.

"Between Jan. 20 and Feb. 1, they expect to be filled to capacity," he said.

Mr. Edgerton predicted that the number of winter visitors will set a record in February and March.

He put his finger on two causes of the season's late start: the Eastern Air Lines strike, which ended on New Year's Eve, and the shutdown of New York newspapers in December, which kept resorts and transportation companies from advertising package Christmas vacations.

Now, though, as all can see, visitors from the chilly North are plentiful along these sunny shores. Barring hotel strikes or bad weather, the outlook is rosy.

So is the actuality, judging from attendance and betting at race tracks here. On Tuesday, which was a cool day with a cooler evening, a total of 25,331 fans went to horse races, dog races and jai alai hereabouts, and wagered $1,513,298. That isn't, as the saying goes, hay. It's a big straw in the wind which is blowing tourists toward this corner of Florida.

Blood Is Not The Cleanser

VENGEANCE, as everyone should know, does not belong to mortal man.

The friends of the new Cuba will hope that this sacred truism now bears upon Fidel Castro and his summary executioners. The blood-letting that has followed the overthrow of the Batista regime has begun to appall men of conscience all over the hemisphere.

President Manuel Urrutia on Tuesday announced suspension of executions ordered by drumhead courts. Yesterday, Senor Castro cast some defiant doubt upon this change of policy, which would have assured public trials and fair warnings of the possible fates of some 3,000 persons who now stand accused.

If this policy had been carried out as it stood originally, it would have been welcome relief from the seeming wholesale vengeance that punctuated, with a bloody blot, the triumph of revolutionary arms.

ONE readily may sympathize with the victims of the Batista regime and their survivors. While their number probably is exaggerated, there is no doubt that Batista's final months in Cuba were marked by brutality and terrorism.

But vengeance is no substitute for justice. Senor Castro has a good enough case for the punishment of what he calls "war criminals" (a term not unknown to the Allies of World War II) without stating it to the hasty crackle of rifles.

It is absurd, for instance, to talk about mass executions as necessary "to purify the nation" while extolling the humanitarian virtues of the revolution. Modern justice, like modern medicine, does not hold that blood-letting is the cure for ills.

Similarly, a Castro spokesman argued feebly for the authority of the regime when he claimed that if military courts did not at once punish the guilty according to what is as yet only a reading of the Mosaic law, "families of those who were murdered and tortured would take justice into their own hands and many innocent would fall with the accused."

ANY responsible government can protect its prisoners and deal them justice through the cold but due process of the law. We believe that the new Cuban government is capable of following this very course. If not, it will have discredited itself from the start.

Beware That Tattletale Gray

DID YOU notice that gray haze around the horizon in Greater Miami yesterday? It illustrated what we've been saying from time to time about the desirability of keeping the air here fresh and clean as population grows.

A Weather Bureau spokesman called it "a mixture of smoke and haze," but said there was no unusual atmospheric condition to account for it.

"Winds were light during the night, so any smoke that was around didn't blow away."

Presumably, more chimneys than usual were busy because of the night's coolness. And clouds around the horizon made the grayness conspicuous.

You couldn't call it smog by any stretch of the imagination, but it hung there as a warning that this subtropical city should be on guard against any pollution of its clean air.

Sources of smoke — chimneys, smokestacks and motor vehicles, to mention just a few — are almost certain to increase as population rises from its present level of 900,000 to an expected 1,250,000 or 1,500,000 in the next six years. Let's take steps to keep Miami free of dirty horizons.

Private Wealth And Public Weal

AN IMPERSONAL foundation, dedicated to the somewhat grandiose idea of advancing the public welfare, has been doing an effective job toward that end in Florida.

The Ford Foundation operates throughout the world though it is primarily interested in the United States, and 90 per cent of the $1 billion it has granted since 1936 has been for American institutions.

In examining its activities in Florida, as a report just out does in detail, we are shown a uniquely American philanthropy which turns private wealth to public good.

Florida has received over $7 million in Ford Foundation grants. Gifts of over $2 million went to 56 private hospitals, large and small, to improve and expand service to their communities. Nine private universities and colleges were handed over $3 million to raise faculty pay and thus help improve standards of instruction. The University of Miami got $900,000 to serve its medical students better.

While these benefits spread to thousands of sick persons and to thousands of eager young minds, other foundation grants may be even more significant in the long run.

Dade County's school board was backed in a fruitful experiment in classroom instruction by television. The University of Florida was given means to study the state's growing problem caused by elderly persons migrating to our sunny area. The University of Miami was put to work on a study of Dade's distinctive essay in metropolitan home rule, a venture of national, perhaps world, importance.

Totting up the score for Florida's small part in this tremendous undertaking, it would seem that the foundation has served well. Its aim may be far-reaching, but so are the results.

'Park' Not A Ritzy Term

Editor The Herald: I wish to comment on John Pennekamp's article on trailer parks so the public won't get wrong impressions. Corrections are as follows:

1. The term "parks" has been in usage over 10 years, and we haven't lately gone ritzy and switched the name from camp to park.

2. To say that there are 15 trailer parks in Miami is of no statistical value to the public. There are over 80 parks in Greater Miami.

3. Trailer parks pay their share of taxes in the long run: maybe not as much to Miami, but you ought to see some of the county assessments.

4. Pennekamp picks out one or two luxury parks and quotes $40 to $50 monthly charges. There are many parks charging $25 monthly and probably less than that a year or two ago. Meanwhile, many parks have added improvements, such as city water, better garbage pickup, improved sewerage, etc.

5. Our park has many tenants who have lived on the same spot from five to 12 years. They do not look at television any more than the average citizen. We are not a "breed" of people that are more friendly or less friendly than others, more courteous or less courteous than ordinary people.

People who own motels cater to tourists and some of these motels are located in inferior neighborhoods. Why doesn't Pennekamp write about motels next and pick them apart?

Look At Record, See Who's Right

Editor The Herald: As a winter visitor to Florida just arrived, I confess to a feeling of utter dismay as I read of the McSherry-Morgan hassle over the airport hotel contract.

McSherry and Morgan are, I take it, grown men, and not children, since McSherry draws $30,000 as Port Authority director and Morgan is paid $16,500 to audit the authority's books.

But here they are casting aspersions on the other's honesty, competence, and truthfulness. And as of yet neither has said simply in Al Smith's famous words, "Let's look at the record."

A Thank-You From Variety

Editor The Herald: For a long time I have wanted to write and express the wonderful cooperation your newspaper and its personnel have extended to us at Variety Children's Hospital.

Your columnist, Jack Bell, has been a tower of strength in his great help in building what we all firmly believe is one of the finest children's hospitals in the country.

With the assistance your paper and its personnel have given us, we have taken a place in the hearts and minds of the people in our community that I believe is unequaled by any other institution.

Tried Us Twice, Now, 'Goodbye'

Editor The Herald: One facet of Florida's economy never mentioned by the "experts" is the mass of people, like myself, that come here in the hopes of making Florida their home, only to face complete discouragement and financial loss.

We tried in 1954 at a cost of $900. Then we scrimped for three years to save $1,600 to try again. I haven't been able to get work because I am a newcomer, although I have been offered jobs by some labor exploiters for $1 an hour. How do you feed a family of five on that?

We still love Florida but must say goodbye while we still have gas money.

Castro's Chance For More Glory

Editor The Herald: Concomitantly with the victory of the Cuban revolution, a manifold multiplication in the number of rebels at home and abroad has taken place. One could safely state that if Dr. Castro would have had the same degree of support a year ago, his call for a general strike would have overthrown the dictatorship then.

Americans who honor and cherish their democratic principles and traditions must be pleased with the overthrow of the Cuban tyranny and sincerely wish that Dr. Castro's fame as a revolutionary leader will be dwarfed by his success in establishing and maintaining government of, by, and for the people in Cuba.

AN AWARD for the worst fiction on the current best-seller list, in my estimation, would be a dead heat between Marquand's pointless novel, "Women and Thomas Harrow," and O'Hara's tasteless novel, "From the Terrace" — in both of which men arrive at their 50s without the slightest shred of self-knowledge or meaning.

It's curious how mayors of cities generally tend to look the same the world over: an uneasy combination of heavy-handed joviality and clumsy dignity, a desire to seem one of the boys, and a need to maintain the posture of civic pride.

Behind The Front Page

Electricity, Then, Was A Hard Sell

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

I WAS SURPRISED at the telephone call. It was from a friend I hadn't seen in years.

"Tied up for lunch?" he asked.

"No," I said, and then mentioned my surprise at hearing from him.

"How's about" he said, "meeting me in front of the Ingraham Building. I'll be down there by the time you can get there."

So I wandered around looking in the windows.

Pennekamp

There were showing gleaming white food freezers, refrigerators and electric stoves.

The freezers opened so you didn't have to stoop or stretch to get at what you wanted.

Practically, they were as indexed as a well kept partial payment plan's office filing system. You could get out what you wanted without disturbing, or breaking it loose from what was next to it.

THE STOVES had their burners elevated so that they touched the bottom of any pan or skillet that you set on them.

No more waiting for the coils to get red hot. You had heat right now, and under complete button control.

Everything had "full views." You could step on a lever and one door opened, giving you a view of the cooking-progress of whatever was in the oven.

Step on it again, and another door opened to let you get at the dish itself, to serve it.

Other buttons tuned to an accurate clock, took care of the heat control, the basting, the what we call in our business, "the change of pace."

THE REFRIGERATORS made ice and accumulated cubes if you wanted them. Another device emptied them from the trays if that suited your purpose. Defrosting was unnecessary.

And, so it was in all the windows. You saw a television device that you could control by touching wireless buttons across the room. You could, if yours was a color set, heighten the emphasis of one color, reduce that of another.

WHAT GAVE ME a real kick wasn't what I was looking at, but what was in the background.

Not too many years ago I looked into those same windows. They were filled, as now, but with second hand electrical devices.

They were a conglomerate collection of toasters that didn't pop the finished product, of grills that didn't control their own heat, but which you had to test with drops of water.

Of rebuilt electric fans that breezed in only one direction because the oscillators had gone out of wack and the manufacturer out of business, so parts couldn't be replaced. Of rebuilt electric irons, and what not.

ADOLPH SEERTH in those days was the major domo of the Florida Power and Light Company's used appliance sales department. You could buy pretty nearly anything you wanted at your price, if you talked long and convincingly to him or any of his salesmen.

Florida Power and Light, which has since become one of the real BIGS in the public utilities field, in those days was trying to induce more folks to use electricity.

They bought your old appliances, rebuilt them and sold them for a song to get you to use more current.

MATTER OF fact, they used to sell that day's modern appliances (and I think Adolph's used division produced more business) in competition with the appliance dealers.

Mac Smith, now chairman of the board, when he became president, changed that. He decided their business was to produce and sell electricity, and it was better not to plow too many other fields.

So, he got out of the used appliance business, the new appliance business, the street car business, and the water business. He's getting out of the gas business.

But, I'd like to tell him something.

In my modern air conditioned sphere, in a place of honor, there still rests an electric fan which I bought from Adolph in that long, long ago.

It was ancient then, but it never has stopped working. It would valiantly do its stuff today, if called upon.

Call me a sentimental fool, but I wouldn't give or sell it to Smith or anybody else for all the modern things I looked at in those windows of his before my friend came by and said:

"Ready for lunch. Sorry I'm late."

Every now and then I like to embrace yesterday.

Liberal At Large

Wise Conservatism Really Liberalism

Harry Barnard's Liberal at Large column, reprinted here, appears in the Chicago Daily News. His most recent book, Independent Man, is a biography of the late Sen. James Couzens. Barnard's other books include Rutherford B. Hayes and His America, and Eagle Forgotten, the life story of John P. Altgeld.

By HARRY BARNARD

EXPRESSING what I hope is liberalism, this column owes its being to a man who considers himself a conservative.

Today I doff my hat to him. Not merely because he fathered, so to speak, this column. Rather, I salute publisher John S. Knight for the larger reason that enlightened conservatism deserves appreciation from liberals for its vital contributions.

Knight

This is not a summing up, but a comment on the conservatism he personifies.

★ ★ ★

IN HIS own forthright writing, he frequently puts quotes around the word liberal. With some reason, I must admit, he has apparently found that some "liberals" are, as the saying goes, persons with feet firmly planted in the clouds.

Yet his own conservatism— is there a doctor of semantics in the house? — frequently is really liberalism at its best.

On basic civil liberties and rights, on Faubusism, on monopolistic abuses, on the danger of war, he stands on the side of the angels. The fact is, he frequently puts liberals to shame by his championship of the true liberal position — "shame" we can stand more of.

THE POINT is, enlightened conservatism and enlightened liberalism at times come out parallel. Both seek to preserve the best values in our society. Liberalism is more prepared to accept, even bring about, change.

But today, liberalism often not only has to be a conservative force, if true to its best traditions, but even reactionary.

That is, it must press our society back to certain concepts of the past, like the ideas known in Jefferson's time as "the rights of man."

These ideas have tended to become blurred, even lost. To revive their shine is liberalism's task. Enlightened conservatism is often its partner in this. I hate to admit it, but John Knight—and others like him— function more effectively here than many liberals.

LIBERALISM has no greater duty today than to prevent another great war without surrender of democracy. In this it is being true to its historic function — preventing extremists from tearing society apart.

John Knight is a strong voice in America for a foreign policy that is sane from this liberal view. He has said: "Either we reach, through patient and wise diplomacy, an accommodation with the Soviet Union, or we and they are headed for dreadful destruction."

Even some "liberals"—I use those quotes now, too—have opposed this sensible view.

WHEN powerful elements tried to get us involved in the Indochina fighting, Knight raised the strongest voice against that folly. He did the same on two critical occasions when hotheads — and worse— sought to push us over the brink into a war with China because of those offshore islands.

Perhaps no single voice was more influential than his in causing our government to come to its senses in Lebanon.

Of the great liberal Republican James Couzens, they used to say in Michigan, he was really a Democrat and didn't know it.

Maybe, for all his admitted conservatism in certain economic matters, John S. Knight is really a liberal, and just won't admit it. But regardless of that, or matters on which we may differ, he has been and remains a force for good in America.

It's Our Battle

. What Will Our Dollar Be Worth?
. What Shall Be Spent on Defense?
. Wage-and-Price Controls Next?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The battle of the century has begun. How it turns out will affect the future of the American dollar for decades to come.

On the way the die is cast in the next few months depends the purchasing power of the pay — envelopes of millions of Americans.

LAWRENCE

Will the dollar remain stable or will it decline still further?

For today the dollar is worth 48 cents in terms of what it was worth just 20 years ago—and if the forces on confiscation have their way, it could go down to 25 cents in another decade.

The whole world is watching to see what America does. It affects trade everywhere.

The battle against a stable dollar is being waged here right now under respectable auspices by men in Congress who scorn the label "radical" but who would commit the United States to expenditures far beyond the President's budget.

Already the American people are being told by the political partisans that a "balanced budget" means insecurity or indifference to the military safety of the country.

To play upon such fears, the devotees of the doctrine of spending evidently believe, is to get sanction for big appropriations — more billions for missiles or expeditions to the moon.

* * *

THE INSIDIOUS argument made is that the President gives too much weight to the balanced-budget idea and that he is neglecting "national defense."

Will this campaign undermine the President's influence and open the flood gates in Congress so that billions more than he recommends will be appropriated even in the face of a 12-billion-dollar deficit this year?

Mr. Eisenhower has been absorbed for months formulating the new budget. He has held lengthy conferences with our military leaders and with our economic experts.

Honest, patriotic, experienced military men, without any political bias, helped to make the new budget.

It was no casual decision by one man that led the President to announce that he believed the budget for the next fiscal year could be balanced.

What is the biggest single fact about our military position? The intercontinental missile is not yet perfected, but the intermediate missile can be fired from bases in Europe close to Soviet Russia.

The truth is, moreover, the Soviet leaders know their country can be devastated in a matter of hours. Both sides know a "mutual deterrent" has come into being. There's a stalemate on the military side.

* * *

THE URGENT QUESTION now, therefore, is not the spending of unlimited amounts on military defense, but giving more attention than ever before to economic defense.

As for those who say that military spending should be expanded, no matter what it costs, there is a simple test of sincerity.

Would they support heavier taxes and — more important even than higher taxes — would they vote for governmental wage-and-price controls?

Why, if the "cold war" is so hot, shouldn't American labor unions and business corporations be held in check so that the price of the same bomber that the government buys today will not be twice as much two years hence?

For that's what has happened in the last five years to push a large part of our defense budget upward.

* * *

UNLESS THE AMERICAN people can see through the maze of propaganda and alarmist talk, and put into proper perspective the selfish ambitions of some of their legislators, Macaulay's prophecy of more than 100 years ago that the American ship of state is doomed to destroy itself because it is "all sail and no anchor" could, indeed, come true.

Alabama Tax Case Is Open

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—After this column began probing the hushed-up Alabama tax scandal, and after Jack Anderson went to Birmingham to interview various officials, the Justice Department hurriedly took the case out of the file marked "closed." and began a new investigation.

PEARSON

This was what the Internal Revenue Bureau had urged Justice to do long before. However, the case had remained "closed" since March 10, 1958.

The case involves payments by big liquor companies to its representatives and front men in Alabama.

The money then went into either political or personal pockets, some of it admittedly to ex-Gov. Gordon Persons, brother of Gen. Wilton Persons, long-time military aide to President Eisenhower, now replacing Sherman Adams in the White House.

Gov. Persons, when chief executive of Alabama, had appointed one of his close friends, Jimmy Thrower of Dothan, to the ABC Liquor Board, and Thrower was one of the men who handled the untaxed political payments.

Since President Eisenhower campaigned vigorously against income-tax evasion and pledged his word to clean up the so-called tax scandals of the Truman administration, the question naturally arose as to whether the Alabama tax case had been "closed" on the word of anyone in or near the White House.

* * *

EX - GOVERNOR Persons vigorously denied that he had asked his brother to intervene.

"There was pressure on me to get in touch with my brother on this case," Gordon Persons told Jack Anderson during the latter's trip to Alabama. "But I can assure you flatly that I never talked to him about it."

"Who brought the pressure?"

"It was mentioned to me, let me put it that way," the ex-governor of Alabama replied. He added that he is frequently asked to try to influence his brother in the White House.

"I got four letters today," he said, "all asking me to approach my brother. If I think it is for the good of the State, I send it to him without comment. If I don't think so, I tear it up."

* * *

PERSONS SAID HE "assumed" his brother knew about the case because of the individuals involved.

"He must know about it, but he hasn't done a damn thing about it," Gordon insisted.

Most significant aspect of the Alabama tax investigation was the manner in which it was "closed" last March.

When the Treasury delivered what it considered an airtight case to the Justice Department and recommended criminal prosecution, the Justice Department "closed" the case without going back to the Treasury for more evidence.

If the Justice Department believes the Treasury's evidence is not sufficient, or has loopholes, it so notifies the Treasury and its agents have a chance to get more evidence. In this case the Justice Department did not do so.

Presumably because big names were involved, the case was simply closed by the Justice Department in a two-page letter dated March 10, 1958, signed by Joseph M. Howard, chief of the tax division's criminal division.

This made Internal Revenue agents sore. Seeing what they considered an airtight case suppressed for apparent political reasons, they went out on their own and dug up additional evidence.

Both the Treasury and this column are investigating further. The first will report privately, the latter publicly.

TALL TALES by JAFFEE

How Long Can We Run Under This System?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The United States is the only country where there is no correlation between the Executive and the Legislative bodies, where they are of different political complexions and even antagonistic to each other.

SOKOLSKY

Thus, President Eisenhower and his administration are Republican whereas both houses of the Congress are Democratic.

The President is therefore handicapped by a circumstance over which he can have no control.

Thus far, however, he is fortunate that the leadership of the Democratic Party remains in the hands of the more conservative element of that party.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas leads the Senate; Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas leads the House of Representatives and both are likely to place national interest above party and to consult with the President on basic issues.

There are, however, others in the Democratic Party with whom neither President Eisenhower nor Vice President Nixon could get along at all.

* * *

THE REPUBLICANS in both houses are going to have a very tough time of it, first because there are so few of them and secondly because they are divided as they have been since Sen. Robert A. Taft died in 1953.

The floor leader is Sen. Everett Dirksen who will tend to maintain a middle course between the Conservatives whom Bridges leads and the so-called Moderns who follow the White House.

This split between Conservatives and Moderns will so weaken the party as to leave it without any influence at all.

Many of the Republicans will therefore build personal prestige without much regard to party.

* * *

HERE, THEN, IS the curious parliamentary situation which the United States faces: the President possesses enormous powers, most of which he can use without reference to any legislative body, but his budget has to be passed by a Congress which is not only antagonistic to many of his ideas, but seeks to use the Congress to bring on his repudiation in 1960.

The President knows what our commitments to our allies are, but the Congress does not and may or may not be told.

Yet it is Congress which has to pass the money bills relating to those commitments.

The Treasury is probably more familiar than Congress with the nature of our inflation but the Secretary of the Treasury has no means for preventing the Congress from passing measures of an increasing inflationary trend.

How long can we continue, under the warlike conditions which surround us, to employ this particular method of government?

Will we not be forced some day to grant the President war powers in peace time because there is no peace time?

If so, what becomes of our free institutions?

What becomes of our Congressional system which is so utterly different from every other free system of government on earth?

This is an interesting question to ponder in 1959 when there is still time to think about it.

Capital Corner

Found: Pair of Pants, Formal

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — Somewhere there is a Floridian who truly lost his pants—two pair of them, formal dress.

He may be a legislator, lobbyist or a reporter. The gentleman surely has some plain old ordinary street clothes, or we would have heard of an arrest for indecent exposure by now.

BOYLES

The trousers have seen a lot of mileage, but probably could weather a few more cocktail parties and political wingdings.

We first discovered them in our office during the 1957 legislative session, and we assumed the owner had just temporarily borrowed hanger space. But throughout the special session on constitutional revision that immediately followed the regular assembly he never turned up.

There is one marking—M-2754101—that might identify the man who lost his pants. He is a slim jim. They are narrow-waisted, 29 inches. If they belong to a young fellow who as a freshman lawmaker two years ago he may be too big for them after making the banquet circuit.

And if he lost his pants, politically and literally speaking at the polls, he won't be back this spring.

The janitor has treated the midnight black flannels with respect, painstakingly moving them out of the way when he dusts the room. We're tired of looking at them.

THE POLK County legislative delegation—that is Sen. Scott Kelly and Reps. Ben Hill Griffin Jr.; Ray Mattox and Lawton M. Chiles Jr., — initiated the social season preliminary to the opening of the legislative session in April.

They will hold a dinner in the capital Wednesday night, honoring the joint Senate and House Appropriations Committee, and the Cabinet.

The delegation apparently is hopeful of working out a plan to finance construction of a building for the Central Florida district appellate court at Lakeland. A bill to appropriate $500,000 in 1957 was vetoed.

Orlando, competing with Lakeland in the 1957 session as the site of the court, proposed the court be located in the new state office building at Winter Park.

But former Polk County Rep. Roy Surles and his colleagues shoved the Lakeland bill through the Legislature. It was a hot battle between the Polk and Orange solons and if a request is made to the budget committee for funds to erect a new courthouse the Orange countians may renew the fight.

Cities Need Airport Funds; Can Congress Override Veto?

This is the second in the three-part series on problems facing American cities, written by CQ Staff Writer George Wilson. This article discusses the urgent city pleas for money to build jet-age airport facilities and the expected Presidential veto which faces such authorizations.

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — A bill to give communities federal dollars to build airports promises to provide the first test of President Eisenhower's veto power.

The airport bill is off to a flying start in the new Congress. Its sponsor in the Senate, A. S. Mike Monroney (D., Okla.), is predicting Senate passage by March 1. Its sponsor in the House, Oren Harris (D., Ark.), is chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee which decides how fast the bill will get onto the floor.

Monroney flatly predicts there are enough Senate votes to override any presidential veto. Harris will only say "we'll cross that bridge when we get to it."

There seems little doubt that Mr. Eisenhower will veto the bill in 1959 the same way he did in 1958. He said in his pocket veto message that "the time has come for the federal government to begin an orderly withdrawal from the airport program."

* * *

THIS VIEW is directly counter to the position taken by the aviation industry and most of the members of Congress. They argue that the rocketing growth of aviation as an everyday method of transportation plus the introduction of jets with their need for longer runways means that the federal government has to take a bigger role than ever in building airports.

The 1958 bill passed the Senate by voice vote with little debate and the House by a 152-42 standing vote.

Neither side has changed its view since then. The new airport bills would give communities 100 million dollars a year for five years on a dollar for dollar matching basis.

The communities could use the money for building new airports or improving existing ones. Also, small airports could get money for maintaining runways. President Eisenhower's budget statements indicate he will try to shoot the bill down again.

The Senate bill is different from the House one in that it would provide a 75 million dollars a year emergency fund to help big airports gear up for the jet age.

Both bills would apportion 75 per cent of the 100 million dollars a year on the basis of a formula figuring in both the states' area and population. The remaining 25 per cent would be distributed at the discretion of the administrator of the new federal aviation agency.

* * *

THE AIRPORT Operators Council, American Assn. of Airport Executives and National Assn. of State Aviation Officials made a survey to determine how much money communities needed in the next four years for airport construction and improvement. They also found out how much money the communities thought they could get on their own.

The results show that communities in all 48 states need 1 billion dollars to carry out the airport improvements planned for fiscal 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1962. The communities estimate they can raise 571 million dollars on their own, leaving them 454 million dollars short. The industry wants Uncle Sam to fill that gap.

* * *

THE SURVEY shows that Florida plans 12 airport projects in fiscal 1959 through 1962 costing $11,800,000. Of this amount, Florida expects to be able to raise $9,386,500 on its own. This leaves a gap of $2,413,500.

If Florida were given its full share of the 100 million dollars to be authorized in the new legislation, it would receive $5,395,092 for the four-year period. This means Florida would have $2,981,592 more than the needs estimated in the survey.

The actual need for funds is even greater than the survey indicates since some airports did not return their questionnaires. The survey was published in 1958.

President at the Press Club

Voice Was That of Leader Who's Not About to Quit

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The voice Wednesday was that of a president with two deeply engraved thoughts.

2—He is wistfully determined to wind up his job on the upbeat.

President Eisenhower's unusual and interesting appearance at a National Press Club luncheon was the first of many such informal encounters he plans to have with the people who have been paying his salary for most of his life — the citizens of the U.S.

He is intent on proving to these people — you and your neighbor — that he can lead. It is his most fervent desire to confound the critics who regard him at these public appearances as a fugitive from Burning Tree County Club.

His objectives — peace and prosperity — have been worn into thin cliches by the political speech writers these past six years.

But even to the jaded members of the National Press Club, these objectives took on some new warmth as Eisenhower went through nearly an hour of answering written questions for a national television audience.

The President
. . . um, let's see

He was the old Eisenhower most of the time, raveling off into centrifugal tangents until a subject is separated from its predicate like a child from its mother in a crowded department store.

But there was little doubt that he was ready to take on Congress and all his critics in a fight for a balanced budget as a first step in arresting the expropriation of savings and pensions that has gone on under the name of inflation.

When the press club luncheon was over, there was the usual babble of appraisal, much of it critical.

But it would take a pretty hard bitter and cynical American, drugged with anti-Eisenhower jokes, to ignore one fact about the President's appearance at the National Press Club.

Eisenhower in the remaining period of his public employment is going to use any and all the talent for leadership that the Lord gave him.

Russia Limits Sale of Vodka

MOSCOW —(P)— Tight restrictions on the sale of vodka in the Russian Federal Republic have been put in effect, the newspaper Soviet Trade reports.

Limitations on drinking hours and on sales to a customer are being enforced in line with Premier Khrushchev's announced plan to curb drinking.

Last Word

By DR. BERGEN EVANS

QUESTION: What is meant by "one fell sweep?"

ANSWER: It isn't ONE FELL SWEEP (maybe you're confusing it with A CLEAN SWEEP) but ONE FELL SWOOP.

The SWOOP is the fierce, hurtling descent of a hawk as it strikes. FELL in this expression is not related to the past of FALL but to the noun FELON; it means savage, cruel, appallingly destructive.

The expression AT ONE FELL SWOOP comes from MACBETH. Macduff, the Thane of Fife, almost alone among the Scottish nobles, has refused to bow to Macbeth's tyranny and has escaped into England. Macbeth, furious at his enemy's escape, has had Lady Macduff and all Macduff's children murdered. News of this dreadful event is brought to Macduff in England and he sees the tragic event in the metaphor of a hawk striking defenseless prey:

> Did you say all? O hell-kite! All?
> What, all my pretty chicks and their dam
> At one fell swoop?

A kite was a fierce but ignoble hawk, or falcon, that preyed on small quarry.

U.S. Eyes Beck's Expense Accounts

TACOMA, Wash. —(P)— The government has switched to expense accounts in its income tax evasion case against Dave Beck.

BECK

Mrs. Ann Watkins Kotin, secretary to the former Teamster Union president from 1927 to 1958, testified and identified his expense accounts over a period of years. They included those of 1950-1953 during which Beck is charged with evading $240,000 in income taxes.

The accounts showed that Beck's expenses, plus salary, averaged $2,300 a month in 1950, but by 1953 the figure did not run below $4,100 a month, and was high as $5,300.

A sample month in 1953 showed Beck's salary was $4,166, hotel bills, $345, incidentals, $252, car expense, $150 and an added expense of $180.

Mrs. Kotin now is secretary to the vice president in charge of production for Universal-International Pictures in Los Angeles.

A year ago Beck was sentenced to up to 15 years in prison for grand larceny involving the sale of a $1,900 union-owned automobile. He was released on bond pending appeal in that case.

Hoops Feel EOKA's Ire

Members of the anti-British EOKA underground toured homes in districts of Nicosia and demanded that householders hand over any plastic hoops they had. They took the hoops into the streets and smashed them.

The anti-hula hoop campaign was believed part of the EOKA drive against dancing, gambling and other amusements which might distract Greek Cypriots from the "struggle for freedom" against British rule.

Reply to Symington Attack on Nixon

Dirksen Blames HST for Red Missile Lead

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Illinois) charged Wednesday that "the Truman administration's failure and neglect" put this country behind Russia in missile development.

Since President Eisenhower took control of the White House six years ago, Dirksen said, "we have made amazing strides in the missile field of which all can be proud."

Dirksen, in a speech on the Senate floor, challenge.. Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.) to concede this. Symington was Air Force secretary and chairman of the National Security Resources Board under Truman.

Dirksen made his challenge in reply to Symington's attack last Monday in which he charged that Vice President Richard M. Nixon said the U.S. was ahead of the Soviet Union in ballistic missiles. Symington said this simply was not true.

Friends said later that Nixon's position had been misrepresented — that he conceded the U.S. lagged in some aspects of missile development but felt it was ahead in overall military strength and would close the missile gap at a fairly rapid pace.

Symington said he would study Dirksen's charges and answer them next week. But meanwhile, he said, Nixon should speak for himself in the growing debate over U.S.-Soviet missile strength.

Mars and Venus May Be Targets Of 'New' Atlas

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Air Force has ordered a multi-million dollar development project aimed at rocket penetrations deep into space, probably as far as Mars and Venus.

The Space Race

This was disclosed Wednesday with the announcement that Convair Astronautics Division of General Dynamics Corp. had received a contract to develop an "upper stage" for a modified Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

The Atlas has been fired 6,300 miles over the Atlantic test range from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and one of the big missiles was put into orbit around the earth Dec. 18. It is still circling the globe but is expected to burn up in the atmosphere soon.

Convair announced that its new contract called for a seven-million-dollar outlay in the first year but did not reveal the total expected expenditure.

Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp. already has received an initial nine-million-dollar contract to develop a "high energy upper stage rocket engine" which, it was disclosed Wednesday, will be used in the Convair development. The engine development cost eventually will run to about 23 million dollars.

While the announcement did not say what the two-stage Atlas would be used for, officials here said that it could boost a satellite weighing as much as five tons into a low orbit around the earth.

It also was intended, informed sources said, for deep penetrations into space. "Payload" weights for such long rocket flights were not disclosed but they would be much less than the five tons for a low-orbiting satellite.

It was not learned, however, whether the rocket would be used in U.S. Project Mercury which is aimed at putting a man into orbit.

An Atlas, without the upper stage, is capable of lifting a 2,000 to 2,500 pound payload into low orbit and is expected to be used with the new "space capsule" which McDonnell Aircraft Corp., St. Louis, has been ordered to develop. The capsule, in effect a manned satellite, is expected to take at least two years to develop.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is known to be considering launching a rocket toward Venus next summer. But it was not believed the new two-stage Atlas would be ready for such an ambitious project that soon.

Negotiation With Commies Called Only Peace Hope

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D., Pa.) believes the only way to achieve world peace is to "negotiate, negotiate, negotiate."

The Pennsylvanian said negotiations should be carried on with both the Russians and the Chinese Communists.

"Either we have to live with them, or die with them," Clark said in a recorded radio interview.

Asked whether he thought a visit to the U. S. from Soviet Premier Khrushchev would help the cause of peace, Clark said there was a possibility, adding:

"We'll know more about it after seeing what has been accomplished by the visit of Deputy Premier Mikoyan.

"I am not one who believes that peace can be achieved by dramatic gestures and great buildups. It takes a lot of spadework at lower levels."

Bandit Gets A Break

Because his prior record was good, the youngest of a pair of bandits who used toy pistols to rob a loan association here of $19,000 on Dec. 19 got off with a six-month active sentence.

Federal Judge Emett C. Choate suspended the remainder of a five-year sentence for Jerald Carmel, 28, of 3952 NW 166th St., and put him on probation. Sentencing of Carmel had been held up during an investigation by probation officers.

His older accomplice, Raymond Ronald Pierson, 35, of 4381 SW 12th St., was sentenced to three years in prison by Federal Judge John D. Martin on Jan. 6.

The two were captured by FBI agents soon after they robbed the Biscayne Federal Savings and Loan Association Branch office at 2907 NW 79th St. All but about $400 of the money was recovered at Pierson's house, the FBI said.

Judaean Youth Program Starts

Two co-chairmen have been appointed to organize a Young Judaean Youth Program for Greater Miami.

Paul Kwitney and Mrs. Ben Karg were chosen by the Greater Miami Council for Jewish Youth to organize Young Judaean chapters, train leaders and carry out an extensive youth program during the year.

The council will meet at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 27 at the home of Mrs. Roz Soitz, 6300 SW 33rd St.

DOES GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKE YOU FEEL OLD

NEW YORK—Special: Thanks to new, scientific laboratory formulation, thousands of men and women now escape feeling old, tired, irritable and depressed from losing sleep and worrying about "Bladder Weakness"—too frequent, burning and itching urination, Bed Wetting, Getting Up Nights—or Strong Cloudy Urine, due to common Kidney or Bladder Irritations, which often result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervousness. In such cases New Improved CYSTEX usually gives quick, calming relief by combating irritating germs in acid urine; and by relaxing, analgesic pain relief. Safe for young or old. Get CYSTEX at druggist. Feel better fast or money back. —Adv.

UAW Cuts Expenses

DETROIT —(AP)— The United Auto Workers are curtailing publicity activities in a new economy program.

A union spokesman said the public relations and publication departments will be combined and the UAW newspaper, Solidarity, put on a monthly basis instead of twice a month.

UAW Secretary - Treasurer Emil Mazey told an officer of the Detroit Newspaper Guild the union had to economize because it is operating at a deficit of almost $300,000 a month. The deficit was attributed to a sharp decline in dues-paying members brought about by the 1958 recession.

Teachers Demonstrate for Higher Pay

CHICAGO — (AP) — About 5,000 Chicago public school teachers seeking higher wages staged a 30-minute demonstration in the downtown district.

The teachers, both men and women, swarmed over a five-block area bearing placards reading: "Seventy-five cents a day raise is not enough. That's babysitters' pay." And "well-paid teachers needed as badly as well-paid administrators."

Teachers received a $150 a year wage increase in the new school budget.

Extra police were detailed to control traffic as the demonstrators stretched along La Salle St. from Wacker Drive to Washington Blvd.

Shirley, There's An Error

By Herald Wire Services

SHIRLEY POVICH, sports columnist for The Washington Post and Times Herald, has been cited in the first edition of "Who's Who of American Women." And if you think that isn't something—Shirley is a man.

POVICH

But Povich made it clear he isn't mad about being included. He's used to that sort of thing. He often gets mail addressed to "Miss Shirley Povich."

Once he was invited to join the League of American Penwomen. The application blank asked, "How do you get along with the men in your profession?" Wrote Shirley: "I simply try to be one of the boys."

Povich said he didn't try very hard to correct the mistaken publishers of "Who's Who of American Women."

Senate Adds 18 Top Committee Seats; Dirksen Queries Appropriations Shift

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate gave speedy approval Wednesday to expansion of its major legislative committees by addition of 18 seats.

The move by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is expected to provide at least one choice committee spot for most of the 18 new senators — 15 Democrats and three Republicans.

Approval of the committee revision was by voice vote, although Dirksen questioned addition of four more places on the powerful appropriations committee, from 23 to 27.

Dirksen said the appropriations committee shift would mean an 18-9 advantage for Democrats on the group that will figure so largely in President Eisenhower's fight to balance the budget.

Five former 15-member committees were increased to 17 — agriculture, armed services, finance, foreign relations and commerce. On these Democrats will have an 11-6 margin.

The labor and public works committees were expanded from 13 to 15 and Democrats will have a 10-5 ratio on them.

The government operations, post office and civil service committees were reduced from 13 to nine and the District of Columbia committee from nine to seven.

Committees with total membership unchanged include space, banking, interior and judiciary with 15 members and rules with nine.

Stop Light Coming for 7-Way Spot

Dade County's No. 1 road hazard — the intersection at NW 183rd St. and State Road 9 — will get a set of traffic lights shortly, but Metro Traffic Chief George Kunde said "it still won't cure the headache there."

The lights will benefit pedestrians by slowing down traffic, he said.

Eventually, the State Road Department plans to build an interchange to eliminate the seven-sided inflow of traffic at the intersection.

Road Department member William D. Singer promised "progress will be made soon."

Kunde proposed a traffic signal at the hazardous corner a year ago, was turned down by the State Road Department, which in turn approved the present set of lights.

Columnist Torre Out Of Jail

JERSEY CITY —(AP)— Columnist Marie Torre, who entered Hudson county jail 10 days ago with tears in her eyes, came out smiling Wednesday.

The 34-year-old mother was sentenced to the jail for contempt. She refused to reveal the source of an item she wrote about Singer Judy Garland.

Flanked by her husband and father, Miss Torre waved to newsmen as she stepped through the big bronze and glass doors of the jail.

Miss Garland is suing the Columbia Broadcasting System for remarks an undisclosed CBS executive allegedly made about her to Miss Torre.

The U.S. District Court judge who sentenced The New York Herald-Tribune columnist said he had no recourse under the law but to send her to jail.

If Miss Torre is asked again to reveal the name of the executive and if she again refuses, she may go back to prison.

Coming out of jail, she said she "wouldn't have missed this for the world." But she declined to say whether she would again refuse to disclose the executive's name.

"I would be happier coming out of here if I knew how this was going to end," she told newsmen.

"The worst punishment was being separated from my children," she said. "It seems like I've been away a year."

She said the first thing she was going to do was play with her two children.

Miss Torre said she received more than 800 letters during her stay in jail. She said only three disagreed with her stand.

"I did it all for the principle," she said. "Actually this was the easy way. The other way would have been to betray my profession, my friends, my church, my parents—everything I believe in."

Metro Kills Probe Idea

The Metro Commission has scrapped a proposal to create a special committee to investigate county government operations.

The plan was "amended to the point where it does not accomplish anything," County Attorney Darrey A. Davis said.

Commissioners voted 7-1 in favor of authorizing the chairman to appoint committees to make specific investigations and report back to the whole commission.

"The Metro charter already gives the commission that power," Davis said.

Might Hurt Company, ICC Says

FEC Lifetime Jobs Barred

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A proposal that Florida East Coast Railway employes be guaranteed lifetime job protection when the railroad is reorganized has been rejected a second time by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Future control of the FEC was awarded to the St. Joe Paper Co., a Dupont subsidiary. The ICC ruled that lifetime job protection might be unduly burdensome to the reorganized company in the event of another serious depression.

The Railway Labor Executives Association challenged the commission's authority to change a reorganization petition which had been accepted by all principals in the case.

The ICC ruled that its authority is clear and that those participating in the plan of reorganization could not legally bind the proposed new company.

The commission said this would not prevent some new agreement between employes and management of the company after it has been established.

The reorganization plan still must be cleared by U.S. District Court in Jacksonville, which has set a hearing for Jan. 26.

It's Orchids for Dog Show's Champion

A high-bred dog goes for orchids.

That, at least, is the theory of the Greater Miami Dog Club, Inc., a member of the American Kennel Clubs and of the Florida Association of Kennel Clubs.

Apparently on the theory that it will be impressive to the winner, the club has announced that the dog which wins top honors in its All-Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trials this Sunday will receive a horseshoe of orchids.

The club even has adopted as its sloagn for this year's show: "Where the Best Is Dressed In Orchids."

This year's show, the 20th sponsored by the local club, will be held in Dinner Key Auditorium. Judging will start at 9 a.m. The show closes at 11 p.m.

Alva Rosenbert, well-known American Kennel Club judge from New York City, will decide which dogs are outstanding.

Junior showmanship competition for boys and girls from 10 to 16 years of age will be an added attraction this year.

Admission charge, according to Mrs. Marjory D. McNicol show chairman, will be 90 cents for adults and 50 cents for children. There also is an entry fee for the dogs.

The grand champion, incidentally, will get more than flowers. In addition to the orchids, he can sniff at a $100 trophy and a $100 cash prize.

Adventures in Music Filled With Excellent Performances

ANDERSON

THE TELEPHONE company's new monthly series, Adventures in Music, got off to a fine start Monday night on NBC (Ch. 7) with what I took to be a sort of representational program of those to follow.

While it was a seldom television feast to enjoy Renata Tebaldi, Harry Belafonte, Maurice Evans and the New York City Ballet all in one hour, it imposes certain difficulties on the appreciation apparatus of the viewer.

This viewer, at least, had a little trouble adjusting to the transition from the melodic delicacies of Puccini's arias as sung by Miss Tebaldi to the supercharged ballads of Belafonte.

I gather from the rundown of people appearing on next month's show — to be devoted to American music — there will be a little more program unity and harmony from here on out than there was on Monday night's opener.

I'm not complaining very seriously. On television you take what you can get and the combination offered Monday night was a pretty splendid one.

So you did have to sprint back, emotionally, from Japan and the sweet sorrows of Madam Butterfly to the comic capers of the New York City Ballet.

You have to be able to switch moods faster than a Dinah Shore costume change anyway to sit through a whole evening of television.

THE SHOW OPENED with Maurice Evans as ringmaster in a circus setting for Camille St. Saens' "Carnival of Animals." Puppeteers Cora and Bil Baird supplied the birds and animals — a disreputable lion, a clickety-clack dinosaur and a flossy swan ballerina, among others.

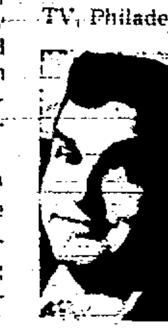
Miss Tebaldi, it goes without saying, was in perfect voice. She sang the "Un Bel Di" aria and the closing farewell one from "Butterfly." She is a singer of marvelously controlled power and taste—a rare treat for TV viewers.

The ballet company did a wildly comic number called "Souvenirs," satirizing the dance stylings and manners of the early century, all of it musically supported by the two-piano team of Gold and Fizdale.

Persons and Programs



HAYES

ROBERT H. PAASCH, formerly of WRCV-TV, Philadelphia, has been named chief engineer of WCKT (Ch. 7). Paasch succeeds the late Scott Bishop . . . Two promotions at WTVJ (Ch. 4). Frank Howell is the new local sales manager. Ken Bagwell succeeded Howell in his former job as national sales manager . . . ABC's Peter Lind Hayes Show may move to the Florida Citrus Exposition at Winter Haven in March for two weeks of its daily telecasts . . . The WTHS-TV (Ch. 2) show, Nature's Realm, recently copped the Tropical Audubon Society citation for outstanding coverage of Florida flora and fauna.

There was a particularly funny segment involving the attempted seduction of a movie-style vamp.

And finally there was Belafonte and his singers. There is little need to extoll their segment of the show. A session of Belafonte is a many splendored musical experience.

He alternated from the dramatic "I Think I heard Him Say" to the precision beat of "Got to Jump Down and Spin Around."

It was like old times to hear Donald Voorhees and his aggregation doing the sweeping program theme that opened and closed the phone system's NBC radio program each Monday night for years.

In those days, you could hear both that show and the Firestone Hour, similar in format, on Monday nights. They're opposite each other on television. At least once a month, you're going to have to make a choice.

REMEMBER ALINE HOLDAHL and her Musical Marionettes? Her skillfully manipulated puppets and imaginative productions were a wintertime fixture on television here for many moons.

After a long absence from live TV to make puppet operas for a private film company, she's coming back to local television, this time on WPST-TV (Ch. 10).

Musical Marionettes will have the 6:45 p.m., Sunday slot, starting Jan. 25.

Bat Gets 26-Week Extension

NBC-TV's Bat Masterson and ABC-TV's Rough Riders both got 26-week renewals . . . Harpo Marx made one of his infrequent TV appearances on the NBC-TV Milton Berle show Wednesday night.

The next Bell science special will be a 60-minute study of language, "The Alphabet Conspiracy," on NBC-TV Jan. 26.

One of the surprise new shows in the ABC-TV stable has been the one hour mystery show, 77 Sunset Strip. It's currently out-Trendexing all of its NBC-TV and CBS-TV competition by a wide margin.

Diana Dors and Sydney Chaplin have signed on for the CBS-TV Phil Silvers one hour special Jan. 23 . . . Reginald Rose's first original TV play in two years, "A Quiet Game Of Cards," is set for Jan. 29 on CBS-TV's Playhouse 90. It'll star Barry Sullivan, Franchot Tone, Gary Merrill, E. G. Marshall and William Bendix.

Follow New Idea

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Thursday, January 15, 1959

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A fascinating new thought occurs to you which will spell greater success and security for you and yours, if you put it in operation immediately. Labor diligently through the day and evening, happily.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thoroughly inspired today and should lose no time putting brilliant ideas to work. Get in touch with associates and outline plans, go into the minutest detail.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Money matters are the focal point of your energies today and you should get an early start on them if you are to gain all the benefits from excellent astrological aspects.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) In both A.M. and P.M. you can today follow those amusements or delights that give you the greatest source of satisfaction. Be certain you stay only with those persons who truly think along the same lines that you do.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Unable to find the right solution to some perplexing conditions, you will be fortunate now in finding one person among your inner sanctum of friends who gives the right advice. FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for February send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Having full conviction that by taking others into business with you, or by working together in some way you can be more successful, this is the day to put such ideas into practice.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your work is being watched by a most intelligent and dynamic executive. If it meets with his or her approval, you will get a raise, advancement, backing. Be on your toes.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Fine day for seeing those in different walks of life than yours and discussing your marvelous new ideas with them. If you are alert, you can absorb their "knowhow."

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contacting authorities in your special fields, whether personal or commercial, should bring about immediate and enthusiastic response from them. Make this a banner day.

Suggestion: Buy a TV set so the councilmen could watch. Rejected.

Solution: Reschedule the meeting on the Monday preceding the first Tuesday. Approved.

Best Bet

Author Alvin Boretz's problem here is that he's tried to do too much — there are too many plots and sub-plots, too many characters that we meet, then forget, then meet again. Edmund O'Brien is the chief character, an elderly, straight-laced policeman involved in all the plots. Jack Warden is the lawyer, Eileen Heckart a policeman's widow, James Westerfield the lazy cop, Cameron Prud'homme the acting captain and Rafael Campos a teen-ager accused of theft.

7 — ERNIE FORD — Kate Smith is making the first of two consecutive guest appearances with Ernie tonight. Kate, of course, will sing "God Bless America" as one of her solos, but will also team with Ford for a medley of show tunes. Tennessee Ernie and Virginia Kate should make a happy singing team . . . color.

10 — ROUGH RIDERS — The riders are stopped by a rebel-hater and his three sons who are all for stringing Kirby up.

4 — MOVIE —"Ceiling Zero," (1935), Pat O'Brien, James Cagney, June Travis. A crack pilot, noted for two things . . . his courage in the air and his many love affairs, and the scheme he devises to win a certain girl which causes the death of another pilot.

Air Fiesta's Only 'Name' Is Godfrey

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

Aviation Week — the big fiesta dreamed up to dedicate the new Miami International Airport terminal—will soar on somewhat clipped wings.

GODFREY

Instead of the s't a r-spangled array of national heroes first mentioned — like Charles Lindbergh, Generals Douglas MacArthur and Jimmy Doolittle — the only recognizable "big name" will be that of TV star Arthur Godfrey.

Godfrey also would have been lost to the show if the county hadn't come up with an additional $22,000 to help defray cable charge costs when he moves his show here. For that sum and additions from other quarters he will do two days of TV and radio from the new terminal, a special show on Viscaya, and broadcast two weeks from this area.

Only a couple of the dedication events will be in the place being dedicated. The other events include dinners, luncheons and parties at places as far away as the new Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood by the Sea, and a Friday, Saturday and Sunday Air Show at Master Field, Opa-Locka.

Dick Troxel, an associate of Hoite Agey in the publicity firm the county pays $27,000 a year for consulting services, said this scattering of shots was "to make it an area-wide show."

The free air show will be put on almost entirely by the armed services.

Events, as now listed, begin at the airport Thursday.

There will be a 21-gun salute when Argentine President Arturo Frondizi and two of his ministers arrive.

When the dream of a big show started Troxel was made general chairman. The firm recommended Kent Thompson, an experienced publicist, for the acutal work. He was put on the airport authority payroll at $125 a week, expenses and a car allowance from an original fund of $8,000 set up to start the show.

Thompson became ill and quit several weeks ago, and the ball was back in Troxel's lap.

Lew Price, City of Miami publicity man, and his assistant, Lee Evans, went to work on the publicity last week without city funds.

"We're supplying existing manpower only," Price said. "We would do that for anything that helps Miami."

Doubt Cast On Theory Of Suicide

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

A private detective, testifying before a Federal Court jury, cast fresh doubt Wednesday on the police theory that Miami auto dealer Harry Ablon committed suicide at the wheel of his car in 1957.

With $70,000 in insurance hanging in the balance, the jury was closeted for the night to consider the bizarre circumstances of the death. A parade of witnesses presented conflicting opinions.

Ablon was found dead with a single bullet hole through his head after his car crashed into the front of a house at 2180 NW 90th St. He was at the steering wheel and a pistol a witness said he bought that day was near his feet, one bullet fired from its chamber.

A tear in the car's upholstery was pointed out by police as possibly made by the bullet from the gun.

"Whatever tore this lining came from the right side of the car to the left side." A medical examiner had testified the bullet entered Ablon's left temple and came out the right.

Dubois also told of piecing together glass from a broken window of the car and finding a hole the size of a pencil had been made in it. It could have been made by a bullet or a tree limb, he said.

Ablon's widow is suing his insurance company for payment of $70,000 double indemnity benefits on his $35,000 policy, contending death was from causes over which he had no control. Her attorney brought out testimony of witnesses that two shots were heard at the scene.

Attorneys Strike

DARNO, Italy —(UPI)— Defendants were left to argue their own cases in court when attorneys staged a strike in protest against conditions in the court rooms.

He Should Have Kept Quiet

MILAN, Italy —(UPI)— A beggar posing as a deaf mute was arrested when he became involved in a dispute with a streetcar conductor and started yelling.

Good news for asthmatics

Specialist's discovery now makes it possible for bronchial asthma sufferers to quickly relieve choking, coughing, gasping spasms and, do it without use of internal drugs or painful injections. So safe you can get Dr. Guild's Green Mountain in either cigarettes or compound form without prescription. Ask your druggist for it. —Adv.

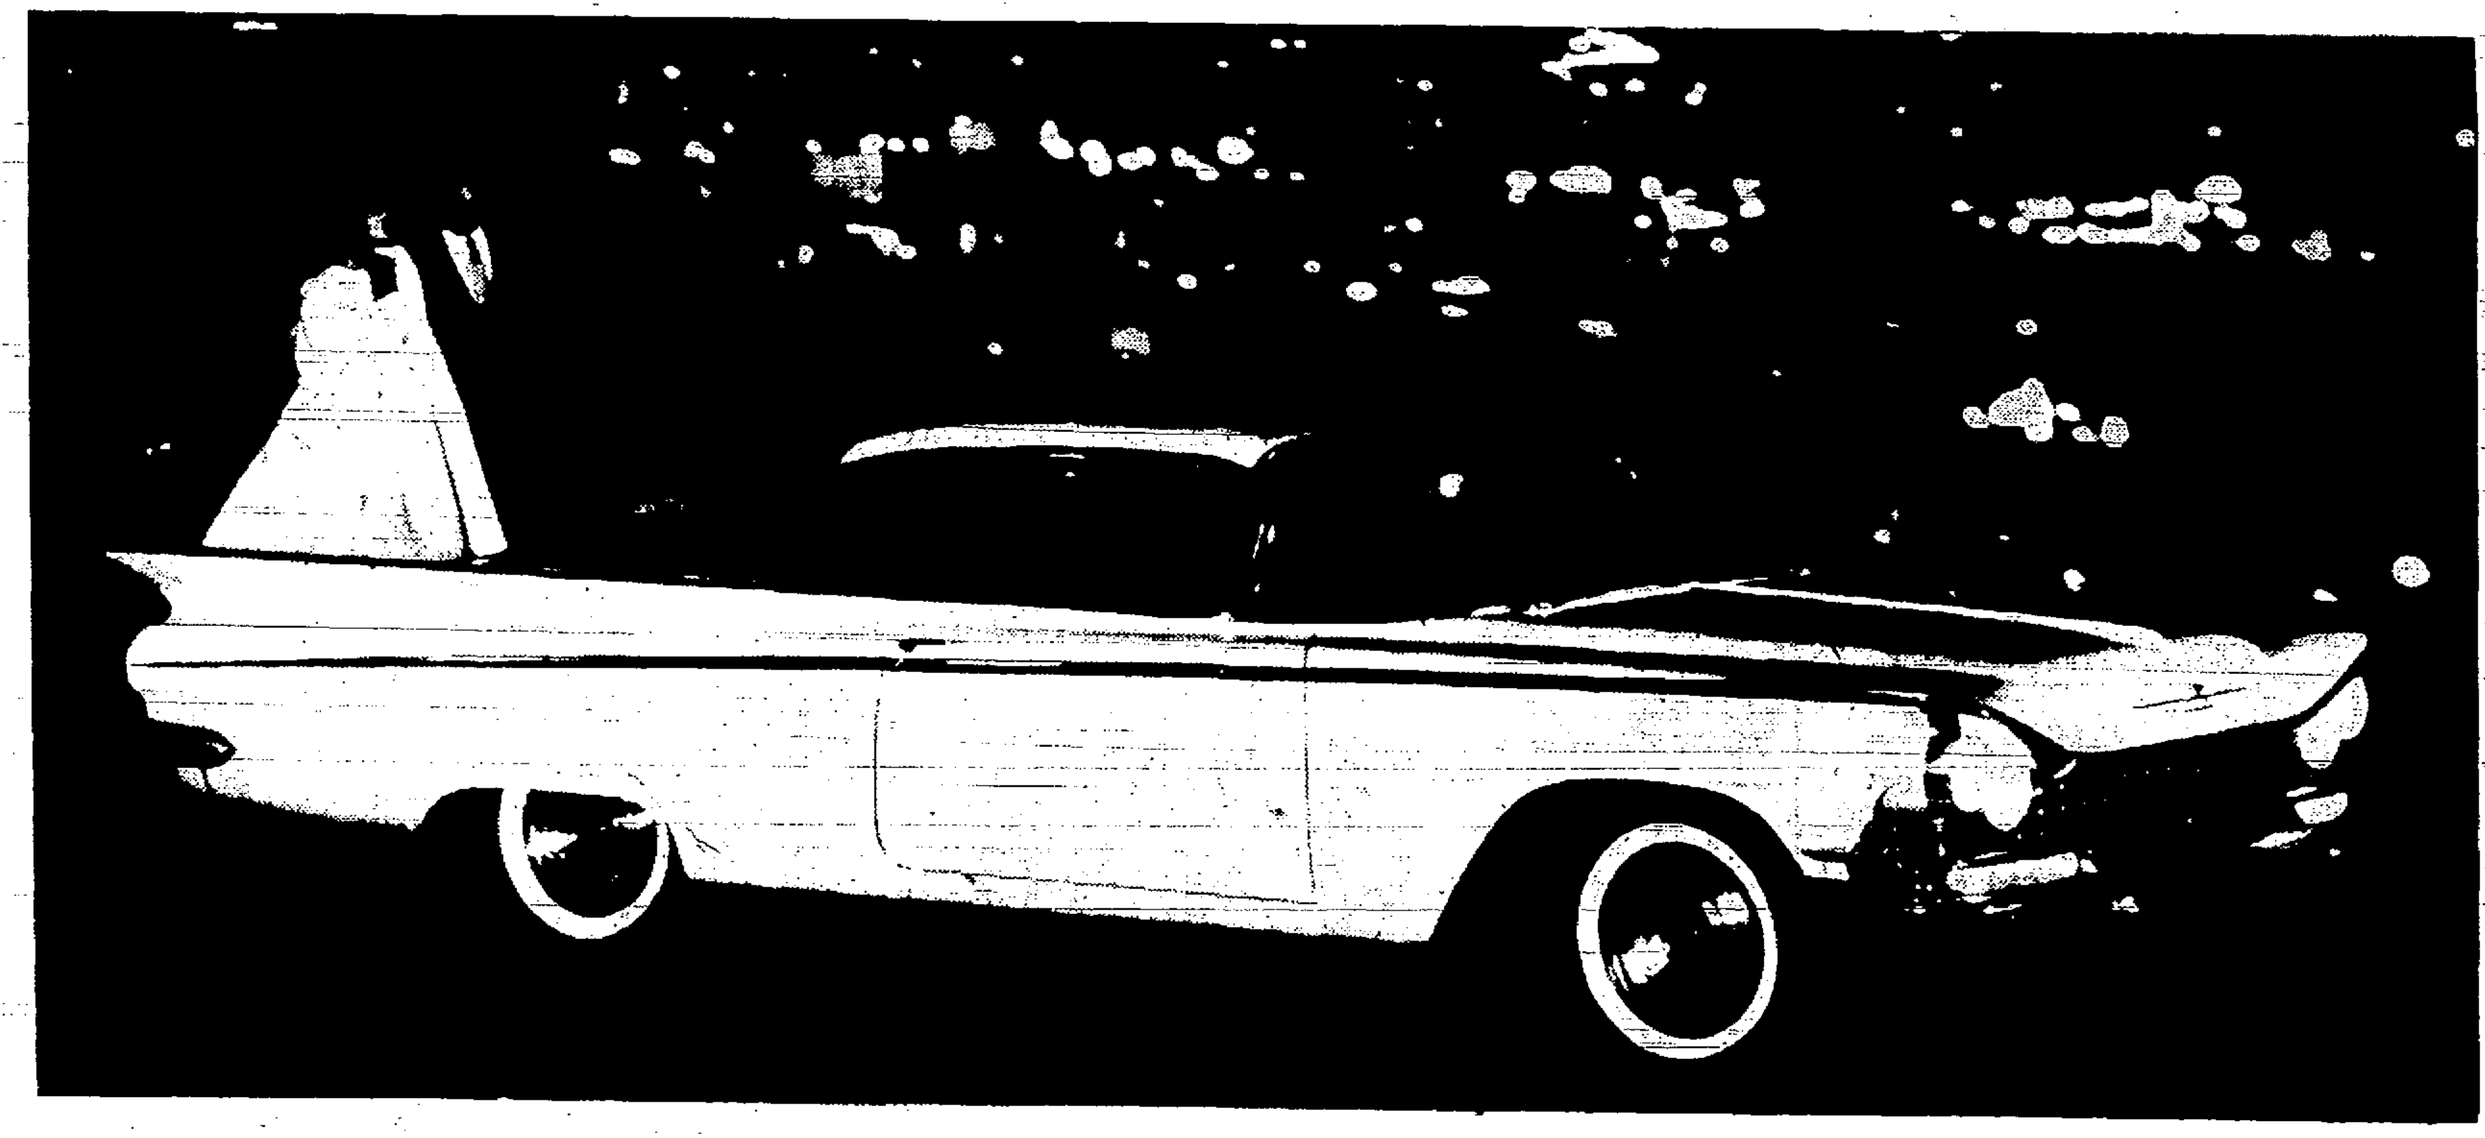
THE MOST IMPORTANT $200 IN THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD!



It buys a Buick LESABRE instead...

We hope you'll look into this personally, before you buy a new car. Because the simple fact is that for just about $200 more than the price of the best models of the three leading low-priced cars . . . you can own a Buick LeSabre instead. You can check this any time by comparing the manufacturer's suggested retail prices posted right on the cars in the showrooms.

Not "stripped", but equipped as you want it.

In the past, you may have run into price comparisons where the higher-priced car had no extra equipment, and the other had lots of it. This is not what we're talking about here. We mean only $200 more for a car fitted out the way you want it.

You could pick the LeSabre 2-door hardtop pictured here . . . including Twin-Turbine automatic transmission, radio, heater, white sidewall tires, electric windshield wipers, direction signals, lighter and automatic dome and glove compartment lights. Even with all that our statement will still stand up.

Furthermore, you'll own a BUICK

You'll have a fine car, with a fine-car ride, a true fine-car feel. You get a quieter, more substantial car. Not only are this year's Buicks the finest Buicks ever built, but they have been judged the "outstanding" cars in their field in a recent poll of car owners.

Plus new economy, high trade-in value

In designing this year's Buicks, the engineers planned to build noticeably better gas mileage into the cars. Reports now in from owners, and careful competitive tests, too, prove they did a very successful job.

Alongside all this, put the good trade-in value which the Buick name and Buick's successful new styling assure . . . and you can see why we say this $200 difference in price is the most important $200 in the automobile world today.

Won't you come in soon and let us prove it in detail?

THE CAR IS THE BUY!

Opening lead: King of ♥.

When a player acquires a reputation for refusing to lead partner's suit, a canny adversary will frequently play successfully on that weakness by fantastic calls of three no trump. In today's hand, South went one step further and tried to scare West out of leading his own suit. That is bravado of the first order. Yet, but for East's inspired defensive coup, his attempt at highway robbery would have succeeded.

When the final contract of three no trump had been reached, there was no chance to get West's mind off the heart suit, so the king came out very promptly. When the jack showed up in dummy, East could not afford to overtake, and although a diamond shift at this stage would have proven very profitable.... West cannot be blamed for continuing with a low heart. The ace won, but the suit was blocked. East could see that unless partner was able to obtain the lead, the cause was lost.

The instinctive lead would be a club, but a moment's thought made it evident that such plan had little hope of success. To bid no trump without the sign of a heart stopper (and not much else), South must have been relying on running the club suit. Furthermore, if West had a high club, it was unlikely that declarer could ever run enough tricks without first letting him in. There was one hope and that was that West had the king of diamonds. It was not a very bright prospect, but it was the one real chance.

East, therefore, played the queen of diamonds. This was taken in dummy by declarer who ran the clubs and then tried to spade finesse. When this failed, a diamond was returned to West's king and the mopping up process was completed. Once again, crime had failed to pay.

Coin-Ops Opening Here at 1-a-Week Rate

By STAN JOHNSON
Herald Business Writer

Greater Miami's laundry business, which underwent one shakeup when laundromats began opening after World War II, is experiencing another revolution — the coin-op.

The coin-op—trade name for coin-operated laundromat—is really an old hat with new feathers, laundrymen say.

The early postwar laundromats were mostly coin-operated but usually had attendants to instruct customers in the operation of new-fangled automatic washing machines.

Gradually, the attendants began doing the housewives' laundry for them, and eventually the coin devices disappeared.

Now they're back again, this time without attendants and open around the clock.

About 40 have opened in Greater Miami in less than a year, and more are opening at the rate of one a week.

Coin-op owners argue convincingly that it's cheaper for the housewife to do her dirty laundry in public than it is for her to do it at home in her own washing machine.

They point out that it costs only $1.50 a week to wash and dry four loads of laundry in a coin-op. They estimate the cost of doing laundry at home at $8.25 a week.

Home laundry costs are figured on a weekly basis at 14 cents for water and sewerage, 56 cents for gas to heat water and dry clothes, 25 cents for electricity, $1.40 for depreciation, 45 cents for maintenance, 20 cents for water softeners, and 25 cents for loss of interest on the money invested in an automatic washer and dryer.

In some neighborhoods, coin-ops are serving as community centers, with armchairs, magazines, television, vending machines, and a bulletin board for "for sale" and "for rent" notices.

Larceny is the coin-op's biggest problem. In Harry Singer's place on NW 36th St., every thing is chained down—even the toilet paper.

Singer, who owns three coin-ops in Greater Miami, thinks they will eventually make the home washing machine obsolete.

Two had given up home washing machines for good after they broke down, one lived in an apartment and had no machine, and two were tourists.

In North Miami, where there is a heavy concentration of coin-ops, competition has grown so fierce that a price war has driven the washing machine rate down to 20 cents a load.

Coin-ops appear to be popular with small investors. The average one costs $16,500 to open. Up to 80 per cent of the equipment cost can be financed for 36 months.

Singer, who runs his three-unit chain without any employes, says he could operate 15 units by himself.

An equipment salesman, John Stephens, says some coin-ops gross $3,000 a week. Net income varies from 35 to 50 per cent of the gross, he adds.

Already well established elsewhere in the country, the coin-ops appear to be still far from reaching the saturation point in Greater Miami.

Stephens says they haven't hurt the commercial laundry or laundromat businesses.

"The coin-op competes with the home washing machine," he says, "and successfully, I might add."

For Long-Term: Dollar Averaging

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

DOYLE

Q. For the past four years I have bought growth stocks regularly by dollar averaging. This method, of putting a set amount of money into the same stocks at set intervals has been very rewarding. My stocks are now worth far more than I paid for them.

However, my sister-in-law subscribes to an investment service which recommends stocks for short-term gains. That service draws graphs of the past price movements of various stocks. By studying the shapes of the charted prices, the investment service claims it can accurately determine the direction and extent of future price changes.

I have been buying stock in a certain electronics company for over a year. This stock has risen in value over 25 per cent in that time. From its dividends and earnings, I think it is an excellent long-term investment.

But my sister-in-law urges me to sell it. Using the language of her investment service, she says that "activity near the top of a congestion area paralleling declining tops and bottoms" shows that the stock is due for a huge loss in coming months.

Do you know what she is talking about? This just doesn't add up to me. How valuable are these charts for the long-term investor?

A. Your sister-in-law is living proof of the adage that "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing." Graphs, charts and stock market averages can be very helpful — to people who know how to use them. They are tools that should only be used by skilled hands. But the trick is knowing when to put down one of those tools and pick up another.

By sticking with just one system, your sister-in-law is making a big mistake. Lots of charts and theories have been tossed aside during the current market rise.

Anyway, she's a gambler and you're an investor. If she happens to be right this time and your electronics stock does take a big dip — so what? As long as you are convinced that it will do well over the long haul, short-term declines should make you happy.

That's the beauty of dollar averaging. By putting the same amount of money into the same stock at set intervals, you get more shares when the price is down.

And dollar averaging is still the best way for the long-term investor to come out ahead. Leave the charts and such to the professional speculators and people like your sister-in-law, who think they know what they're doing.

Q. I have bought and sold stocks during the past four years and have lost a considerable amount of money. I now hold 150 shares of Colorado Fuel & Iron. If I sell it, I stand to lose over $1,000.

By any remote chance, do you see this stock having a chance for a recovery?

A. Yes. It's doubtful that any recovery will be a quick thing. You may have to wait a bit. But the opportunity is there.

CF&I was hard hit by the recession. It has come back a long way. The company's present management, which took control after World War II has done a big job in modernization and expansion. But those things take time to pay off.

Hate to say "I told you so," but the truth of the matter is that you would have a profit in this stock (or at least a smaller loss) if you had purchased it through dollar averaging. You're suffering from a bad case of "buying and selling blues."

Delta Gets 60 Million Jet Loan

Delta Air Lines has negotiated a 60-million-dollar financing program with 24 banks—one in Miami—and four insurance companies for a fleet of jet airliners.

C. E. Woolman, president and general manager, said Wednesday the line has completed an agreement with the banks whereby 35 million dollars will be available until the end of 1960 as a revolving credit and repayable over seven years.

The other 25 million came from credit agreements with the insurance companies—Prudential, Connecticut General, Connecticut Mutual and Mutual Insurance Co. of New York. Woolman said these funds will be available this year and next required until 1968—when the banks are paid. Final maturity is in 1974.

Delta is to take delivery next June on the first of six Douglas DC8 jetliners. It plans to inaugurate jet passenger service in the fall. The line also has 10 Convair 880 jet transports on order with delivery to start in January, 1960.

Woolman said the banking group was brought together by the Citizens and Southern National Bank of Atlanta. Other Atlanta banks participating are the Trust Co. of Georgia, First National Bank of Atlanta and the Fulton National Bank.

How's Your Coffee Cup?

BOCA RATON —(UPI) — The average housewife can't make a good cup of coffee, a speaker told the National Coffee Association here.

Eugene G. Laughery, president of the Coffee Brewing Institute, said 83 per cent of American homemakers use one-half pound of coffee or less to do the job of a full pound.

"This means one thing," said Laughery. "It means the coffee industry has not told them how to use its product to best advantage."

Other speakers had some advice on how to sell more coffee: Get a catchy slogan and also try to appeal to housewives' "emotions."

Another idea presented at the convention here: "If you don't get teenagers drinking coffee, and drinking it soon, you may lose them forever."

Merger With N.Y. Central Out, Pennsy RR Boss Says

Dow Jones, Associated Press, United Press International

The president of the Pennsylvania Railroad said Wednesday there is no chance of either a merger or co-ordination of facilities with the New York Central.

James M. Symes said "There are too many obstacles involved in a coordination plan—each railroad would be jockeying for the best position . . . It would akin to plain-horse trading."

However, Alfred E. Perlman, president of Central, said his railroad's directors have not abandoned the idea of a merger, and that they will continue studies which have been underway for more than a year.

Security Man's Report

Rich, Poor Alike Steal from Boss

NEW YORK —(UPI)— Executives drawing $15,000 to $40,000 can be just as prone to steal from the boss as the $45 a week clerk, security consultant Lincoln M. Zonn said Wednesday.

"In fact, the higher the salary, the bigger a dishonest employe's appetite for larceny is—he steals merchandise by the truckload or cash in big chunks, whereas the clerk pilfers $5 items or postage stamps," explained Zonn.

Zonn is a former counter intelligence officer and a professional psychologist who learned security control in the Army during the war. He turned his knowledge to commercial use.

"We have caught so many executives engaged in stealing that we are convinced that pay levels don't have too much to do with pilferage," he said.

"We have found dishonest employes in all brackets from $40 a week to $40,000 a year," he said. "The plain truth is that there is more pilferage of merchandise and money from business firms today than at any time in history. I think the shrinkage of the dollar is primarily responsible."

Zonn said the known loss from such thefts in the United States is now running well over $1 billion a year.

COMPLETE N.Y. STOCKS: Late Rally Halts Decline

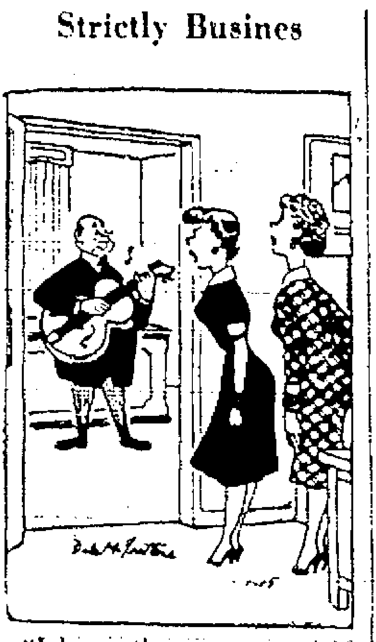
Strictly Business



"I knew there was a catch when he agreed to provide music while we work!"

Bulls Drive Market Up Late in Day

NEW YORK — (AP) — A late rally halted nearly three days of reaction and converted a stock market loss into a gain Wednesday.

After spending most of the day on the downside, key stocks showed gains of one or two points by the close.

Volume increased to 4,090,000 shares from 3,790,000 in Tuesday's declining market.

Rails and the secondary steel stocks were star performers as prices rallied in the final hour. American Motors, last year's most active stock, jumped to a new high and closed with a net gain of 3¼.

Most motors, coppers, utilities, oils and drugs were higher. CIT Financial, under heavy selling pressure most of the session, closed unchanged after erasing a loss of about 2.

Wall Streeters said the drying up of volume as prices fell Tuesday and early Wednesday was regarded bullishly by technicians. They linked no special news to the late upturn.

Of 1,275 issues traded, 616 rose and 418 fell. There were 137 new highs for 1958-'59.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 2,340,000 shares compared with 2,150,000 Tuesday.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21st, 1959 — AND A MESSAGE OF VITAL IMPORTANCE TO EVERYONE WHO HAS A SAVINGS OR MORTGAGE ACCOUNT WITH MIAMI BEACH FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION.

ACCORDING TO THE CHARTER AND BY-LAWS OF MIAMI BEACH FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, THE ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS IS TO BE HELD ON THE THIRD WEDNESDAY OF EACH JANUARY. THIS MAKES THE 1959 ANNUAL MEETING FALL ON WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21ST.

The present management of the Association, which consists of a group of temporary appointees — Mitchell Wolfson, Claude Renshaw, Henry D. Williams, John E. Shuey, Carl Weinkle and Ritter Levinson — has been soliciting proxies of shareholders of Miami Beach Federal. This group is attempting to postpone the annual meeting from January to February.

The SHAREHOLDERS MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE, has sought in the Federal Courts to prevent these office holders from changing the date of the annual meeting.

In the absence of a final decision in this matter by the court, there will be held on WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21ST, AT 2:00 P.M. IN THE 4TH FLOOR CAFETERIA OF THE MIAMI BEACH FEDERAL BUILDING AT WASHINGTON AVENUE AND LINCOLN ROAD, MIAMI BEACH, THE REGULAR ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS TO ELECT OFFICERS AND TRANSACT SUCH BUSINESS AS MAY PROPERLY COME BEFORE IT.

YOU ARE URGED TO ATTEND THIS MEETING AND VOTE YOUR SHARES. If, for any reason, you think you may not be able to attend this vitally important meeting, we urge you to sign the proxy form appearing below. THIS NEW PROXY AUTOMATICALLY CANCELS ALL OTHERS YOU MAY HAVE RECENTLY SIGNED.

THIS PROXY ASSURES YOU THAT YOUR VOTE WILL BE CAST TO GIVE TO MIAMI BEACH FEDERAL THE SAME KIND OF MANAGEMENT AND LEADERSHIP THAT FOR ALMOST A QUARTER CENTURY GAVE YOUR ASSOCIATION AN EVER-INCREASING RECORD OF GROWTH, STABILITY AND SECURITY.

FILL OUT & MAIL TODAY!

WE PLEDGE TO CARRY OUT THE SAME SOUND AND SUCCESSFUL MANAGEMENT PRINCIPLES SET FORTH BY THE FOUNDERS OF

Chester C. McCubbin said he had a premonition: His wife would be in a train accident.

Wednesday she was.

And about the time the Jacksonville-bound Palmland passenger train jumped the tracks near Polk City, the 60-year-old painter said he "heard" his wife "shriek" while he slept:

"Keep off the right track! . . . Keep off the right track!"

She suffered hip and shoulder injuries and was admitted to nearby Winter Haven Hospital along with Mrs. Betty Arocho, 34, of 3440 NW 83rd St., and her three-year-old daughter, Cynthia.

Treated for minor injuries and released were Ernest Taylor, 40, of 2050 NW 36th St., and O. W. Houch, 64, of 664 NW 23rd St.

Railway officials said a broken rail forced eight of the train's 12 cars off the track. Thirteen of the 23 passengers were injured none seriously.

"It all sounded so silly," McCubbin said, when he "heard" his wife's warning.

He checked his bedside clock ("about 2:30 a.m."), then went back to sleep.

At 3 a.m. he was awakened again. Hospital officials at Winter Haven informed him his wife had been injured in a train wreck.

Quartet Shows Its Maturity

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music Editor

Music Review

The Griller String Quartet, composed of four men who have played together for over thirty continuous years, made its first appearance for Miami's Friends of Chamber Music in White Temple auditorium Wednesday night.

The veteran ensemble performed with as much warmth and exuberance as any youthful group just entering the field, while at the same time disclosing full maturity of musical conception and mellow and seasoned interpretations born of a long preoccupation with the music.

It is obvious that this quartet's principal aim is to communicate the music in hand; consequently it exercises no showmanship, makes no bids for dramatic effect, and even appears to have almost no preoccupation with tone for its own sake.

The ensemble tone is, therefore, excellent but not ravishing. And the ensemble, though beautifully balanced and disciplined, is not polished to fare-you-well.

Such integrity and eagerness to completely communicate the music are just what is wanted for the quartets of Beethoven, and the Quartet No. 11 in F minor, Op. 95, got as ardent and satisfying a reading as it will ever have here.

The last quartet of the composer's middle period — which makes it all the more agreeable to get it played here by this particular group.

The Griller Quartet is robust with its Haydn, and the Op. 76, No. 1, which almost never appears on quartet programs, was given a full-bodied treatment which even rose to intensity in the adagio. It was very rich Haydn, and a quartet one would like to hear much more often.

For its contemporary work the Grillers turned to the First Quartet of Milhaud, a completely accessible work full of sweetness and lyricism and even some dreaming in the second movement.

The encore was the slow movement of Haydn's Op. 3, No. 5 Quartet; played very delicately.

Welfare Recovery Act Urged

Herrell Plans To Sponsor Bill

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — State Rep. Cliff Herrell revealed Wednesday he plans to introduce a welfare recovery bill—always a hotly contested legislative issue—in the 1959 session.

The Dade County lawmaker said "We can't continue to throw our arms wide open and tell people to come and live in the sun if they are not able to take care of themselves."

The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee noted Welfare Department requests for the next two years total nearly 219 million dollars, up 60 million dollars the current biennium.

Herrell said he will propose legislation to enable the Welfare Department to recover money it has paid in assistance from the estate of deceased recipients after their property is no longer used as their homestead.

Attending hearings on state agencies' budgets, Herrell asserted "We have got to make reductions or obtain reimbursement for state expenditures wherever possible. Our welfare costs are staggering."

Herrell said he believed such a law would cut down the number of cases in which there are welfare recipients with adult children who are financially able to support their parents.

He said there are cases in old-age assistance where when, after the parent, or parents, have died relatives living out-of-state reap benefits through sale of their home.

"I think the state of Florida ought to be able to get something back, if at all possible. I realize it is an unpopular proposal in many quarters, but I think that is because the purpose of a recovery act is misinterpreted.

"It isn't strictly a lien law," Herrell said, "because as long as any dependent survivor of the former welfare recipient uses the property as a homestead it would be exempt from any claim by the state."

Previous efforts to push through a law enabling the state to recover assistance payments from an estate have failed to make headway in the Legislature.

Gov. LeRoy Collins has consistently opposed such a law on the ground that a destitute citizen's home should not be subject to a lien for welfare aid.

A Crash . . . Lights Out, And Wham!

A car careened into a power pole after a collision with a pickup truck Wednesday night, knocked out electricity in a northwest section neighborhood, then burst into flames and exploded when a hot wire fell across it.

The driver of the car, Carlos Clinton Rhodes, 20, of 13240 NW 21st Ave., was thrown clear before the car struck the pole at NW 54th St. and 27th Ave. He escaped with minor injuries.

Richard O. Boyd, 28, of 3450 NW 95th Ter., driver of the pickup truck, was treated at North Shore Hospital for lacerations of the skull.

Gun Victim Left Estate to Wife

Alexander McClure Lupfer, 49, of 8200 SW 112th St. who shot himself with his son's Christmas gift shotgun last week, signed a will Oct. 8, 1956, leaving his entire estate $24,000 in stocks and personal property to his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Lupfer.

He was a Coral Gables concrete firm executive.

Sad Case of Semantics

This Is All Inacscusable

By PAT MANGAN

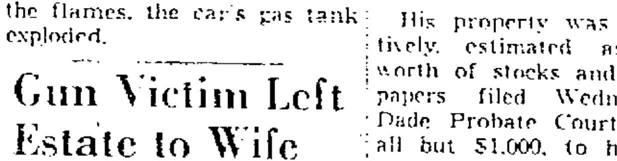
FORT LAUDERDALE — Neither Miami's English nor its automobile inspection process is clear to one woman here.

Mrs. Adelaide Stiles, a Fort Lauderdale resident, was warned recently by a Miami policeman, "even if you live in Fort Lauderdale if you come to Miami frequently, you must have the inspection."

So Mrs. Stiles went to an inspection station to carry out the directive. On arrival, she was given a card to fill out.



CITY OF MIAMI
FAILED TO PASS INSPECTION FOR THE REASON ABOVE
RESIDENTS OF OTHER CITIES NOT ACCEPTED
PRINT PLAINLY

Across the top, it read: "RESIDENTS OF OTHER CITIES NOT ACCEPTED."

Confused, Mrs. Stiles questioned an inspector. Finally, she was able to determine an error in English usage on the card.

"Accepted" should have been "excepted."

Mrs. Stiles was accepted, and got her inspection sticker, except she's still hurt about the confusion.

You Can Have an Ulcer!

Yes, with a little effort, a little extra perspiring and worry, you can be one of those extra-special persons who have an ulcer. People with ulcers, you know, are possessed of the stuff that lifts them above the flock.

ULCER

. . . . People look up to you when you have an ulcer. (Or so it may seem to you if you get one). Some ulcer sufferers develop a strange sort of pride knowing their ulcer puts them in pretty fast company.

But, alas, ulcers don't necessarily confer business success on their victims. And sometimes a neglected ulcer, tired of being taken for granted, will rise up and belt its owner flat on his back, like so:

When you have Old Mr. Ulcer licked, you will have had an experience much like the one Herbert Kamm, a New York newspaper editor and an ulcer conqueror as well, tells about in his book, "You Can Have an Ulcer, Too."

A five-part serialization of his interesting and entertaining book, begins coming your way in Sunday's edition of The Miami Herald

Legislator Hits Cost Of Schools

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — A key legislator said Tuesday the costs of Florida's public school program may get out of hand with expenses mounting "at both ends and the middle."

Wilson Carraway, Tallahassee banker who will be chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he considered the state's primary duty was to support the regular elementary and high school educational programs.

He asked for cost breakdowns on other parts of the educational program, such as kindergartens, adult education, summer recreation programs, and special education for retarded and exceptional children.

Carraway and other members of Senate and House appropriations committees questioned School Superintendent Thomas Bailey during hearings on budget requests of state agencies for the next biennium. The Legislature will be appropriating money when it meets in April and May.

Bailey reminded the legislators the object of the state minimum foundation program was to guarantee every child in Florida an adequate education, no matter whether he happened to be going to school in a poor or a rich county.

The State Department of Education has asked nearly 31 million dollars to help counties build new schools in biennium starting July 1.

This would be a continuation of a program, started two years ago, with a 23 million dollar appropriation. To get the state funds, counties must match the money, but the 1957 Legislature helped by voting to give them 18 million dollars a year from sales tax income.

James H. Bright, who 50 years ago bought 17,000 acres of what now is Hialeah and Opa-locka and donated 160 acres for the $1,000,000 Hialeah Park site, left no real estate in his estate. He died Jan. 5 at 93.

His property was conservatively estimated as $40,000 worth of stocks and bonds in papers filed Wednesday in Dade Probate Court. He left all but $1,000, to his widow, Mrs. Lulu Bright, 82, of 45 Olive Dr., Hialeah.

The will, dated Feb. 2, 1958, provided, in event of his wife's prior death, the estate would go to their daughter, Mrs. Martha Tinsley Bright Cheatham, 1236 Placetos Ave., Coral Gables.

Without Strict Diet

New Anti-Anxiety Drug Heals Ulcers

NEW YORK — (AP) — A new anti-anxiety drug, teamed with an anti-spasm drug and antacids, allows complete healing of peptic ulcers without strict diet, a New York doctor reported Wednesday.

Mental sharpness and related functions are apparently unaffected by the new tranquilizing, said Dr. Louis A. Rosenblum in the current issue of "Clinical Medicine."

The ulcer treatment compound was given to 33 cases of duodenal ulcer, one patient with gastric ulcer and one with marginal ulcer. A duodenal ulcer is in the first part of the small intestine, leading from the stomach.

Thirty of the duodenal cases reported complete relief, Dr. Rosenblum said. The marginal case also reported prompt relief. The gastric ulcer did not respond and went to surgery.

Since mental and emotional attitude affect the ulcer, Dr. Rosenblum said, it is important to avoid reminding the patient of his ulcer. The restricted diet, frequent feedings and frequent medication tend to remind him of his ulcer, which constitutes a threat to his security.

The tranquilizer is called Sycotrol by the manufacturer, Reed & Carnick of Jersey City, N.J. It is part of the ulcer treatment compound Modutrol, which is dispensed only to physicians.

Georgia Academy Loss Light

Riverside Cadets Hit By 2nd Blaze in Week

HOLLYWOOD — Fire struck at Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, Ga., Wednesday morning, but it was nothing like the $200,000 blaze that forced the school to close up winter quarters here last week.

The blaze was discovered at 11 a.m. in the junior barracks, which houses about 150 of the academy's 750 cadets.

"It apparently started in the ceiling and damaged a wall and the roof," Phillips said. "We were lucky. In three minutes the fire might have really been serious."

Earlier Associated Press reports of extensive damage were scoffed at by Col. J. L. Beaver, superintendent of the academy.

"The two boys who lived in the room didn't lose a single belonging," he told The Herald by telephone.

But Beaver said possible arson is being checked. "You have to expect arson when there are fires this close together and this much alike. But I believe it was just a streak of bad luck."

Firemen from four cities battled the Hollywood fire Jan. 5 for two hours. It was the worst fire here in 10 years. Firemen said the cause was probably careless smoking by a cadet.

City building inspectors have recommended the 35-year-old former luxury hotel be torn down. No one was in the Gainesville barracks when the fire was reported, Col. Beaver said. Cadets were all in class.

AROUND MIAMI

Lot Is Paved --By Mistake

The Dade Port Authority was mixed up in another legal tangle Wednesday over the already controversial parking lot at Miami International Airport's new terminal.

This time, somebody mistakenly paved a 225-space parking area leased by Pan American World Airways.

Port Attorney James Eckhart Wednesday admitted the boner, was the Port Authority's.

The property, leased to Pan American World Airways, is located in the heart of new 20th St. terminal's 3,000-car parking lot.

The airline planned to use the area for a turn-around and maintenance square. Now a question of who controls the strip has been created.

Meanwhile, bids for the parking lot concession were suspended and commissioners voted 9-2 to have the Port Authority operate the lot itself on a six-month test basis.

Commissioner Alex Gordon said parking would gross $1,500,000, and cost only $300,000 in maintenance.

The commission had previously awarded the concession to hotelman Saul Cohen, then canceled the contract when it came under fire.

Gasoline Hunt Is Abandoned

City workmen abandoned the futile search for an underground cache of gasoline at Dinner Key Wednesday.

More than 3,000 gallons of gasoline were pumped out of underground pipes uncovered near Miami City Hall last week.

The pipes connected huge underground storage tanks used years ago by Pan American World Airways and the U. S. Navy.

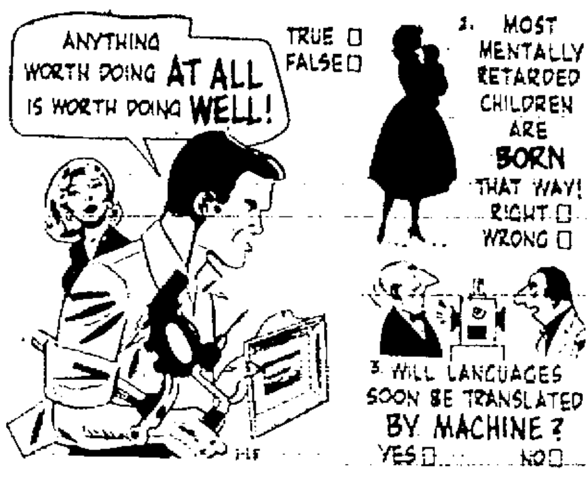
EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Doing All Well



ANYTHING WORTH DOING AT ALL IS WORTH DOING WELL!
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐
2. MOST MENTALLY RETARDED CHILDREN ARE BORN THAT WAY!
RIGHT ☐
WRONG ☐
3. WILL LANGUAGES SOON BE TRANSLATED BY MACHINE?
YES ☐ NO ☐

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

FALSE. THE PERSON who makes a production out of doing the little things in his life has less interest and energy for the things that are really worth his time and attention. Too much absorption in details is tiring and unproductive. Creative satisfaction is found in putting one's activities and efforts on what is of greatest merit and worth.

2. Wrong. Much mental retardation is caused by brain injuries. One survey of mentally retarded children in southern Illinois, for example, showed that between 60 and 70 per cent of them had suffered from some brain injury. So the presence of a mentally retarded child in a family may indicate an accident, nothing more. In any case, no family should feel embarrassed because of a mentally retarded member.

3. No, at least, highly unlikely, because translation is a matter of meanings, rather than merely of words. For example, the phrase, "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak," came out in a Univac translation of Russian as, "The whiskey is agreeable but the meat is feeble." Obviously, words like "democracy," "freedom," and "aggression" have different meaning for the Communists than they do for us. Our greatest difficulty isn't over words, but the meanings of ideas. That's what we mean when we use the term, "word power."

N. BAY ROAD
IN THE FASHIONABLE FIFTIES
THIS lovely 2 story home, with a step saving elevator, is situated on a large double corner lot 120' x 125'. A beautiful concrete block wall with artistic wrought iron openings, enclosing the Tropical Garden. The location is superb—on a quiet street, yet convenient to schools, shops, temples and other places of interest. The Florida Room and bar open onto a large open Patio with a barbecue and Quarry Keystone floor for those outdoor parties. The furnishings are very nice. The corner lot may be detached and would be very saleable. Price, including beautiful furnishings — only $59,500.

CHEVROLET 1958 4 door sedan. Due to financial difficulties I will accept $175 equity and you assume my payments of $65 a month which includes interest and insurance. Have left it with Miami Motors, 800 S.W. 8th St., as they can handle financing and trade in.

1953 PLYMOUTH $395.

NO. That's not a mistake in the price. We're actually going to sell our 1953 PLYMOUTH 4 door sedan for only $395, of course for this price we're just going to clean it up. It's finished in two tone Winter white over Caribbean turquoise. There's a Philco radio and much better tires than you'd expect at this price. I almost forgot to tell you about the rain vents, too. We'll guarantee it in writing for 90 days and there's no cash needed. Just trade in your 1949 model for the down payment. At the price of only $395 it will sell to the first person that drives it. Enough said.

Packard Owners

HERE'S that hard to find 1955 PACKARD PATRICIAN 4 door sedan and, it's in aristocrat condition. From it's gleaming front bumper through its striking triple tone Horizon and Pacific Metallic Blue finish, it's a standout (head and shoulders) from the crowd. The factory original interior including the genuine Blue Leather door panels and gorgeous Decorator seats, headliner and thick pile floor carpeting is in A-1 condition.

OF COURSE there's all the equipment. TORSION LEVEL suspension on all 4 wheels (no other car has it yet). POWER STEERING and BRAKES, POWER WINDOWS, 4 WAY POWER SEAT, TWIN ULTRAMATIC automatic transmission, the special "8" tube SELECT-TRONIC radio that finds stations automatically with twin front and rear seat speakers, dual thermostat controlled heaters, directional signals, clock and excellent white wall tires — This is a magnificent automobile and when you consider the sale price of only $1,195 you'll realize that it will of course sell quickly. If you've been missing our unusual Packard "VALUE BUYS", you'd better act quickly for this one. No cash needed — Just trade in your 1951 Model for the down payment.

BY Jack Bell

CARL A. JENSEN is the new public relations representative of the Republican Headquarters Club of Miami. He is 82, but says he feels younger, so tells the general public he's "about 76." Armed with a new polaroid camera and middle-age zeal, Jensen has started on his new job. 'Come Quick!'

Police and firemen don't get all of the emergency calls. "We get about 250 in a normal day" says R. A. Williams Jr., traffic manager of Bell Telephone. "Some are serious, some funny," he adds. "And the operators have to be alert."

Here are a few samples:

A New Yorker talking long distance to a Miamian threatened suicide. The Miamian reported to the local office. New York police were alerted — and saved a life.

A landlord called: "Come quick. I rented a house to some people and they're tearing it down."

A little girl: "My daddy has gone crazy and wants to kill all of us."

A woman wanted the telephone company to do something about a bunch of drunks fighting in the street . . . a woman reported that a child had been stabbed . . . a man asked the operator to rustle up a formal for his wife, who got a fast invitation to a party.

"They tell the girls about new babies," Williams says. "We get many sick calls, too, and reports of fires." But nobody sends flowers, or dinero.

To Make Miami a 'World Gateway'

Jet Airport on Key Asked by Port Group

By C. G. BERNING
Herald Staff Writer

An all-jet airport on Soldier Key to make Greater Miami a year-round "world gateway" was proposed Wednesday by the Dade Port Authority's Citizens Advisory Committee.

The committee disclosed at its meeting with Chairman Walter Weiss of the County Commission, which doubles as the Port Authority, that the flight pattern at Miami International Airport is already "saturated."

The committee said a Civil Aeronautics Association team is here investigating delays in landing clearances that have brought complaints from airsick passengers and from airlines, whose operating costs go up $50 every time a plane makes a circle.

Ken Benson, a member of the Advisory Committee, said plans for separating Miami's jet and prop-plane airports should be started "before 150 people are killed" in a crash.

At the session, County Commissioner Charles Hall charged Port Authority Director George McSherry with "shunning" the advisory committee and withholding projects from it.

Weiss, attending his first meeting with the committee, agreed with a suggestion that the group report directly to the county commissioners instead of to McSherry. Weiss said that this "would bring about closer liaison between the commission and the committee."

McSherry could not attend the Wednesday session because he went to Detroit on airport business.

The advisory committee, headed by William M. Robertson, said that it has already received favorable reaction from airline pilots about the proposal to build an all-jet airport on an 8,000-acre bay area around Soldier Key.

The submerged land around the key has been set aside by the state for use by Dade County whenever there is a definite need.

Weiss suggested that the committee meet with airlines which will be flying jets into Miami "to ascertain if they would be faced with any basic problems" in switching from Miami International Airport to the proposed new location.

National Airlines is already flying Boeing 707s into Miami from New York and Eastern Air Lines, with prop-jet Electras already in use, plans to have full-jet DC8s in operation in a year.

Robertson named a four-man committee to meet with commercial airline officials to discuss the Soldier Key plan.

He said that "a jet airport in the South Bay area should be approached with the idea of a world gateway, for nowhere else could jets land 365 days of the year with such freedom."

Weiss agreed that an exclusive jet airport "is an eventuality and I believe we have reached a point now where we should ask airline management if we have a foul ball in the Soldier Key recommendation."

"It is generally agreed that we need a second airport and the logical place is south of us, leaving the piston planes north," Benson said.

Terminal Hassle

Not McSherry's Patsies--Airlines

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

Spokesman for three of Miami's four major airlines charged Wednesday that Port Authority Director George McSherry is trying to "make us the patsies for his unfinished terminal."

"His new International Airport building isn't ready for use by the big airlines today, as he claimed, and he's trying to make us look bad in the eyes of the public," said S. Roger Wolin, public relations director for Pan American Airways.

"We wont' be the patsy or the fall-guy for something McSherry has promised the people and can't deliver," Wolin added.

McSherry has maintained that the new multi-million dollar terminal "is now operable, as we promised it would be by Jan. 15." He has questioned what he calls "the airlines' hesitancy" in moving out of the crowded 36th St. terminal.

Joining Wolin in a denial that their facilities are ready were representatives of Delta and National airlines.

All pointed out that their leases call for occupancy 30 days after the facilities have been certified to the Port Authority by the architect.

Some of PAA's facilities have been certified, but Wolin said, "We can't move in piecemeal, and we won't move at all until everything we must use is ready."

William Ehart, the spokesman for National Airlines, said, "we won't move until we can give the same complete service in the new building that we can give in the old."

McSherry

Frank Fox, representing Delta Air Lines, said his firm "was very anxious to move and get more room but our particular portion of the building isnt' anywhere near ready."

All three airlines men said they hope the structure will be completed well ahead of the contractor's July 15 deadline. They said each company will require "between 25 and 30 days after certification to get our equipment in operation."

Extensive electrical systems must be laid and checked out for the reservation equipment; conveyor systems must be installed for luggage, and all aprons must be cleared and baggage facilities finished, the airlines men said.

Accused of Bribery

Raider Arrested In Casino Probe

He Admits Protecting Plush Den

Ex-Golden Beach Chief Is Charged

By BOB HARDIN
Herald Staff Writer

Former Golden Beach Police Chief Richard Kuiken was arrested Wednesday night and charged with protecting a gambling house he later raided.

State attorney's men arrested Kuiken, 45, on five bribery counts after a day-long hearing.

Three Golden Beach officers testified that Kuiken offered them $100 a week to allow the plush gambling house to run, State Attorney Richard E. Gerstein said.

KUIKEN

Kuiken, red-eyed and near tears, was released from Dade County jail on bonds totaling $4,000.

"I don't know what to say," he told reporters. "I've got no comment."

Gerstein said Kuiken admitted the charges against him, which include:

Three counts of attempted bribery; conspiracy to accept a bribe; and conspiracy to secure a bribe for another person.

"At first he told us that he was trying to trap the gamblers and pull off the raid himself," Gerstein said. "But later in the day he admitted he had lied."

Gerstein said Kuiken denied receiving any payoff money, but admitted he had been offered $100 a week for himself and each of his men.

"And he admitted offering the bribe to his men," Gerstein said.

"Kuiken did not give us enough information on the man who offered the bribes to go out and arrest him," Gerstein said. "But we're continuing that investigation."

Ironically, Kuiken led the raid on the plush crooked-dice den at 277 Ocean Dr.—after the town council ordered it and asked the state attorney's help.

The same day three of its four-man police force quit in "protest."

Officers, James Bryant and Don Wynn, along with Lt. Charles Crumm, testified to the bribes, Gerstein said.

Bryant told Gerstein that he and Wynn suspected gambling operations were being carried on in the house five days before the raid. They said they told Kuiken, but he did nothing.

Kuiken was fired as police chief a few hours after the raid, but was allowed to remain in his second job as town manager. He later resigned.

For the Elks, Man

That Raided Stuff, Charlie Sells NOT

Rotund Charlie Freed sat amid his poker chips and dice Wednesday and said "I don't have anything to do with gambling equipment anymore."

In the next breath:

"I sell dice and cards to South America."

And about the chips:

"Oh, I sell them to Elks Clubs over the country."

But what he mostly doesn't deal in, Charlie said, is $10,000 gambling "markers" like those confiscated in a Golden Beach gambling den raid last week.

"Those were probably made in Paris," Charlie suggested.

It was pointed out that the markers were stamped, "Monterey, Miami." That was the name of Freed's old company at 2031 W. Flagler St., before it "went out of business" three years ago.

"Oh, somebody probably might have bought them years ago," Freed said.

"I don't sell no gambling stuff at all, nobody even comes here because they know if they come they won't get anything. I'm out of business for that stuff."

Freed, who still operates at the same old address and keeps a foot-wide roulette wheel and yards of green carpeting in his back shop, is now an import-exporter, he said.

Once he supplied gamblers and ran a lucrative business setting up "charity" gambling parties.

"But all that went out when they passed the law against me," Freed said. "I could be making money now, but it goes to other places. I sure don't do anything illegal."

Freed rubbed his stubble beard, pushed aside the chips, brushed past the dice, walked by the roulette table, and bade his visitor goodby.

"There's no use talking to me," he said, not unkindly. "I won't tell you anything."

Cash Case Attorney Is Backed

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

The attorney who withheld Client John Fulford's confession and watched an innocent man go to jail was backed Wednesday by the chairman of the Dade Bar's ethical committee.

And attorneys polled sided also with Attorney Walter Gwinn.

Gwinn, it was revealed, kept silent about Fulford's confession in the 1953 holdup shooting of a Dade patrolman and watched as Fulford's pal, Virgil Cash, was sentenced to 30 years on the charge.

But Dade attorneys agreed Wednesday Gwinn's first loyalty was to his client.

Said Lyle Holcomb Jr., chairman of the ethical committee:

"While the lawyer is technically a servant of the court, it is the court's and the bars' own canon that an attorney's fidelity to his client is his highest ethical duty."

"It was impossible for me to reveal what I knew," Gwinn said, "because of professional ethics."

Gwinn was permitted to "change sides" and use Fulfords' statements on behalf of Cash only with Fulford's permission, he said.

Fulford volunteered to tell his true part in the shooting incident and substantiated it with lie detector tests, it was revealed in The Herald Tuesday.

None of a half-dozen lawyers questioned would permit use of his name, but each said he would think of his client first.

They pointed out that a portion of the bar's rules for all attorneys states they must "maintain inviolate the confidence, and at every peril to themselves, preserve the secrets of clients."

Cash will soon ask for parole or a parole pardon from a 30-year sentence on the shooting charge.

Trooper Out Until Check

State Highway Trooper Irvin R. Willis was relieved of duty Wednesday, while officials checked charges that he hit a county school patrolman.

"He's just been relieved pending the outcome of the investigation," said Highway Patrol Capt. J. W. Jordan.

"We feel that our man was at fault, although not completely. It takes two men to have a fight, you know."

County officials said they were taking no action against the school patrolman, Frank Wakefield, 62, who said Willis hit him after being whistled at for speeding.

"Willis claims he didn't hit him—he just shoved him," said Capt. Jordan.

Two Hotels Sign Union Contracts

The Hotel Employes Union signed contracts Wednesday with two more Miami Beach hotels and said it will petition the National Labor Relations Board soon to represent employes of "several more" Greater Miami hotels.

Dave Herman, head of HEU Local 255, said the new contracts are with the Lucerne and President Madison hotels. They were among the four hotels listed in a petition from the union received by the NLRB last week.

Herman said that after talks with owners of the Lucerne and President Madison they agreed to recognize the union, which Herman said represents "an overwhelming majority" of some 210 employes of the two hotels.

Employes of the hotels who now are getting wages below union scale will be given raises, Herman said. The hotel employes will also get a welfare program as a result of the contracts, he said.

The union head also said that HEU leaflets and cards authorizing the union to represent them were distributed Wednesday among employes at the Saxony and the six hotels owned by Morris Lansburgh, staunch anti-union hotelman.

These were among the hotels which won a court ban against picketing by the union.

Injured 'Cannonball' Back at the Old Muzzle

Retired Champ Takes Flier -- for One Show

By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer

The retired world's champion human cannonball took the place of his injured brother Wednesday.

But it was only for the afternoon show. Wednesday night, the younger cannonball surprised circus fans by going back into action despite his injuries.

But for the afternoon show, Old Champ Emanuel Zucchini, 40, seemed just a bit nervous as he climbed to the mouth of the great silver cannon, yawning darkly beneath the big top of Christiani Brothers Circus.

Then he slid himself into the slender, 22-foot barrel for the first time since 1952.

Nearby, muscular Luis Munoz Zucchini, 36, his arm in a sling, encouraged him on. Luis ended up in Jackson Memorial Hospital the previous night after a misfiring.

"You shoot out fast — maybe 90 miles an hour," explained Luis. "Then you must flip over quickly at the net.

"That's what I didn't do."

The fall of a child star, Nancy Elliott, 12, immediately preceding the cannonball act, must have jinxed the Zucchinis, Luis said.

"She's the darling of the show," he explained.

Nancy was in Jackson Memorial Hospital Wednesday with a broken leg. She is a trick rider who was straddling two horses, standing, one foot on each, when her fall unnerved other performers.

The cannon "explodes" when it's shot, but actually operates via two electric motors and 3,000 pounds of compressed air. It's cannon number 15. Fourteen others have been used, then destroyed.

Luis and Emanuel's grandfather was a circus performer, as were both parents. But Francois, their 70-year-old father, built the first cannon on Isle of Malta. Seven death-defying sons have been shot from it.

"Luis is best. He is strong and fast," bragged Emanuel earlier.

"Emanuel holds the record," denied Luis, who was born under a circus tent in Madrid. "He has shot 250 feet, 95 feet high."

What do you think when you lie in the hollow tube, waiting?

"You think of God — and of yourself," said Emanuel. He smiled. "And you think that hole is too small and you won't go out."

Luis nodded: "And you sweat when its cold, and don't eat beforehand, because you get indigestion."

Both wear medals of St. Anthony in their shoot suits. Emanuel has suffered a fractured neck and a broken knee in his career. The Miami accident was Luis' first.

He has been with Christiani Brothers four years.

The thrill of the circus cut through the talk. Nearby, General Manager Lucio Christiani strummed a soft tune on his guitar. Somewhere a horse whinneyed and the trumpet of an elephant answered the sound. A juggler tossed his gay discs and the smell of candy apples was sweet on the air.

If OBC Stands Up for Rights, It'll Win Fight With Sooners

FRANKLY, WITH Tropical closing today and Hialeah opening Friday I can't get too excited about the rhubarb which Oklahoma has kicked up with the Orange Bowl Committee. If the OBC stands up for its rights it is bound to win this scuffle.

Miffed because of criticism that the Sooners did not use the sideline dugout during the past Orange Bowl game, Oklahoma is trying to retaliate. The Oklahoma regents have asked the Big Eight to amend the rule that the league must send its champion to the OB game. The OBC had accepted the next best Big Eight team in deference to a rule against a champion repeating.

President George L. Cross of Oklahoma announced the action without the courtesy of first discussing the situation with the OBC. Fortunately some of the OBC members are aware that a contract works two ways and if they cannot reach an amicable agreement, they have no course other than to consider it broken.

The only compensation in the past was in getting the champion, always Oklahoma, for every other game. In some instances this did not seem worthwhile.

More and more OBC members are realizing this bowl deal was entered into by the colleges only for money. The OBC to my notion could do just as well, or better, by returning to open bidding for both of its teams. The payoff here, even at the approximate $180,000 for the past game, was second only to the Rose Bowl.

* * *

Wilkinson Didn't Answer Letter

THE IDEA of the dugouts was to eliminate standing players from interfering with the view of fans in the box sections. Ernie Seiler says the OBC wrote to Bud Wilkinson far in advance, requesting his co-operation.

Seiler contends the OBC after Wilkinson's arrival was led to believe the Sooners would co-operate. They didn't and the result was complaints by the "blacked out" cash customers.

When Syracuse's Coach Floyd Schwartzwalder came here to pick a training site, he inspected the dugout and said his players would use it. They did.

On Jan. 3, this corner suggested that if a visiting team would not use its dugout, then seats behind it should be allocated to supporters of said team.

But the issue is clearer now. It has become a question of whether the Orange Bowl Committee, or Oklahoma, will run the Orange Bowl game. I hope the OBC fights back. If it wins its point, OK. If the fight forces the OBC back to picking the two best available teams, an even greater victory may have been scored.

Why Miami Beach Lost NFL Meeting

THE NFL meeting, scheduled Jan. 21 at Philadelphia, was originally booked for Miami Beach. It was moved back to Philly because the doctors did not want Commissioner Bert Bell to make a long trip.

BERT BELL

Despite having to be careful of his health. Bell has enough energy to be a great commissioner. Rosenbloom said, "I don't think anyone would do a better job than Bell. He considers the owners, players and fans and is available for consultation 24 hours a day."

Rosenbloom beat me to the draw about Miami's future prospects of getting into the NFL. He popped the question about Miami as a possible pro team site, before I could ask it.

"Eventually, I think we'll add two cities — but not next year," Rosenbloom said. "Eleven different cities are seeking franchises, but we'll go slow in expanding.

"We would not go into a city where it would hurt a college team. Frankly, I think the pros would help a college team rather than hurt it."

Your reporter is still of the opinion Miami would be a better prospect for the pros five years from now, When we have more than a million people.

Sooners in Roses? Pros in OB? Questions Fly in Dugout Revolt

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Will Oklahoma's Dugout Rebellion bring professional football into the Orange Bowl game?

Did the Sooners engineer their "mutiny" as a first step toward trying to crash California's Rose Bowl in 1961?

Those were the two biggest questions trailing University of Oklahoma's Wednesday announcement that it does not want to return to the Orange Bowl if Sooner players are asked to remain in the new dugouts — a request they ignored in their 21-6 victory over Syracuse two weeks ago despite loud protests from box-seat fans whose vision was blocked.

The answer to both questions could be "yes."

If the Orange Bowl decides to dump Oklahoma's Big Eight Conference altogether, the committee might attempt to land a playoff game of the National Football League.

"I don't know that we could get it," said one Orange Bowler, "but I'll say this: The pros are moving in on the colleges everywhere. Why not here?"

The Rose Bowl angle popped up as a possible bit of intrigue tied in with Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson's early-week visit to Los Angeles as a member of the college football national rules committee.

Insiders believe Wilkinson was assured there that the Big Ten will not renew its contract with the Pasadena bowl for 1961. That would leave at least one Rose Bowl spot open for 1961.

"Call me a liar if you want," an OBC insider said. "but my understanding is that Wilkinson feels Oklahoma might have a good shot at the Rose Bowl for '61. And, in that case, why should he go through the dugout business with the Orange Bowl all over again?"

Both the pro and Rose Bowl angles are, of course, contingent upon what action the Orange Bowl Committee takes in regard to Oklahoma's dugout declaration.

Most OBC members do not care to be quoted on the future of the game.

This much is clear, however:

The OBC has taken lesser teams from the Big Eight in alternate years in order to get Oklahoma every other game. Without the prospect of Oklahoma returning in 1961 (the next time it is eligible and the last year of the OBC-Big Eight contract), there would be little desire for another Big Eight team in 1960.

Orange Bowlers feel their contract is binding upon Oklahoma but they have no desire to force a game upon a school that does not want to play.

Thus, if the contract were voided, the OBC would start shopping around for a new style of game.

There is doubt that the Orange Bowl could sign up the Big Ten champion if and when the Rose Bowl agreement expires. If both this and the pro possibility fizzled, the Orange Bowl would go wide open and look for the best two teams available.

Automatically eliminated from OBC consideration are the Southeastern Conference champion, which usually goes to the Sugar Bowl; the Southwest Conference champion, committed to the Cotton Bowl, and—thus far—such powerful independents as Notre Dame, Army and Navy.

Blaik Heads Home; With Sooner Job?

Oklahoma may not want to come back to the Orange Bowl, but the Sooners are taking home a slice of Miami's football staff.

That was all but certain Wednesday night as University of Miami Backfield Coach Bob Blaik canceled a scheduled New England recruiting trip and headed back from Norman, Okla., to talk with Head Coach Andy Gustafson.

All that's missing is the official word from Blaik — and that's not surprising since he has maintained a discreet silence through the whole affair.

Blaik was scheduled to leave Norman for Boston Wednesday where he was to talk to high school prospects.

But after a long pow wow with Oklahoma officials, Blaik checked out of his Norman hotel and flew home to talk with Gustafson.

Oklahoma officials dodged the issue by saying Blaik couldn't be offered a job until a vacancy arose. But Clive Rush, an assistant coach, is reported ready to return to Ohio State.

He's Dazed

FSU Signs Moss

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Former University of Miami and Wisconsin Backfield Coach Perry Moss, "dazed but happy," Wednesday was named head football coach at Florida State University.

He immediately set his aim on a balanced attack and a few surprises for his old friends at UM.

"I am," said Moss over the telephone from Tallahassee, "a little bit dazed, but happy. Very happy. It's great coming back to Florida."

He was hired strictly as a football coach. Tom Nugent, who left FSU Jan. 6 to accept the head coaching job at Maryland, was Seminole head coach and athletic director.

Moss, who leans to the wide-open brand of football but plans to junk Nugent's "I" formation, said he would strive for a balanced attack.

"It all depends, on the personnel, of course," he said, "and right now I don't know too much about the players we'll have.

"But we'll try to mix our running and passing. If we can't run, we'll throw. If we can't throw, we'll run. If we can't do either" — he paused — "we'll probably get beat."

"Winning those games," he said, "makes extra effort well worthwhile."

Although three Nugent aides (Line Coach Bob Harbison, Backfield Coach Frank Toomey and Backfield Assistant Lee Corso) reportedly are ready to accompany Nugent to Maryland. Moss said he would be pleased to have them on his staff.

"They obviously have done a fine job here," he said.

Moss said that high school players recruited by Nugent for FSU would be guaranteed exactly the same terms Nugent offered them.

$7.50 Seats vs. 18-Inch Dugouts

Ya' See, They Couldn't See . . . That's How Ruckus Started

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Ya' see, it all started because they couldn't see.

That's the how and why of the New Year's Day fan-player squabble that resulted Wednesday in Oklahoma going cold on its Orange Bowl contract.

Mathematically speaking, It's a squabble about 18 inches and $7.50.

The 18 inches are the depth of the dugouts in which Oklahoma players were asked to rest their feet and shins while the rest of them sat on a bench just above the ground.

The $7.50 was the price paid for the low-level box seats on the northside from which the occupants could see only the backs of Oklahoma's players. Fans behind the Syracuse players were all right —the Orangemen sat.

The day of the game, hundreds of high-paying VIP fans loudly complained that they couldn't see because broad-shouldered Oklahoma reserves were cluttering up the sidelines.

At first there were a few shouts of "Down in front."

Then, several irate dignitaries who paid for their "best seats in the house," complained to police and OB officials.

As tempers grew hotter, the fan-fare flamed: "Oklahoma, go home! We hate Oklahoma!" — and unprintable expressions of ire.

Wilkinson, standing with his team at the sidelines, appeared to shrug it off.

Late in the game, some of the fans, using ice and cups as weapons, pelted the big red backs of the Big Red

Ah, Those Sooners, A Real Scrappy Bunch

Oklahoma's "out with the dugout!" declaration Wednesday may have shocked some Orange Bowl fans, but controversy is old stuff to Sooner followers of the last 10 years.

OU football has been party to one rhubarb after another since Bud Wilkinson took over as head coach in 1947. The dugout issue, though, marks one of the few occasions on which Wilkinson has taken an outspoken stand on a "hot potato."

In 1947, an official in an Oklahoma game was set upon by enraged spectators as a result of a disputed Texas touchdown in a 34-14 Sooner victory.

Next came the "spying" incident preceding Oklahoma's 35-0 trampling of LSU in the 1950 Sugar Bowl. Some Sooners accused former LSU Lineman Piggy Barnes of watching their workouts through binoculars.

Wilkinson had a spat with Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland after the Sooners' 7-0 Orange Bowl victory of 1954. The issue there was the legality of Oklahoma blocking.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association placed Oklahoma on two-year probation early in 1954.

17 Three-Year-Olds In Tropical's Finale

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Seventeen new members of the three-year old division have been named overnight for the $10,000 Sophomore Handicap feature event on today's final program at Tropical Park.

Included in the field are 11 who have won at the meeting.

Heading the field are W. M. Ingram's Scotland, highweight in the field, and Mrs. Lloyd P. Tate's Fiji, the winners of the two divisions of the $10,000 added City of Miami Beach Handicap, the final stakes event of 1958.

Scotland carried 119 pounds in vanquishing Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Cedar Brook in his division of the City of Miami Beach. Today he will tote 122 pounds and has drawn No. 1 post position in the huge field.

No rider has been assigned by Trainer Kenny Noe, but it is not unlikely that Steve Brooks, who piloted Scotland so capably in the City of Miami Beach will again be given the mount. Brooks is the leading stakes winner rider at the meeting having won both the Orange Bowl and Tropical Park aboard Bardstown in addition to his triumph with Scotland.

Fiji, the fleet Hill Prince filly, who trimmed Derrick impressively in her division of the City of Miami Beach will also pick up three pounds over the 113-pound impost she carried that day. Sam Boulmetis will again be in the saddle.

Fiji's time in her section of the City of Miami Beach was a fifth of a second faster than Scotland's 1:43 1-5, but the big, long-striding Princequillo colt won with authority and might have bettered his time under greater pressure.

Leo Edwards' Moon Age and Al Scotti's Gale Stalker are expected to provide the chief competition for the top pair. Moon Age's victory at the meeting was in a dead-heat with F. W. Hooper's Pryson who declined the issue today.

Gale Stalker has failed to win at the meeting but has been training cleverly and is expected to offer a stiff argument.

The large field includes two entries. Trainer Paul Kelly has named Dobbie and Vince, both long-priced victors at the meeting in the interest of Jim Norris' Spring Hill Farm and Nick Combest will be represented by Michael's Choice and Joe's Master.

ONE OF THE tightest jockey races in the history of thoroughbred racing goes down to the wire at Tropical Park today with three riders tied for the lead and three others breathing on their heels.

An indication of the heat of the struggle is the fact that Leonard cut short his honeymoon to get in the final two days of racing.

Culmone was the only jockey to have a winner Wednesday.

Colleges Widen Goal Posts, 'Aid' Subs

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — College football's rules committee, striving to enliven the sport, Wednesday eased the substitution rule and changed the width between the goal posts.

Acting Chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crisler of the NCAA rules committee said in announcing the changes for 1959 that there was no marked disagreement among the 10-man group during its three days of deliberations.

In fact, he said, the once-controversial 2-point conversion rule, which aroused a storm of discussion when initiated in 1958, was not even mentioned during the committee's sessions.

The goal post crossbar was lengthened, for the first time from its present 19 feet, 2 inches, to an even 24 feet in an obvious move to encourage field goal attempts.

The committee voted, with safety a big factor, to keep the posts where they are, 10 yards back of the goal line. Cantilever-type posts were ruled out primarily for economic reasons.

The committee revised several penalty rules and changed terminology governing blocking practices. Free time outs were increased from four to five for each half. This rule was in effect two years ago.

But the committee was most pleased with the revision of the substitution rule.

Basically, one player at one time can re-enter a game as many times as his coach pleases—but only when the game clock is stopped.

"If only one eligible substitute enters the field while the game clock is stopped, he will not be recorded as an entry during an excess time out, such as when a player is hurt," said Crisler.

Thus a player could be sent in when the clock is stopped on such plays as an incomplete pass, an out of bounds ball or an officials' time out.

Under present rule, a player cannot re-enter a game more than twice during a half without a penalty.

Army Whips Yale

WEST POINT, N.Y. — (AP) — Darryle (Sammy) Kouns went on a scoring binge midway in the second half Wednesday and led Army's basketball team to a 74-57 victory over Yale.

Sooners Stood, Fans Fumed... And IT Started team which continued to block their view.

Three or four fans tried to take matters into their own hands and charged out on the field to personally do battle with Wilkinson. Police shooed them away before fisticuffs resulted.

Wilkinson continued to ignore the crowd.

But after the game he proved that the incident had indeed bothered him. Without waiting for reporters' questions, he brought the matter up himself.

"I feel very badly about it, and I'm sorry," he said, "but you can't be in a dugout as a spectator one minute and be playing the next.

"Besides," he added, it's a tradition."

But, for at least one OB committeeman who sat behind the Big Red wall, Oklahoma's presence in the Orange Bowl was not a tradition that couldn't be broken.

Said Committeeman T. T. Scott, who stomped out of the stadium in the third quarter because he couldn't see the play for the players:

"As far as I'm concerned, Oklahoma need never play here again."

Oklahoma, it seems, feels the same way.

The Sooners have played here four times since 1954, carting home an estimated $700,000 for their visits.

Colts Plan Exhibition Here —Giants May Be the Foe

By JIMMY BURNS
Herald Sports Editor

Baltimore's Colts, world's pro football champions, are planning an exhibition game at the Orange Bowl, Sept. 5. President Carroll Rosenbloom of the NFL team said here Wednesday.

Rosenbloom said the Colts would try to get the New York Giants, which they beat for the NFL championship in a sudden death playoff last month as the opposing team. Failing in that the Pittsburgh Steelers will provide the opposition.

"The exhibition schedule will be approved at our annual meeting next week at Philadelphia," said Rosenbloom.

Rosenbloom here for a vacation at the Diplomat hotel is concluding arrangement with a local sponsor for the Colts' appearance. Rosenbloom became interested in Miami when the Orioles of the American baseball league chose this city for their spring training camp.

"Baltimore people are still celebrating the Colts' victory over the Giants," said Rosenbloom. "It was a great triumph winning the Western division and then the World's championship. I actually thought we should have won in 1957, but injuries kept us from coming through."

Rosenbloom declared that a strong bench, particularly in linebackers, help Coach Weeb Ewbank and Quarterback Johnny Unitas bring the team through.

"The kids were so close to the title in 1957 that they went into this past season believing in themselves," Rosenbloom continued. "It was nice to win a championship after being in pro football only five years. A good friend of mine, Art Rooney of Pittsburgh never has won."

Pro exhibitions were staged here by the Detroit Lions in 1955-56, when crowds of 26,402 and 20,082 were attracted to the Orange Bowl. The Green Bay Packers appeared here in 1957, but attendance was only 17,377.

Hurricanes Fight Gators, Road Jinx

The University of Miami launches a crucial weekend of basketball tonight in Gainesville against the University of Florida . . . a team Miami hasn't defeated in Gainesville since 1949.

The Hurricanes, 7-4 for the season, meet Florida, Jacksonville University and Florida State on successive nights on their home courts. The Hurricane frosh will play preliminary games each night.

It was a three straight loss record on a similar trip a year ago which knocked the Hurricanes out of a probable bid to the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

Miami already owns wins over two of the opponents: Florida in the Miami Beach Auditorium and Florida State in the opening round of The Citadel Invitational Tournament.

Bruce Hale's Hurricanes look to Harry Manushaw and Ron Godfrey to give them control of the backboards in all three games and this edge could prove decisive. The Hurricanes will especially outrange the Gators.

Florida has been depending more and more heavily upon its sophomore material and the newcomers have come through very well. Four of them are likely to start Thursday.

Gators Get Stings

University of Florida Assistant Coach Hank Foldberg signs Miami High's Ron Worthington (left) and Lindy Infante to football grants-in-aid Wednesday night. Foldberg considers the Stings "two of the three best backs in the area." Worthington was a 192-pound fullback and Lindy Infante a 170-pound halfback. The Gators now have signed eight South Florida football players.

Formal Election Due Jan. 31

AL Head Man? Cronin, Of Course

By Herald Wire Services

To the surprise of absolutely nobody, Joe Cronin Wednesday was recommended to be elected president of the American League.

The AL Screening Committee, meeting in Chicago, had interviewed only Cronin while seeking a successor to retiring President Will Harridge.

Cronin's formal election, and a decision on his salary, will be made Jan. 31 in New York at a meeting of the AL owners.

In other actions of a similar "surprise" nature, the committee recommended that Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, be instructed to move the AL office from Chicago to Boston.

The Committee also recommended Harridge be elected chairman of the board and keep that particular office in Chicago.

Brennan Mum

FOOTBALL — Earl (Red) Blaik, who quit as Army head football coach Tuesday, said Wednesday "I haven't had the nerve yet to face the kids . . . (Cadets)." It was also learned that pressure from his family because of reoccurring fall illnesses was a major factor in his decision to retire . . . Terry Brennan declined comment on the explanation given for his firing by Notre Dame's president in Sports Illustrated . . . Dick Stanfel of the Washington Redskins was picked by Joe Kuharich to be his assistant at Notre Dame . . . Florida's Vel Heckman signed with the San Francisco 49ers.

In speculation over who will succeed Blaik at Army, the names of Dale Hall, a West Point assistant, and Vince Lombardi, offensive strategist for the pro New York Giants, have been most prominent.

Lollar on 1st?

BASEBALL — Sherm Lollar, one of the best catchers in baseball, may play first base for the White Sox next season if the team's first three choices don't pan out. The three are Ray Boone, Earl Torgeson and Ron Jackson . . . The Washington Senators are considering a deal that would get them four Cleveland Indians for Pitcher Pedro Ramos.

31 Gal Golfers

GOLF — A record field of professionals completed practice rounds Wednesday for the Tampa Women's Open starting today. Thirty-one gals are entered, most of the meet's 13-year history . . . Bing Crosby's $50,000 national pro-am tournament opens today and warm, clear weather is expected. If the weather holds Crosby will look like a genius — he moved up the dates of his tourney a week this year after previous events ran into rain and cold . . . The Havana Women's Open, scheduled to start Jan. 29, has been postponed until Feb. 27. The latter date was reserved by Daytona Beach but has been waived. In place of the postponed Cuban tourney will be a series of one-day pro-am events in Florida.

BOXING — Hogan (Kid) Bassey will defend his world featherweight title March 18 in Los Angeles against Davey Moore of Springfield, Ill. . . . Montreal Promoter Eddie Quinn said Wednesday Boston is the "very probable" site of a rematch between Light-Heavy Champion Archie Moore and Yvon Durelle . . . Moore will receive the Edward J. Neil Man of the Year award tonight in New York.

Teens: Write Down Those Fishing Yarns

An outdoor writing contest for Florida teenagers is now ready for entries. Sponsored by the Florida Outdoor Writers Association, the contest is open to all young men and women of Florida who will not reach their 20th birthday by March 1.

DUNAWAY

Subject matter for the competition is anything connected with Florida outdoor activities — salt and freshwater fishing, hunting, skindiving, boating, conservation, personal anecdotes, and related photographs (with captions) on any of these topics.

Entries may range from 500 to 3000 words in length, with the number of words having no bearing on the judging. Send entries to Teenage Writers' Contest, 2220 Moreno Ave., Fort Myers, Fla. Deadline is March 1.

Contest chairman is Bill Stephens, publisher of Florida Outdoors magazine. Florida Outdoors will judge saltwater stories; Florida Wildlife will judge hunting and freshwater fishing material; while Jack Shoemaker of the Department of Agriculture will judge stories relating to agriculture and its problems, such as fire ants and insecticides.

Writes Article on Florida Fishing

"Secrets of the Master Angler" tells how Roy Martin of Panama City has caught 20 world record fish, more than any other fisherman in the history of the International Game Fish Association.

Martin, a transplanted mid-westerner, took every one of his record-setters from bridge, seawall, jetty, surf or skiff, with nary a charter boat or swivel chair involved in any. He's hit record-breakers all over Florida, from Panama City to the Keys.

The story is good reading and also contains some good tips on how to look for lunkers from a bridge.

Snitched: a Top-Level Fishing Secret

TOM ENNIS of the Drop Anchor Trailer Park and Motel on Marco Island (Goodland) has snitched a top-level fishing secret from a couple of his tenants, and passed it along for public consumption.

Ennis' eyes bulged when he saw the mammoth catch of redfish made by Ken and Carlos Shideler of Copemish, Mich. He had to find out how they did it.

"Their technique," Ennis says, "was to have one hooked fish in the water at all times in order to keep the reds interested. They said as many as five of the whoppers at one time would follow a hooked fish up to the boat.

"Ken prefers a jig, either white or yellow, while Carlos uses a Mirrolure."

Apparently none of his customers can hide much from the keen-eyed Mr. Ennis. This is what he uncovered about Russ Purdie, vacationing from Lake Wabaunsee, Kansas:

"Russ is an artifical bait manufacturer and his catches are proof of his product: however, recently he was spotted sneaking a shrimp on his hook. We haven't let him live it down yet."

RALEIGH —(AP)— Lee Shaffer dunked in a layup in the last 22 seconds of an overtime to give third-rated North Carolina a 72-68 victory over top-ranked North Carolina State in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball showdown Wednesday night.

The Wolfpack moved quickly down the floor, but a desperation shot went astray and Shaffer, held to only five points, grabbed the rebound and clinched the victory.

Rawls Eyes Golf Title

TAMPA — (UPI) — Betsy Rawls, who must consider the Palma Ceia course here her personal showground, seeks her fifth win in the last six years today in the $7,500 Tampa Women's Open.

Miss Rawls, from Spartanburg, S.C., has won the event for the last three years in a row.

Other leading contenders in the 72-hole tournament include Marlene Hagge, who won the Mayfair Inn Open at Sanford last week with a three-round 225, and Beverly Hanson, Indio, Calif., the leading 1958 LPGA money winner who placed second in the Mayfair Open, just two strokes behind Miss Rawls.

Or You're in for Trouble

A Straight Stride To the Foul Line Is Bowling 'Must'

By BILLY SIXTY

The sketch today of standard four-step footwork emphasizes that the stride must be straight, undeviating to the foul line. Hold the line and you've got a big part of bowling mastered. Zig or zag to right or left and you've got work to do.

This is how footwork begins: with feet together, shoulders squared to the foul line. Get set as the drawing demonstrates, push the ball outward toward the pins as you take the first step with the right foot, let the ball swing of its own weight, and you'll pleasantly find that the momentum of the ball in its downward swing takes you smoothly, well balanced, to the line.

The stride begins like a casual stroll — with a short, slow first step with the right foot. Notice, the foot moves straight on. Later it may be taken inward a bit, to the left. But to begin bowling — it moves straight ahead.

No urge to hurry on the second step, either. Keep it leisurely, slow and short, because only by doing so will the swinging ball, now going back, catch up with footwork.

With the third step the ball is coming down, gathering speed, and its momentum naturally causes the step to be a bit longer and faster. After that you've got it made. It's just a case of continuing the stride with a finishing slide.

Beach Cards Sports Show March 14-22

Plans are under way for the first annual Miami-Miami Beach Sports and Vacation Exposition at the new Miami Beach Exhibition Hall Saturday, March 14th through Sunday March 22nd.

Show spokesmen believe this will be the largest and most complete sports show ever shown in the South Florida area.

The show will be directed by Frank Jenkins, who for the past twelve years has been director of the Detroit Sports and Boat show.

Industries expected to exhibit include boating, fishing, golf, aircraft, camping, pool and patio equipment and swimming pools.

Highlights of the show include an all-star stage and water review featuring some of the nation's foremost sports show entertainers, plus Jack Sharkley, the ex-heavyweight champion, in a fly casting exhibition.

In addition, the Exhibition Hall's 800-seat movie theater will show continuous sports and travel films.

MIDSHIPMAN improved his position after six furlongs, continued his rally to attain command and drew clear under pressure. KNOCKANGO dueled with CLOSE HARMONY, shook off that rival on the final turn but was unable to resist the winner. ROB ROY 2ND made up considerable ground after having been badly outrun early. CLOSE HARMONY flattened out through the final quarter. FLEET ARGO was crowded back immediately after the start and failed to reach contention while racing wide.

GAME HEART dropped back while racing along the inside on the turn, then responded well to wear down CAPEADOR. The latter attained a clear lead briefly entering the stretch and just missed. COLONEL ART, a factor from the outside, lacked a late surge. SCOTCH VIEW rallied too late. GOOD SIGN weakened slightly, as did SET SAIL. KELKATA was in front for a half and faltered. BLACK HANNIBAL, after having been forced to steady along the inside on the final turn, drove through for a narrow victory. CORNELIA moved from well off the pace to attain a slight advantage at the furlong pole and held on determinedly. PAVOBLOOM reached prominence with a bold bid on final turn and hung. The latter saved ground until ready to rally, joined the leader from the outside and was not good enough. CARNEAUX gave way through the final furlong after having raced with the winner to that point. OSOFLEET failed to attain prominence. BY THE BUSHEL was outrun. ROMAN CIRCUS retired early. OO LA LA showed nothing.

BING-BANG was eased back on the final turn and finished well. Laughing Greek $14.50, 9.10, 5.90; Camden $8.80, 7.30; Some Tune $6.30.

WINNER SELECTED BY: Ulbig.

OWNERS: 1, L. DeLeon; 2, Grand Rapids Stable; 3, R. Rakow; 4, S. B. Crawford; 5, R. B. M. Stable; 6, Edith Marienhoff; 7, D. Zakoor; 8, Elias Bros.; 9, E. Seinfeld; 10, R.B.M. Stable; 11, A. E. Reinhold; 12, Benvenuti & Turchi.

LAUGHING GREEK was nicely rated while in front and held on courageously over CAMDEN. The latter was closest to the pace from the outset but was not good enough. SOME TUNE raced evenly and without mishap. ROMANY RYE lacked the needed rally. SOB SINGER failed to respond. PESTER gave way under pressure. FABULIST was through early. THIRD PORT showed nothing.

SCRATCHES: Arabian King.

ATTENDANCE: 10,410; MUTUEL HANDLE: $1,045,204.

Bud Jack, Mar Dilly

Hollywood Elite To Run Tonight

Bud Jack and Mar Dilly, two of the biggest names in Hollywood Kennel Club greyhound racing, will see action on tonight's card at the Broward oval.

Bud Jack will be in quest of his sixth triumph in the Grade A ninth race, a Hollywood course event, while Mar Dilly is returning to action after a short layoff. The latter will go postward in the eighth race, also billed for the Hollywood course.

Lincoln Road Runs at Beach

Lincoln Road moves into fast company tonight at the Miami Beach Kennel Club, when the ace Burl Eidson greyhound tackles some of the Beach's best Grade A dogs in the eighth race over the O. P. Smith Course.

Hunt Dogs Lead Flagler Kennels

Joan Hunt's Gold Coast Kennel, with entries in each of tonight's two Flagler features, will be trying to increase its slim lead over the track's other 34 competing kennels.

Currently, through the first 63 racing programs of Flagler's 82-night season, Gold Coast has compiled a victory list of 38, a shade better than Jordan's 37. Randle and Ewalt trail closely with 36 and 35, respectively.

Doubles Race Tight at Miami

World Series play continues tonight with only five points separating the top five teams in the Miami Fronton race for the world doubles title.

Playing from the handicapped post six tonight is the leading Italian combine of Echeverria and Churruca, presently holding a two-point bulge over the runnerup team of Solozabal-Larranaga.

Miles Robison Rolls 300 Game To Top Flood of Bowling News

By DICK EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

A 300 game by Miles Robison, the women's city tournament entries and five changes in bowling establishment personnel head today's bowling news.

Robison, who rolls in six leagues, came through with his perfect game while competing in the Borden Dairy League at Bowling Palace. It's the first 300 for both Miles and Palace.

The 182-averager threw back-up-balls throughout. It's the third 300 in the city this season.

City League President Johnnie Robb and Secretary Alice Flynn will appear on Channel 10 a 11 p.m. tonight along with films of the opening round of the city tournament.

One of Miami's top bowlers, Mike Schultz, has been added to the Pinerama staff. He'll instruct and help the northside lanes with its promotion.

Len Foust, who left Miami last month to return to his native Dayton, is back in town and will start instructing at Beach Bowl. Foust, who has rolled seven perfect games, was leading the city in averages (112) before leaving.

WINNER of Tropical's red pin tournament over the weekend was Ed Straub with seven strikes when the red pin was the head pin. Tied for second with six strikes were Mike Stepp, Ted Shiskin, and Mike Mangiarotti. The tournament drew 59 entries and will be held every weekend.

Sonny Ray Decisions Maravilla on TV

CHICAGO—(AP)—Sonny Ray, fifth-ranked light heavyweight contender, knocked down Roque Maravilla for a nine count in the first round, but did little more damage in taking a unanimous 10-round decision in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Ray, 23-year-old Chicagoan, rocked his Boise, Idaho, opponent with the first punch he threw — an overhand right. He buckled him with a left, then sent him sprawling with another right.

From then on, it mostly was a head-to-head battle on the ropes and in several rounds the small crowd booed lustily.

Under the five-point must system, Judge Frank Clark favored Ray, 48-43; Judge Lou Capparelli, 48-42; and Referee Bernard Weissman, 47-44. The Associated Press had Ray ahead, 47-44.

Ray weighed 173; Maravilla, 172.

HAYSTACKS CALHOUN — 601 POUNDS

"Country Boy" Haystacks Calhoun, 601-pound giant, will not be content to take on one man at the Miami Beach Auditorium tomorrow night on another Chris Dundee super attraction.

Calhoun will take on the noted Graham Brothers, Jerry and Eddie, and is confident that he can whip this pair of tough blondes under Australian tag team rules which will allow the Grahams to alternate during a fall.

Calhoun is the most surprising wrestler to hit Miami Beach. Wee Willie Davis, 6-7 and 305 pounds, was dwarfed by Haystacks when they met last week.

Don Eagle, the greatest Indian wrestler in history, will appear in another attraction on this star-studded card which will start at 8:45 o'clock.

Eagle will team with Southern champion Ray Villmer against Judo Jack Terry and the Great Zorro, a masked unknown heavyweight who has won his last 100 matches.

Glamour girls will battle in the other event with Ella Waldok, who moved from Custer, Wash., to Tampa, paired against Kitty Adams, the attractive redhead from Houston, Texas.

Each of these matches will be two out of three falls, bringing Miami Beach fans one of the best lineups of action ever arranged by Promoter Dundee.

Admission prices continue at $3.50 ringside, $2.50 reserved and $1.50 general admission. Reservations can be made by phoning JEfferson 1-0477 or JEfferson 8-4334. Fans are advised to make purchases early so they will not have to stand in line for tickets.

Fresh Pear Wedges, Crisp Greens and Bright Pomegranate Seeds, Cherry or Strawberry Bits Make Refreshing Luncheon Salad

Delicious Lunches—So Easy To Fix Too

By JEANNE VOLTZ

Herald Homemaking Editor

Are you apartment dwellers for the winter or retired folk who eat dinners out, but fix a simple lunch or supper in your efficiency kitchen?

Today's food page is for you, filled with ideas for enticing lunches that still keep housekeeping light.

There are tips, too, for busy full-time homemakers. For they, maybe more than their less active neighbors in the sun, need a real lunch to restoke energies for afternoon chores ahead.

The recipes are family size, but can be pared down to servings for two with no harm done. They feature old luncheon favorites—fruits, cheeses and such — but each with a new twist.

Take the pear salad pictured above. Pears are tossed with crisp greens and, for color, pomegranate seeds. If you can't find pomegranates in your neighborhood toss in bits of maraschino cherries or fresh strawberry slices.

With this salad we suggest an open face cheese and bacon sandwich, broiled bubbly, and a few crisp celery sticks.

Confetti Pear Salad

2 quarts salad greens
2 ripe pears
Seeds of 1 pomegranate
French dressing

Wash and tear crisp greens into large salad bowl. Head lettuce, escarole or romaine and fresh spinach make a nice combination of dark and light greens. Wash, core and slice pears into eighths. Peel pomegranate and remove seeds. (Or use bits of cherries or sliced strawberries). Add pear slices and pomegranate to greens and toss lightly with just enough French dressing to coat leaves and fruit. Makes 6 servings.

Eggs in Olive Mushroom Sauce are a change from scrambled eggs or omelet. If you want to streamline the recipe, use canned mushroom soup instead of made-by-you sauce. Heat the soup with milk to thin slightly, then add the olives and heat.

The sauce goes over sliced hard-cooked eggs on toasted English muffins. Add color to the plate with green pepper rings and radishes or crisp carrot sticks.

For dessert, take your choice from the fruit bowl — a tangerine (they're especially abundant this month), apple or pear.

Eggs with Olive Mushroom Sauce

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 2-ounce can mushrooms, drained
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
3 English muffins, split and toasted

Melt butter. Add mushrooms and saute until lightly browned. Add flour, salt and pepper. Blend well. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Add olives and cook 5 minutes, stirring now and then. Arrange eggs on muffins. Top with olive-mushroom sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Soup is a standby for light meals, often a canned soup heated and served as is. Canned soup with additions adds variety to lunch. Tomato soup afloat with chili-flavored beef nuggets is pep for the taste buds.

Serve it with crisp crackers and a sunshiny citrus and banana salad.

Chili Ball Soup

¼ pound ground beef
1 teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 soup can water

Combine beef, chili powder, salt and pepper. Shape into 12 small balls. Brown in butter. Add tomato soup and water. Simmer 15 minutes. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Canned–ready or almost ready-to-eat foods make nutritious lunches easy.

Sausage Macaroni Allegro

½ pound link sausages
1 15¼-ounce can macaroni with cheese sauce
1 cup cut, cooked green beans (8 ounce can)

Brown sausages in skillet. Remove and pour off fat. Combine macaroni and drained beans in skillet. Place sausages on top. Heat. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Sardines and crackers is an often served lunch combination. A hot sardine lunch, tomatoes and cheese baked with the sardines, is a little different.

With it serve toast, garlic buttered, if you like it, and a grapefruit half for dessert or first course.

Hot Sardine Lunch

2 tomatoes
1 small onion, finely chopped
Salt, pepper
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
2 cans sardines
1 slice American cheese
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce

Slice tomatoes and arrange in greased baking dish. Sprinkle with onion, salt, pepper and butter. Drain sardines and arrange as they come from can on top of tomatoes. Cut cheese into strips and place a strip between each sardine. Sprinkle with Worchestershire sauce. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 15 minutes or until cheese is melted and tomatoes are cooked. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Cottage cheese, a luncheon regular, has a new guise as base for a sandwich spread. It's slightly oniony and goes over ham slices on pumpernickel bread.

A salad of unpeeled red apples, celery and pineapple adds color to the plate. If diet and-or appetite permit, have a slice of baker's cake or cookies for dessert.

Cottage Cheese-Ham-Finger Sandwiches with a Red Apple Salad

Cottage Cheese-Ham Sandwiches

12 ounces (1½ cups) small curd cottage cheese
⅓ cup dairy sour cream
½ cup (1 package) onion soup mix
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
3 tablespoons softened butter or margarine
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
8 slices pumpernickel bread
8 slices (8 ounces) baked ham
Apple-Celery Salad

Blend thoroughly cottage cheese, sour cream, onion soup mix and parsley. Mix butter and mustard. Spread on bread. Place a ham slice on each bread slice. Top with cottage cheese mixture. Cut each sandwich into 4 open-face finger sandwiches. For each plate, arrange 8 finger sandwiches around a serving of Apple-Celery Salad. Makes 4 servings.

Apple-Celery Salad

4 cored red apples, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup drained crushed pineapple
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Mix all ingredients and toss lightly. Makes 4 servings.

Craving for More Oxygen Can Burn You Out If Need for It Is Purely Mental

Bob's case shows how easily we can hoodwink ourselves about medical conditions. His wife was almost a nervous wreck keeping oxygen tanks in their hotel room and regulating the flow into Bob's nostrils. Yet his body showed no oxygen hunger when we shut off the tank valve, for Bob was like many dope addicts whose hunger is chiefly in their minds!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

BOB T., 56, is a dynamic salesman.

"But he is in terrible shape right now," his wife telephoned me recently.

"For he has had a bad case of asthma the past six months. He was put on oxygen for a few days to help relieve his tension and now he insists he will die if we don't keep oxygen flowing steadily into his nostrils.

"But I believe he doesn't need the oxygen, and our last doctor intimated the same thing.

"However, Bob gets panicky and says he is dying if I don't keep the oxygen flowing steadily from the tanks we must keep in our hotel room at all times.

"Dr. Crane, could you please drop in to see Bob. Since he is an old friend and admirer of yours, it would do him a lot of good, even if I am wrong about the oxygen."

★ ★ ★

Our body was built to operate on air that contains not quite 20 per cent oxygen and about 80 per cent nitrogen.

In cases of heart attacks, pneumonia and a few other crises where anemia doesn't permit enough oxygen to reach the muscles on the usual 20 per cent atmospheric oxygen content, then we enrichen the mixture by bubbling oxygen into your nostrils via tubes or even use of the oxygen tent.

•But it is unwise to use extra oxygen if your body doesn't need it, for you just burn yourself out that much faster.

To clinch this idea in simple, understandable fashion, I later explained to Bob that when we blow on a fire, the fuel burns up faster because of the extra oxygen.

A bellows on the old blacksmith's forge did the same thing. It drove more oxygen against the coal, so the coal turned redder and was consumed faster.

EXTRA OXYGEN thus acts much like extra thyroid extract and is not good for a person who doesn't need such additional prods.

So I asked Bob's wife to turn off the oxygen from the tank. Bob got panicky. He claimed he was dying. He cried out to his wife to have mercy on him and turn the oxygen back on.

But I checked his heart action and calmly told him he was not showing any ill effects.

I sat there feeling his pulse and listening to his heart tones.

Bob acted as if he were asphyxiated for lack of oxygen. He threshed around and even tried to faint.

But his pulse remained steady and hardly varied more than three or four beats a minute, despite his mental turmoil.

AFTER 15 MINUTES, I asked his wife to turn the oxygen back on. Although Bob had dropped his head back and acted unconscious, he immediately became rational and calm again, showing that his supposed oxygen hunger was a mental problem.

If his body had needed the extra oxygen, his heart would have begun to beat faster and his pulse would have zoomed when we cut off the tank oxygen.

I offer this case to show you how easily a college educated man can deceive himself about medical problems, for the smarter you are, the easier it is for you to become a hypochondriac (worry wart).

Tip: Castro to Hold Rubi Hostage for Batista

By Cholly Knickerbocker

—CHOLLY—

FIDEL CASTRO

PORFIRIO RUBIROSA

JUDY HOLLIDAY

Caribbean Cha-Cha-Cha: A hot tip from Fidel Castro supporters in New York is to the effect that the rebels seriously intend to try to kidnap the ambassador to Cuba from the Dominican Republic, Porfirio Rubirosa, (supposedly safe in the American Embasy in Havana) and hold him as a hostage.

Then they will offer his life in exchange for the return of Batista. They cannot extradite the ex-dictator and are desperate to get their hands on him. It looks like, for once, Rubi is in more trouble than he ever got into when he was just a ladies' man.

Eye - witness reports from Havana were given us by two globe-trotting Americans who are just back from Cuba. They are those oilrich businessmen extraordinaire, Bob and John Keljakan. The half Armenian, half-Irish brothers, who have brought in gushers with partners like Judy Holliday, Gloria Vanderbilt and the Maharajah of Jaipur, and who once guaranteed the Duke of Windsor an oil well with oil in it, are definitely pro-Castro.

They even brought back with them an arm-band in the rebel black and red, with the homemade number "26" on it (symbol of the July 26, 1953, beginning of the revolutionary movement.)

Castro is an idealist, they say, and his rebels were docile and well-behaved men when they entered Cuba's capital city. The vandalism in Havana was not committed by them, but by the mobs of people who suddenly became revolutionaries when Batista fled the country.

A lot of very rich people who once backed Batista are also now fervent Castro-ites. As a whole, the freres Keljakan believe, the Cuban people are honestly happy at the change and delighted to be free of dictatorship.

The Keljakan brothers went out of their barricaded hotel to greet the Castro rebels who were mostly dog-tired and less to be feared than Havana's window-smashing juvenile delinquents.

The Castro men stood in line like little kids for a cup of water and some of them were so backward that the hotel elevators frightened them. Others did not know how to sleep in a bed. One of the most famous hoodlum hotel owners in Havana, remarked: "Thatsa what I call a nicea army!"

SEVERAL other suggestions for the Best-Dressed Lists have occurred to us. For instance, Mrs. Reinaldo Herrera, Venezuela's most elegant importation to New York; and the two beautiful sisters-in-law, Mrs. Basil and Mrs. Nicolas Goulandris . . . The Statler-Hilton management in Dallas asked Monique Van Vooren to heist her gowns up a little in front. The waiters were making too many errors in customer's checks . . . The closing of the famed Barberry Room has caused a flood of new customers to the Chateau Richelieu . . . The Alan Lewises (he directs the Forum of the 12 Caesars) took their togas and went to Round Hill in Jamaica for some sol . . . Add one of the most charming debs of the season, Diana Lippert, who has not only been presented at every major ball, but finds time during the gaiety to be an honor student at Briarcliff and to work for underprivileged children.

Jews Can Leave Romania—If They Give Up Everything

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

VIENNA — Hundreds of Jews, with only the clothes on their backs, are leaving Iron Curtain Romania for a new life in Israel.

McDERMOTT

An unannounced and surprise move by the Romanian Communist government has made it possible for the Jews to get passports and exit permits.

For the first time in eight years families which have been torn apart by war and politics are being reunited.

But unlike Communist Poland, Romania is grabbing off all the possessions of the emigrants except for what they are wearing as they board trains for a 32-hour ride to Vienna, first stopping point on the Free World side of the Iron Curtain.

The Romanian Jews, in effect, give up all their property and possessions when they make the decision to leave. For them, it means starting from scratch once they arrive in Israel.

The flow of refugees from Romania began three months ago when Jews started turning up at the Israel legation in Bucharest with passports and requesting visas to the Jewish state.

Almost immediately, they began moving toward Vienna where the Jewish Agency, a semi-official organization, took them in hand, fed and housed them until there were sufficient numbers for a boatload from Naples or Venice to Haifa.

"Many of these people are pathetic when they arrive," an Israel spokesman here in Vienna said. "It is a great pity that the Romanian government does not allow them to take their possessions as does the Polish government.

"We hope, of course, that the Romanians will modify their order."

In any event, he continued, Israel is thankful that the Romanians have eased the barriers.

The Jewish Agency here has no advance warning as to how many refugees are coming.

They meet the train from Bucharest every day, gathering in the penniless refugees who climb wearily from the coaches.

With a steady flow of Jews from both Poland and Romania, the stay here of the refugees is short. At least one to three or more Israel-bound ships depart weekly from Italian ports loaded with the emigrants.

Many of the new arrivals are old folks — but there is no particular age or sex category which predominates.

According to a spokesman of the United Jewish Appeal's national office in New York, emigration of Jews from Romania has increased progressively since the movement began in October. They totaled around 7,000 at the end of the year, 5,000 in December alone. Some 7,000 more are expected out this month and the monthly exodus may hit 10,000. If the movement is not interrupted expectations are some 100,000 will have departed Romania this year, Israel-bound.

(UJA explains that the Jewish Agency is a philanthropic organization responsible for caring for emigrants to Israel. Its chief finances come from American Jews through gifts to the United Jewish Appeal.)

The Jewish Agency spokesman said both Poland and Romania apparently are granting exit permits to Jews of all ages who want to leave.

Exact figures of the migration are not disclosed—probably for security reasons created by the tense Arab-Jewish situation in the Middle East.

However, of the 3,500,000 Jews in Poland before World War II, only about 25,000 remain. Thousands, of course, were killed by the Nazis during the occupation of Poland. Others have migrated elsewhere.

Romania has one of the biggest concentrations left in Europe. Estimates are that between 250,000 and 300,000 persons of Jewish faith still dwell there.

"For us, it has been like a miracle that Romania is at last letting those people leave who want to," said the Jewish Agency spokesman.

"We don't even like to discuss it with newspaper correspondents. We don't want to jeopardize the new hope of those remaining who still want to come out. We are thankful to any government which permits people to make a choice of where they want to live."

17 to Join Honorary at UM Friday

Fourteen University of Miami students and three alumni will be initiated Friday into Phi Kappa Phi, national scholarship honorary fraternity.

One of the new members will be the speaker for the 7 p.m. initiation banquet, Dr. Robert M. Allen. His topic: "Diagnosing Brain Damage—The Case History of a Psychological Research Project."

Here's Count Down Under

CANBERRA — (AP) — Australia has 149,319,000 sheep, 16,900,000 cattle, 1,421,000 pigs, and 695,000 horses.

The figures were released by the Commonwealth Statistician. They mean there are about 17 head of livestock in the country for every human being.

There are a few more pigs this year than last, but the totals for sheep, cattle and horses are down slightly. The number of horses is the lowest since 1875, and only about one-quarter of the 1919 figure.

'Teacher' Gets Year to Study

NORFOLK, Va. — (AP) — Judge Alfred W. Whitehurst sentenced an adult here to a year in jail and a fine of $50 for teaching young boys how to turn in false fire alarms without leaving fingerprints. The city estimates it has answered 25 false alarms in 10 months at a cost of $50 each.

Can Music Halt Crime?

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — Somewhere in this city, a burglar may be turned from his life of crime by a newly discovered love of music. That is, he might if he listens long enough to that music box disguised as a purse he swiped from Lydia Motley's home.

She Likes to Stay Out Late

Princess Alexandra Stealing Social Spotlight From Meg

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

ALEXANDRA MARGARET

LONDON — Princess Margaret's position as the leading light of Mayfair nightlife is now being usurped by another lively member of the royal family.

Princess Alexandra (Helen Elizabeth Olga Christabel) 22-year-old daughter of the late Duke of Kent and a first cousin of the Queen and Princess Margaret, is developing into a late-stayer like her playboy brother, the 23-year-old present Duke of Kent.

Her most recent escort is Nicholas Eden, son of Sir Anthony Eden, and himself a prize patron of posh London night spots. In their latest joint appearance at Rico D'Ajou's dance and dine establishment in Belgravia they spent five hours eating a five-course steak dinner, drinking champagne out of gold goblets and doing the rock n' roll.

Alexandra's brother is having anything but a rugged and dangerous time in Germany, where he is serving with his regiment and driving around in his Jaguar. On Christmas leave he excused himself early from the royal family's house party so he could pay court to a non-royal girl friend.

The children's father, the late Duke of Kent, was the favorite companion of his brother, then the Prince of Wales, in his nighttime gambols at home and abroad.

He was killed in an air crash in Iceland in 1942 after eight years of happy marriage to Princess Marina of Greece, a beautiful girl whom he chose without any prompting from the palace matchmakers. Their daughter Alexandra is a natural brunette beauty.

Payday Leads Trio to Trouble

LOGAN, W. Va. — (AP) — It was a short payday for three Logan street employes.

Two hours after getting their pay envelopes, the three were arrested in the city shop for gambling and fined $31.50 which went back into the city treasury.

Rail Wage Hike Being Eyed

By ROBERT M. LEWIN
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

HARRISON

CHICAGO — Railroad employes will demand a pay raise in 1959, but the amount will depend on economic conditions and the wage trend, a top railroad union official said here.

The official, George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks and Freight Handlers, also said in an interview:

"I don't think wages are high enough now. On a national level, our country is able to produce more than we can consume. So we've got to have more purchasing power."

Contracts of nearly a million railroad employes expire Nov. 1. Their three-year agreements generally provided pay raises totaling 26⅓ cents in three steps.

Harrison said the railroad industry has recovered to 93 per cent of its pre-recession level.

But, he said, railroad employment still is 19 per cent below pre-recession figures.

The nation's over-all economy has regained about 75 per cent of the volume lost by the recession, but only about 26 per cent of the jobs have been recovered.

"That points up the rapid rate of technological advance in our country. We're destroying jobs faster than we're creating them," said Harrison. "With our expanding population, this is a very serious problem."

Dean Owre Elected

Give Up Your Job In That Loony Bin

By ANN LANDERS

ANN

DEAR ANN:

I came to this city from a small town in Canada three months ago. I considered myself fortunate to get a job in a good office in a fine downtown building. Now I'm not certain I belong here. Please tell me if my ideas are wrong or if I am working in a place where the people are peculiar.

Yesterday when I bent over to pick up an eraser, one of the young men hit me in the posterior with the telephone book. Everyone roared. This sort of thing goes on all the time.

Two weeks ago someone put a mousetrap in my desk drawer and when it snapped it almost scared me out of my wits. Yesterday an artificial snake popped out at me from the file cabinet. The office manager buys gags from a novelty shop, such as glasses with trick bottoms.

When I complained (after the telephone book incident) they said I was a poor sport and had no sense of humor. Am I humorless or are ALL American offices like this one? — SMALL TOWN GIRL

Dear S.T.G. All American offices are NOT like this. You fell in with a collection of Grade A dingbats. There's nothing funny about being hit with a telephone book — especially when you live in Buffalo where the book is pretty hefty.

I suggest you scout around for another job and leave that loony bin as soon as possible.

* * *

DEAR ANN:

Our 15-year-old daughter is unhappy. Because of her constant complaining, everyone in the family is in an uproar.

She wants to quit school, get a job and live alone in an apartment. She claims we are too strict and don't understand her. We permit her to date on weekends and stay out until midnight. She says this is no freedom at all. We think for a girl of 15 it is a reasonable curfew. Is it?

She hates school and it's a daily battle to keep her from quitting. Sometimes I think it would be a lot easier on all of us if we gave her permission to quit. Your opinion would be appreciated. — EXHAUSTED MOTHER

Dear Exhausted: Of course it would be easier to throw in the towel and tell your daughter she can do as she pleases. But where did you get the notion that rearing children was supposed to be easy?

Saying yes to your daughter's ridiculous plan would be a high price to pay for peace and quiet around the house. That girl belongs in school. She's a minor and you are responsible for her.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

It's Highest Interest Rate Paid Since 1940s

'Little Guy' Can't Afford New 4 Pct. U.S. Bond

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

This past Monday and Tuesday Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson sold to savings institutions throughout the country a new U. S. government four per cent bond. The bond was priced to give buyers an income of more than four per cent each year from now to February 1980—the highest interest rate the U. S. Treasury has paid on a bond since the '20s.

SYLVIA

Also this past Monday and Tuesday, Anderson sold to individual savers throughout the country new U.S. government savings bonds. Buyers of these will get an income equal to three per cent a year after they've held them three years, and an income equal to 3¼ per cent a year if they hold them until maturity eight years, 11 months from now.

As one of the most persistent and vocal supporters of U. S. savings bonds since before World War II, I'm not going to start knocking the bonds at this late date. This program has been, and still is, the greatest bond selling venture of all time. It has taught tens of millions the virtues of regular saving. It has disciplined tens of millions into building precious nesteggs in the safest securities ever issued by the U. S. government. Every week millions of Americans are buying savings bonds under corporation payroll savings plans.

Right now, a record 42.5 billion dollars worth of the familiar "E" and "H" bonds are outstanding. In 1958 alone new sales topped 4.5 billion.

But, I also am a devoted student of government finance. And there is no point whatsoever in ducking the fact that the interest rate the Treasury is now paying on its new issues of marketable bonds is far above what it is paying on its day-to-day sales of savings bonds.

The rate on U. S. savings bonds is fixed. The Treasury had to fight hard two years ago to convince Congress that the rate should be boosted from its then ceiling of three per cent, but even when Congress agreed it slapped on a new ceiling of 3¼ per cent.

This 3¼ per cent maximum has now become as obsolete as the 3 per cent rate was in early 1957.

We have been in a period of rising interest rates through most of this decade and the upward trend is still on. All borrowers are paying more for loans today than in many, many years — and when the Treasury sells a savings bond to you, it is, of course, borrowing your money.

Why, then, if the return on savings bonds is so much lower than the return available on other U. S. bonds, continue buying savings bonds?

There are just two answers in my mind — just two.

The first is that the purchase of U. S. savings bonds via a payroll deduction plan will discipline you into saving small amounts regularly, and small amounts saved regularly add up to big amounts in time.

You can't buy the new Treasury four per cent bonds in little chunks. These bonds are for big savers—pension funds, savings and loan associations. You can buy savings bonds in amounts of only a couple of dollars a week. And the deduction from your paycheck is vital discipline, the regularity of saving is extremely important.

The second is that savings bonds give you absolute protection against fluctuations in market prices. In terms of dollars, you cannot lose on these bonds.

You don't have this protection in marketable bonds — and the new Treasury fours can go down in price and will go down in price if business booms in coming months and money "tightens." The only price guarantee the Treasury gives on the fours is that it will pay them off at $100 a bond on the due date in 1980.

You can cash in savings bonds at any time, though, and you'll never get back less than you paid. There is no market risk.

These are persuasive reasons for buying savings bonds, but they're the only ones left. No longer does the little saver get a higher income than the big fellow. Actually, he's getting inferior treatment.

If Congress is to be only fair to the small buyer of U. S. government securities, it should permit another boost in the interest payment on savings bonds — and it should act now.

Being Japanese Student Isn't Any Fun

By KEYES BEECH
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

TOKYO — "Plain living and higher thinking is more than a motto for the Japanese college student of today," wrote the editor of a college newspaper recently. "It is a necessity."

BEECH

The statement was no exaggeration. By contrast with the carefree American student, the Japanese college boy is old beyond his years, beset by worries.

If poor, he lives a drab, colorless existence, sleeping in unheated dormitories or tiny rented rooms. He has neither time nor money for dates.

He sometimes wonders where his next meal is coming from. A cup of coffee is a luxury. His biggest worry may be where to find a job to earn $1.10 to pay his back rent at the dormitory.

Of Japan's 600,000 college students — half are concentrated in Tokyo — 80 per cent work at part-time jobs to make ends meet. They are called "arbeit" students, a word borrowed from the German verb "to work."

The boy who scrubs my office floor is majoring in English literature at a leading Tokyo university. His friend is currently a sandwich man. His friend's friend is a houseboy for an American family. His chores include changing diapers.

The "arbeit" student averages 75 cents a day. If he is skilled enough to drive a three-wheeled truck he may earn $1.50. As a golf caddy he may earn as much as $2.79 per day. As a private tutor he may earn $10 monthly by teaching three days a week.

Most students consider themselves fortunate if they can earn as much as $8.36 a month. But no matter how hard they try they still don't earn quite enough to pay their way. The rest must be made up from meager family incomes.

In Japan it is unusual for a father to have enough money to pay his son's way through college. Often the daughter sacrifices personal ambitions to take a job to pay for her brother's education.

Many students manage to get along on $27.88 a month. Of this sum $8.36 goes for a room, $16.73 for meals and $2.79 for academic needs. Some students live four to a room in shabby dormitories for only $16.73 monthly.

Postwar reforms were calculated to make a college education the right of every Japanese youth regardless of birth, or economic circumstances.

But the law of economic selection has been at work, and the number of students from poor families has shown a sharp decline in recent years.

Entrance requirements of first-class universities are, by American standards, incredibly tough. Even after graduating from high school a student may have to study two or three years at his own expense before winning admission to a university.

Once accepted, the student worries about flunking out. Failure carries a far greater stigma in Japan than in the U.S. Rather than face the shame, not a few Japanese students commit suicide.

If he succeeds in college he worries about getting a job upon graduation.

The Communist-dominated Zengakuren (Federation of National Student Self-government Associations) claims 300,000 members and is so violently left that its leadership has been kicked out of the Japanese Communist party.

But life is not all work and no play. Many students scrape up enough pocket money for the movies or the coffee shops, where jazz or classical music is played. For a 28-cent cup of coffee a student can spend the afternoon listening to a jazz orchestra.

If he's flush he may even go "avec"—with a girl friend, that is.

Why They Quit Schools

KANKAKEE, Ill. —(AP)— Why do teachers leave school rooms?

Dr. Anthony Marinaccio, superintendent, says of 49 teachers who left a Kanakee school district during 1957-1958, 50 per cent left for family and personal reasons.

He said 25 per cent left for better positions. One left to become a minister. Two are on leave of absence and two reached the age of retirement.

Family and personal reasons included marriage, pregnancy, adoption of children, desire to live nearer home, military service and futhering education.

Keeping Up to Date

What Ever Became of . . .

SAUL ROGOVIN—former Chicago White Sox pitcher who spent seven years in the major leagues? Although he spent 17 years in the game, Rogovin was never a big winner. Nevertheless he led the American League with his 1951 earned run average of 2.78, most of it compiled with the White Sox. He broke into the majors with the Detroit Tigers in 1948. He played for Cincinnati and Philadelphia before being sold to the Miami Marlins in the International League in 1957.

Rogovin retired from baseball last May after his release by Miami. Today, at 36, he is enrolled in Brooklyn College studying economics and works as a liquor salesman.

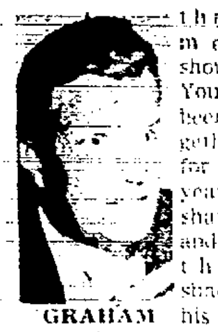
Tell Your Husband The Facts

By BILLY GRAHAM

My Answer

QUESTION: My doctor has told me that I have inoperable cancer and that I have at the very longest a year in which to live. No one else knows this, not even my husband. Should I tell him?



GRAHAM

ANSWER: Unless there is some most unusual circumstance with reference to your husband, something which I cannot even imagine, I feel that by all means you should tell him. You two have been living together probably for a number of years. You have shared your joys and sorrows. In this time of shadow you need his love and strength in a very special way.

He will want to do everything possible for your comfort. It is very probably that he will insist on a consultation with another physician. In any case you cannot keep this from him indefinitely and it is far better to tell him now and to face the future together. Most important of all it is my hope and prayer that you are ready to die.

There is but one way and that is to put your trust in Jesus Christ, accepting Him as your Saviour and committing everything to Him. That which you face is inevitable for all of us.

The vital question is that we shall turn to Christ, accepting not only His forgiveness for sin but also the comfort and hope and peace which He alone can give. God is permitting you these months of preparation and of testimony to others.

Let others see the peace which God alone gives. Let them see the joy of His salvation shine on your face. This can be a time of witness when others who do not know Christ may see what it means to be a Christian and want Him for their own Saviour too.

Cents Enough To Get Married

ENID, Okla. — (AP) — After their engagement Dean Jane Spickelmier of Enid and Charles Tobin Bensinger of Midwest City, Okla., decided to save their pennies for the wedding.

They didn't get enough to finance the wedding but they paid for their marriage license with 300 pennies.

Deck the Halls With Poison Ivy

PONCA CITY, Okla. — (AP) — Mrs. LaRue Pfaff, first grade school teacher, assigned her students to bring in fall leaves and plants to decorate their room.

The youngsters responded eagerly, and Mike Smith brought in an armload of leaves. Only after itching set in did teacher and pupil find Mike's collection included poison ivy.

He May Thwart General Strike

French Premier Debre Horse-Trading With Labor Union

By PAUL GHALI
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

PARIS — Michel Debre, France's new prime minister, has extended a friendly hand to the Socialist Labor Union, Workers Strength, according to a source close to the labor world.

Even before he was designated premier Debre promised the union's Secretary General, Robert Bothereau, his best efforts to assure that France's new financial decrees do not mean too much deprivation for the working classes.

Debre also suggested to Bothereau that he would like to have Andre Lafon, one of the union's top executives in his cabinet. Lafon was prevented from accepting such a post by the union executive committee on grounds that such an assignment would violate union ethics.

By showing himself conciliatory toward non-Communist workers Debre is attempting to thwart a move by the Communist CGT (General Confederation of Labor) to get the Workers Strength to join in a general strike call for March.

Workers Strength executives have not yet received the appeal from the CGT but are expecting it momentarily. And the Debre diplomacy has been well received. The Socialist Union has decided to await results of the prime minister's promised efforts and meanwhile not to reply to any CGT request for joint action.

Workers Strength leaders mainly criticize the new decisions by Finance Minister Antoine Pinay and President De Gaulle for marking a return to the most classical forms of liberalism. As good socialists and disciples of Marx they hold that only a directed economy can reform a deteriorated economic situation without injuring the workers.

They say De Gaulle and Pinay have hurt the workers by:

1. DELIBERATELY suppressing the automatic salary raises set up in 1955 whereby wages rise whenever a certain number of pilot prices go up.

Instead of these raises, under the new financial provisions the lowest salaries — those of workers earning $70 a month plus family allowances and social security — are upped three or four per cent. De Gaulle has thus made it necessary for workers to strike for new raises.

2. CUTTING state subsidies to public services and essential producers, thus bringing inevitable rises in living costs, and hurting the poor more than the rich.

The few prices that have gone down under the new price system are those of luxury items like perfumes, caviar and furs.

3. CUTTING DOWN of social security reimbursement for medicines by 6,000 francs (about $12 at the new rate of the franc).

This means extra hardship for workers' families.

Debre may be able to fulfill his promises to the Workers Strength insofar as point 3 is concerned, in the view of most observers.

But it is hard to see how he can do much about the other two points, for that would mean reversing the De Gaulle-Pinay deflation policy.

Thus, despite the new prime minister's good intentions, French skies remain grey with symptoms of social agitations to come.

Those Prettiest Postcards: You Can Keep Them Safely

By CAPPY DICK

Hobby Club

A good way to preserve the prettiest postcards you receive is to cover them with transparent plastic and frame them with cardboard. Figure 4 shows a completed picture.

A special kind of transparent adhesive plastic can be bought at hobby stores. It is sold by the foot and is fastened to heavy black paper. Cut a piece of the size of the postcard, peel the plastic from the paper and lay its sticky side on the postcard. That is what the boy is doing in Figure 2.

Next make the frame. Cut strips of cardboard that is thick and stiff. They should be of uniform width and long enough to frame the picture on all four sides. Mitre the corners as in Figure 1 so they will fit together snugly. Glue the pieces of frame around the picture.

To give the frame the appearance of wood, use a knitting needle to press grain marks in it (Figure 3). These lines may be touched up with gold paint or brown ink.

Another way to finish the frame is to cover it with aluminum foil, pressing it to look like hammered silver (Figure 4). In this case, the frame should be covered first then the picture should be glued in place.

Are Readers' Letters to Editor Too Impersonal?

By AMY VANDERBILT

AMY

"DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: As you undoubtedly know, quite a few newspapers have sections given over to letters from the readers. From time to time I send letters to these sections for the purpose of having them published.

"As I have lived in this city for about 20 years or more, I have, in the course of time, become acquainted with a good many of the editors. This prompted my wife to say that, when writing one of these letters, I should address the editor by his name. This, I have never done because of the fact that primarily the letter was intended for the newspaper and it was addressed to the editor in his official capacity.

"I have always addressed my letters - 'Editor - Dear Sir.' The question has arisen that, since I know the editor personally, is this too cold? What is your opinion on this point?"— P. S., Dallas, Tex.

It seems to me that what you are doing is the sensible thing, as undoubtedly the editor will pass it along to the "letters editor." There is no reason why you might not add, however, a little handwritten note of greeting to the editor.

* * *

"DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: I have enjoyed the company of a wonderful lady over a period of about 49 years.

"In the beginning and other numerous occasions, the question of an engagement ring (diamond) has come up for discussion between us. On all occasions I have been assured that we could use the necessary funds to better advantage and have been told to forget it.

"Now how in the world can I 'forget it' when I 'didn't get it'? On other occasions this lady, talking to prospective brides, has said 'If you don't get the diamond before the ceremony, you never will.'

"We have coming up a ceremony in 1959 and I am in a quandary about the diamond, with a feeling that either giving the diamond or not to give it will place me in an embarrassing position, that anything I do will be wrong. — N. A., Houston, Tex."

It seems to me that a "wonderful lady" who has waited for you to make up your mind for 49 years deserves the largest diamond that you can buy her — well before the marriage ceremony.

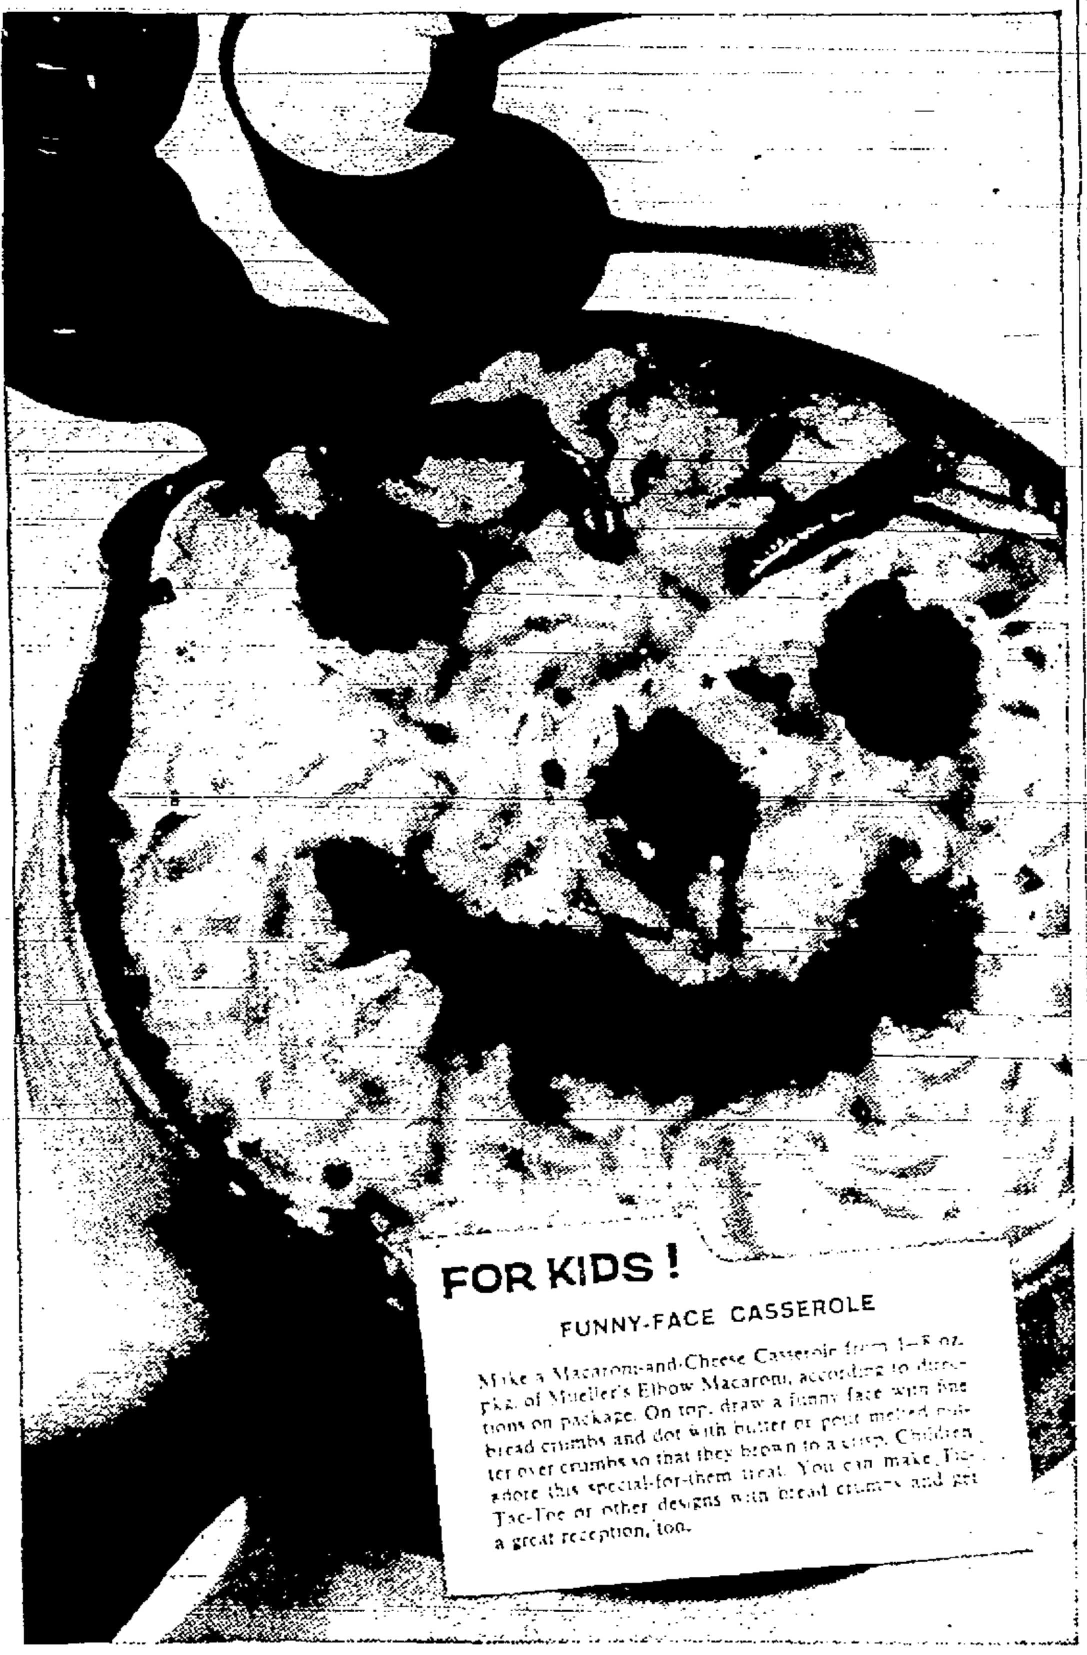
Nobody makes macaroni like Mueller's

It's more delectable...so digestible



FOR KIDS!

FUNNY-FACE CASSEROLE

Make a Macaroni-and-Cheese Casserole from 1—8 oz. pkg. of Mueller's Elbow Macaroni, according to directions on package. On top, draw a funny face with fine bread crumbs and dot with butter or pour melted butter over crumbs so that they brown to a crisp. Children adore this special-for-them treat. You can make Tic-Tac-Toe or other designs with bread crumbs and get a great reception, too.

Nobody makes macaroni like Mueller's. What makes Mueller's Elbow Macaroni so much tastier...so much more tender...so digestible? It's the blend!

Not just one wheat—but two! Not just Semolina but Semolina plus easy-to-digest Farina. Delicious! Delectable! Vitamin-enriched. High in protein, too.

Give the kids a real treat. Make a Funny Face Macaroni-and-Cheese Casserole and watch them eat! Dad will pass the plate for more, too!

Semolina plus Farina makes MUELLER'S tops for taste

Birds Eye's 30th Anniversary

My Day

Youth Can Give Much to Elderly

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

MRS. FDR.

INDIANAPOLIS — I went by train last week to Lewistown, Pa., which is about 40 miles from Pennsylvania State University. Toward the end of the trip you are in hilly country and some of it is rather poor as far as living conditions go.

The drive between Lewistown and Penn State, however, is beautiful. You go through a broad and fertile valley with the old-type Pennsylvania dutch farms and barns.

I had been at the university some years ago for the American Association for the United Nations, but this time I was invited by a student organization which has planned to put on several lectures during the year. Their next lecture is to be given by Lord Clement Attlee and I felt very proud to be considered on the same level!

I opened this series and it certainly seemed successful. There were no empty seats in the auditorium and I was told that the seats were put on sale on a Monday morning at 9 o'clock and by 11 there were no more to be had.

The faculty and the town shared 136 seats and that meant few of the townspeople could be present, so the lecture was broadcast through their radio station to every area.

I held a short press conference on arrival but had 20 minutes to change beforehand and then we went to dinner. Everything went so smoothly and so well and the young people were so evidently anxious to be successful in their first attempt at anything of this kind that I was happy to find the audience attentive and quiet. The question period following the lecture showed active interest in the Soviet Union.

I received a note on arrival from Miss Hilda Thompson, who reminded me that we had last met in the summer of 1943 in north Australia and had toured a number of rest places for our troops together.

She was in the Red Cross at that time and I was taking a trip around the Pacific area. She had not been able to get a seat for the lecture, so she came over to the Nittany Lion Inn later and drove to the 1:46 a.m. train in Lewistown with me.

Miss Thompson, whose grandfather gave the first land for what today is the university, is full of interest in what is going on in the world and so was my young Pittsburgh student. There is certainly much that youth can give to age and in return, I think, age can contribute much to youth.

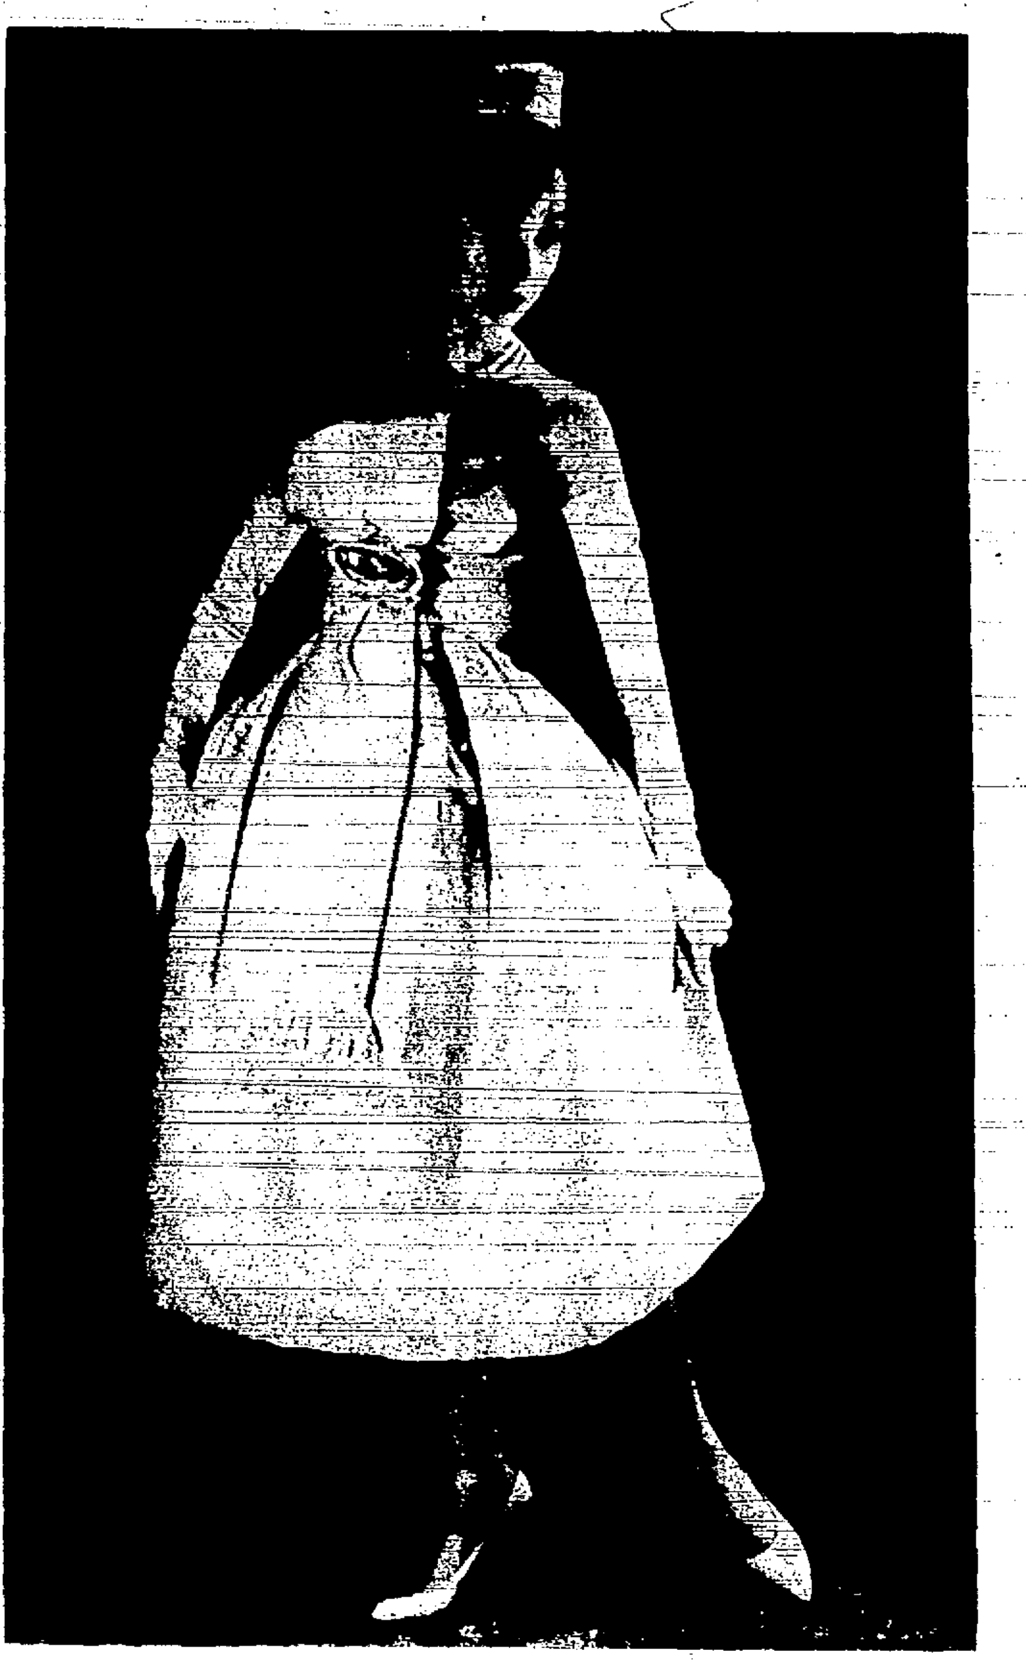
Dior Creates Rounded Silhouette for U.S.



Ceil Blue Strapless Evening Dress
. . . from Christian Dior of New York spring collection

By BEVERLEY WILSON
Herald Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — Everything is rounded in the silhouette the house of Christian Dior-New York has created just for American women.

Your sleeve is rounded, your shoulder line is rounded and wider, your bosom is rounded, your hip line is rounded.

It's a beautiful collection that contains few surprises for those who saw Dior's Paris collection last July.

The same high, wide belt, the same fringed, casually-tied sashes, the same double-breasted look prevail.

But Dior has modified the Paris extremes for American tastes. Even his hemlines — which were the longest in Paris last July — have been raised slightly so that they look almost (but not quite) as short as those being favored by American designers for Spring.

Accent is on stunning French fabrics and the colors are extraordinary. A bright purple suit and purple hat are accessorized, for instance, with "pink caviar" shoes and hosiery and masses of "pink caviar" beads at the neckline —all designed by Dior.

No one looking at the collection can doubt the extraordinary talent which Dior's successor, young Yves Saint Laurent, possesses.

"Definitely is finding himself" was the consenus of veteran fashion editors here to view the New York Dress Institute's collections at the Waldorf.

DON'T BE ALARMED lest your closet-full of high waisted dresses becomes obsolete the minute your back is turned. The Empire waistline still has plenty of sturdy adherents.

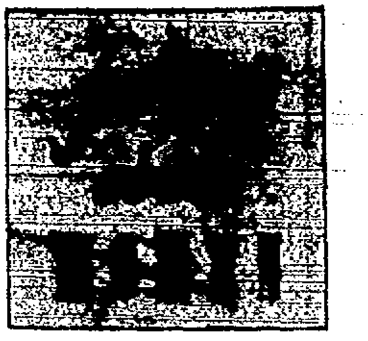
One of the most articulate is Larry Aldrich. A strong chemise supporter last year, he's currently cheering for what he calls the "logical evolution" of that silhouette: the soft, loose shape with the closely clasped midriff which features the lifted waistline."

Mr. Aldrich likes you to look sort of childishly "too big" in your clothes — as a way of making any figure from 8 to 18 look younger.

He accomplishes this young look with slight shoulders, deep armholes, small waists and what he calls "naive" curves.

His low v-neckline and his wide gold kid sashes on otherwise starkly simple white wool dresses are anything but naive, of course.

And look what Lilly Dache has gone and done! She's transplanted you to a Japanese teahouse for Spring. And for a very good reason: who can tell the age of an Oriental woman? Even her throat, where age shows up earliest, is her secret.



Lilly's new Eurasian make-up and fashions are designed to give you the luminous, serenely unlined face and even the mysterious slant eyes and the smoothly-looped hair-styles of the East. Quite an order for anyone but Lilly.

She accomplishes this look with such tools as a throat cream, derived from almond extract, which blends the fruit of the peach with the astringent qualities of the oils extracted from peach stones.

Her Oriental makeup gives your skin a pearly cast, your eyes are brushed with water-green, and mystic mold eye-shadow and then given a definite outward and upward slant with a strong black eye-liner.

Oh yes — and your mouth is almond-shaped, too, outlined with dark, lotus lipliner and filled in with the pale pink-peach tones of Miss Dache's lipstick.

U.S. Designers Rebel Against Paris Influence

Indications of the trend are popping up over and over again in New York City this week as fashion editors from all parts of the U.S. attend the semi-annual Dress Institute Press Week.

Pauline Trigere proudly proclaimed that her style ideas are all her own and not adapted from any European designers.

Oleg Cassini argued that Paris "for once has erred in dictating the loose shape and obliterating women's lovely curves with the sack, the chemise and the trapeze."

* * *

LUIS ESTEVEZ, the young Cuban designer who has won rapid fame since launching his first collection at Boca Raton a few years ago, is the loudest voice of all.

"The American fashion press needs its knuckles rapped for the adulation it heaps on anything designed in Paris," he said. "If I design a high waistline, it's just a high waistline. If fashion reporters see the same design idea in Paris, it suddenly becomes the Paris look and front page news.

"Isn't it about time we started giving our own designers some of the admiration they deserve for original ideas?"

Estevez also is critical of Paris couturiers for allowing U.S. manufacturers to adapt their designs on the $50 or even $25 level.

"The Paris houses are cheapening themselves. The woman who owns a Dior will likely meet up with its $25 copy on her maid within a few weeks after she bought it," he said.

* * *

STILL ANOTHER AMERICAN Bill Blass, head designer for Maurice Rentner, has ideas on the subject too.

"Fashion in the U.S. is in an uncertain period. Designers are terribly influenced by the French. But if we don't follow our own theories, our own concepts of design, we are lost," said Blass.

"We should be dependent on Europe only for fabric. French and Italian wools are superior to ours in design and quality, but American cotton is divine," he said.

* * *

NEW YORK'S DESIGNERS were praised also by a top sales representative of the House of Dior, Mme. Yvonne Minassian. She's in New York to take a fresh look at what America wears.

"The things here are charming," she said. "Anyone would like to wear them. Here in America they work on trends that are needed I think, while in Paris they just design."

Mme. Minassian, reputed to be the smartest saleswoman in Paris, suggested that every French designer should be required to make periodic trips to the U.S.

Miamians To See Estevez Collection

American designer Luis Estevez will be in Miami Friday and Saturday.

He will speak Friday at a noon meeting of The Fashion Group in the Pan American Room of the Columbus Hotel and his new collection will be shown. The collection also will be shown Saturday night at the Junior League Ball in the Eden Roc Hotel.

The Estevez look for resort wear this year is the flowing cape back. He also likes simulated box jacket effects on his dresses. No admirer of the chemise, Estevez sticks to figure-flattering silhouettes that easily skim the figure.

Dark brown is one of his favorite colors this season, even for evening. Deep brown dresses are topped by white coats for a new daytime resort look.

Luis Estevez

His hemlines? They'll stay short, but not too short to be wearable. And please, he cautions, wear high heels with the short skirts, to give the silhouette proper balance.

'Back to Normal' Is This Spring's Motto Of Rome Couturiers

ROME — (AP) — Waistlines normal. Hemlines steady. Silhouette softly molded.

These are the chief features of the spring and summer fashion styles of at least one big Roman high fashion house, Fontana Sisters.

Other Italian designers are reported planning to present fashions along the same lines at the openings starting today.

"The time has come to balance the figure," says the Fontana Sisters, "to give back to the feminine form its gracious poise and pride in line."

A preview illustrated this theory.

Afternoon ensembles combine slim, sleeveless dresses, slightly gathered in front at beltless waistlines, with short collarless jackets, shirred high across the shoulderblades. One such ensemble appeared in black silk and wool; another in gray faille streaked with zigzags of white lightning.

Hemlines were 15 inches above the ground.

Eleanora Garnett's collection, which is one of those to be presented in Rome within the next four days, is also indicative of the back-to-normalcy trend.

Her silk print afternoon dress with rounded shoulders, three-quarters sleeves and a mild fullness of skirt, might have stepped out of an Easter window of the pre-sack and pre-empire eras.

Its bodice ends at the waist where the fullness starts and its collarless oval neckline is notched in a conservative vein. It is even worn with short white gloves and black patent-leather pumps.

Rapuano, another of the Roman exhibitors, hasn't gone back quite so far, but contents himself with a quiet version of the beltless, restless '58 effect.

One beige afternoon dress of his is semi-fitted with a built-in cummerbund to its slightly short-waisted top. A blue-and-white polka dot afternoon dress is similarly short-waisted and has soft shoulders and sleeves that end at the elbow. Rapuano is another Italian designer who likes collarless oval necklines.

They Held The Line On Weight

Despite the fact that December, the holiday-partying month, is considered the most deadly time of year for dieters, every member of the PEP (Pounds Eliminated Properly) Club lost weight!

Mrs. Miriam Shukat and Mrs. Terry Dohan received prizes for shedding the most pounds.

Newly elected officers included Mrs. Marjorie Akin, president, and Mrs. Lillian Hernandez, secretary. The club, which is open to all women with weight problems, meets every Thursday at 8 p.m. at the YMCA, 40 NE 3rd Ave.

WITH 48 GIRLS

Fred Snite Was Lone Man At Luncheon

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

You might have called Fred Snite "The Sultan of the Surf Club" on Tuesday when he entertained 48 of his "girls" for luncheon. These were members of his committee for the fabulous dinner dance he underwrites each year for the benefit of St. Francis Hospital.

Mrs. Snite Sr.

Mrs. Snite Jr.

The ball this year is the ninth and is set for Feb. 9 at the Surf, with more than 700 expected. Last year's ball netted $65,000 for St. Francis.

Loretto, Mrs. Snite senior, headed one of the long pink luncheon tables with Tessie, Mrs. Snite junior, at the other end. Fred sat in the center, dividing himself equally among his girls!

A table near by was piled high with the fetching pink poodles which will be favors for each woman guest at the ball. Mr. S. presented his committee with cunning plastic trays complete with thermos and cup for beside table use.

Among Fred's girls whom he called "wonderful and sweet" were charming Mary Ritter, wife of the Surf Club president, George Ritter; Virginia (Mrs. William) Root who told of the sad day for her and her son, Chapman, when his race driver, Pat O'Connor, was killed in the first lap of the 500 mile race at Indianapolis.

Suzanne Tenzer told of the trip she and Frank are planning to the West Indies in February; Evelyn Mitchell said that her boss, Arthur Vining Davis will celebrate his 92nd birthday in May with a party at his estate on Old Cutler Rd.

Snoozle (Mrs. Bill) McDonald and Eleanor (Mrs. Bill) Kelly, both Bal Harbourites, said they are constantly being taken for one another . . . they do look alike.

A few of the other 48 included Mrs. Robert Peterson and Mrs. Edward S. Moore, who was out for the first time after a bout with shingles and said she is saving her strength for the Hialeah opening.

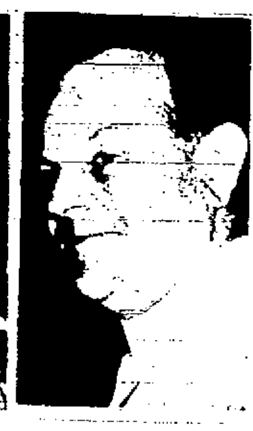
Kilts Made a Hit

Distinguished guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lawson for luncheon at the Surf on Tuesday were Lt. Gov. of Ontario J. Keiller MacKay and Mrs. MacKay. Mr. Lawson is a former Lt. Governor of Ontario. The Lawsons winter home is on Belle Isle.

Mrs. Lawson



Mr. Lawson

Lt. Governor and Mrs. MacKay came down to the Sea View Hotel for a holiday with their three young sons, Allister, Ian and Jamie. With Ian, who attends school in Scotland, was a classmate, Robert Turan. The other two boys go to school in Toronto and all have returned to their studies.

The four boys created quite a stir at the Sea View in their colorful kilts!

Time for Hamburgers

Dick Lackey is longing for a hamburger and sports shirt party as a change of pace from filet mignon and dinner clothes. So, his Edna is gathering their friends at their Golden Beach home Jan. 29 for an informal hamburger feast.

Joining the Gang

His Mother Remembered

With the movie "A Night To Remember" about to refresh Miamians' minds of the tragedy of the sinking of the Titanic, John Astor, is remembering the disaster's influence on his life.

John Astor

His father John J. Astor went down with the ship. His mother, who was pregnant with John at the time, was saved. "She never liked to talk about it," John says of his mother who died in 1940.

He added, "It's strange. The sinking of the Titanic was completely forgotten for many years. But in the last few years there have appeared a book and two movies about it."

There's been a merry round of farewell parties for the Rosses in Colombo as well as a gala dinner party for Mrs. Ross' mother, Mrs. Maude Baumgartner when she celebrated her 81st birthday in Ceylon.

Positive Rules for Raising Child

By ELEANOR DIXON
Herald Club Editor

Dr. Mark Murfin has a positive approach to the problems of children and schools at a time when "admirals, newscasters and manufacturers" are making blanket criticisms of education and young people.

He has a few simple rules for promoting better homes, children and schools. He outlined his ideas this week for members of Silver Bluff PTA.

Dr. Murfin, who talks in common sense terms, is chairman of the elementary education department at the University of Miami. He said candidly that the following rules apply to him and his family as well:

1. Teachers should know the homes of the children they teach. "If they haven't been in their children's homes, they're operating at 50 per cent efficiency."

2. Parents should back up the teachers "right or wrong." Of course parents have the right to disagree with what the teacher tells the child, but they should discuss it with the teacher and not refute her word in front of the children, he added.

3. "Hug 'em in and hug 'em out." Dr. Murfin means that he'd like to see all mothers be at home in the morning to send their children off to school with a hug, and most important, to be at home when the children return from school.

4. "Put the rocking chair back in the living room. I don't say you have to coddle the children. But rock them, talk to them, read and sing to them. Tell them how things were when you were a child.

"It's good for our children and it's good for our ulcers," he added.

5. "If we can't take our children with us, we're going to the wrong places."

6. "Put the baby sitters out of business." Parents shouldn't stay home ALL the time with their children, but they shouldn't feel that "the 13-year-old girl down the block can rear your children," he explained.

In this way, Dr. Murfin thinks that parents can establish the good home which is the answer to many problems in "this highly stimulated, space age."

"Modern parents have become a bit confused. They've put material things, gadgets, comforts and the concept of a happy child first, thinking that permissiveness will solve the problem.

"Children need to be disciplined and corrected. Biologically we are created so that we become parents when we are old enough to say 'yes or no' to children."

Another point of blame on parents is that they fail to give their children responsibilities at home, he went on. This is a contributing factor to delinquency.

"I know it's difficult to find things for the children to do in an age when it amounts to a social stigma to have a hand-pushed lawn mower."

To back up his plea for more parental guidance, and stability at home, Dr. Murfin quoted a survey made on 100 sixth grade students. Only 40 of these children had started first grade together. They had lived in 386 houses. Only 17 had lived at the same street address since first grade.

Thirty came from broken homes. They saw an average of one and a half movies per week, and owned, collectively, 3,202 comic books per child.

Jewish Council Will Organize Division for Young Women

A new division for young single and married women will be organized next month by Greater Miami Section, National Council of Jewish Women.

Sponsorship of this new division, which makes the eighth division of the section, was approved Wednesday at a section board meeting in the McAllister Hotel.

Nucleus for the new division is a group of young women who are students at the University of Miami. They have met with Mrs. Samuel Gertman, section president, and an organizational meeting will be held Feb. 1.

While the present seven divisions of the section are set up on a geographical basis throughout the county, the new division will have county-wide membership.

The board meeting included a comprehensive report by Mrs. Sidney Lewis on the section's Community Leadership Training Program.

Miss Lillian Chernoff, field representative for the Southern Interstate Region of NCJW, is in Miami to observe the section's divisional plan and the results of the leadership training program.

She and the section's community service projects committee will meet Monday to plan a new service project based on the surveys and reports made for the leadership training program.

MORALS OR MUSCLES

Should I Date Bad Boy? I Am Fairly Strong

DEAR DOROTHY RICKER:

There is a boy in one of my classes who seems to like me. Although he has a bad reputation I think he acts like a nice boy. He has asked me out several times but I've always been busy.

Dorothy Ricker

Last night he asked me to go to a dance which takes place in two weeks. I am 15 years old and fairly strong for my size but I don't think I will have to use my strength if I go.

Do you think I should go out with him?

UNDECIDED.

The fact that you have to give even a second thought to your physical strength (as a probable means of "surviving" a date with this boy) is enough for me to advise you to keep right on being busy — with someone else! Morals and manners, not muscles, should decide your selection of a dating partner.

'My Boy Friend Set Up Penalties'

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

I have been going with the same boy for three years. I love him and I think he loves me but he has never committed himself in any way. Recently he has started going away for weekends with some of his friends.

Last weekend I was with some friends at a resort and I just happened to meet him. He was very angry because he thought I had followed him. Now he has set up a bunch of rules and penalties, for me.

To give you an idea of what they're like here are a few. 1. If I follow him again when he goes away — the penalty — he won't see me for two weeks. 2. If I call him on the phone — the penalty — he won't see me for one week. 3. If I mention the words engaged or married — the penalty — he won't see me for a month! I am afraid he will find another girl if I forget and break a rule. What shall I do?

ELLIE

Surely you cannot be serious in asking what you should do about your boy friend and his rules. There is just one bit of advice I can give you. Set up just one rule for him, which should be — GET LOST, PERMANENTLY!

THRILLS!

MARY ASTOR: My Story

'Suddenly, I Knew I Was Loved—Needed'

This is the fifth article in a condensation of the new book, MARY ASTOR: My Story, which was released last week and which promises to be a best seller. With courage and candor, actress Mary Astor, now 52, tells of her life which made sensational headlines in the mid-30s, of her battle with alcoholism and why, finally, she wrote her autobiography.

One In a Series

Mary Astor and John Barrymore

. . . in silent movie, Don Juan, in 1925

I do not find it easy to discuss or explain my love for Jack Barrymore.

I know, first of all, that the overwise and cynical will dismiss it as just another case of the naive and inexperienced girl blinded and made giddy by the wiles of a man of the world, an accomplished roue. If it had been that simple it would be a great deal easier to talk about.

But it wasn't. I know Jack loved me! I know it as surely as I know the fact of my own existence.

Fifteen years afterwards he was talking to me about it, telling me how surprised he had been to find himself beginning to love me that first day on the Beau Brummel set.

Even then, 15 years later, he didn't dismiss it lightly. "And it's a good thing I couldn't get you away from your family. I would have married you, and you would have had a miserable life."

Or, if you wanted casually to brush the whole thing away, you could say I had fallen in love with the glamor of a name, or the vibrant Barrymore charm. Perhaps, but I think it was more than that.

I know that he gave me a love, wholehearted and undemanding, such as I had never before known. I had certainly not found it in my family.

And I know that I suddenly found myself loved and wanted and needed. I grasped at that love; I didn't ponder over it; I didn't analyze it. I just gathered it to me greedily and thankfully.

* * *

'I Felt No Guilt'

NOT FOR A MOMENT was I concerned with the violation of moral laws or the breaking of a commandment. I felt no guilt. I knew our love must be concealed, but I did not conceal it because I was ashamed of it. It had to be concealed from my parents, because to me it was something indescribably precious, and I knew they would destroy it.

I know that Jack never told anyone about us; he protected me completely. In Gene Fowler's book about him, Good Night, Sweet Prince, there is a noticeable gap in his personal life during these years. Only the stage triumph of Hamlet is mentioned.

His personal life is not resumed until his meeting with Dolores Costello. And I know that Fowler was very close to him, so I know Jack did not talk about it even to him.

It was many years before I could bring myself to talk about it to anyone but my closest friends. It is only now that, for the first time, I can force myself to focus all my attention on it.

* * *

OUR ROMANCE moved slowly, over a period of some months. Jack was much like a young boy in love courting his sweetheart — not bashfully, for that would have been totally unlike him, but gently and tenderly.

He gave me love, affection, humor and, above all, beauty. He always had flowers in his rooms, and inevitably a bowl of tuberoses in the window. He encouraged me to think out and talk about ideas — often some rather abstract ideas.

He taught me about manners, consideration for others. Social conduct, he explained, was not designed to "impress" people; but by considerate behavior "we acknowledge their existence, which everyone needs to be assured of." He stretched my mind in all directions.

With all this he never lost sight of his promise to deepen my knowledge and understanding on the theater. We worked on scenes from Shakespeare; we were Richard and Anne, Hamlet and Ophelia.

He worked hard on my speech; it was heavy with Midwesterner's, and he drilled me tirelessly on words like "purple" and "world." He was demanding, intolerant of careless or slipshod work, but he was at the same time patient and loving.

He seldom drank around me.

* * *

His Mouth Tightened

HE WAS extremely considerate and tactful with my parents. When the four of us were together, he talked over my head to them, listening to Daddy's views on everything.

Sometimes I would see his nostrils go white and thin, and his mouth tighten with the restraint he forced on himself.

When we were alone, he blasted them in his own colorful language, which I wish I could remember more clearly. "Your father would make an excellent butler," he would say, or "They talk about you as though you were a trained seal instead of an artist."

He warned me vehemently that I could never grow as long as they dominated me. "Mark me well," he said, "you can never develop your potentialities as an actress until you develop as an individual. Until you break away from their domination, they'll stifle you. They'll just make a meal ticket out of you. And you're the only one who can do anything about it."

Beau Brummel came to a close, and Jack went back to New York and opened in Hamlet — which made theatrical history. I remember the ineffable joy I felt when I learned that we too were to return to New York.

* * *

THEN WE WERE BACK in New York, at the apartment in Madison Heights. The day we arrived, Jack had the apartment opened, and it was overflowing with flowers, baskets and bowls of roses and chrysanthemums. And there in the window, a bowl of tuberoses. I knew he meant them just for me.

I saw him every day, except matinee days. Daddy and I drove to the Ambassador (we had a rented car and a chauffeur) every day at one, and he called for me at six. For several months we led an almost domestic life.

Of course the subject of marriage came up. Jack had been separated from his wife for two years; she was in Paris with their child.

But I shied fearfully away from talk of marriage. I knew he loved me, but I wanted things to stay as they were.

I was afraid of Daddy, and I was afraid of breaking away from his domination. I had become accustomed to the protection from responsibility.

There was an unhealthy feeling of comfort in this spineless, will-less existence. I avoided the real truth, that I could not accept the burden of thinking and acting like a responsible adult.

(From the book MARY ASTOR: My Story. Copyright 1959 by Mary Astor. Distributed by Doubleday Syndicate.)

'First Heartbreak Really Hurts'

Thought For The Day

"You may be deceived if you trust too much, but you will live in torment if you do not trust enough." —Dr. Frank Crane.

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

Am I selfish, jealous or hurt? At the age of 16 my son was fond of a girl who one day decided that he was not good enough for her, as his grades were not up to hers. She dropped him like a hot potato.

Being a sensitive boy, I did not press him too much the day he was caught crying. But I learned the details later.

He was never the same again. I guess your first heartbreak really hurts at that age.

I confess that I was glad they did break up, as one night I was walking by her house (we live on the same block) and saw a man peeping in the living room where my son and the girl were watching TV. I screamed, and lo and behold, it was her father . . . was I embarrassed!

Now my son is in the Army. He enlisted at 18 and I am glad, for now he may find what he is looking for.

But here is what gets my goat. When the girl found out he was in the Army, he suddenly became a "living doll."

He got a 14-day furlough and I drove to Texas to get him — no plane reservations at the time — so he could spend more time at home. Do you know I could count the hours on two hands that he spent with me?

Where was he — with his "girl." She even wants him to send her his war bonds each month. She is all of 16.

I do not want his bonds. I just want him to have them when he gets out three years from now. I don't know how to handle this situation as he is very touchy.

He must feel some remorse as I received a letter today in which every line or so reads, "Mom, don't be mad with me."

I sold my only TV and my old car to finance his trip home and back, but I didn't get much enjoyment out of it. Am I —

SELFISH

You're more hurt than selfish, and frankly, I can't blame you. Of course, you don't want to be "mad with him," and I think you should assure him that you're not.

But I think he should also understand that you are not exactly jumping for joy because you saw so little of him while he was home.

As for the bonds, they should remain in his possession or yours until such time when and if he and his girl reach a serious understanding.

Just now they are both too young to pledge themselves, and should wait at least until she has finished school.

'I Can't Keep My Lip Zipped'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

My husband and I have read, debated and argued good humoredly about the items in your column. We enjoy it, but so far, I haven't seen a letter about my own shortcomings. Maybe I missed it, because surely I'm not the only woman with this problem.

Talk—talk—talk. That's it. I've prayed, pondered, sworn and promised, to no avail. I just can't keep my lip zipped.

Home, family friends and personal problems — nothing is sacred. Most of it is none of my business, or if it is, I've no call to repeat it. Even though I have the sweetest, most understanding husband in the world, he gets peeved with me about it.

Although he never speaks of it, I know. I do so wish I could change. It isn't lack of something to do, for I have plenty four healthy, lovable little ones and a nice home to keep.

But I'd rather gossip. That proverbial juicy bit is my lifeline.

Perhaps someone in the audience has been through it and could help. I'd surely appreciate it.

GOSSIP MONGER

Minding other people's business is a sport that nearly all of us indulge in at one time or another. Few of us are noble enough to resist the luxury of passing a juicy tidbit along now and then.

The urge to gossip is strongly motivated by the desire for attention . . . You feel important because you possess choice information you know will enrapture your listeners.

Some people go for the sport in a big way, and though they don't necessarily set out to harm anyone, they can cause serious trouble.

You don't have to keep your lip zipped—just keep the padlock on incidents that you know you should'nt repeat. And if there's a shadow of doubt "Mum's" the word. You can achieve the same effect from your "audience" with a well-told joke or story that you've read.

Eleanor Hart.

Check Up on Yourself, Boone's Personal Tip

BY Pat Boone

How Pat Boone has used a personal "do-it-yourself" checklist for all-round development is told in today's installment of the young singing star's best-selling book of experience, "'Twixt Twelve and Twenty."

To repeat, I have found regular check-ups on myself — on my goals and what I am doing about them — to be helpful. It is a six-point program, with aims in six major areas: Spiritual, social, mental, physical, work, financial. Under each heading, I listed my aims. In checking my progress, I added or revised goals. The list follows:

First Area: Spiritual. The road map for the adventure of your own Pilgrim's Progress should come from the Bible. This is my road map. I've already told you that I am a member of the Church of Christ.

Jack Spina, Randy Wood, Mort Lindsey and other members of our musical team are active members in other religious groups. We all believe in God and are sincerely trying to do His will. In this land of freedom each of us can find his way by applying himself to studying the record personally.

The point is, we all need help. Exciting as the road is, it is no easy road. I recommend with all my soul that every teenager seek the guidance offered by God's Word.

If neither of your parents is a member of the church, you are old enough now to find the way yourself. It is time for you to learn more about prayer; to grow along spiritual lines; to know God in an intimate way.

Your whole future, your whole sense of identity, belonging, and purpose, may never become clear to you unless you start with your spiritual growth. Every other facet we discuss will actually hinge on what you believe. There really isn't any other way to begin a sound emotional growth, to learn to love where we have hated, to replace fear with confidence, erase doubt with faith.

Under the spiritual heading in my checklist I itemized Bible readings, a decision to give thanks before meals (even if I could only close my eyes for a second and say it silently), to pray for certain people, to have set times of prayer, and to pay particular attention to the commandments — to do unto others as I would have them do unto me — not to take God's name in vain.

Be realistic but faithful in a few things, until they become part of your consciousness. Then you can raise your sights and try to master a few more. The important thing is to work at them.

Too many people think that a combination of God and prayer is going to do the whole job. Like the two little girls who were late for school. As they ran along, one little girl panted: "Let's stop and pray." The other had a better idea. "Let's keep running and pray as we run."

We have to do our part!

Second Area: Social. Let me say straight off that if you are in any confusion on whether to butter your crackers, or which way to spoon your soup, the authority is Emily Post. Not me.

What I was intent on when I made out my little list were basic rules for getting along smoothly in the world around me.

I found quickly I couldn't go far wrong on the purely social side if I honestly tried to practice the Golden Rule. Now, the Golden Rule is not, as one teenager wrote on his exam: "That the man who finds gold first keeps all of it." It is: "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them." Or treat Joe the way you'd like him to treat you.

I'd say most good manners are just that one rule put into practice. We're not apt to slurp our soup in our neighbor's ear if we've considered how we'd feel if he returned the compliment.

'Twixt 12 And 20

At various times I asked myself questions based on Christ's Sermon on the Mount. Did I ever "turn the other cheek" in a fight or an argument? Was I ever a peacemaker? At first my answers weren't very satisfactory but they got better as I worked on my habits.

But there is a side to this social check that most of us teenagers overlook because it is completely new to us. It is our responsibility to the world in which we live; our duties as citizens and members of the community.

We can begin by doing the things our church suggests, definite things for our community, our nation, peoples all round the world. We can become active in the student government of our school. We can read a good newspaper and try to keep up with what's going on in the world nationally and internationally.

Current events are history in the making. They form the world we'll be taking over, for we are what they say we are, the citizens of tomorrow. But we are also citizens of today!

Third Area: Mental. Our mental progress naturally includes our scholastic aims and goals. In my opinion these should be as high as we honestly think our potential will stand!

Do I hear groans? Don't leave me yet. When I still thought being grown-up would mean doing as I pleased I intended to adopt the hobo's slogan when I got to that dream state: "Here's to de Holiday! Bless de hull t'ree hundred and sixty-five of 'em!"

I approached my first day of school with the idea of getting it all over with as quickly as possible and getting back to the "Holiday." When I came home from the first grade, so the family story goes, and Mama asked what they'd taught me, I replied: "Not very much. I have to go again."

So I went. And I went. In fact I've just finished going a short time ago. Walking into a fancy restaurant, ordering a big dinner, paying for it, and then walking out without eating it makes about that much sense as to go to school and then to want to get by with taking as little as possible, or to cut, or to play hookey, or fudge on exams, and think we're putting something over on the teachers.

One of the advantages our generation has is that the guy or gal who wants an education can get one.

Let's get this straight. I'm no great cheerleader for a lot of education - just - for - education's sake. I don't discourage that, but most of us will have our hands full just learning the things we need to know to be happy and successful.

But remember that many of us change our minds. Fellows who say they aren't even going to college because they want to be mechanics outgrow the hot-rod stage, decide to become lawyers, and, if they have set their high school educational sights too low, have to spend precious time catching up. Or a girl set on home-making doesn't acquire any job skills for the period before she marries . . . or brushes off college, maybe.

So, set your sights high, and list your interests and aims together with the grades you honestly think you can and should maintain. Then get to work.

Thinking means taking your knowledge and sifting it through your mind until you reach a conclusion or an opinion of your own based on facts, knowledge, observation, or experience. It doesn't necessarily mean you'll come to agree with someone else. It does mean you're beginning to have a considered reaction to what you learn. You are not a sheep following the flock any more.

They say you're never too old to do great things. Well, I say you're never too young, either.

At 13 Paul Smith of Salt Lake City became the youngest in the nation to hold an FCC license as a radio engineer. In 1957, at 19, he was a top disc-jockey in the same city.

The only woman licensed by the Scripps Institute of Oceanography in 1957 as a scientific skin diver was a 17-year-old pre-med student, Margot Hatcher of San Diego.

It was a high school student who recently managed a feat which had stumped commercial chemists: Sandra Davis of Evanston, Illinois synthesized perfumes from organic material.

We may not all do something so spectacular. We don't need to. There is something special, however, for each one of us. Four-H Clubs and Scouts do some wonderful, practical and artistic things individually and as a group. So do many other groups.

We never know what we can do until we try. Wouldn't you like to make the most of yourself? Why settle for less?

Give this one some real thought when you put it on your personal list. Be realistic. But don't sell yourself short, either!

Mr. and Mrs. Acts Have Fine New Team--Jones and Cassidy

MR. AND MRS. show teams have long been one of the standard forms of the variety field. We don't know exactly when it started but within our ken there have been such as Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, the Four Mortons (two were Mr. and Mrs of course). The Cohans, Blossom Seeley and Benny Fields, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy, more recently, and the just-theatrically-weds such as Lew Parker and Betty Kean, Phil Ford and Mimi Hines, Louis Prima and Keely Smith — and now Shirley Jones, star of the Todd-AO version of "Oklahoma" and others, and her husband, Jack Cassidy.

Shirley and Jack are currently at the Fontainebleau La Ronde Room, on the same bill with such tried and proven acts as The Vagabonds — the group with Eddie Peddie — and the dancing Szonys. Almost everybody knows the beauty of the terpsichorean art as practiced by Francois and Gizelle Szony, who, in addition to displaying the basic skill of ballet artists, excite with the dexterity of acrobats in lifts, split landings and spins. And the Vagabonds are an old story to Miami audiences for it was here that they started at a three-figure salary (for the four) and zoomed to the five-figured bracket in a half dozen years.

Peddie Makes Use of Free Rein

THE FORMAT of their act is the same here as in the past. Chief variance is that Peddie, in the comedy slot originally held by Pete Peterson, who has had his own group at the Tambourine Room of the Carillon Hotel, now has more freedom to be the talented lad he is on his own. Of course he does the Peterson bits in the routines where he is the foil for Dominick, Al and Tillio but he also makes solid contributions on his own.

Shirley Jones . . . a vision

Van Heflin . . . a visit

Buffy Dee . . . a victor

Shirley and Jack are a refreshing addition to the supper club show-ranks. There's a wholesome collection of song — delivered in better voice than most Mister and Mister couplings—spoofing impressions of some other famous singing teams, and the inevitable but well-done here gimmick of reprising the performers' past successes.

This last format allows Miss Jones, via a music box cue from Cassidy off-stage, to do her songs from "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel." Opener is a lyrical intro by Cassidy on how he met Miss Jones. The voices blend magnificently in some excerpts from "Porgy and Bess" and quite romantically in "I'm Loved."

For comedy there is a "Late, Late TV Movie" idea which allows them a spoof of musical movie teams, including Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler, Nelson Eddy and Jeannette MacDonald, and one that seemed suspiciously like a spoof of Pete Hayes and Mary Healy spoofing Nelson and Jeannette. The act has fine family appeal but may need at least one touch of the venal to get complete acceptance in the niteries where the pay is the highest. We mean Las Vegas, the Copa in New York and Chicago.

Dollar May Rise in Cuba

TIP-OFF is that the earnest search being made in the luggage of American gamblers leaving Cuba is for United States currency which may soon carry a premium in Cuba — via official devaluation of the peso. Devaluation would also cut the take of members of the Batista regime who exited with so much Cuban greenery! The Cuban peso, at par with the United States dollar in Cuba, was being traded at from 90 to 92 cents American here before the Castro government refused to sanction further conversions. In normal times the Cuban dollar was quoted at $1.01 on the exchange, but was usually 95 cents to seller, 97 to buyer.

Remember the Giovanni song and instrumental group which caused such a sensation at the Beau Rivage last season? Well, they've shifted to the Mona Lisa Room of the Eden Roc with equally sensational results audience-wise.

Buffy Dee's group (which plays with Carmen Cavallaro frequently) has caught the fancy of Victor Borge from Dee's podium in Harry's American Bar. Victor has been in several times between his chores at the Deauville Casanova Room.

Charlotte Husted opens her remodeled Beach Tower hotel-apartments on the Miami Beach oceanfront at 60th St. today, thus adding another bit of history to what was formerly the Tower Hotel. When it was first opened before World War II its $35 to $95-a-day rates were the area's highest.

Movie star Van Heflin and his wife check into the Dupont-Plaza Hotel on Thursday, Jan. 22, via National for a screening at the Mayfair of his latest Paramount picture, "Tempest," based on Alexander Pushkin's "The Captain's Daughter," and filmed by Dino Laurentiis, who also did "War and Peace." . . . Comedian Jay Lawrence added to Betty Grable bill opening at Latin Quarter next Thursday.

Titanic Disaster a Real Film Epic

'Night to Remember' Surely Will Be

By GEORGE BOURKE
Herald Amusement Editor

Movie Review

"A Night to Remember," at the Paramount, Coral and Colony Theaters, is a motion picture that will be long remembered for the manner in which it has dramatized cold fact, and given it the suspense and the excitement usually engendered only by fiction.

"A Night" is the J. Arthur Rank production of Walter Lord's minute-by-minute recapitulation of the happenings aboard H.M.S. Titanic on the night the "unsinkable" ship went down—on its maiden voyage.

It is not cluttered by any stereotyped boy-meet-girl plottage nor any they-went-that-away story gimmicks. With Kenneth More in the only full-scale role — that of the ship's third officer — a lengthy cast of British actors tells the night's happenings in episodic fashion.

Actually, it might be said that the ship herself is the heroine—the boastful heroine of whom it had been said she could never be sunk.

But the unforeseen happens—her side is ripped open by a gigantic iceberg. The bulkheads don't do the work they were intended to do and the ship is doomed.

Help lies 10 miles away in the S.S. California—but her wireless is off and the Titanic has little more than an hour to live.

The various reactions of the decision to die in dignity or live at any price are dramatically pictured by director Roy Baker. It is an inspiring matter more often than it is unpleasant.

Photography is black and white, which has been given a tintype lighting in many instances the better to splice it to some library shots.

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Irksome Revelations

CONSIDERING the trend of recent years, by which the great, near-great, and their relatives write magazine articles and books boasting of how they have been dope fiends, alcoholics, shoplifters and sex maniacs, I realize I've had the wrong slant on such activities.

When my son is old enough to be a delinquent, I won't follow my inclination to invite him to the woodshed.

Instead, on hearing that he stole a car, broke into a house, robbed a bank and beat up a cop, all while drunk and on opium, I will pat him on the back and say:

"Good going, kid. That should make good reading when you write your autobiography."

★ ★ ★

NOW, PLEASE, my literal minded readers, don't take me too seriously. I really wouldn't say that to him unless he promised me a share of the royalties.

★ ★ ★

IN ST. LOUIS, the city health commissioner has opened a campaign to eliminate the pigeons that speckle that fair town.

As part of his strategy, the commissioner is going to put out grain and bread soaked in alcohol. The idea is that the pigeons will get looped and pass out, at which the commissioner will cart them away.

Ralph Gardner, Delray Beach, writes: "It won't work. Pigeons are smart. Within a couple of weeks, they'll all join the AA."

MAYBE THE HEALTH commissioner's idea won't work, but I'm in full sympathy with his drive. Pigeons are a nasty nuisance when they get too numerous, which they usually are.

I WAS WEEPING in my whiskers the other day about the anonymous lady who saw the ad in which Jose Figueroa, 2134 Coral Way, offered $100 reward for return of his lost wallet. She called Mr. Figueroa, said she had found his wallet and would turn it over to me. Since I never saw either the lady or the wallet, I was moaning that I had been put in a terrible spot and that Mr. Figueroa probably would spend the rest of his life suspecting me of grand larceny.

Well, I never did hear from the lady, but Mr. Figueroa has written me a nice note, saying that he isn't holding me to blame for what the anonymous lady said, and this is a load off my mind.

Incidentally, Mr. Figueroa says he has had several other anonymous calls in which people claimed they had found his wallet. But it still hasn't been returned to him.

What kind of quirk causes folks to make calls like that? Lots of people who think they are practical jokers are not jokers, but jackasses.

AFTER OUR MENTION of a song called Lakawana (which I said sounded more like a railroad than a song) George F. Silvia, Fort Lauderdale, wrote that he remembered the song well, as one sung around 1908 in early movie houses, with color slides. He recalled that the chorus started like this:

Lakawana on my honor,
I'll take care of you.
We will bill and coo,
We'll build a wigam----"

The rest of it escaped him. But we thought that was enough to wrap up the Lakawana Indian love song in fine shape, and were ready to so report to our Old Songs and Poems Musical and Literary Society when we got a postcard from Mr. Silvia, obviously scribbled in haste.

"Correction!" he wrote. "The song I wrote about was Arra-Wana, not Lakawana."

So here we are with part of the chorus of Arra-Wana, which we never heard of, and nothing on Lakawana, which I still think may be a railroad.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE from Paul Hartwell, 15945 Miami Dr., North Miami Beach: "You often mention towns and sections with unusual names, but have never mentioned one from your own backyard. Some years ago, when I lived in Cushing, Okla., there was a section of town west of the Katy tracks and north of the ball park known as Ignorant Hill."

Now, how in the world did a name like that ever get in a place like Oklahoma? It was probably named by some Yankee.

Kids to Test The Big Top

They've got cages and they've got tents, but Cristiani Bros. circus officials fear not even their canvas Big Top will be able to contain the clamor of 18,000 Greater Miami youngsters this weekend.

The kids, members of Jim Dooley's Fishing Club, will be the circus' largest block of guests to date. The 10-day show ends Sunday.

Jack Kofoed Says

We Can't Overlook The Road We're On

THE ROMAN EMPIRE, at the height of her power, was the richest, strongest nation in the world. Then, decay set in. Bit by bit Rome's strength slipped away, and within 300 years nothing was left of her glory.

Will Durant wrote: "A great civilization is not destroyed without until it has destroyed itself within. The essential causes of Rome's decline lay in her peoples, her morals, her class struggle, her failing trade, her bureaucratic despotism, her stifling taxes, her consuming wars."

In the maddening pace of living today we overlook the obvious fact that America has set her feet on the same tragic highway Rome trod.

Our manners and morals . . . both private and public . . . grow shabbier. The class struggle is more immeasurable than the Caesars ever dreamed of.

Within a little more than 30 years we engaged in three bloody wars, and the cold and bloodless one of today chews on our assets, if not the bodies of our young men.

The federal government grows increasingly bureaucratic, and each year taxes become more stifling. All the ills which beset Rome are with us.

Symptoms are plain; diagnosis inescapable. Unless we change, America will go the way Rome went, and because man moves so much faster now, it may not take 300 years.

NOTRE DAME IS likely to regain her place in the football sun. Not because Coach Terry Brennan was fired and replaced by Joe Kuharik. A coach can't work miracles with poor material. But, listed among the potential stars of coming years are Gorzalanczyk, Zmarcly, Bonofiglio and Buscanaconti. In the days of her greatest glory Notre Dame . . . heaven help the poor sports writer! . . . was loaded with players bearing such jaw breaking names. How can she miss now?

THE BEN DUNMAN school in Mullens, W. Va., has been bitten by the theatrical bug. Probably the reason lies in a teacher named Frederick H. Santon. Santon and his students plan to produce a "Ziegfeld Follies."

The teacher, who is a young man of initiative, wrote to Lou Walters, whose "Ziegfeld Follies" are at the Carillon, asking if it would be possible to get discarded costumes, or even scraps of feathers and lace.

That hit Lou in his softest sentimental spot. He called a costumer in New York, and the dreamy young thespians will be loaned stuff that will dazzle Mullens.

JIMMY BURNS related an incident concerning an Oklahoma football player who took his date to see a show at a swank hotel. They sipped one cocktail and one coke, were presented with a bill for $20. This seems to gripe some people. I don't know why it should.

The hotel presents a show, which costs in the neighborhood of $20,000 a week. Unlike Las Vegas, or Miami of the old days, such expenditures cannot be absorbed by the gambling casino.

It must come out of the food and beverages served prior to and during two evening performances.

A card on each table specifically states the minimum charge, and it is to be assumed the college boy can read.

If everybody watching the performance bought no more than one drink each, the hotel could go broke in a couple of blinks of a mascaraed eyelash.

Night clubs are expensive luxuries. Over the course of a year any top act you can name makes more money than the President of the United States.

Bolster this with subordinate performers, bands, waiters, captains, chefs, and the cost of producing a show is prodigious.

WHEN CASTRO'S men surged into Havana and Batista took it on the lam, I publicly wondered what had happened to my friend, Tom Winter, who operates a taxi from in front of the Seville-Biltmore Hotel.

Tom answered that with a letter: "I took some newspapermen to the airport to meet the new president. One of them gave me a Miami Herald, and I turned first of all to your column. It was the dearest gift I've ever had when I saw you were thinking of me in that precarious moment. A little later I was down at the docks when soldiers started shooting at a car not 10 feet from mine. Bullets went through my left rear fender, sliced my raincoat and lodged in the spare tire. So, I called it a day and went home. Things are normal now."

I never visit Havana without looking up Tom Winter. He's one of the nicest hackies I've ever met.

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF:

It was like Old Home Week at Miami jai alai the other evening with people like "Slapsy Maxie" Rosenbloom, Diosa Costello, Don Casino, Guy Rennie, Victor Muzii and others popping in. Guy says he recently made the worst business deal of his career. He bought 10,000 Batista buttons to sell in Havana, and wonders where he'll find customers. Why not try Ciudad Trujillo?

No doubt the International Boxing Club, which the Supreme Court dissolved, was a monopoly.

So is professional baseball, but the nine old men said that was all right. How come? Looks like what's right for the goose isn't all right for the gander.

'Host' Ignores Losers Batista and Peron

Three's Crowd to Trujillo

By PEGGE PARKER
Herald Special Writer

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Three is a crowd, an unwanted, uncomfortable crowd.

Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo and his two deposed colleagues, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and Juan Peron of Argentina, have agreed to ignore each other.

They live within a few blocks of each other here, but they have not met. They don't want to meet.

Their relationship is icily formal. And it is as clear as the blue waters of the Caribbean which surround this dictatorship paradise that any untoward delay in the departure of Batista's 150 refugees will be met with, "Here's your sombrero, what's your hurry?"

Batista is keeping himself occupied these days with a depressing mixture of memories and regrets. He has broken the silence of his gloomy meditations only once, releasing a statement Wednesday that he was "forced" to flee because he was short of arms.

Written law for granting asylum, plus the gentleman's agreement among Latin American bosses (who never know who will be next), was sufficient assurance for Batista to fly here in wildest haste.

But as an American businessman here put it: "Trujillo does business only with winners, even if he hates their guts. He has already recognized Castro and wants no political identity with Batista, his party, or his hangers-on."

Although Trujillo set up Batista with a plush ultra-modern bungalow next door to his own castle-in-Spain-style Foreign Office, he has snubbed him completely. Trujillo has made no "courtesy gestures" whatsoever.

And from the beginning the Cuban leader has been paying all his own bills.

Presumably, this is the least of Batista's worries. Rumor holds that he carted off upward of 50 million dollars on the plane ride from Havana alone.

Warning on Budget Pleas to Congress

Don't Bypass Ike, Secret Note Says

It Aims At Defense Officials

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's budget chief has warned defense officials against going over the President's head and asking Congress for more military funds than the new budget provides.

The edict was laid down in a secret memo which Budget Director Maurice H. Stans sent two weeks ago to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. It ruled out both public and secret bids to Congress for more money.

While the memo did not threaten any reprisals if the order was disobeyed, it said "executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations."

The memorandum was made public at a time when many Democrats were complaining that the President's new defense budget was sacrificing national security in favor of a balanced budget.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 31, fell into the hands of Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D. Pa.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee who made it available to United Press International.

Flood denounced Stans' directive as a "shocking" attempt to impose a "gag-rule" on defense witnesses.

He called for an immediate inquiry into what he termed this "latest affront" to congressional dignity.

"What kind of groveling, heel-clicking faceless wonders will this memorandum make of Defense Department witnesses before the armed services and appropriations committees of the Congress?" Flood demanded.

"It is a sham and a fraud to say that this memorandum is other than a deliberately-intended threat and gag to witnesses. It is what the letter leaves unsaid that is the true evil! The Sword of Damocles indeed . . . in this atmosphere, Machiavelli would be a rank amateur."

The Stans memorandum said in part:

"It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record."

The memo said direct congressional questions must be answered frankly. But it said any witness "who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget" should point out that Eisenhower's decision was reached "from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of over-riding national policy."

Ike Against Stiffening Integration

Says Voting Rights More Important

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected the idea of new federal legislation to enforce public school integration. He said it was more important for the new Congresss to strengthen Negro voting rights.

Eisenhower made the statement during an unprecedented 50-minute question-and-answer session with more than 500 members of the National Press Club which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The President said that once the right to vote is firmly guaranteed by federal law, state and local voters would solve the school problem and insure the "proper observance of their other rights."

Eisenhower described as "tragic" the fact that public schools were shut down in some areas to avoid compliance with Federal Court integration orders. He said the image of America was being damaged overseas because thousands of children were being deprived of their rightful education.

The President also covered these subjects:

FEDERAL ECONOMY — A balanced budget and stabilized cost of living would increase chances for tax relief. However, he is not thinking in terms of personal income tax cuts in 1960. He warned special pressure groups to lay off demands for heavy federal spending in their areas.

POLITICS — He will take a hand in the selection of a 1960 Republican presidential nominee if the front-runner turns out to be a man whose basic philosophy clashes with his. He said there were at least a dozen "fine virile men in the Republican Party I could gladly support."

MISSILES — Russia undoubtedly is ahead of the U.S. in some phases of rocket development and it would be "stupid" to assume otherwise. But U.S. scientists have made "very remarkable progress" in a comparatively short time. He has the fullest confidence in the "balanced" American approach to defense.

RUSSIA — Eisenhower would welcome more visits like that of Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. On the Wall Street 'Howdies' Mikoyan

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Kremlin finally shook hands Wednesday with Wall Street — its ancient capitalist whipping boy — as Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan lunched with some of America's top financiers.

In a highlight of his visit to this country, Mikoyan walked into the City Bank Farmers Trust Co. building at 22 William St. as luncheon guest of banking representatives.

Police lines were posted in the famed financial district to keep the curious at a distance.

About 10 anti-Communist pickets, headed by their leader, Bela Fabian, handed out leaflets in the area. As Mikoyan emerged after lunch, they shouted: "Red butcher, Red butcher . . . murderer, murderer, murderer."

Fabian, head of a Hungarian refugee group, has announced that he has 1,000 pickets ready to harass Mikoyan during the Soviet official's two-day visit here. Tuesday night, however, he gathered only about 20 for Mikoyan's arrival at Idlewild Airport, and in Wall Street mustered only half that number.

New York City has assigned some 500 police to keep demonstrators in hand, in a display of security unmatched except for visits here of the President of the U.S.

Meanwhile, back in Moscow, a radio commentator, ignoring past picket incidents, lauded the warmth and friendliness of Mikoyan's reception here. The broadcaster said it proved "how much the people of our two countries want to live in peace with each other and how alien to them is the cold war."

Added the commentator: "There are no differences between Americans and Russians that could cause us to fight each other."

Earlier in the day, Mikoyan visited one of the citadels of America's retail sales industry — Macy's giant department store at 34th St. and Broadway.

There, with the wide-eyed interest of a country boy on his first trip to town, Mikoyan spent more than an hour examining a complex display of merchandise — and violating the ancient injunction of the trade against fingering the goods.

"He went around feeling even leather," said Macy's board chairman, Jack I. Straus.

Synthetics and lightweight furniture drew Mikoyan's particular attention, and Straus told newsmen:

"He said that in Russia they're getting rid of heavy furniture. He commented that we had a much larger assortment of [illegible] than they carry in Moscow's G U M. (Russia's leading department store)."

At a reception afterward, Mikoyan told Straus through an interpreter:

Herald Expands Press Facilities

Six high-speed newspaper presses soon will thunder out another tribute to Miami's dynamic population progress.

They are being installed by The Miami Herald in a new auxiliary building in the city's northwest section.

The equipment will bridge the gap pending completion of The Herald's new 20-million-dollar building which will rise between Venetian and MacArthur causeways on Biscayne Bay.

Plans for the big central building call for 59 presses.

"But our circulation growth has been so rapid that we cannot wait for completion of the new plant," Knight pointed out.

The extra equipment will mark a sharp jump in printing capacity over The Herald's current 32 units in operation at the present downtown location.

The auxiliary plant will remain in operation even after opening of the new building, the general manager said.

"The equipment will enable the paper to solve many production problems which have developed in our circulation growth," he explained. It probably will be used to produce The Herald's state editions and possibly some of its suburban issues.

The auxiliary building fronts on NW 24th Ave. at 23rd St. Its 21,000 square feet will provide space for 24 units if needed, and will house complete wrapping, bundling and mailing equipment.

Gearing to meet the challenge of South Florida's dramatic growth, The Herald already had acquired warehouse facilities across the Seaboard Airline tracks from the new

Panama Stands Pat On 12-Mile Limit

PANAMA CITY, Panama — (AP) — The National Assembly unanimously rejected a U.S. request for reconsideration of its law extending Panama's territorial waters. The extension to 12 miles boxes in the Panama Canal entrances.

An assembly resolution asked friendly nations to support the extension from the previous three-mile limit. The law passed last month promised free passage to innocent shipping.

During a debate on the U.S. request, former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd called for Panama to receive half of the gross revenue from the canal, which is operated by the U.S. under long-term treaty.

Boyd, who has presidential ambitions, asserted that the U.S. makes 100 million dollars from the canal while paying Panama only $1,900,000 a year. He said Panama was not seeking a voice in canal administration but considered half of the total income as its fair share.

The Panama Canal Co. reported that in the year ending July 1 it collected nearly 43 million dollars in tolls and made a net profit of $2,656,000. The U.S. pays Panama $1,930,000 a year for use of the 10-mile-wide canal strip, which includes three miles of the water off each end.

Foreign Relations Committee Backs Dulles on Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won firm backing from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday for his insistence on the right of Western Allies to keep their troops in Berlin.

A resolution supporting this stand was informally approved during a closed-door briefing by Dulles on the international situation. The resolution also backs Dulles' insistence on maintaining free access to the city inside Communist-dominated East Germany.

Dulles called on the American people to face up to years "full of danger" with self-sacrifice and self-discipline.

"We shall need the national will to stand firm in the face of the aggressive threats and probings from the Sino-Soviet bloc," he said.

Formal action on the resolution, aimed at voicing the committee's sentiment in advance of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's talks this weekend with President Eisenhower and Dulles, was held up pending further discussion.

Dulles told the committee the need for "austerity and sacrifice" may continue for generations.

"We may face a period even harder than we have become used to," he said.

The secretary, declared:

"The price of failure would be the destruction of all our national objectives . . . We must press on with courage to build surer foundations for the interdependent world community of which we are a part.

"This will call for austerity and sacrifice on the part of all."

Dulles told the committee U. S. foreign policy has three basic purposes: To block aggressive force, to promote human dignity and freedom and to stimulate economic growth and inter-dependence.

"These goals are not attainable in a few years, but will require decades and perhaps even generations."

Dulles said the primary threat is the rapid economic and industrial growth of Red China and the Soviet bloc through forced labor.

The U.S. must stand firm in the face of Communist threats and probings, he said, and make "whatever unusual sacrifices may be necessary."

Allies Pledge to Act at Once

West Assures Soviet On A-Control Posts

GENEVA — (UPI) — The U.S. and Britain promised Russia Wednesday they will permit installation of nuclear control posts on their territory as soon as an East-West treaty to ban atomic tests is signed.

The assurance was made by U.S. and British delegates during an hour-and-20-minute session of the three-power nuclear conference.

The Western pledge was an attempt to allay apparent Soviet fears that the U.S. and Britain might sidestep accepting a control post network on their soil until posts had been set up in other countries.

In London, meanwhile, authoritative sources said the U.S. and Britain had dispatched identical notes to Moscow Wednesday expressing their readiness to resume the East-West conference on prevention of surprise attacks.

But the Western notes said the scope and agenda of the talks should be firmly determined in advance, the sources said.

The sources said France, Italy and Canada, which had participated on the Western side in the earlier phase on the 10-nation talks in Geneva, backed the Anglo-American stand.

The surprise-attack conference had broken up Dec. 18 without even succeeding in approving an agenda. The Russians in notes earlier this week had called for resumption of the talks today — a target date which the West felt it was physically impossible to meet.

Nice Today, Cold Later

A cold spell should hit Miami by the end of this week, the weatherman said Wednesday.

"It's too early to give any details," Forecaster Leonard Pardue said. "But it should hit us by the weekend."

Meanwhile, weather today will be much like Wednesday's, Pardue said.

"It'll get down into the low 50s in some sections, with an afternoon high in the mid-70s," he said.

Variable five - to - 15 - mile - an-hour winds "will favor fishermen," he added.

You Can Have an Ulcer!

Yes, with a little effort, a little extra perspiring and worry, you can be one of those extra-special persons who have an ulcer. People with ulcers, you know, are possessed of the stuff that lifts them above the flock.

ULCER

People look up to you when you have an ulcer. (Or so it may seem to you if you get one). Some ulcer sufferers develop a strange sort of pride knowing their ulcer puts them in pretty fast company.

But, alas, ulcers don't necessarily confer business success on their victims. And sometimes a neglected ulcer, tired of being taken for granted, will rise up and belt its owner flat on his back, like so:

When you have Old Mr. Ulcer licked, you will have had an experience much like the one Herbert Kamm, a New York newspaper editor and an ulcer conqueror as well, tells about in his book, "You Can Have an Ulcer, Too."

A five-part serialization of his interesting and entertaining book begins coming your way in Sunday's edition of The Miami Herald

Cuba Going Ahead With Execution of Batista 'Criminals'

HAVANA —(AP)— Cuba's provisional government appeared determined Wednesday to continue executing Batistans adjudged war criminals, regardless of what the world thinks. Revolutionary tribunals moved swiftly to bring more suspects to trial.

Estimates of the number jailed in the island nation's six provinces swelled from 4,000 to 6,000. Suspects are still being hunted down. Perhaps 5,000 or more remain at large. Some are accused of acting as informers, others of a variety of misdeeds.

Fidel Castro, the civil war victor who now heads the Cuban armed forces, has recommended long terms at hard labor for those convicted of lesser crimes. He reiterated Tuesday night that murderers and traitors must die.

He ordered tribunals to speed the trials. His topflight commanders backed him up.

Castro and other Cubans contend that Cuba has as much right to exterminate war criminals as the Allies had in condemning Nazi leaders at the Nuernberg trials after World War II.

There is evidence of a growing irritation among Cubans over world criticism of the executions, particularly from the U. S.

Cuba's man-in-the-street said the critics failed to condemn atrocities under the dictatorship and that U. S. arms supplied to Batista had contributed to the killing of hundreds of innocent civilians. The U. S. arms shipments were suspended last spring.

It looked for a while early Wednesday as if the revolutionists were relenting.

John J. Skelly, a newsman from Washington accredited at the foreign ministry to distribute government statements to foreign correspondents, gave news agencies a statement saying the provisional government had ordered a suspension of the executions.

Skelly said the statement was authorized by Carlos Franqui, press coordinator at the Presidential Palace and director of the newspaper Revolucion, an organ of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Franqui was quoted as saying the suspension was ordered after Castro conferred Tuesday night with Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and a presidential secretary, Louis Zuch.

But key points in the statement were denied later by the presidential secretariat and by Franqui.

Reporters assigned to the Presidential Palace were told executions in fact are continuing in accordance with due process of law and Castro and Urrutia did not meet Tuesday.

The presidential secretariat said further that additional publicity will be given the processes of revolutionary justice, which at times have been marked by secrecy.

It said both Cuban and foreign newsmen will be invited to watch the trials and names of all persons executed will be published, along with the charges on which they were convicted.

Franqui told the Associated Press there was no suspension, but time was taken out to arrange for newsmen and television crews to be on hand for future trials. He said distribution of the statement was due to an obvious misunderstanding by Skelly.

Dirksen Raps HST For Lag

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Illinois) charged Wednesday that "the Truman administration's failure and neglect" put this country behind Russia in missile development.

Since President Eisenhower took control of the White House six years ago, Dirksen said, "we have made amazing strides in the missile field of which all can be proud."

Dirksen, in a speech on the Senate floor, challenged Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.) concede this. Symington was Air Force secretary and chairman of the National Security Resources Board under Truman.

Dirksen made his challenge in reply to Symington's attack last Monday in which he charged that Vice President Richard M. Nixon said the U.S. was ahead of the Soviet Union in ballistic missiles. Symington said this simply was not true.

Friends said later that Nixon's position had been misrepresented — that he conceded the U.S. lagged in some aspects of missile development but felt it was ahead in overall military strength and would close the missile gap at a fairly rapid pace.

Symington said he would study Dirksen's changes and answer them next week. But meanwhile, he said, Nixon should speak for himself in the growing debate over U.S.-Soviet missile strength.

Dirksen urged Symington to call off his announced intention to disclose comparative American and Soviet percentages of intercontinental ballistic missile strength estimated to be on hand at the end of this year and in 1961.

Symington did not say whether he would do so. But he said he did not start the debate on comparative missile strengths.

"It was created by the vice president," he said. "I hope that he will now issue a statement for himself."

auxiliary building. The warehouse added storage space for 7,500 tons of newsprint. The facilities will be served by their own railroad sidings along Seaboard's main line.

Miami and The Miami Herald have marched forward hand in hand in South Florida's vibrant growth pattern.

Florida's population has ballooned 60 per cent since 1950, with Dade scoring the largest numerical gain. The county numbers more than 860,000, which is 350,000 more than in 1950. Experts predict between 1¼ and 1½ million residents by 1965.

The Herald became the first Florida paper to break the 400,000 circulation barrier in 1958, scoring a paid Sunday distribution of 414,656 the last Sunday in February.

Daily circulation has swelled from 175,985 in 1950 to an average of 302,264 for the six-month period ended last March 31. Sunday circulation has skyrocketed from 203,716 to a six-month average of 366,581.

The advertising barometer shows the area's progress, too, placing The Herald out front in the nation in weekday advertising and second only to The Los Angeles Times in daily and Sunday totals.

The site of the new bayfront building is being cleared of all existing buildings, Knight said. Meanwhile, plans are being completed preparatory to breaking ground.

Committees Beefed Up By Senate

18 Seats Added To Top Groups

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate gave speedy approval Wednesday to expansion of its major legislative committees by addition of 18 seats.

The move by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is expected to provide at least one choice committee spot for most of the 18 new senators — 15 Democrats and three Republicans.

Approval of the committee revision was by voice vote, although Dirksen questioned addition of four more places on the powerful appropriations committee, from 23 to 27.

Dirksen said the appropriations committee shift would mean an 18-0 advantage for Democrats on the group that will figure so largely in President Eisenhower's fight to balance the budget.

Five former 15-member committees were increased to 17— agriculture, armed services, finance, foreign relations and commerce. On these Democrats will have an 11-6 margin.

The labor and public works committees were expanded from 13 to 15 and Democrats will have a 10-5 ratio on them.

The government operations, post office and civil service committees were reduced from 13 to nine and the District of Columbia committee from nine to seven.

Committees with total membership unchanged include space, banking, interior and judiciary with 15 members and rules with nine.

She has personally inspected the penthouse suite of the Hotel El Embajador twice. Ordinarily it rents for $400 a day.

The hotel manager said he would be pleased to extend a diplomatic discount and charge a mere $300 a day — without food. Madame smiled, sipped a cup of tea and went away.

It has now been learned that the Batista party will move next week into a semi-luxury hotel, also near the sea, where the bill is $35 a day, plus food.

Batista followers have turned the La Paz Hotel lobby into a milling, thronged madhouse of noise and shrill Spanish babble. Juke boxes juke all day long and American-imported slot machines are cranked from dusk to dawn.

And in the same hotel lives Argentina's famed ex. Juan Peron, his pretty secretary and two poodles. He maintains a deaf-dumb-blind attitude toward the entire Cuban situation.

He too is paying his own way, although life these days affords few, if any, flings and parties.

The local cocktail gossip insists Peron is broke, that Evita salted away the chips in Switzerland in her own name and died without a will.

At any rate, Peron's favorite pastime is pushing a basket around an American-style supermarket called "Wimpy's."

He is the most popular customer in the supermarket. He kids all the girls, drinks coffee at the soda counter, and buys loads of expensive imported foods and lots of steak at a dollar a pound.

Formal Without Pants?

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — Somewhere there is a Floridian who truly lost his pants—two pair of them, formal dress.

BOYLES

He may be a legislator, lobbyist or a reporter. The gentleman surely has some plain o l d ordinary street clothes, or we would have heard of an arrest for indecent exposure by now.

The trousers have seen a lot of mileage, but probably could weather a few more cocktail parties and political wingdings.

We first discovered them in our office during the 1957 legislative session, and we assumed the owner had just temporarily borrowed hanger space. But throughout the special session on constitutional revision that immediately followed the regular assembly he never turned up.

There is one marking — M-2754101—that might identify the man who lost his pants. He is a slim Jim. They are narrow-waisted, 29 inches. If they belong to a young fellow who as a freshman lawmaker two years ago he may be too big for them after making the banquet circuit.

And if he lost his pants, politically and literally speaking at the polls, he won't be back this spring.

The janitor has treated the midnight black flannels with respect, painstakingly moving them out of the way when he dusts the room. We're tired of looking at them.

Since the last legislative session we've had many callers in The Herald bureau and we've made it a point to query them in search of the man who left his britches.

Our visitors and our colleagues in the press corps have volunteered the names of possible owners, with aside comments. None of the suggestions was helpful.

Now, lest you have the wrong impression, some of our lawmakers and legislative observers are natty dressers. When the occasion is formal they meet the demands of the hour. Others always go informal, and some may leave a little stiffer than they came.

In fact, we know one fellow who wears loud wool shirts, regardless of the level of the party. We've never asked him about the pants for evening wear—because he reportedly thinks a cummerbund is a South American bird.

Polk Prepares

THE POLK County legislative delegation—that is Sen. Scott Kelly and Reps. Ben Hill Griffin Jr.; Ray Mattox and Lawton M. Chiles Jr. —Initiated the social season preliminary to the opening of the legislative session in April.

They will hold a dinner in the capital Wednesday night, honoring the joint Senate and House Appropriations Committee, and the Cabinet.

The delegation apparently is hopeful of working out a plan to finance construction of a building for the Central Florida district appellate court at Lakeland. A bill to appropriate $500,000 in 1957 was vetoed.

Orlando, competing with Lakeland in the 1957 session as the site of the court, proposed the court be located in the new state office building at Winter Park.

But former Polk County Rep. Roy Surles and his colleagues shoved the Lakeland bill through the Legislature. It was a hot battle between the Polk and Orange solons and if a request is made to the budget committee for funds to erect a new courthouse the Orange countians may renew the fight.

Not The Scale

THERE IS strong feeling among Florida State University boosters that the Board of Control, which governs the state's university system, ought to have enabled FSU to put Coach Tom Nugent on the same $17,000 salary basis as University of Florida Coach Bob Woodruff to keep Nugent from going to Maryland.

They reason that Nugent, who did an excellent job in building FSU football, was a super-salesman for the state of Florida as well. And they have a point.

Wrecking Crews Pick Up Cars After Seaboard Wreck
. . . eight of 12 cars of Seaboard Palmland spilled at Polk City

12 Persons Are Injured In Seaboard Derailment

POLK CITY, Fla. —(UPI) —Sleeping passengers were hurled from their berths as eight cars of a seaboard railroad passenger train jumped the track early Wednesday.

The State Patrol said 12 of the 23 passengers and five crewmen aboard the Miami to Jacksonville train were injured. Only nine required treatment, and only seven were hospitalized.

Among those hospitalized were two children and the 70-year-old conductor, who was the most seriously hurt.

The railroad said the train jumped a broken rail joint at about 2 a.m. in a wooded area north of Polk City. Officials said indications were the rail might have broken after the engine crossed it.

The engine was not derailed.

Three of the express cars overturned. Two hurtled down an embankment into a ditch and one landed on its side across a rural road. The rest of the cars remained upright, although several teetered on the edge of the ditch. Wheels were torn off and track was ripped up.

"We were lucky our car didn't turnover," said Conductor James H. Granger, 70, of Waldo. Granger was in the smoker whenhe left a "tremendous jar." He said most of the people in berths were thrown out.

Granger, who planned to retire next month after 47 years with the railroad, was hospitalized in fair condition with chest and head injuries.

She said she was awake in her seat and her child was sleeping on the seat in front of her. She said she caught the baby as they were hurled to the floor.

"A big fellow fell on top of me. He almost killed me," she said. She said the car was tilted at a steep angle, but she stayed in it for an hour, until help came.

Passengers routed into the cool morning air built fires along the embankment to keep warm.

Granger and Mrs. Arocho and her child were three of those hospitalized, all at Winter Haven. The others were a Negro porter, Harrington Chandler, 47, of Starke; Blanche McCubbin, 54, Miami, a passenger; Mrs. James Lidnzey of Troy, Ala., and her two-month-old baby, Theresa, both held for observation, also passengers.

None were hurt seriously, except Granger.

Wrecker crewscleared the tracks for traffic Wednesday. Trains were from one to three and a half hours late between Miami and Jacksonville Wednesday, but were on normal schedules Wednesday night.

Georgia Academy Loss Light

Riverside Cadets Hit By 2nd Blaze in Week

HOLLYWOOD — Fire struck at Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, Ga., Wednesday morning, but it was nothing like the $200,000 blaze that forced the school to close up winter quarters here last week.

The blaze was discovered at 11 a.m. in the junior barracks, which houses about 150 of the academy's 750 cadets.

"It apparently started in the ceiling and damaged a wall and the roof," Phillips said. "We were lucky. In three minutes the fire might have really been serious."

Earlier Associated Press reports of extensive damage were scoffed at by Col. J. L. Beaver, superintendent of the academy.

"The two boys who lived in the room didn't lose a single belonging," he told The Herald by telephone.

Firemen from four cities battled the Hollywood fire Jan. 5 for two hours. It was the worst fire here in 10 years. Firemen said the cause was probably careless smoking by a cadet.

City building inspectors have recommended the 35-year-old former luxury hotel be torn down. No one was in the Gainesville barracks when the fire was reported, Col. Beaver said. Cadets were all in class.

Teamsters, PAA Hold Cape Talks

CAPE CANAVERAL —(AP)— A Teamster Union official and a company representative met behind closed doors Wednesday to discuss grievances lodged by 200 Pan American stock clerks employed at the missile test center.

The results of the session were not announced, but it was learned that Teamster organizer J. W. Morgan of Miami planned to meet with the clerks today.

The Teamsters, who hope to organize some of the nation's missile workers, were called in by the clerks to help settle their overtime dispute, Morgan said.

The clerks are not now affiliated with a union but will vote soon throughout the entire Pan American system on whether to accept the Teamsters.

Morgan met with Pan American Administrative Manager Charles Fleming, but neither were available for comment afterward.

'Living' Room Is Red Goal

Special To The Herald

ST. PETERSBURG — The frustrated ambition of the average Russian is to get a home big enough to "live" in, a Florida newsman just back from the USSR declared Wednesday.

McDERMOTT

John B. McDermott, Miami Herald political writer, said this is a motivating force behind the all-out national effort to fulfill the Soviet Union's new Seven-Year Plan.

McDermott told a meeting of the Contractors and Builders Association of Pinellas County how Russian families live crowded together in one or two room apartments, sharing a kitchen with other families.

"If they have bathing facilities at all, chances are they must go down the street to a communal bathroom," he said.

The newsman told of the tremendous building program which is apparent at every turn in Russia.

"But the buildings are like giant cheese boxes, constructed without any effort toward eye-appeal — just mammoth structures in which to jam people," he said.

"There is no such a thing as a private residence in Moscow. Everybody lives in a cramped apartment."

Welfare Recovery Act Urged

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — State Rep. Cliff Herrell revealed Wednesday he plans to introduce a welfare recovery bill—always a hotly contested legislative issue—in the 1959 session.

The Dade County lawmaker said "We can't continue to throw our arms wide open and tell people to come and live in the sun if they are not able to take care of themselves."

The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee noted Welfare Department requests for the next two years total nearly 219 million dollars, up 60 million dollars the current biennium.

Herrell said he will propose legislation to enable the Welfare Department to recover money it has paid in assistance from the estate of deceased recipients after their property is no longer used as their homestead.

Attending hearings on state agencies' budgets, Herrell asserted "We have got to make reductions or obtain reimbursement for state expenditures, wherever possible. Our welfare costs are staggering."

Herrell said he believed such a law would cut down the number of cases in which there are welfare recipients with adult children who are financially able to support their parents.

He said there are cases in old-age assistance where when, after the parent, or parents, have died relatives living out-of-state reap benefits through sale of their home.

"I think the state of Florida ought to be able to get something back, if at all possible. I realize it is an unpopular proposal in many quarters, but I think that is because the purpose of a recovery act is misinterpreted.

"It isn't strictly a lien law," Herrell said, "because as long as any dependent survivor of the former welfare recipient uses the property as a homestead it would be exempt from any claim by the state."

Previous efforts to push through a law enabling the state to recover assistance payments from an estate have failed to make headway in the Legislature.

Gov. LeRoy Collins has consistently opposed such a law on the ground that a destitute citizen's home should not be subject to a lien for welfare aid.

'Extra' Expenses Put Under Study

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— A key legislator said Tuesday the costs of Florida's public school program may get out of hand with expenses mounting "at both ends and the middle."

Wilson Carraway, Tallahassee banker who will be chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he considered the state's primary duty was to support the regular elementary and high school educational programs.

Wilson Carraway

He asked for cost breakdowns on other parts of the educational program, such as kindergartens, adult education, summer recreation programs, and special education for retarded and exceptional children.

Carraway and other members of Senate and House appropriations committees questioned School Superintendent Thomas Bailey during hearings on budget requests of state agencies for the next biennium. The Legislature will be appropriating money when it meets in April and May.

Bailey reminded the legislators the object of the state minimum foundation program was to guarantee every child in Florida an adequate education, no matter whether he happened to be going to school in a poor or a rich county.

Aid the state gives to counties under the minimum foundation program varies widely in proportion to the ability of the county to pay, Bailey said.

"I know you as legislators don't live to levy taxes," Bailey said, "but I believe the only way to get everyone in the state to help support schools is through the state taxing machinery.

"Any of you who condemn schools to the local property taxes would be condemning them to mediocre programs," he said.

The State Department of Education has asked nearly 31 million dollars to help counties build new schools in biennium starting July 1.

This would be a continuation of a program, started two years ago, with a 23 million dollar appropriation. To get the state funds, counties must match the money, but the 1957 Legislature helped by voting to give them 18 million dollars a year from sales tax income.

Legislators tossed numerous questions at Bailey about workings of the state education program.

Bailey said many school teachers had part time jobs in addition to school jobs. Some in Dade County work at race tracks, and a number teach adult education courses at night.

Sen. Tom Adams of Orange Park said he doubted the propriety of using the teachers to staff the night classes and Sen. J. Emory Cross of Gainesville commented the state perhaps should pay the teachers an adequate salary and prohibit them from taking other jobs.

SRD Asks Bids on 9 Projects

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— The State Road Department Tuesday called for bids for construction of nine highway and bridge projects, including several four-laning jobs.

The projects include interstate links in Duval and Baker counties, another section of Miami's Palmetto By-pass, and four-laning U.S. 1, north of Cocoa.

Bids are to be opened Jan. 29, along with bids on 26 projects advertised Jan. 5.

The new Palmetto By-pass job will carry the four-lane highway 1½ miles further around Miami, from NW eighth St. to SW 14th St. Interchanges will be built at the Tamiami Trail and Flagler St.

The projects include:

DUVAL COUNTY — 4.823 miles construction on SR 8 from a point 1,300 feet west of Lane Ave. to a point 4.8 miles west.

BAKER — 3.364 miles construction of SR 8 between the St. Marys River and a point east of SR 228.

Another project calls for installation of fencing along interstate highway 400 between a point five miles west of the Polk County line and a point 2.8 miles east of the Polk County line.

Other projects are:

BREVARD — 7.007 miles four-laning on U.S. 1 between the south city limits of Rockledge and the north city limits of Cocoa.

TAYLOR and MADISON — 6.228 miles four-lane construction on U.S. 19 and 27 (SR 20) from half mile south of the Taylor County line to the Aucilla River.

UNION — 3.535 miles construction on SR S-239 and Douglas Cemetery Rd. between SR 238 and a point two miles north and between SR S-239 and a point west and north 1.227 miles.

Kidnap Tale Unfounded, Says FBI

MACON, Ga. —(AP)— A woman's claim that she and her young son were kidnaped in Orlando, Fla., and brought to Macon has been termed unfounded by the FBI.

N. R. Johnson, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI said Tuesday night Mrs. Dorothy Patrick was brought to Macon by a man she had known for 11 days before leaving Orlando.

Mrs. Patrick had told authorities here Monday that the man had forced her and her 2-year-old son to leave Orlando with him. She also said, according to police that she and her son fled from the man's car at a Macon intersection when the vehicle ran out of gas.

The FBI later questioned the man. The agency declined to identify him.

Johnson said no evidence had been found to support the woman's claim that the man told her that her husband had paid him to "take you off somewhere and leave you."

The FBI agent said her husband and other relatives were aware of her departure, however.

No charges have been filed in the case.

Palm Beach Chins Go Into Hiding

By ROSE ALLEGATO
WPB Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — We're a hair's breadth away from a new fad.

You can see it growing—literally.

But we gals who plunged, albeit reluctantly, into sacks and chemise, will just have to keep a stiff upper lip while the men in Palm Beach County take a fling at a fad of their own.

There's a rub, though.

What is it?

Why the Castro beard, of course.

Men in Palm Beach County are sheathing their razors and sprouting a chinful of fuzz. Given time, the fuzz will turn into a shaggy jungle of whiskers.

You don't hardly know whom to blame — Castro or the Seminole Sun Dance.

The Sun Dance Committee is sponsoring a whisker contest. They're bringing back the beard to commemorate the golden anniversary of Palm Beach County.

Men can take their pick of a mustache, goatee, sideburns or a full beard to enter the whisker derby.

Norman B. Hart, general chairman of the Sun Dance, said Tuesday that 50 per cent of the calls the Committee is getting these days filters down to one question: "How do you grow a Castro beard?"

If we gals knew we certainly wouldn't tell. Would we?

Take heart, though. Comfort yourselves with the thought that it is a passing fancy. After all, remember Elvis and his sideburns. Practically extinct now.

Besides the Sun Dance contest ends April 25.

And if that doesn't work on the whiskers, w-e-l-l, we can head to the hill in a 26th of July movement and plot revolution.

Meanwhile, just turn the other cheek.

Tropical's Gain Increases Optimism Over Racing Here

RIGHT OR WRONG, a lot of people watch horse track figures like weathermen for the barometer when a hurricane is approaching. This is why so many are happy over Tropical Park, which concludes its 43-day meeting today, being ahead of last year in betting.

SILBERMAN

They consider Tropical's being two per cent ahead in its handle evidence there are well heeled tourists in our midst. This is particularly true when you consider attendance was off one per cent.

Tropical's success has inspired optimism over Hialeah's meeting which begins Friday. President Saul Silberman, happy over his own success, thinks both Hialeah and Gulfstream will improve over last year's business. General Manager Elmer Vickers shares this feeling.

All of this means more revenue for the state, which collects eight per cent from each dollar. And fans are happy over having 83 more days in which to beat the horses. (The only sure way is with a whip.)

Calumet's Bardstown was the big winner at Tropical, earning $54,150 in winning the Orange Bowl and Tropical handicaps. The total purse distribution was $1,043,000, plus fees for nominations distributed in the stake events.

★ ★ ★

Luckiest Fans Had $10 Tickets

Some of the highlights of the Tropical meeting were:

—Bit O Sport, Great Man and Usuf each won three races.

—Luckiest ticket holders were the five who had $10 daily double ducats on Jan. 5, when Gray Ace and Toni Mia caused a $919.90 payoff on $2 tickets.

—Steve Brooks won three stakes, riding Bardstown in his two triumphs and piloting Scotland home first in the Miami Beach Handicap.

—Bobby Ussery was the only rider to score four wins in a single day, accomplishing this feat Tuesday.

—One hundred and thirteen jockeys rode at Tropical and this group included four national champions. Ted Atkinson (1944-46), Joe Culmone (tied with Willie Shoemaker in '50) Charlie Burr ('51) and Bill Hartack (55-56-57).

UM Chiefs Backed Moss

PERRY MOSS, former University of Miami backfield coach, is returning to Florida as successor to Tom Nugent at Florida State University. Perry's bid for the job was Helped by recommendations from UM Athletic Director Jack Harding and Coach Andy Gustafson.

GUSTAFSON

HARDING

Two years as an assistant at Wisconsin gave Moss added experience and he is even more mature than when he was with the Hurricanes. Familiarity with football in the state should help Moss in doing a good job with the Seminoles.

With Moss at FSU the football rivalry between the Seminoles and Hurricanes should be even keener. UM's squad won't need any prodding in the game next fall. The Hurricanes will be ambitious to avenge their licking of 1958.

Colts Banking on Simpson

JACKIE SIMPSON, former Edison and Florida star, should be a big help to the Colts next season, Carroll Rosenbloom, president of the Baltimore pro football champions, said Wednesday.

Rosenbloom, vacationing at the Diplomat Hotel is enjoying fun in the sun, which will include attending Hialeah's opening Friday.

JACKIE SIMPSON

"Simpson was raw when he joined us last October after Army service," said Rosenbloom." The team had been formulated, so Coach Weeb Ewbanks didn't have much chance to use Simpson. Next year, Jackie will be one of our offensive backs and if needed can be used on defense, too."

Rosenbloom continued his praise of Simpson, remarking, "He's the kind of player we like to have with us, because he is a team man. Individual stars are not happy with us."

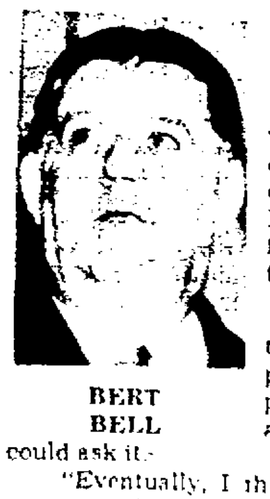
Why Miami Beach Lost NFL Meeting

THE NFL meeting, scheduled Jan. 21 at Philadelphia, was originally booked for Miami. It was moved back to Philly because the doctors did not want Commissioner Bert Bell to make a long trip.



BERT BELL

Despite having to be careful of his health, Bell has enough energy to be a great commissioner. Rosenbloom said, "I don't think anyone would do a better job than Bell. He considers the owners, players and fans and is available for consultation 24 hours a day."

Rosenbloom beat me to the draw about Miami's future prospects of getting into the NFL. He popped the question about Miami as a possible pro team site, before I could ask it.

"Eventually, I think we'll add two cities — but not next year," Rosenbloom said. "Eleven different cities are seeking franchises, but we'll go slow in expanding.

"We would not go into a city where it would hurt a college team. Frankly, I think the pros would help a college team rather than hurt it."

Your reporter is still of the opinion Miami would be a better prospect for the pros five years from now, When we have more than a million people.

Dugout Squabble Sparks Demand to Big Eight

Angry Sooners Want Out of OB Pact

NORMAN, Okla.—(AP)—Oklahoma University doesn't "have to go" to the Orange Bowl game and the Board of Regents has asked the Big Eight Conference to amend the contract requiring the champion to play in the game.

President George L. Cross said the request stemmed from the hassle over Oklahoma players not using a dugout for its substitutes last New Year's Day.

Under present rules, Oklahoma's perennial Big Eight football champions would not be eligible to return to Miami for the bowl game until Jan. 1, 1961. No team can appear two years in a row. An exception was made this year because of the bowl's 25th anniversary.

Cross told the regents he thinks the Orange Bowl will welcome such an amendment to its contract with the Big Eight as an "out." He said he thought Oklahomans and Miamians were "bored with each other."

Spectators sitting behind the Sooner players at last New Year's Day game threw ice cubes at the players and shouted for them to sit down so they could see.

Coach Bud Wilkinson said it was tradition for the Sooner players to kneel or stand along the sidelines—and he didn't want them in a dugout.

"I want to go on record to this board that our team will not go to Miami again until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior at the sideline," Cross said.

Cross proposed the Big Eight select one of its members go to the Orange Bowl under terms of the pact, but that it would not be required to pick the champion.

Oklahoma has won or shared the Big Eight championship for the past 12 years.

Cross said Oklahoma had "quite a disagreeable" experience at the Orange Bowl game in which it defeated Syracuse.

He said the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at a ground level.

The team had this disagreement three other times, Cross said, "but this time it was necessary for police to remove fans who ran out to protest."

With Giants?

Colts Plan Exhibition Tilt Here

By JIMMY BURNS
Herald Sports Editor

Baltimore's Colts, world's pro football champions, are planning an exhibition game at the Orange Bowl, Sept. 5, President Carroll Rosenbloom of the NFL team said here Wednesday.

Rosenbloom said the Colts would try to get the New York Giants, which they beat for the NFL championship in a sudden death playoff last month as the opposing team. Failing in that the Pittsburgh Steelers will provide the opposition.

"The exhibition schedule will be approved at our annual meeting next week at Philadelphia," said Rosenbloom.

Rosenbloom here for a vacation at the Diplomat hotel is concluding arrangement with a local sponsor for the Colts' appearance. Rosenbloom became interested in Miami when the Orioles of the American baseball league chose this city for their spring training camp.

"Baltimore people are still celebrating the Colts' victory over the Giants," said Rosenbloom. "It was a great triumph winning the Western division and then the World's championship. I actually thought we should have won in 1957, but injuries kept us from coming through."

Rosenbloom declared that a strong bench, particularly in linebackers, help Coach Weeb Ewbank and Quarterback Johnny Unitas bring the team through.

"The kids were so close to the title in 1957 that they went into this past season believing in themselves," Rosenbloom continued. "It was nice to win a championship after being in pro football only five years. A good friend of mine, Art Rooney of Pittsburgh never has won."

Pro exhibitions were staged here by the Detroit Lions in 1955-56, when crowds of 26,402 and 20,082 were attracted to the Orange Bowl. The Green Bay Packers appeared here in 1957, but attendance was only 17,377.

TORONTO — (AP) — The Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Big Four professional football league Wednesday added Bernie Parrish, a baseball bonus player, to their negotiation list.

The Argos said the one-time University of Florida halfback had been drafted by the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. Parrish signed a bonus contract with the Cincinnati Redlegs last year and played minor league baseball last season.

Perry's Back, And FSU Has Him
. . . new head coach Moss 'dazed but happy'

The Big News Slows Perry . . . Just Slightly

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Talkative Perry Moss, former University of Miami and Wisconsin backfield coach, needed only six words to sum up his feelings over his new job as Florida State head football coach.

"I am," he said over the long distance wire from Tallahassee, "a little bit dazed."

He paused . . . and then began to expound.

"It's great coming back to Florida. My family and I enjoyed Miami so much while we were there (1954-56) and we're looking forward to seeing our Florida friends again."

Moss, who replaces Maryland-bound Tom Nugent, said terms of his contract would be released Friday but called the pact "very satisfactory."

Moss, who leans to the wide-open brand of football, said he would strive for a balanced attack.

"It all depends on the personnel, of course," he said, "and right now I don't know too much about the players we have.

"But we'll try to mix our running and passing. If we can't run, we'll throw. If we can't throw, we'll run. If we can't do either" — he paused — "we'll probably get beat."

Moss said that high school players recruited by Nugent for FSU before he decided to take the Maryland post would be guaranteed exactly the same terms Nugent offered them.

"I'm sure Tom went after fine prospects," he said. "I'd like to have them at Florida State."

Miami and FSU meet Oct. 3 at Tallahassee. How does Moss feel about that one?

"Well," he said, "it'll be a tough game. We'll just try to outscore UM, same as we did at UM when I was there and FSU was the opponent."

Hurricanes Fight Gators, Road Jinx

The University of Miami launches a crucial weekend of basketball tonight in Gainesville against the University of Florida . . . a team Miami hasn't defeated in Gainesville since 1949.

The Hurricanes, 7-4 for the season, meet Florida, Jacksonville University and Florida State on successive nights on their home courts. The Hurricane frosh will play preliminary games each night.

It was a three straight loss record on a similar trip a year ago which knocked the Hurricanes out of a probable bid to the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

Miami already owns wins over two of the opponents: Florida in the Miami Beach Auditorium and Florida State in the opening round of The Citadel Invitational Tournament.

Bruce Hale's Hurricanes look to Harry Mannshaw and Ron Godfrey to give them control of the backboards in all three games and this edge could prove decisive. The Hurricanes will especially outrange the Gators.

Florida has been depending more and more heavily upon its sophomore material and the newcomers have come through very well. Four of them are likely to start Thursday.

FSU Signs Moss, Flashy Seminole Attack Promised

By Herald Wire Services

TALLAHASSEE — Perry Moss, who helped coach Miami to three consecutive football victories over the University of Florida, Wednesday was named head coach at Florida State.

Florida and Florida State became arch rivals in a football series that started last season with a Florida win.

Moss, 32 and a "comer" in college coaching circles, has been backfield coach at Wisconsin the past two years and helped field powerful teams at Miami and Louisiana State in the early and mid-50's.

Moss said he will use the same type of versatile, wide-open offense as his predecessor, Tom Nugent, who quit to head the University of Maryland football staff.

Moss said he hoped to keep as many members of the staff as possible, but at least three are reported ready to accompany Nugent to Maryland.

The three which Nugent has indicated he wanted to take with him are Line Coach Bob Harbison, Backfield Coach Frank Toomey and Lee Corso, a former FSU quarterback who helps with the backfield.

Nugent said: "I've known Perry for several years and I have always regarded him as a fine fellow and a good, sound coach. I want to wish him a lot of luck in his new assignment."

Moss, now 32, quarterbacked the Illinois team which routed UCLA in the 1947 Rose Bowl, 45-14. He quarterbacked the Tulsa football team in 1944 before going into the Air Force for two years. He also played one year with the professional Green Bay Packers.

Moss served as an assistant at Miami, LSU, University of Washington and University of Illinois before going to Wisconsin.

His salary and other terms will not be disclosed until final Board of Control approval Friday. But this is strictly routine and his selection by the FSU Athletic Committee and President Robert M. Strozier clinches the deal.

Moss will not serve in the dual capacity of coach and athletic director as Nugent did. An athletic director will be picked later, Strozier said.

Nugent was paid $13,000 a year for the two jobs. He was scheduled for a $1,000 raise.

Strozier declined to say whether Moss would get the same, more or less. But earlier he commented that if FSU picked a young coach on his way up, he'd be paid less than an established "name" coach.

While Moss was coaching the backfield at Miami under Andy Gustafson, in 1954-55-56, the Hurricanes beat Florida, 14-0, 7-6, and 20-7. During those years, Miami's overall record was 22 wins, five losses and one tie.

Two of the Miami teams Moss helped coach soundly licked Florida State, 34-0 and 20-7.

Oklahoma 'Insulted,' Wants to Quit Bowl

'Pro Bowl' talk Revived . . . Page 2D

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma, sizzling over insults hurled at its won't-sit-down football players New Year's Day, Wednesday proclaimed it doesn't "have to go" to the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma's Board of Regents asked the Big Eight Conference to amend the contract requiring the league champion to play in the game, and at least one Orange Bowl Committeeman agreed that would be a splendid idea.

President George L. Cross said his request stemmed directly from the hassle over Oklahoma players not using a knee-high dugout for its substitutes during the 21-6 victory over Syracuse New Year's Day. The Sooners were pelted with insults, paper cups and ice cubes by irate box seat fans who paid $7.50 to see a bunch of broad backs.

"I want to go on record to this board (Oklahoma Board of Regents) that our team will not go to Miami again until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior at the sideline," Cross said in Norman, Oklahoma.

"If there isn't a clear understanding about that behavior," fired OB Committeeman Van C. Kussrow, "we don't want that team back. We paid Oklahoma to come here, they didn't pay us."

Cross said the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level.

Kussrow could only gasp at this.

"And I," he finally said, "was one of the men who negotiated the contract which brought Oklahoma here."

Under terms of the new three-year contract which started with the Oklahoma-Syracuse contest, no Big Eight team can appear in the Orange Bowl two years in a row. The rule was waived this year due to the Bowl's Silver Anniversary, but Oklahoma now is ineligible for the game until 1961.

A just-expired five-year contract called for the Big Eight champion to meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. Oklahoma played in the Orange Bowl twice — defeating Maryland in 1954 and 1956 — under that pact. The Sooners also beat Duke in 1958 and lost to Tennessee in 1939.

Cross proposed that the Big Eight select one of its members, but not necessarily the champion, to play in the Orange Bowl until the contract runs out. (The present contract definitely calls for the champion unless the same team wins the title two years in a row.

He told the regents he thinks the Orange Bowl will welcome such an amendment as an "out." He said he thought Oklahomans and Miamians were "bored with each other."

"I would not use the word 'bored'," said Kussrow. "But my personal feeling is that we might be better off choosing a team at large.

"Oklahoma can only come here in 1961.

"If we decide to break the

New Auxiliary Building

Herald Expands Press Facilities

Six high-speed newspaper presses soon will thunder out another tribute to Miami's dynamic population progress.

They are being installed by The Miami Herald in a new auxiliary building in the city's Northwest section.

The additional, full-color units will go into operation this spring, in March or April, General Manager James L. Knight announced Wednesday.

The equipment will bridge the gap pending completion of The Herald's new 20-million-dollar building which will rise between Venetian and MacArthur causeways on Biscayne Bay.

Plans for the big central building call for 59 presses.

"But our circulation growth has been so rapid that we cannot wait for completion of the new plant," Knight pointed out.

The extra equipment will mark a sharp jump in printing capacity over The Herald's current 32 units in operation at the present downtown location.

The auxiliary plant will remain in operation even after opening of the new building, the general manager said.

"The equipment will enable the paper to solve many production problems which have developed in our circulation growth," he explained. It probably will be used to produce The Herald's state editions and possibly some of its suburban issues.

The auxiliary building fronts on NW 24th Ave. at 23rd St. Its 21,000 square feet will provide space for 24 units if needed, and will house complete wrapping, bundling and mailing equipment.

Gearing to meet the challenge of South Florida's dramatic growth, The Herald already had acquired warehouse facilities across the Seaboard Airline tracks from the new auxiliary building. The warehouse added storage space for 7,500 tons of newsprint. The facilities will be served by their

New Panama Coast Line Law Sticks

PANAMA CITY, Panama — (AP) — The National Assembly unanimously rejected a U.S. request for reconsideration of its law extending Panama's territorial waters. The extension to 12 miles boxes in the Panama Canal entrances.

An assembly resolution asked friendly nations to support the extension from the previous three-mile limit. The law passed last month promised free passage to innocent shipping.

During a debate on the U.S. request, former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd called for Panama to receive half of the gross revenue from the canal, which is operated by the U.S. under long-term treaty.

Boyd, who has presidential ambitions, asserted that the U.S. makes 100 million dollars from the canal while paying Panama only $1,900,000 a year. He said Panama was not seeking a voice in canal administration but considered half of the total income as its fair share.

The Panama Canal Co. reported that in the year ending July 1 it collected nearly 43 million dollars in tolls and made a net profit of $2,636,000. The U.S. pays Panama $1,930,000 a year for use of the 10-mile-wide canal strip, which includes three miles of the water off each end.

No Strike Seen Over PAA's 'No'

CAPE CANAVERAL — Pan American World Airways Wednesday turned down two worker demands, but a worker representative said he didn't think the action would touch off a strike.

J. W. Morgan of the Teamsters union, who represented the workers at an afternoon grievance meeting, said PAA's 250 stock clerks were discussing joining the Teamsters at a Wednesday night emergency meeting but probably wouldn't vote to strike.

At Wednesday's grievance meeting PAA said it refused to remove a letter of reprimand from an employe's personnel file and also refused to recognize three clerks as a "grievance committee" representing all the clerks here.

The company agreed to investigate worker charges that seniority was ignored in assigning overtime work at one of PAA's storerooms last Saturday.

Fleming said the letter of reprimand, for a violation of a company regulation, had been "properly assigned and would stand." The name of the employe involved was withheld.

Goldwater Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican senators Wednesday postponed for a week a showdown vote on the question of installing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as their campaign chairman.

The postponement was announced by Sen. Styles Bridges (New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, as he left a closed meeting of his Republican colleagues.

The senators had assembled to consider a proposed rule change which would let those GOP senators seeking reelection next year choose the campaign chairman. This move apparently would assure the selection of Goldwater.

Ike Against Stiffening Integration

Says Voting Rights More Important

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected the idea of new federal legislation to enforce public school integration. He said it was more important for the new Congress to strengthen Negro voting rights.

Eisenhower made the statement during an unprecedented 50-minute question-and-answer session with more than 500 members of the National Press Club which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The President said that once the right to vote is firmly guaranteed by federal law, state and local voters would solve the school problem and insure the "proper observance of their other rights."

Eisenhower described as "tragic" the fact that public schools were shut down in some areas to avoid compliance with Federal Court integration orders. He said the image of America was being damaged overseas because thousands of children were being deprived of their rightful education.

The President also covered these subjects:

FEDERAL ECONOMY — A balanced budget and stabilized cost of living would increase chances for tax relief. However, he is not thinking in terms of personal income tax cuts in 1960. He warned special pressure groups to lay off demands for heavy federal spending in their areas.

POLITICS — He will take a hand in the selection of a 1960 Republican presidential nominee if the front-runner turns out to be a man whose basic philosophy clashes with his. He said there were at least a dozen "fine virile men in the Republican Party I could gladly support."

MISSILES — Russia undoubtedly is ahead of the U.S. in some phases of rocket development and it would be "stupid" to assume otherwise. But U.S. scientists have made "very remarkable progress" in a comparatively short time. He has the fullest confidence in the "balanced" American approach to defense.

Warning on Budget Pleas to Congress

Don't Bypass Ike, Secret Note Says

It Aims At Defense Officials

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's budget chief has warned defense officials against going over the President's head and asking Congress for more military funds than the new budget provides.

The edict was laid down in a secret memo which Budget Director Maurice H. Stans sent two weeks ago to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. It ruled out both public and secret bids to Congress for more money.

While the memo did not threaten any reprisals if the order was disobeyed, it said "executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations."

The memorandum was made public at a time when many Democrats were complaining that the President's new defense budget was sacrificing national security in favor of a balanced budget.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 31, fell into the hands of Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D. Pa.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, who made it available to United Press International.

Flood denounced Stans' directive as a "shocking" attempt to impose a "gag-rule" on Defense witnesses.

He called for an immediate inquiry into what he termed this "latest affront" to congressional dignity.

"What kind of groveling, heel-clicking faceless wonders will this memorandum make of Defense Department witnesses before the armed services and appropriations committees of the Congress?" Flood demanded.

"It is a sham and a fraud to say that this memorandum is other than a deliberately-intended threat and gag to witnesses. It is what the letter leaves unsaid that is the true evil! The Sword of Damocles indeed . . . in this atmosphere, Machiavelli would be a rank amateur."

The Stans memorandum said in part:

"It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record."

The memo said direct congressional questions must be answered frankly. But it said any witness "who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget" should point out that Eisenhower's decision was reached "from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of over-riding national policy."

Trujillo Finds 3 Is a Crowd; Puts Chill on Batista, Peron

By PEGGE PARKER
Herald Special Writer

CUIDAD Trujillo, Dominican Republic — There is a crowd. And no one is more painfully aware of it than unloved, unwanted, unemployed dictators.

Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo and his two deposed colleagues, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and Juan Peron of Argentina, have agreed to ignore each other.

They live within a few blocks of each other here, but they have not met. They don't want to meet.

Their relationship is icily formal. And it is as clear as the blue waters of the Caribbean along side this dictatorship paradise that any untoward delay in the departure of Batista's 150 refugees will be met with "Here's your sombrero, what's your hurry?"

Batista is keeping himself occupied these days with a depressing mixture of memories and regrets. He has broken the silence of his gloomy meditations only once, releasing a statement Wednesday that he was "forced" to flee because he was short of arms.

Written law for granting asylum, plus the gentlemen's agreement among Latin American bosses (who never know who will be next), was sufficient assurance for Batista to fly here in wildest haste.

But as an American businessman here put it: "Trujillo does business only with winners, even if he hates their guts. He has already recognized Castro and wants no political identity with Batista, his party, or his hangers-on."

To Batista's embarrassment, the Trujillo government already has hinted it may turn over his four evacuation planes to Castro.

When Perez Jimenez fled Venezuela, Trujillo promptly returned that plane to the new Venezuelan government. It would surprise no one if Batista receives the same treatment.

Although Trujillo set up Batista with a plush ultra-modern bungalow next door to his own castle-in-Spain-style Foreign Office, he has snubbed him completely. Trujillo has made no "courtesy gestures" whatsoever.

And from the beginning the

He Sees 'Years of Danger'

Senate Unit Backs Up Dulles on Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won firm backing from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday for his insistence on the right of Western Allies to keep their troops in Berlin.

A resolution supporting this stand was informally approved during a closed-door briefing by Dulles on the international situation. The resolution also backs Dulles' insistence on maintaining free access to the city inside Communist-dominated East Germany.

Dulles called on the American people to face up to years "full of danger" with self-sacrifice and self-discipline.

"We shall need the national will to stand firm in the face of the aggressive threats and probings from the Sino-Soviet bloc," he said.

Formal action on the resolution, aimed at voicing the committee's sentiment in advance of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's talks this weekend with President Eisenhower and Dulles, was held up pending further discussion.

Dulles told the committee the need for "austerity and sacrifice" may continue for generations.

"We may face a period even harder than we have become used to," he said.

The secretary, declared:

"The price of failure would be the destruction of all our national objectives . . . We must press on with courage to build surer foundations for the interdependent world community of which we are a part.

"This will call for austerity and sacrifice on the part of all."

Dulles told the committee U. S. foreign policy has three basic purposes: To block aggressive force, to promote human dignity and freedom, and to stimulate economic growth and inter-dependence.

"These goals are not attainable in a few years, but will require decades and perhaps even generations."

Dulles said the primary threat is the rapid economic and industrial growth of Red China and the Soviet bloc through forced labor.

The U.S. must stand firm in the face of Communist threats and probings, he said, and make "whatever unusual sacrifices may be necessary."

Pickets Dog His Footsteps

Kremlinite Mikoyan Wined And Dined by Wall Streeters

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Kremlin finally shook hands Wednesday with Wall Street — its ancient capitalist whipping boy — as Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan lunched with some of America's top financiers.

In a highlight of his visit to this country, Mikoyan walked into the City Bank Farmers Trust Co. building at 22 William St. as luncheon guest of banking representatives.

Police lines were posted in the famed financial district to keep the curious at a distance.

About 40 anti-Communist pickets headed by their leader, Bela Fabian, handed out leaflets in the area. As Mikoyan emerged after lunch, they shouted: "Red butcher, Red butcher . . . murderer, murderer, murderer."

Fabian, head of a Hungarian refugee group, has announced that he has 1,000 pickets ready to harass Mikoyan during the Soviet official's two-day visit here. Tuesday night, however, he gathered only about 20 for Mikoyan's arrival at Idlewild Airport, and in Wall Street mustered only half that number.

New York City has assigned some 500 police to keep demonstrators in hand, in a display of security unmatched except for visits here of the President of the U.S.

Meanwhile, back in Moscow a radio commentator, ignoring past picket incidents, lauded the warmth and friendliness of Mikoyan's reception here. The broadcast said it proved "how much the people of our two countries want to live in peace with each other and how alien to them is the cold war."

Added the commentator: "There are no differences between Americans and Russians that could cause us to fight each other."

Winter Hits North Again

CHICAGO — (AP) — Winter started a vigorous comeback Wednesday as a broad front of Arctic air plunged southward into the midcontinent.

Temperatures tumbled to near zero at noon in North Dakota and were expected to reach 15 below by early Thursday in northern Minnesota.

Colder weather was in store for much of the area from the Rockies to the Appalachians by Thursday afternoon.

Snow pelted eastern North Dakota and Minnesota. Snow falling in the Montana mountains cut visibility to half a mile.

Cuba Decides to Go On Executing War Criminals

180 Shot: Speedup Ordered

HAVANA —(AP)— Cuba's provisional government appeared determined Wednesday to continue executing Batistans adjudged war criminals, regardless of what the world thinks. Revolutionary tribunals moved swiftly to bring more suspects to trial.

Just how many eventually will die is anybody's guess.

Estimates of the number jailed in the island nation's six provinces swelled from 4,000 to 5,000. Suspects are still being hunted down. Perhaps 5,000 or more remain at large. Some are accused of acting as informers, others of a variety of misdeeds.

Fidel Castro, the civil war victor who now heads the Cuban armed forces, has recommended long terms at hard labor for those convicted of lesser crimes. He reiterated Tuesday night that murderers and traitors must die.

He ordered tribunals to speed the trials. His topflight commanders backed him up.

Castro and other Cubans contend that Cuba has as much right to exterminate war criminals as the Allies had in condemning Nazi leaders at the Nuernberg trials after World War II.

There is evidence of a growing irritation among Cubans over world criticism of the executions, particularly from the U. S.

Cuba's man-in-the-street said the critics failed to condemn atrocities under the dictatorship and that U. S. arms supplied to Batista had contributed to the killing of hundreds of innocent civilians. The U. S. arms shipments were suspended last spring.

It looked for a while early Wednesday as if the revolutionists were relenting.

John J. Skelly, a newsman from Washington accredited at the foreign ministry to distribute government statements to foreign correspondents, gave news agencies a statement saying the provisional government had ordered a suspension of the executions.

Skelly said the statement was authorized by Carlos Franqui, press coordinator at the Presidential Palace and director of the newspaper Revolucion, an organ of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Franqui was quoted as saying the suspension was ordered after Castro conferred Tuesday night with Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and a presidential secretary, Louis Zuch.

But key points in the statement were denied later by the presidential secretariat and by Franqui.

Reporters assigned to the Presidential Palace were told executions in fact are continuing in accordance with due process of law and Castro and Urrutia did not meet Tuesday.

It said both Cuban and foreign newsmen will be invited to watch the trials and names of all persons executed will be published, along with the charges on which they were convicted.

Because of Eye Ailment

Billy Graham Told To Rest, Cut Pace

ROCHESTER, Minn. —(AP)— Evangelist Billy Graham will have to take at least a month's rest and then curtail future activities as a result of a serious eye ailment, his personal physician said Wednesday night.

Dr. Kenneth Gieser of Chicago, working with Mayo Clinic physicians, said early tests had confirmed an angio spastic edema of the macula in the left eye. He said the blood vessels back of the retina were not ruptured as was first believed.

(A spastic edema was described as an abnormal swelling of blood vessels brought on by accumulation of serous fluids because of muscle spasms back of the retina.)

Grady Wilson, a Graham associate, said the minister would continue under examination and treatment here, probably for the rest of the week. He said Graham also would take the month's rest which was advised by the doctors.

Wilson said Graham still was planning to undertake the Australian revival campaign, with its start delayed to Feb. 15 instead of the earlier planned Feb. 8 date. But Wilson said the Australian schedule probably would be somewhat shortened.

Wilson said a complete report covering Graham's physical condition was not expected until later as examinations are continuing. He said also it had not yet been decided where Graham might spend the three weeks of ordered rest after he leaves the clinic, expected at the end of this week.

House Group Seeks to Halt Cuba Deaths

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A House Foreign Affairs Committee moved Wednesday night to see what can be done to halt mass executions in Cuba.

Chairman Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) said the group will summon Assistant Secretary of State Roy Rubottom to testify today. Rubottom is in charge of inter-American affairs for the State Department.

Hays said:

"I'm going to ask him what the State Department is going to do to calm Castro down before he depopulates Cuba."

Short of sending in U.S. troops, Hays said, "There's a million things we can do and I think we should do it."

Close to 200 executives have been reported in Cuba since the forces of Fidel Castro overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista two and a half weeks ago.

After saying he had not approved of Batista's methods, Hays added: "This guy Castro is starting off in the same direction, only worse."

Also Wednesday, Sens. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) added protests against the wave of executions.

Bridges said the official killings raise "grave doubt in regard to the integrity of the new regime."

Fulbright told the Senate:

"It is deplorable and much to be regretted that they have not been able to move with consideration for orderly processes of law."

Living Room Truly That

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —(AP)— Mrs. Ronald Dean thought she had trouble a few weeks ago when, during a cold spell, her washing machine froze up and flooded her living room.

A neighbor asked Mrs. Dean if her living room rug was growing. "I wondered if she'd lost her mind," Mrs. Dean said.

Her neighbor hadn't, though. On the green carpet where the bird cage had stood, bird seeds were sprouting.

Appeal Set In School Wrangle

NEW YORK —(AP)— The board of education has voted to appeal a court dismissal of charges against two Negro mothers who kept their children out of Harlem schools they said were inferior.

A spokesman for the school system disclosed the action at the end of a conference on the board's tentative 1959-60 budget.

The decision to appeal, made at a special closed board meeting, drew sharp criticism from one of its members. The Rev. Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, only Negro on the nine-member board, said:

"Wittingly or unwittingly, the board has erased the last line of difference between Little Rock and New York."

Instead of returning the case to court, Dr. Taylor said, the board should acknowledge what he called the disparity in the education of white and Negro children and work to "eradicate the inequities."

The board spokesman said that "for ethical and legal reasons, no board official comment on the appeal will be made so as not to prejudice the courts."

During the remainder of his stay, he will spend much of his time on the campus and talk informally to art students.

Trujillo Finds 3 Is Crowd

Cuban leader has been paying all his own bills.

Presumably, this is the least of Batista's worries. Rumor holds that he carted off upward of 50 million dollars on the plane ride from Havana alone.

The treasure was so frantically guarded at the landing that one of Batista's children got lost in the shuffle and boarded a New Orleans-bound getaway plane. The child is now at Batista's Daytona Beach estate.

Batista's loyal troops dine well on steaks and lobsters served a la carte from the best hotel in town. The daily food bill runs to $150, payable in cash. It is.

Meanwhile Senora Batista has been house-hunting, obviously eager to move out of the government bungalow before Trujillo's hospitality becomes even chillier.

She has personally inspected the penthouse suite of the Hotel El Embajador twice. Ordinarily it rents for $400 a day.

The hotel manager said he would be pleased to extend a diplomatic discount and charge a mere $300 a day — without food. She smiled, sipped a cup of tea and went away.

It has now been learned that the Batista party will move next week into a semi-luxury hotel, also near the sea, where the bill is $35 a day, plus food.

Batista followers have turned the La Paz Hotel lobby into a milling, thronged madhouse of noise and shrill Spanish babble. Juke boxes juke all day long and American-imported slot machines are cranked from dusk to dawn.

And in the same hotel lives Argentina's famed ex. Juan Peron, his pretty secretary and two poodles. He maintains a deaf-dumb-blind attitude toward the entire Cuban situation.

He too is paying his own way, although life these days affords few, if any, flings and parties.

The local cocktail gossip insists Peron is broke, that Evita salted away the chips in Switzerland in her own name and died without a will.

At any rate, Peron's favorite pastime is pushing a basket around an American-style supermarket called "Wimpy's."

He is the most popular customer in the supermarket. He kids all the girls, drinks coffee at the soda counter, and buys loads of expensive imported foods and lots of steak at a dollar a pound.

Castro's Men Get a Shave

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Three of Fidel Castro's bearded warriors got their pictures in Havana newspapers Wednesday by getting shaves. They said their commanders instructed them to get rid of the whiskers.

However, no general order to that effect has gone out so far and barbershops are uncrowded. Castro retains his beard.

contract, I would suggest doing it immediately. Prospects are not too good in the Big Eight this season."

Ernie Seiler, who joined Kussrow in negotiating the new contract, said he felt the Orange Bowl Committee would take no immediate action.

"This is all news to us," he said. "We'll have to get the full reports before we can do anything definite."

W. G. Ward, OB schedule chairman, also proposed a "take-it-easy" attitude until the situation develops further.

"Oklahoma's football teams have been popular here, and will always be in demand," Ward said.

Dugouts were added to the Orange Bowl this year to prevent such a situation. Syracuse acceded to the request that players use the dugout.

Tiger Stadium, home of Louisiana State's national football champions, has used similar dugouts for several years. Officials there report "no problem whatsoever."

own railroad sidings along Seaboard's main line.

Miami and The Miami Herald have marched forward hand in hand in South Florida's vibrant growth pattern.

Florida's population has ballooned 60 per cent since 1950, with Dade scoring the largest numerical gain. The county numbers more than 860,000, which is 350,000 more than in 1950. Experts predict between 1¼ and 1½ million residents by 1965.

The Herald became the first Florida paper to break the 400,000 circulation barrier in 1958, scoring a paid Sunday distribution of 414,656 the last Sunday in February.

Daily circulation has swelled from 175,985 in 1950 to an average of 302,264 for the six-month period ended last March 31. Sunday circulation has skyrocketed from 203,746 to a six-month average of 366,584.

The advertising barometer shows the area's progress, too, placing The Herald out front in the nation in weekday advertising and second only to The Los Angeles Times in daily and Sunday totals.

The site of the new bayfront building is being cleared of all existing buildings, Knight said. Meanwhile, plans are being completed preparatory to breaking ground.

Allies Pledge to Act at Once

West Assures Soviet On A-Control Posts

GENEVA — (UPI) — The U.S. and Britain promised Russia Wednesday they will permit installation of nuclear control posts on their territory as soon as an East-West treaty to ban atomic tests is signed.

The assurance was made by U.S. and British delegates during an hour-and-20-minute session of the three-power nuclear conference.

The Western pledge was an attempt to allay apparent Soviet fears that the U.S. and Britain might sidestep accepting a control post network on their soil until posts had been set up in other countries.

In London, meanwhile, authoritative sources said the U.S. and Britain had dispatched identical notes to Moscow Wednesday expressing their readiness to resume the East-West conference on prevention of surprise attacks.

But the Western notes said the scope and agenda of the talks should be firmly determined in advance, the sources said.

The sources said France, Italy and Canada, which had participated on the Western side in the earlier phase on the 10-nation talks in Geneva, backed the Anglo-American stand.

The surprise-attack conference had broken up Dec. 18 without even succeeding in approving an agenda. The Russians in notes earlier this week had called for resumption of the talks today — a target date which the West felt it was physically impossible to meet.

Indialantic Annexation Bid Blocked

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

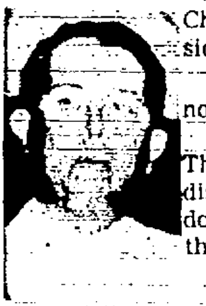
INDIALANTIC—An attempt by this city to push its northern boundry toward Patrick Air Force Base has been blocked by the ruling of a circuit court judge in Titusville. Another try might be made at a future date.

Circuit Judge Volie A. Williams ruled invalid an ordinance by which Indialantic was attempting to annex the sprawling new area.

The ordinance was challenged by three of the involved property owners, Rudi C. Oudshoff, Jackson Vaughn and Max K. Rodes, all of Melbourne.

The trio's petition maintained that the municipality lacked the power to annex their property.

The court decision also effects the other annexation land, which includes a housing development, first Baptist Church, Indialantic Elementary school and considerable undeveloped property.



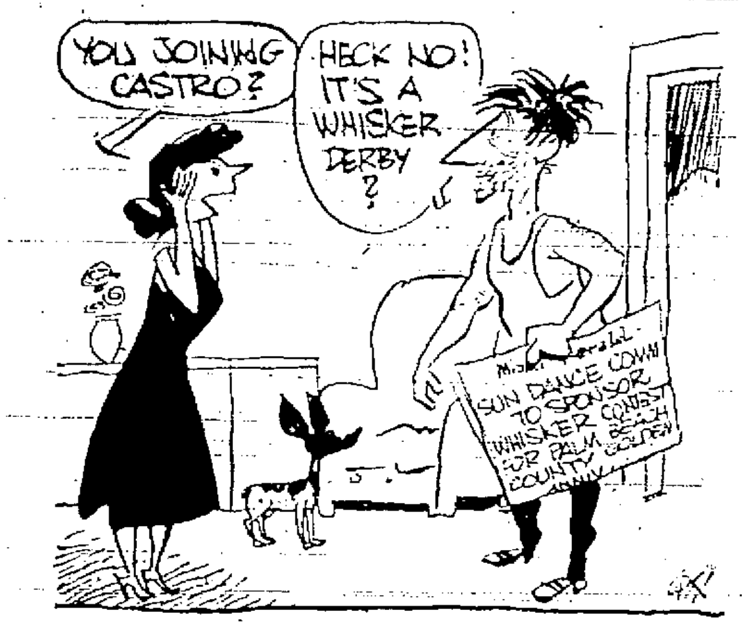
Volie Williams

Judge Williams ruled that Indialantic did not properly execute the annexation ordinance.

Council President James Reinman told The Herald that both sides and the judge also discussed "the possibility that the city charter does not go far enough to give Indialantic the necessary power."

He explained that "if this is the case, we'll have to take legislative steps to correct the situation."

Any council action, however, Reinman said, will have to be made "after our city attorney makes an official report at the next council meeting."



YOU JOINING CASTRO?
HECK NO! IT'S A WHISKER DERBY?
Miami Herald SUN DANCE COMM TO SPONSOR WHISKER CONTEST FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY GOLDEN ANNIV

As Castro Beards Sprout

Palm Beach Chins Going into Hiding

By ROSE ALLEGATO
WPB Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — We're a hair's breadth away from a new fad.

You can see it growing—literally.

But we gals who plunged, albeit reluctantly, into sacks and chemise, will just have to keep a stiff upper lip while the men in Palm Beach County take a fling at a fad of their own.

There's a rub, though.

What is it?

Why the Castro beard, of course.

Men in Palm Beach County are sheathing their razors and sprouting a chinful of fuzz. Given time, the fuzz will turn into a shaggy jungle of whiskers.

You don't hardly know whom to blame — Castro or the Seminole Sun Dance.

The Sun Dance Committee is sponsoring a whisker contest. They're bringing back the beard to commemorate the golden anniversary of Palm Beach County.

Men can take their pick of a mustache, goatee, sideburns or a full beard to enter the whisker derby.

Norman B. Hart, general chairman of the Sun Dance, said Tuesday that 50 per cent of the calls the Committee is getting these days filters down to one question: "How do you grow a Castro beard?"

If we gals knew we certainly wouldn't tell, would we?

Take heart, though. Comfort yourselves with the thought that it is a passing fancy. After all, remember Elvis and his sideburns. Practically extinct now.

Besides the Sun Dance contest ends April 25.

And if that doesn't work on the whiskers, w-e-l-l, we can head to the hill in a 26th of July movement and plot revolution.

Meanwhile, just turn the other cheek.

College Sought By City

Eau Gallie OKs All-Out Effort

Herald Bureau

EAU GALLIE—The proposed Brevard County junior college site list has been boiled down to two locations — Eau Gallie and Rockledge—and this city intends to make an all-out effort to have the institution located here.

In disclosing Eau Gallie campaign details, Councilman Vance Bell, city education committee chairman, said that Melbourne, Melbourne Beach, Indialantic and Palm Bay will be asked to join this city in making a strong plea to the state for the school.

"Even though it would be located in Eau Gallie," Bell explained, "the junior college would be a tremendous asset to our entire South Brevard area."

Councilman Bell also said his committee is working closely with Parent-Teacher Association groups in South Brevard.

The municipal education committee's drive for the college received strong backing from city council when the board adopted a committee petition which stated that Eau Gallie would be in a position to provide utilities and streets to the school site.

Copies of the petition will be turned over to State Rep. James H. Pruitt and Sen. Douglas Stenstrom and state education officials.

Eau Gallie's site is located in the northern section of the community, near the center of the county. It is being offered by the county commission.

County School Supt. Woodrow J. Darden hopes the Brevard college will be in operation by fall.

Initial approval of the state Advisory Council on Education for constructing a junior college in Brevard has been given. This raised Brevard from class three to class one priority for consideration by the next session of the Florida legislature.

Supt. Darden said the availability of a suitable college site is the important step in paving the way to legislative approval during the coming session.

No Parking Meters for Eau Gallie

EAU GALLIE — This is the only major Central East Coast municipality without parking meters, and it appeared Wednesday that the current situation will continue for some time to come.

The latest idea of putting meters on certain streets in the older commercial section to provide revenue for street widening projects was killed after City Manager Clark Maxwell reported results of a feasibility study he made on the proposal.

Maxwell reported that the meters would not provide adequate revenue to cover widening costs, and also that it would not be fair to merchants to put meters only in certain areas of the business district.

City council now intends to hold a meeting with downtown property owners to determine how street widening can be financed.

As another means of battling the downtown parking problem, council has given Maxwell the green light on his proposal to improve the municipal parking lot between City Hall and the Municipal Civic Center.

This job will cost about $3,000 because much of the work will be done by city crews. Plans call for the lot to be paved, lighted and have sidewalks. There will be spaces for 91 cars, and a section of the lot will be devoted to all-day parking — perhaps the area along U. S. 1.

Welfare Home Expansion Urged

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — Plans to enlarge the St. Lucie County Welfare Home on North 7th St. were presented to the county commission Wednesday by John Glenton, head of the welfare board building committee.

Glenton asked the commission to consider a much needed wing which would double the home's present capacity of 16. He pointed out that the county might well save on hospital indigent bills, by having more welfare home space available.

Jail Hard to Bust Out of

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

TITUSVILLE—Some prisoners are going to be mighty comfortable in Brevard County's new jail, but all of them are going to find the new lockup mighty hard to bust out of.

Part of the just-completed $300,000 jail is airconditioned, but the whole 116-prisoner structure is built as a "maximum security prison."

Air conditioning — installed primarily for the jail's first floor sheriff's department offices — will blow cool air into cells for juveniles and the sections for insane prisoners, kitchen trusties and new prisoners who haven't been "processed in."

The security precautions are impressive. Theoretically, guards will never have to enter an occupied cell unless a prisoner is sick.

Safeguards are thickest in four second-story wings for male prisoners. There, doors can be operated remotely and loudspeakers are set up for ordering prisoners around.

Male inmates can be shunted into a barred corridor in front of their cells, then into a bullpen as doors lock behind them. The system also allows guards to enter cells without passing through the bullpen.

The men's wings have special "release traps" which are special double doored cages. Prisoners will be locked in the cages on their way in or out of the cell wings, so guards will never have to open an escape route.

Less elaborate — but still imposing — security precautions exist throughout the jail.

Even attorneys won't get to meet prisoners face-to-face. Like all other visitors, they'll talk to inmates through thick steel plates pierced only by shielded voice ports and a thick glass viewing port.

Other security precautions include hacksaw-proof bars, steel furniture and special "food slots" only large enough for kitchen trays. In addition, none of the cells has been built along the building's exterior walls. All are internal units separated from the walls by guard corridors.

To Chief Deputy Clyde Bates, the new jail's most needed feature are the two cells for insane prisoners. "We've never been able to handle those people properly before," he explains, and adds the department has an average of about 15 insane or "raving drunks" every year.

The special cells are octagonal and padded all the way around with stainless steel mounted on foam rubber. Guards will be able to feed or even wash a prisoner without entering the cells.

Bates has a capsule comment on why the new jail was needed, too. "That old one (atop the county courthouse) has been overcrowded for so long, we don't even remember how many prisoners it was designed for," he says.

Bigger Courthouse Addition Planned

By ANNE WILDER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — St. Lucie County commissioners Wednesday gave architect James Gamble Rogers of Winter Park a go-ahead to draw up plans for a three-story addition to the courthouse building and a new two-story jail.

At a noontime meeting, commissioners and the architect agreed to abandon preliminary plans alrealy drawn up for a smaller courthouse addition.

County commission chairman B. Y. Free said the first plans just did not contain enough space to house all the county offices which are now scattered around the city in other buildings.

Gamble, who had drawn up the first plans, agreed to start over to provide more space.

The decision to include a new jail to replace the county's present overcrowded building, has been under consideration for a number of months.

Free said the new courthouse will face on south Indian River Drive, on the east side of the present courthouse, which will also remain in use. Present plans will place the jail on the westside of the courthouse. Free pointed out that since the old jail must continue in use until the new one is ready for occupancy it is impossible to use the present jail location.

A member of the architectural firm of James Gamble Roberts, Lovelock and Fritz, will be in Fort Pierce this week to make a survey.

Chairman Free said that the county has not yet selected the fiscal agents to handle the financing of the addition, although they have conferred with several firms.

The county at present has around $112,000 in hand for the addition; has a two mill levy for the purpose, and anticipates considerable saving when county offices can be moved from their present rented quarters into county owned buildings.

Group Hears Rep. Multer

Herald Bureau

PATRICK AFB—Rep. Abraham Multer Wednesday urged representatives of over 300 small Florida businesses to "make greater efforts" to "get into the nation's missile testing program."

The New York Democrat, a member of the House Small Business Committee, was the featured speaker at a small business conference held here under the sponsorship of the air force and seven of its missile contractors.

Multer saluted the small businessmen as the "backbone of the nation's economy" and told them the large firms which produce missiles often need their help.

He and other speakers told the businessmen the large missile contractors and the Air Force itself are often in a position to award "lucrative" subcontracts to small firms doing specialized work.

Resolution OKd

KEY WEST — A petition signed by some 200 Key Largo residents has prompted the County Commission to pass a resolution asking the State Road Department to raise by four feet the level of a proposed bridge over the Key Largo waterway.

Melbourne Workhouse Proposed

Herald Bureau

MELBOURNE — Melbourne finds itself in the position of having more "unpaid city employes" than its new jail will hold.

An experiment on keeping persons convicted of breaking the law in the municipal cooler and letting them work out their sentences was started when the enlarged jail was completed six months ago.

This plan was working splendidly, comments Chief John D. Thomas. "It ended the practices of transporting them all the way up to the county jail in Titusville, and crew superintendents claim the prisoners work hard enough to pay for their keep.

"But the number of "permanent residents" is growing so rapidly, reports the chief, that many times there isn't room for the transient 'guests' — who also are increasing."

Sometimes, he said, it gets too crowded from a sanitation standpoint.

Besides, feeding is "quite a problem" when you have to carry prisoner's meals all the way from a restaurant to the jail, he said.

Chief Thomas proposes a city workhorse to board the "permanent" prisoners, and Mayor J. J. (Jeff) Spitznogle has asked the chief and City Manager Tevis Huguely to study the proposal and make a report to Melbourne commissioners.

Mrs. Margaret Bigge Dies in Fort Pierce

FORT PIERCE — Mrs. Margaret Annetta Bigge, 49, of 1606 Havana Ave., died Tuesday night after an illness of several months. She had come here recently from Manchester, Conn.

Survivors include her husband Charles; two sons, Charles Jr., with the Air Force in Portsmouth, N.H., and Bertram of Manchester; two daughters, Marjorie and Kathleen of Fort Pierce; four grandchildren; her father, Luke Sinskie of Fort Pierce; three brothers and five sisters.

The Yates Funeral Home is in charge.

Airport Bid Considered

Herald Bureau

COCOA — City councils here and in Titusville are considering a proposal which could lead to the reopening of the abandoned Cocoa-Titusville airport as an industrial field.

The proposal submitted by the Peninsula Development Corp. of Orlando calls for leasing the 7500-acre airport to the firm. Peninsular already holds a lease on an industrial park at Orlando Municipal Airport.

Edward J. Hanlon of Winter Park, attorney for Peninsular, has indicated the firm has an "aviation industry" lined up which would require over 500 acres of the airport property.

The firm's lease proposal asks a 10-year lease with two 10-year options to renew. Rent is subject to negotiation, but the proposal requires the firm to develop at least 20,000 square feet of the airport property each year.

Ferry is Sold

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The State Public Utilities commission Wednesday authorized the Gasparilla Ferry Corp. to transfer its franchise to the Sunset Realty Corp. The Gasparilla company operates a ferry between Placida, in Charlotte County, and Boca Grande, in Lee County.

At Cocoa Beach

State Won't Act On Bulkhead Line

Herald Bureau

COCOA — Van H. Ferguson, director of Florida Internal Improvement Fund, Wednesday indicated the board will take no immediate action on a controversial Cocoa Beach bulkhead line established by the Brevard County Commission.

In a telegram to Mayor Gary Bennett, Ferguson said: "Suggest no meeting here in Tallahassee until this office receives and studies county's bulkhead line."

Bennett, leader of a group of the line's opponents, had urged Gov. LeRoy Collins and other 11 trustees not to act on the controversial line without giving his group a chance to argue against it.

The line — which was established Dec. 18 — is about 6,000 feet from the Banana River shoreline at Cocoa Beach and enclosed the Thousand Islands.

It was established for the Cocoa and River Isles developments which plan to convert the area behind the line into a large island-and-canal real estate development.

In another development of controversy, the Cocoa City Council Tuesday night refused to take a stand for or against the bulkhead.

The Cocoa council ruled it would not act on the line because it is outside the city limits of Cocoa.

Sheriffs Open Orlando Meeting

ORLANDO — (UPI) — The board of directors of the Florida Sheriffs Association opened the organization's mid winter conference here Wednesday with appointment of 12 sheriffs to the new board of trustees.

Sheriffs from throughout Florida assembled for a three-day meeting to be highlighted by preliminary work on the association's 1959 legislative program.

The directors named the 12 sheriffs to the 25-member board of trustees which will be completed later. The remaining 13 members will be non-sheriffs.

Tropical's Gain Increases Optimism Over Racing Here

RIGHT OR WRONG, a lot of people watch horse track figures like weathermen for the barometer when a hurricane is approaching. This is why so many are happy over Tropical Park, which concludes its 43-day meeting today, being ahead of last year in betting.

SILBERMAN

They consider Tropical's being two per cent ahead in its handle evidence there are well heeled tourists in our midst. This is particularly true when you consider attendance was off one per cent.

Tropical's success has inspired optimism over Hialeah's meeting which begins Friday. President Saul Silberman, happy over his own success, thinks both Hialeah and Gulfstream will improve over last year's business. General Manager Elmer Vickers shares this feeling.

All of this means more revenue for the state, which collects eight per cent from each dollar. And fans are happy over having 83 more days in which to beat the horses. (The only sure way is with a whip.)

Calumet's Bardstown was the big winner at Tropical, earning $54,150 in winning the Orange Bowl and Tropical handicaps. The total purse distribution was $1,043,000, plus fees for nominations distributed in the stake events.

★ ★ ★

Luckiest Fans Had $10 Tickets

Some of the highlights of the Tropical meeting were:

—Luckiest ticket holders were the five who had $10 daily double ducats on Jan. 5, when Gray Ace and Toni Mia caused a $919.90 payoff on $2 tickets.

—Steve Brooks won three stakes, riding Bardstown in his two triumphs and piloting Scotland home first in the Miami Beach Handicap.

—Bobby Ussery was the only rider to score four wins in a single day, accomplishing this feat Tuesday.

—One hundred and thirteen jockeys rode at Tropical and this group included four national champions. Ted Atkinson (1944-46), Joe Culmone (tied with Willie Shoemaker in '50) Charlie Burr ('51) and Bill Hartack (55-56-57).

UM Chiefs Backed Moss

PERRY MOSS, former University of Miami backfield coach, is returning to Florida as successor to Tom Nugent at Florida State University. Perry's bid for the job was Helped by recommendations from UM Athletic Director Jack Harding and Coach Andy Gustafson.

GUSTAFSON

HARDING

Two years as an assistant at Wisconsin gave Moss added experience and he is even more mature than when he was with the Hurricanes. Familiarity with football in the state should help Moss in doing a good job with the Seminoles.

With Moss at FSU the football rivalry between the Seminoles and Hurricanes should be even keener. UM's squad won't need any prodding in the game next fall. The Hurricanes will be ambitious to avenge their licking of 1958.

Colts Banking on Simpson

JACKIE SIMPSON, former Edison and Florida star, should be a big help to the Colts next season, Carroll Rosenbloom, president of the Baltimore pro football champions, said Wednesday.

JACKIE SIMPSON

Rosenbloom, vacationing at the Diplomat Hotel is enjoying fun in the sun, which will include attending Hialeah's opening Friday.

"Simpson was raw when he joined us last October after Army service," said Rosenbloom." The team had been formulated, so Coach Weeb Ewbanks didn't have much chance to use Simpson. Next year, Jackie will be one of our offensive backs and if needed can be used on defense, too."

Rosenbloom continued his praise of Simpson, remarking, "He's the kind of player we like to have with us, because he is a team man. Individual stars are not happy with us."

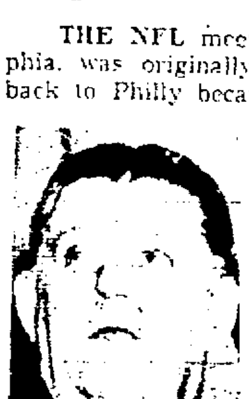
Why Miami Beach Lost NFL Meeting

THE NFL meeting, scheduled Jan. 21 at Philadelphia, was originally booked for Miami. It was moved back to Philly because the doctors did not want Commissioner Bert Bell to make a long trip.



BERT BELL

Despite having to be careful of his health, Bell has enough energy to be a great commissioner. Rosenbloom said, "I don't think anyone would do a better job than Bell. He considers the owners, players and fans and is available for consultation 24 hours a day."

Rosenbloom beat me to the draw about Miami's future prospects of getting into the NFL. He popped the question about Miami as a possible pro team site, before I could ask it.

"Eventually, I think we'll add two cities — but not next year," Rosenbloom said. "Eleven different cities are seeking franchises, but we'll go slow in expanding.

"We would not go into a city where it would hurt a college team. Frankly, I think the pros would help a college team rather than hurt it."

Your reporter is still of the opinion Miami would be a better prospect for the pros five years from now, When we have more than a million people.

Sooners in Roses? Pros in OB? Questions Fly in Dugout Revolt

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Will Oklahoma's Dugout Rebellion bring professional football into the Orange Bowl game?

Did the Sooners engineer their "mutiny" as a first step toward trying to crash California's Rose Bowl in 1961?

Those were the two biggest questions trailing University of Oklahoma's Wednesday announcement that it does not want to return to the Orange Bowl if Sooner players are asked to remain in the new dugouts — a request they ignored in their 21-6 victory over Syracuse two weeks ago despite loud protests from box-seat fans whose vision was blocked.

The answer to both questions could be "yes."

If the Orange Bowl decides to dump Oklahoma's Big Eight Conference altogether, one of the first moves will be an attempt to land the inter-division playoff of the National Football League — the "World Series" of football.

"I don't know that we could get it," said one Orange Bowler, "but I'll say this: The pros are moving in on the colleges everywhere. Why not here?"

The Rose Bowl angle popped up as a possible bit of intrigue tied in with Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson's early-week visit to Los Angeles as a member of the college football national rules committee.

Insiders believe Wilkinson was assured there that the Big Ten will not renew its contract with the Pasadena bowl for 1961. That would leave at least one Rose Bowl spot open for 1961.

With Giants?

Colts Plan Exhibition Tilt Here

By JIMMY BURNS
Herald Sports Editor

Baltimore's Colts, world's pro football champions, are planning an exhibition game at the Orange Bowl, Sept. 5, President Carroll Rosenbloom of the NFL team said here Wednesday.

Rosenbloom said the Colts would try to get the New York Giants, which they beat for the NFL championship in a sudden death playoff last month as the opposing team. Failing in that the Pittsburgh Steelers will provide the opposition.

"The exhibition schedule will be approved at our annual meeting next week at Philadelphia," said Rosenbloom.

Rosenbloom here for a vacation at the Diplomat hotel is concluding arrangement with a local sponsor for the Colts' appearance. Rosenbloom became interested in Miami when the Orioles of the American baseball league chose this city for their spring training camp.

"Baltimore people are still celebrating the Colts' victory over the Giants," said Rosenbloom. "It was a great triumph winning the Western division and then the World's championship. I actually thought we should have won in 1957, but injuries kept us from coming through."

Rosenbloom declared that a strong bench, particularly in linebackers, help Coach Weeb Ewbank and Quarterback Johnny Unitas bring the team through.

"The kids were so close to the title in 1957 that they went into this past season believing in themselves," Rosenbloom continued. "It was nice to win a championship after being in pro football only five years. A good friend of mine, Art Rooney of Pittsburgh never has won."

Pro exhibitions were staged here by the Detroit Lions in 1955-56, when crowds of 26,402 and 20,082 were attracted to the Orange Bowl. The Green Bay Packers appeared here in 1957, but attendance was only 17,377.

Perry's Back, And FSU Has Him

. . . new head coach Moss 'dazed but happy'

The Big News Slows Perry . . . Just Slightly

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Talkative Perry Moss, former University of Miami and Wisconsin backfield coach, needed only six words to sum up his feelings over his new job as Florida State head football coach.

"I am," he said over the long distance wire from Tallahassee, "a little bit dazed."

He paused . . . and then began to expound.

"It's great coming back to Florida. My family and I enjoyed Miami so much while we were there (1954-56) and we're looking forward to seeing our Florida friends again."

Moss, who replaces Maryland-bound Tom Nugent, said terms of his contract would be released Friday but called the pact "very satisfactory."

Moss, who leans to the wide-open brand of football, said he would strive for a balanced attack.

"It all depends on the personnel, of course," he said, "and right now I don't know too much about the players we have.

"But we'll try to mix our running and passing. If we can't run, we'll throw. If we can't throw, we'll run. If we can't do either" — he paused — "we'll probably get beat."

Moss said that high school players recruited by Nugent for FSU before he decided to take the Maryland post would be guaranteed exactly the same terms Nugent offered them.

"I'm sure Tom went after fine prospects," he said, "I'd like to have them at Florida State."

Miami and FSU meet Oct. 3 at Tallahassee. How does Moss feel about that one?

"Well," he said, "it'll be a tough game. We'll just try to outscore UM, same as we did at UM when I was there and FSU was the opponent."

Hurricanes Fight Gators, Road Jinx

The University of Miami launches a crucial weekend of basketball tonight in Gainesville against the University of Florida . . . a team Miami hasn't defeated in Gainesville since 1949.

The Hurricanes, 7-4 for the season, meet Florida, Jacksonville University and Florida State on successive nights on their home courts. The Hurricane frosh will play preliminary games each night.

It was a three straight loss record on a similar trip a year ago which knocked the Hurricanes out of a probable bid to the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

Miami already owns wins over two of the opponents: Florida in the Miami Beach Auditorium and Florida State in the opening round of The Citadel Invitational Tournament.

Bruce Hale's Hurricanes look to Harry Manushaw and Ron Godfrey to give them control of the backboards in all three games and this edge could prove decisive. The Hurricanes will especially outrange the Gators.

Florida has been depending more and more heavily upon its sophomore material and the newcomers have come through very well. Four of them are likely to start Thursday.

Titusville Falls, 57-48, To Cocoa

Herald Service

COCOA — The Cocoa Tigers had to overcome a nine point half-time deficit to defeat the Titusville Terriers, 57 to 48, in a Suncoast Conference basketball game Tuesday night.

Cocoa outscored Titusville 30-12 in the last half to grab the victory and the northern-division lead.

The Tharpe brothers, Roy with 20 points and Danny with 19, were the leading scorers for the Tigers. Don Carver picked up 20 points for the losers, 14 of them coming on a hot spurt in the second quarter.

In the jayvee game the Tigers also won, 48-30, with pint-size Harry Schindehette scoring 16 points for the victors. The Tigers meet Fort Pierce at home Friday night and Boone Creek, Tenn. at the local gym Saturday night.

FSU Signs Moss, Flashy Seminole Attack Promised

By Herald Wire Services

TALLAHASSEE — Perry Moss, who helped coach Miami to three consecutive football victories over the University of Florida, Wednesday was named head coach at Florida State.

Florida and Florida State became arch rivals in a football series that started last season with a Florida win.

Moss, 32 and a "comer" in college coaching circles, has been backfield coach at Wisconsin the past two years and helped field powerful teams at Miami and Louisiana State in the early and mid-50's.

Moss said he will use the same type of versatile, wide-open offense as his predecessor, Tom Nugent, who quit to head the University of Maryland football staff.

Moss said he hoped to keep as many members of the staff as possible, but at least three are reported ready to accompany Nugent to Maryland.

The three which Nugent has indicated he wanted to take with him are Line Coach Bob Harbison, Backfield Coach Frank Toomey and Lee Corso, a former FSU quarterback who helps with the backfield.

Nugent said: "I've known Perry for several years and I have always regarded him as a fine fellow and a good, sound coach. I want to wish him a lot of luck in his new assignment."

Moss, now 32, quarterbacked the Illinois team which routed UCLA in the 1947 Rose Bowl, 45-14. He quarterbacked the Tulsa football team in 1944 before going into the Air Force for two years. He also played one year with the professional Green Bay Packers.

Moss served as an assistant at Miami, LSU, University of Washington and University of Illinois before going to Wisconsin.

His salary and other terms will not be disclosed until final Board of Control approval Friday. But this is strictly routine and his selection by the FSU Athletic Committee and President Robert M. Strozier cinches the deal.

Moss will not serve in the dual capacity of coach and athletic director as Nugent did. An athletic director will be picked later, Strozier said.

Nugent was paid $13,000 a year for the two jobs. He was scheduled for a $1,000 raise.

Strozier declined to say whether Moss would get the same, more or less. But earlier he commented that if FSU picked a young coach on his way up, he'd be paid less than an established "name" coach.

While Moss was coaching the backfield at Miami under Andy Gustafson, in 1954-55-56, the Hurricanes beat Florida, 14-0, 7-6, and 20-7. During those years, Miami's overall record was 22 wins, five losses and one tie.

Plenty of Objects Offered for Use In Junior Museum

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

THE PALM BEACHES — All roads lead to the museum, the one the Junior Welfare League is working to establish. Just where the museum will be located is the $64,000 question.

However the girls have many sites in view including one they particularly favor — but whether or not they get it depends on the generosity of the city fathers — a gallant group who will find it difficult to withstand the charming Junior Leaguers.

MRS. SMITH

The League has the promise and the gifts of many objects of interest and exhibitions. Just the other day they received a notable shell collection. Mrs. Charles S. Quay, 349 Nottingham Blvd., has a rare carved image from either China or Japan that is used to keep away evil spirits.

She has said that just as soon as the League has a building, that image — rather horrendous looking —will be theirs to keep away the evil spirits.

"We'll have no trouble collecting interesting material," said Joyce (Mrs. W. A.) Foster. "We must just find the right location."

The museum will be administered by a museum guild, now in process of organization. It has been taken under the wing of the National Foundation for Junior Museums.

John Ripley Forbes, national director, is coming down next week to help launch this ambitious project, which will be of the greatest interest to boys and girls of all ages and to grampas and grammas, too.

Mr. Forbes Has Busy Schedule

WHEN MR. FORBES ARRIVES he will find himself caught up in a hurricane wind of activities. On Monday morning at 10 there'll be a Round Table discussion with the museum committee at the home of Mrs. Frank Taylor, 128 E. Lakewood Rd. At 4 that afternoon there's to be an invitational tea in his honor at the Norton Art Gallery with (Margaret) Mrs. Jefferson Powell in charge. Then at 6:30 Monday there'll be a press party for him at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Chapman, 201 11th St. That's just about enough for Monday, but then the next day is TUESDAY. Events of the day begin with a breakfast for men at 9 a.m. at the Howard Johnson restaurant, Mrs. W. A. Stockton in charge. Mr. Forbes will then speak at the Rotary Club luncheon at the George Washington Hotel.

From 3 to 6 p.m. there will be a tea at the home of Mrs. Frank Bateman, 209 Banyan Rd., Palm Beach, for the formation of the Museum Guild, to be followed by a dinner at the Everglades Club with the board of directors. Clipping Shows First Sun Dance

FIRST SEMINOLE SUN DANCE was 43 years ago on March 8-10, (1916). Mrs. Barnet A. Maxfield has an old clipping showing pictures taken at that history making event.

"I saved the clipping because Edna (Mrs. J. T.) DeBerry and I happened to be in one. We are over here at the right in those large hats, and they were very pretty hats, too," she recalled.

"The picture was taken of Mrs. Elmer Schultz who was wheeling her son Ellsworth in a stroller in the baby parade." (Ellsworth Schultz now lives in Lake Worth).

Wheel chairs—afromobiles—were the accepted mode of getting from here to there, and so the mayor of the town, the late Winton A. Dutch, and other dignitaries of tha parade were pictured in these chairs.

"The Big Store" — later the Palm Beach Mercantile Co., and now a thing of the past — was one of those contributing a float, while other pictures showed the crowds that lined Clematis Ave., and filled the grand stand where the Kress Store now stands. It was then the site of the court house.

Decorated bicycles were important parade entries then.

The Seminole Sun Dance was so named by the late J. B. O'Hara, and the late Stanley C. Warrick is remembered as the director general and leading spirit of this celebration which is now being revived.

Indians were brought in from the Glades and "housed" in chickees near town. They performed their green corn dance for the benefit of the public for the first time.

The Sun Dance was a dazzling event in the 1900's and continued so for many years. The Jaycees, who are sponsoring the event in April are determined that once again the Sun Dance will serve as a seasonal milestone.

'Cavalcade of Song' Slated

NEXT EVENT in the Civic Music Association series will be The Cavalcade of Song, a chorus of 18 male voices and a girl soloist, conducted by Ray Hunter. The soloist is pretty Carol Jones. Lallie (Mrs. F. C.) Wrecking Crews Pick Up Cars After Seaboard Wreck
. . . eight of 12 cars of Seaboard Palmland spilled at Polk City

12 Persons Are Injured In Seaboard Derailment

POLK CITY, Fla. —(UPI) —Sleeping passengers were hurled from their berths as eight cars of a seaboard railroad passenger train jumped the track early Wednesday.

The State Patrol said 12 of the 23 passengers and five crewmen aboard the Miami to Jacksonville train were injured. Only nine required treatment, and only seven were hospitalized.

Among those hospitalized were two children and the 70-year-old conductor, who was the most seriously hurt.

The railroad said the train jumped a broken rail joint at about 2 a.m. in a wooded area north of Polk City. Officials said indications were the rail might have broken after the engine crossed it.

The engine was not derailed. But eight of the 12 cars left the tracks. These included two passenger cars and six mail cars.

Three of the express cars overturned. Two hurtled down an embankment into a ditch and one landed on its side across a rural road. The rest of the cars remained upright, although several teetered on the edge of the ditch. Wheels were torn off and track was ripped up.

"We were lucky our car didn't turnover," said Conductor James H. Granger, 70, of Waldo. Granger was in the smoker when he felt a "tremendous jar." He said most of the people in berths were thrown out.

Granger, who planned to retire next month after 47 years with the railroad, was hospitalized in fair condition with chest and head injuries.

Two of the injured passengers were Mrs. Betty Arocho, 34, of Miami, and her 3-year-old daughter, Cynthia.

She said she was awake in her seat and her child was sleeping on the seat in front of her. She said she caught the baby as they were hurled to the floor.

"A big fellow fell on top of me. He almost killed me," she said. She said the car was tilted at a steep angle, but she stayed in it for an hour, until help came.

Passengers routed into the cool morning air built fires along the embankment to keep warm.

Granger and Mrs. Arocho and her child were three of those hospitalized, all at Winter Haven. The others were a Negro porter, Harrington Chandler, 47, of Starke; Blanche McCubbin, 54, Miami, a passenger; Mrs. James Lidnsey of Troy, Ala., and her two-month-old baby, Theresa, both held for observation, also passengers.

None were hurt seriously, except Granger.

Wrecker crews cleared the tracks for traffic Wednesday. Trains were from one to three and a half hours late between Miami and Jacksonville Wednesday, but were on normal schedules Wednesday night.

Kidnap Tale Unfounded, Says FBI

MACON, Ga. —(P)— A woman's claim that she and her young son were kidnaped in Orlando, Fla., and brought to Macon has been termed unfounded by the FBI.

N. B. Johnson, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI said Tuesday night Mrs. Dorothy Patrick was brought to Macon by a man she had known for 11 days before leaving Orlando.

Mrs. Patrick had told authorities here Monday that the man had forced her and her 2-year-old son to leave Orlando with him. She also said, according to police that she and her son fled from the man's car at a Macon intersection when the vehicle ran out of gas.

The FBI later questioned the man. The agency declined to identify him.

Johnson said no evidence had been found to support the woman's claim that the man told her that her husband had paid him to "take you off somewhere and leave you."

The FBI agent said her husband and other relatives were aware of her departure, however.

No charges have been filed in the case.

Vote Books Open Friday Evenings

LAKE WORTH — The city clerk's office will remain open Friday evenings for the next several weeks to permit residents to reregister for voting.

All voters must reregister to be eligible to cast ballots in the April municipal elections.

City Clerk Ruth U. Fales said response to the Friday night openings had been favorable.

She said she hoped it would enable working men and women to get their names on the books prior to the March 17 closing.

Mrs. Fales said that 2,445 persons had registered as of Tuesday morning. All re-registrants are asked to bring county cards and naturalization papers.

Surprise Vote Ups Juice Rule

LAKELAND —(UPI)— The Florida Citrus Commission, after a hot debate, voted 8-4 Wednesday to raise the minimum standards of fruit going into frozen orange concentrate.

The split decision was a major victory for concentrators, who had fought for weeks over the proposal with fresh fruit shippers.

The vote followed a two-hour hearing at which concentrators accused members of the fresh fruit industry of trying to run their business.

The concentrators, led by R. C. Wooten, chairman of the concentrators advisory committee, told the commission that if the quality of concentrate was not improved, the entire industry would suffer.

Hypoluxo Resident Kills Self

Authorities said LeRoy Sidman, assistant manager of Gibralter Mortgage Co., left a four-page note indicating he was despondent over financial problems.

Sidman's wife, Patricia, told Deputy Sheriff Hugh Anderson that she saw her husband pull into the driveway of their home at 311 N. Atlantic Ave. shortly after 10 a.m.

Assuming he was doing some paper work in the car, she said she left him alone. He was dead when she went out to get him for lunch.

Anderson said Sidman, who had two school-age children, shot himself with an automatic pistol. The body was taken to McRae Funeral Home in Lake Worth.

Havana's History Recalled

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE BEACH—The business end of 400 cannon, shielded by thick walls of big castles, greeted steamer travelers into Havana harbor a century ago, marking another of the many periods Cubans have fought in the name of freedom.

The story of the typical tourist greeting by Havana 100 years ago was recorded by a South Carolina State Normal College professor, who taught the mother of Mrs. John O. LaBrie, Melbourne Beach.

Her mother, Mrs. W. Beverly Montgomery, cut Prof. H. P. Archer's story out of a church newspaper and pasted it in a scrapbook. Mrs. LaBrie, thinking the account would be of interest during this latest Cuban revolt dug the yellowed scrapbook up for The Herald.

The professor's 100-year-old account of his Havana entry said:

"On a good ship, the Nurnberg, a German steamer, it takes 52 hours from New Orlenas to Havana.

"Into the harbor, entrance can not be made after sunset and before sunrise. No matter what may be the condition of the ship, its officers, crew, or passengers, it must stand out in the gulf until those times.

"At the mouth of the harbor, Moro and the other castles stand with 400 threatening guns, and would open upon and sink any ship that dared to defy them, and enforce the inexorable law of the island.

"The steamer, if allowed, enters the harbor and anchors a mile from the wharf. Immediately, boats to convey the passengers, like sharks, abound."

His article spoke of meeting "Capt. Eads and his partner, Capt. Andrews," of the Corps of Army Engineers, who constructed jetties in the harbor to aid navigation by providing deeper water so large vessels could be accommodated.

"In spite of all opposition and most unfriendly prediction of the learned Engineer Corps of our country, he (Eads) has achieved a success, which will make his name immortal, and change the trade of a continent as great as that over which Venice mourns, and England now rejoices by the Suez Canal."

'Extra' Expenses Put Under Study

TALLAHASSEE —(P)— A key legislator said Tuesday the costs of Florida's public school program may get out of hand with expenses mounting "at both ends and the middle."

Wilson Carraway, Tallahassee banker who will be chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he considered the state's primary duty was to support the regular elementary and high school educational programs.

He asked for cost breakdowns on other parts of the educational program, such as kindergartens, adult education, summer recreation programs, and special education for retarded and exceptional children.

Carraway and other members of Senate and House appropriations committees questioned School Superintendent Thomas Bailey during hearings on budget requests of state agencies for the next biennium. The Legislature will be appropriating money when it meets in April and May.

Bailey reminded the legislators the object of the state minimum foundation program was to guarantee every child in Florida an adequate education, no matter whether he happened to be going to school in a poor or a rich county.

Aid the state gives to counties under the minimum foundation program varies widely in proportion to the ability of the county to pay, Bailey said.

"I know you as legislators don't live to levy taxes," Bailey said, "but I believe the only way to get everyone in the state to help support schools is through the state taxing machinery.

"Any of you who condemn schools to the local property taxes would be condemning them to mediocre programs," he said.

The State Department of Education has asked nearly 31 million dollars to help counties build new schools in biennium starting July 1.

This would be a continuation of a program started two years ago, with a 23 million dollar appropriation. To get the state funds, counties must match the money, but the 1957 Legislature helped by voting to give them 18 million dollars a year from sales tax income.

Legislators tossed numerous questions at Bailey about workings of the state education program.

Bailey said many school teachers had part time jobs in addition to school jobs. Some in Dade County work at race tracks, and a number teach adult education courses at night.

Sen. Tom Adams of Orange Park said he doubted the propriety of using the teachers to staff the night classes and Sen. J. Emory Cross of Gainesville commented the state perhaps should pay the teachers an adequate salary and prohibit them from taking other jobs.

West Gate Man Held In Assault

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A 31-year-old West Gate man was being held in county jail Wednesday for investigation of the rape of a 19-year-old mother of one.

He was identified as Robert Longwell, a roofer of 2559 Saginaw Dr.

Authorities said Longwell allegedly attacked the girl while he was taking her home after a date with his younger brother. The three had been out together. Though married, the girl is separated from her husband.

Authorities said he took the girl to a desolate spot on the extension of Blue Heron Blvd., in Riviera Beach, where he forced her to submit after a struggle. The incident occurred after midnight.

Georgia Academy Loss Light

Riverside Cadets Hit By 2nd Blaze in Week

HOLLYWOOD — Fire struck at Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, Ga., Wednesday morning, but it was nothing like the $200,000 blaze that forced the school to close up winter quarters here last week.

Damage was estimated at between $200 and $300 by Assistant Fire Chief John Phillips of Gainesville.

The blaze was discovered at 11 a.m. in the junior barracks, which houses about 150 of the academy's 750 cadets.

"It apparently started in the ceiling and damaged a wall and the roof," Phillips said. "We were lucky. In three minutes the fire might have really been serious."

Earlier Associated Press reports of extensive damage were scoffed at by Col. J. L. Beaver, superintendent of the academy.

"The two boys who lived in the room didn't lose a single belonging," he told The Herald by telephone.

Firemen from four cities battled the Hollywood fire Jan. 5 for two hours. It was the worst fire here in 10 years. Firemen said the cause was probably careless smoking by a cadet.

City building inspectors have recommended the 35-year-old former luxury hotel be torn down. No one was in the Gainesville barracks when the fire was reported, Col. Beaver said. Cadets were all in class

Sooners Don't Dig Those New Dugouts

Oklahoma 'Insulted,' Wants to Quit Bowl

'Pro Bowl' talk Revived . . . Page 2D

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma, sizzling over insults hurled at its won't-sit-down football players New Year's Day, Wednesday proclaimed it doesn't "have to go" to the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma's Board of Regents asked the Big Eight Conference to amend the contract requiring the league champion to play in the game, and at least one Orange Bowl Committeeman agreed that would be a splendid idea.

President George L. Cross said his request stemmed directly from the hassle over Oklahoma players not using a knee-high dugout for its substitutes during the 21-6 victory over Syracuse New Year's Day. The Sooners were pelted with insults, paper cups and ice cubes by irate box seat fans who paid $7.50 to see a bunch of broad backs.

"I want to go on record to this board (Oklahoma Board of Regents) that our team will not go to Miami again until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior at the sideline," Cross said in Norman, Oklahoma.

"If there isn't a clear understanding about that behavior," fired OB Committeeman Van C. Kussrow, "we don't want that team back. We paid Oklahoma to come here, they didn't pay us."

Cross said the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level.

Kussrow could only gasp at this.

"And I," he finally said, "was one of the men who negotiated the contract which brought Oklahoma here."

Under terms of the new three-year contract which started with the Oklahoma-Syracuse contest, no Big Eight team can appear in the Orange Bowl two years in a row. The rule was waived this year due to the Bowl's Silver Anniversary, but Oklahoma now is ineligible for the game until 1961.

A just-expired five-year contract called for the Big Eight champion to meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. Oklahoma played in the Orange Bowl twice — defeating Maryland in 1954 and 1956 under that pact. The Sooners also beat Duke in 1958 and lost to Tennessee in 1939.

Cross proposed that the Big Eight select one of its members, but not necessarily the champion, to play in the Orange Bowl until the contract runs out. (The present contract definitely calls for the champion unless the same team wins the title two years in a row.

He told the regents he thinks the Orange Bowl will welcome such an amendment as an "out." He said he thought Oklahomans and Miamians were "bored with each other."

"I would not use the word 'bored'," said Kussrow. "But my personal feeling is that we might be better off choosing a team at large.

"Oklahoma can only come here in 1961.

Ike Against Stiffening Integration

Says Voting Rights More Important

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected the idea of new federal legislation to enforce public school integration. He said it was more important for the new Congresss to strengthen Negro voting rights.

Eisenhower made the statement during an unprecedented 50-minute question-and-answer session with more than 500 members of the National Press Club which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The President said that once the right to vote is firmly guaranteed by federal law, state and local voters would solve the school problem and insure the "proper observance of their other rights."

Eisenhower described as "tragic" the fact that public schools were shut down in some areas to avoid compliance with Federal Court integration orders. He said the image of America was being damaged overseas because thousands of children were being deprived of their rightful education.

The President also covered these subjects:

FEDERAL ECONOMY — A balanced budget and stabilized cost of living would increase chances for tax relief. However, he is not thinking in terms of personal income tax cuts in 1960. He warned special pressure groups to lay off demands for heavy federal spending in their areas.

POLITICS — He will take a hand in the selection of a 1960 Republican presidential nominee if the front-runner turns out to be a man whose basic philosophy clashes with his. He said there were at least a dozen "fine virile men in the Republican Party I could gladly support."

MISSILES — Russia undoubtedly is ahead of the U.S. in some phases of rocket development and it would be "stupid" to assume otherwise. But U.S. scientists have made "very remarkable progress" in a comparatively short time. He has the fullest confidence in the "balanced" American approach to defense.

RUSSIA — Eisenhower would welcome more visits like that of Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. On the

Warning on Budget Pleas to Congress

Don't Bypass Ike, Secret Note Says

It Aims At Defense Officials

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's budget chief has warned defense officials against going over the President's head and asking Congress for more military funds than the new budget provides.

The edict was laid down in a secret memo which Budget Director Maurice H. Stans sent two weeks ago to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. It ruled out both public and secret bids to Congress for more money.

While the memo did not threaten any reprisals if the order was disobeyed, it said "executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations."

The memorandum was made public at a time when many Democrats were complaining that the President's new defense budget was sacrificing national security in favor of a balanced budget.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 31, fell into the hands of Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D. Pa.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, who made it available to United Press International.

Flood denounced Stans' directive as a "shocking" attempt to impose a "gag-rule" on Defense witnesses.

He called for an immediate inquiry into what he termed this "latest affront" to congressional dignity.

"What kind of groveling, heel-clicking faceless wonders will this memorandum make of Defense Department witnesses before the armed services and appropriations committees of the Congress?" Flood demanded.

"It is a sham and a fraud to say that this memorandum is other than a deliberately-intended threat and gag to witnesses. It is what the letter leaves unsaid that is the true evil! The Sword of Damocles indeed . . . in this atmosphere, Machiavelli would be a rank amateur."

The Stans memorandum said in part:

"It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record."

The memo said direct congressional questions must be answered frankly. But it said any witness "who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget" should point out that Eisenhower's decision was reached "from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of overriding national policy."

Trujillo Finds 3 Is a Crowd; Puts Chill on Batista, Peron

By PEGGE PARKER
Herald Special Writer

CUIDAD Trujillo, Domincan Republic — There is a crowd. And no one is more painfully aware of it than unloved, unwanted, unemployed dictators.

Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo and his two deposed colleagues, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and Juan Peron of Argentina, have agreed to ignore each other.

They live within a few blocks of each other here, but they have not met. They don't want to meet.

Their relationship is icily formal. And it is as clear as the blue waters of the Caribbean along side this dictatorship paradise that any untoward delay in the departure of Batista's 150 refugees will be met with, "Here's your sombrero, what's your hurry?"

Batista is keeping himself occupied these days with a depressing mixture of memories and regrets. He has broken the silence of his gloomy meditations—only once, releasing a statement Wednesday that he was "forced" to flee because he was short of arms.

Written law for granting asylum, plus the gentlemen's agreement among Latin American bosses (who never know who will be next), was sufficient assurance for Batista to fly here in wildest haste.

But as an American businessman here put it: "Trujillo does business only with winners, even if he hates their guts. He has already recognized Castro and wants no political identity with Batista, his party, or his hangers-on."

To Batista's embarrassment, the Trujillo government already has hinted it may turn over his four evacuation planes to Castro.

When Perez Jimenez fled Venezuela, Trujillo promptly returned that plane to the new Venezuelan government. It would surprise no one if Batista receives the same treatment.

Although Trujillo set up Batista with a plush ultra-modern bungalow next door to his own castle-in-Spain-style Foreign Office, he has snubbed him completely. Trujillo has made no "courtesy gestures" whatsoever.

New Auxiliary Building

Herald Expands Press Facilities

Six high-speed newspaper presses soon will thunder out another tribute to Miami's dynamic population progress.

They are being installed by The Miami Herald in a new auxiliary building in the city's Northwest section.

The additional, full-color units will go into operation this spring, in March or April, General Manager James L. Knight announced Wednesday.

The equipment will bridge the gap pending completion of The Herald's new 20-million-dollar building which will rise between Venetian and MacArthur causeways on Biscayne Bay.

Plans for the big central building call for 59 presses.

"But our circulation growth has been so rapid that we cannot wait for completion of the new plant," Knight pointed out.

The extra equipment will mark a sharp jump in printing capacity over The Herald's current 32 units in operation at the present downtown location.

The auxiliary plant will remain in operation even after opening of the new building, the general manager said.

"The equipment will enable the paper to solve many production problems which have developed in our circulation growth," he explained. It probably will be used to produce The Herald's state editions and possibly some of its suburban issues.

The auxiliary building fronts on NW 24th Ave. at 23rd St. Its 21,000 square feet will provide space for 24 units if needed, and will house complete wrapping, bundling and mailing equipment.

Gearing to meet the challenge of South Florida's dramatic growth, The Herald already had acquired warehouse facilities across the Seaboard Airline tracks from the new auxiliary building. The warehouse added storage space for 7,500 tons of newsprint. The facilities will be served by their

New Panama Coast Line Law Sticks

PANAMA CITY, Panama — (AP) — The National Assembly unanimously rejected a U.S. request for reconsideration of its law extending Panama's territorial waters. The extension to 12 miles boxes in the Panama Canal entrances.

An assembly resolution asked friendly nations to support the extension from the previous three-mile limit. The law passed last month promised free passage to innocent shipping.

During a debate on the U.S. request, former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd called for Panama to receive half of the gross revenue from the canal, which is operated by the U.S. under long-term treaty.

Boyd, who has presidential ambitions, asserted that the U.S. makes 100 million dollars from the canal while paying Panama only $1,900,000 a year. He said Panama was not seeking a voice in canal administration but considered half of the total income as its fair share.

The Panama Canal Co. reported that in the year ending July 1 it collected nearly 43 million dollars in tolls and made a net profit of $2,656,000. The U.S. pays Panama $1,930,000 a year for use of the 10-mile-wide canal strip, which includes three miles of the water off each end.

Goldwater Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican senators Wednesday postponed for a week a showdown vote on the question of installing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as their campaign chairman.

The postponement was announced by Sen. Styles Bridges (New Hampshire), chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, as he left a closed meeting of his Republican colleagues.

The senators had assembled to consider a proposed rule change which would let those GOP senators seeking reelection next year choose the campaign chairman. This move apparently would assure the selection of Goldwater.

No Strike Seen Over PAA's 'No'

CAPE CANAVERAL — Pan American World Airways Wednesday turned down two worker demands, but a worker representative said he didn't think the action would touch off a strike.

J. W. Morgan of the Teamsters union, who represented the workers at an afternoon grievance meeting, said PAA's 250 stock clerks were discussing joining the Teamsters at a Wednesday night emergency meeting but probably wouldn't vote to strike.

At Wednesday's grievance meeting PAA said it refused to remove a letter of reprimand from an employe's personnel file and also refused to recognize three clerks as a "grievance committee" representing all the clerks here.

The company agreed to investigate worker charges that seniority was ignored in assigning overtime work at one of PAA's storerooms last Saturday.

Fleming said the letter of reprimand, for a violation of a company regulation, had been "properly assigned and would stand." The name of the employe involved was withheld.

He Sees 'Years of Danger'

Senate Unit Backs Up Dulles on Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won firm backing from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday for his insistence on the right of Western Allies to keep their troops in Berlin.

A resolution supporting this stand was informally approved during a closed-door briefing by Dulles on the international situation. The resolution also backs Dulles' insistence on maintaining free access to the city inside Communist-dominated East Germany.

Dulles called on the American people to face up to years "full of danger" with self-sacrifice and self-discipline.

"We shall need the national will to stand firm in the face of the aggressive threats and probings from the Sino-Soviet bloc," he said.

Formal action on the resolution, aimed at voicing the committee's sentiment in advance of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's talks this weekend with President Eisenhower and Dulles, was held up pending further discussion.

Dulles told the committee the need for "austerity and sacrifice" may continue for generations.

"We may face a period even harder than we have become used to," he said.

The secretary declared:

"The price of failure would be the destruction of all our national objectives. . . We must press on with courage to build surer foundations for the interdependent world community of which we are a part.

"This will call for austerity and sacrifice on the part of all."

Dulles told the committee U. S. foreign policy has three basic purposes: To block aggressive force, to promote human dignity and freedom, and to stimulate economic growth and inter-dependence.

"These goals are not attainable in a few years, but will require decades and perhaps even generations."

Dulles said the primary threat is the rapid economic and industrial growth of Red China and the Soviet bloc through forced labor.

The U.S. must stand firm in the face of Communist threats and probings he said and make "whatever unusual sacrifices may be necessary."

Pickets Dog His Footsteps

Kremlinite Mikoyan Wined And Dined by Wall Streeters

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Kremlin finally shook hands Wednesday with Wall Street — its ancient capitalist whipping boy — as Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan lunched with some of America's top financiers.

In a highlight of his visit to this country, Mikoyan walked into the City Bank Farmers Trust Co. building at 22 William St. as luncheon guest of banking representatives.

Police lines were posted in the famed financial district to keep the curious at a distance.

About 10 anti-Communist pickets, headed by their leader, Bela Fabian, handed out leaflets in the area. As Mikoyan emerged after lunch, they shouted: "Red butcher, Red butcher . . . murderer, murderer, murderer."

Fabian, head of a Hungarian refugee group, has announced that he has 1,000 pickets ready to harass Mikoyan during the Soviet official's two-day visit here. Tuesday night, however, he gathered only about 20 for Mikoyan's arrival at Idlewild Airport, and in Wall Street mustered only half that number.

New York City has assigned some 500 police to keep demonstrators in hand, in a display of security unmatched except for visits here of the President of the U.S.

Meanwhile back in Moscow, a radio commentator, ignoring past picket incidents, lauded the warmth and friendliness of Mikoyan's reception here. The broadcaster said it proved "how much the people of our two countries want to live in peace with each other and how alien to them is the cold war."

Added the commentator: "There are no differences between Americans and Russians that could cause us to fight each other."

Winter Hits North Again

CHICAGO — (AP) — Winter started a vigorous comeback Wednesday as a broad front of Arctic air plunged southward into the midcontinent.

Temperatures tumbled to near zero at noon in North Dakota and were expected to reach 15 below by early Thursday in northern Minnesota.

Colder weather was in store for much of the area from the Rockies to the Appalachians by Thursday afternoon.

Snow pelted eastern North Dakota and Minnesota. Snow falling in the Montana mountains cut visibility to half a mile.

Oklahoma 'Insulted,' Wants to Quit Bowl

'Pro Bowl' talk Revived . . . Page 2D

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma, sizzling over insults hurled at its won't-sit-down football players—New Year's Day, Wednesday proclaimed it doesn't "have to go" to the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma's Board of Regents asked the Big Eight Conference to amend the contract requiring the league champion to play in the game, and at least one Orange Bowl Committeeman agreed that would be a splendid idea.

President George L. Cross said his request stemmed directly from the hassle over Oklahoma players not using a knee-high dugout for its substitutes during the 21-6 victory over Syracuse New Year's Day. The Sooners were pelted with insults, paper cups and ice cubes by irate box seat fans who paid $7.50 to see a bunch of broad backs.

"I want to go on record to this board (Oklahoma Board of Regents) that our team will not go to Miami again until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior at the sideline," Cross said in Norman, Oklahoma.

"If there isn't a clear understanding about that behavior," fired OB Committeeman Van C. Kussrow, "we don't want that team back. We paid Oklahoma to come here, they didn't pay us."

Cross said the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level.

Kussrow could only gasp at this.

"And I," he finally said, "was one of the men who negotiated the contract which brought Oklahoma here."

Under terms of the new three-year contract which started with the Oklahoma-Syracuse contest, no Big Eight team can appear in the Orange Bowl two years in a row. The rule was waived this year due to the Bowl's Silver Anniversary, but Oklahoma now is ineligible for the game until 1961.

A just-expired five-year contract called for the Big Eight champion to meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. Oklahoma played in the Orange Bowl twice — defeating Maryland in 1954 and 1956 — under that pact. The Sooners also beat Duke in 1958 and lost to Tennessee in 1939.

Cross proposed that the Big Eight select one of its members, but not necessarily the champion, to play in the Orange Bowl until the contract runs out. (The present contract definitely calls for the champion unless the same team wins the title two years in a row.

He told the regents he thinks the Orange Bowl will welcome such an amendment as an "out." He said he thought Oklahomans and Miamians were "bored with each other."

"I would not use the word 'bored'," said Kussrow. "But my personal feeling is that we might be better off choosing a team at large.

"Oklahoma can only come here in 1961.

"If we decide to break the

New Auxiliary Building

Herald Expands Press Facilities

Six high-speed newspaper presses soon will thunder out another tribute to Miami's dynamic population progress.

They are being installed by The Miami Herald in a new auxiliary building in the city's Northwest section.

The additional, full-color units will go into operation this spring, in March or April, General Manager James L. Knight announced Wednesday.

The equipment will bridge the gap pending completion of The Herald's new 20-million-dollar building which will rise between Venetian and MacArthur causeways on Biscayne Bay.

Plans for the big central building call for 59 presses.

"But our circulation growth has been so rapid that we cannot wait for completion of the new plant," Knight pointed out.

The extra equipment will mark a sharp jump in printing capacity over The Herald's current 32 units in operation at the present downtown location.

The auxiliary plant will remain in operation even after opening of the new building, the general manager said.

"The equipment will enable the paper to solve many production problems which have developed 'in our circulation growth,'" he explained. It probably will be used to produce The Herald's state editions and possibly some of its suburban issues.

The auxiliary building fronts on NW 24th Ave. at 23rd St. Its 21,000 square feet will provide space for 24 units if needed, and will house complete wrapping, bundling and mailing equipment.

Gearing to meet the challenge of South Florida's dramatic growth, The Herald already had acquired warehouse facilities across the Seaboard Airline tracks from the new auxiliary building. The warehouse added storage space for 7,500 tons of newsprint. The facilities will be served by their

New Panama Coast Line Law Sticks

PANAMA CITY, Panama — (AP) — The National Assembly unanimously rejected a U.S. request for reconsideration of its law extending Panama's territorial waters. The extension to 12 miles boxes in the Panama Canal entrances.

An assembly resolution asked friendly nations to support the extension from the previous three-mile limit. The law passed last month promised free passage to innocent shipping.

During a debate on the U.S. request, former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd called for Panama to receive half of the gross revenue from the canal, which is operated by the U.S. under long-term treaty.

Boyd, who has presidential ambitions, asserted that the U.S. makes 100 million dollars from the canal while paying Panama only $1,900,000 a year. He said Panama was not seeking a voice in canal administration but considered half of the total income as its fair share.

The Panama Canal Co. reported that in the year ending July 1 it collected nearly 43 million dollars in tolls and made a net profit of $2,656,000. The U.S. pays Panama $1,930,000 a year for use of the 10-mile-wide canal strip, which includes three miles of the water off each end.

Goldwater Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican senators Wednesday postponed for a week a showdown vote on the question of installing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as their campaign chairman.

The postponement was announced by Sen. Styles Bridges (New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, as he left a closed meeting of his Republican colleagues.

The senators had assembled to consider a proposed rule change which would let those GOP senators seeking reelection next year choose the campaign chairman. This move apparently would assure the selection of Goldwater.

CAPE CANAVERAL — Pan American World Airways Wednesday turned down two worker demands, but a worker representative said he didn't think the action would touch off a strike.

J. W. Morgan of the Teamsters union, who represented the workers at an afternoon grievance meeting, said PAA's 250 stock clerks were discussing joining the Teamsters at a Wednesday night emergency meeting but probably wouldn't vote to strike.

At Wednesday's grievance meeting PAA said it refused to remove a letter of reprimand from an employe's personnel file and also refused to recognize three clerks as a "grievance committee" representing all the clerks here.

The company agreed to investigate worker charges that seniority was ignored in assigning overtime work at one of PAA's storerooms last Saturday.

Fleming said the letter of reprimand, for a violation of a company regulation, had been "properly assigned and would stand." The name of the employe involved was withheld.

Ike Against Stiffening Integration

Says Voting Rights More Important

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected the idea of new federal legislation to enforce public school integration. He said it was more important for the new Congresss to strengthen Negro voting rights.

Eisenhower made the statement during an unprecedented 50-minute question-and-answer session with more than 500 members of the National Press Club which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The President said that once the right to vote is firmly guaranteed by federal law, state and local voters would solve the school problem and insure the "proper observance of their other rights."

Eisenhower described as "tragic" the fact that public schools were shut down in some areas to avoid compliance with Federal Court integration orders. He said the image of America was being damaged overseas because thousands of children were being deprived of their rightful education.

The President also covered these subjects:

FEDERAL ECONOMY — A balanced budget and stabilized cost of living would increase chances for tax relief. However, he is not thinking in terms of personal income tax cuts in 1960. He warned special pressure groups to lay off demands for heavy federal spending in their areas.

POLITICS — He will take a hand in the selection of a 1960 Republican presidential nominee if the front-runner turns out to be a man whose basic philosophy clashes with his. He said there were at least a dozen "fine virile men in the Republican Party I could gladly support."

MISSILES — Russia undoubtedly is ahead of the U.S. in some phases of rocket development and it would be "stupid" to assume otherwise. But U.S. scientists have made "very remarkable progress" in a comparatively short time. He has the fullest confidence in the "balanced" American approach to defense.

Warning on Budget Pleas to Congress

Don't Bypass Ike, Secret Note Says

It Aims At Defense Officials

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's budget chief has warned defense officials against going over the President's head and asking Congress for more military funds than the new budget provides.

The edict was laid down in a secret memo which Budget Director Maurice H. Stans sent two weeks ago to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. It ruled out both public and secret bids to Congress for more money.

While the memo did not threaten any reprisals if the order was disobeyed, it said "executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations."

The memorandum was made public at a time when many Democrats were complaining that the President's new defense budget was sacrificing national security in favor of a balanced budget.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 31, fell into the hands of Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D. Pa.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, who made it available to United Press International.

Flood denounced Stans' directive as a "shocking" attempt to impose a "gag-rule" on Defense witnesses.

He called for an immediate inquiry into what he termed this "latest affront" to congressional dignity.

"What kind of groveling, heel-clicking, faceless wonders will this memorandum make of Defense Department witnesses before the armed services and appropriations committees of the Congress?" Flood demanded.

"It is a sham and a fraud to say that this memorandum is other than a deliberately-intended threat and gag to witnesses. It is what the letter leaves unsaid that is the true evil! The Sword of Damocles indeed . . . in this atmosphere, Machiavelli would be a rank amateur."

The Stans memorandum said in part:

"It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record."

The memo said direct congressional questions must be answered frankly. But it said any witness "who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget" should point out that Eisenhower's decision was reached "from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of over-riding national policy."

Batista Trujillo Peron

. . . don't invite them to the same party

By PEGGE PARKER
Herald Special Writer

CUIDAD Trujillo, Domincan Republic — There is a crowd. And no one is more painfully aware of it than unloved, unwanted, unemployed dictators.

Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo and his two deposed colleagues, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and Juan Peron of Argentina, have agreed to ignore each other.

They live within a few blocks of each other here, but they have not met. They don't want to meet.

Their relationship is icily formal. And it is as clear as the blue wafers of the Caribbean along side this dictatorship paradise that any untoward delay in the departure of Batista's 150 refugees will be met with "Here's your sombrero, what's your hurry?"

Batista is keeping himself occupied these days with a depressing mixture of memories and regrets. He has broken the silence of his gloomy meditations only once, releasing a statement Wednesday that he was "forced" to flee because he was short of arms.

Written law for granting asylum, plus the gentlemen's agreement among Latin American bosses (who never know who will be next), was sufficient assurance for Batista to fly here in wildest haste.

But as an American businessman here put it: "Trujillo does business only with winners, even if he hates their guts. He has already recognized Castro and wants no political identity with Batista, his party, or his hangers-on."

To Batista's embarrassment, the Trujillo government already has hinted it may turn over his four evacuation planes to Castro.

When Perez Jimenez fled Venezuela, Trujillo promptly returned that plane to the new Venezuelan government. It would surprise no one if Batista receives the same treatment.

Although Trujillo set up Batista with a plush ultra-modern bungalow next door to his own castle-in-Spain-style Foreign Office, he has snubbed him completely. Trujillo has made no "courtesy gestures" whatsoever.

And from the beginning the

He Sees 'Years of Danger'

Senate Unit Backs Up Dulles on Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won firm backing from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday for his insistence on the right of Western Allies to keep their troops in Berlin.

A resolution supporting this stand was informally approved during a closed-door briefing by Dulles on the international situation. The resolution also backs Dulles' insistence on maintaining free access to the city inside Communist-dominated East Germany.

Dulles called on the American people to face up to years "full of danger" with self-sacrifice and self-discipline.

"We shall need the national will to stand firm in the face of the aggressive threats and probings from the Sino-Soviet bloc," he said.

Formal action on the resolution, aimed at voicing the committee's sentiment in advance of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's talks this weekend with President Eisenhower and Dulles, was held up pending further discussion.

Dulles told the committee the need for "austerity and sacrifice" may continue for generations.

"We may face a period even harder than we have become used to," he said.

The secretary declared:

"The price of failure would be the destruction of all our national objectives . . . We must press on with courage to build surer foundations for the interdependent world community of which we are a part.

"This will call for austerity and sacrifice on the part of all."

Dulles told the committee U. S. foreign policy has three basic purposes: To block aggressive force, to promote human dignity and freedom and to stimulate economic growth and inter-dependence.

"These goals are not attainable in a few years, but will require decades and perhaps even generations."

Dulles said the primary threat is the rapid economic and industrial growth of Red China and the Soviet bloc through forced labor.

The U.S. must stand firm in the face of Communist threats and probings, he said, and make "whatever unusual sacrifices may be necessary."

Pickets Dog His Footsteps

Kremlinite Mikoyan Wined And Dined by Wall Streeters

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Kremlin finally shook hands Wednesday with Wall Street — its ancient capitalist whipping boy — as Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan lunched with some of America's top financiers.

In a highlight of his visit to this country, Mikoyan walked into the City Bank Farmers Trust Co. building at 22 William St. as luncheon guest of banking representatives.

Police lines were posted in the famed financial district to keep the curious at a distance.

About 10 anti-Communist pickets, headed by their leader, Bela Fabian, handed out leaflets in the area. As Mikoyan emerged after lunch, they shouted: "Red butcher, Red butcher . . . murderer, murderer, murderer."

Fabian, head of a Hungarian refugee group, has announced that he has 1,000 pickets ready to harass Mikoyan during the Soviet official's two-day visit here. Tuesday night, however, he gathered only about 20 for Mikoyan's arrival at Idlewild Airport, and in Wall Street mustered only half that number.

New York City has assigned some 500 police to keep demonstrators in hand, in a display of security unmatched except for visits here of the President of the U.S.

Meanwhile, back in Moscow, a radio commentator, ignoring past picket incidents, lauded the warmth and friendliness of Mikoyan's reception here. The broadcaster said it proved "how much the people of our two countries want to live in peace with each other and how alien to them is the cold war."

Added the commentator: "There are no differences between Americans and Russians that could cause us to fight each other."

Winter Hits North Again

CHICAGO — (AP) — Winter started a vigorous comeback Wednesday as a broad front of Arctic air plunged southward into the midcontinent.

Temperatures tumbled to near zero at noon in North Dakota and were expected to reach 15 below by early Thursday in northern Minnesota.

Colder weather was in store for much of the area from the Rockies to the Appalachians by Thursday afternoon.

Snow pelted eastern North Dakota and Minnesota. Snow falling in the Montana mountains cut visibility to half a mile.

Cuba Decides to Go On Executing War Criminals

180 Shot; Speedup Ordered

HAVANA —(AP)— Cuba's provisional government appeared determined Wednesday to continue executing Batistans adjudged war criminals, regardless of what the world thinks. Revolutionary tribunals moved swiftly to bring more suspects to trial.

Just how many eventually will die is anybody's guess.

Estimates of the number jailed in the island nation's six provinces swelled from 4,000 to 6,000. Suspects are still being hunted down. Perhaps 5,000 or more remain at large. Some are accused of acting as informers, others of a variety of misdeeds.

Fidel Castro, the civil war victor who now heads the Cuban armed forces, has recommended long terms at hard labor for those convicted of lesser crimes. He reiterated Tuesday night that murderers and traitors must die.

He ordered tribunals to speed the trials. His topflight commanders backed him up.

Castro and other Cubans contend that Cuba has as much right to exterminate war criminals as the Allies had in condemning Nazi leaders at the Nuernberg trials after World War II.

There is evidence of a growing irritation among Cubans over world criticism of the executions, particularly from the U. S.

Cuba's man-in-the-street said the critics failed to condemn atrocities under the dictatorship and that U. S. arms supplied to Batista had contributed to the killing of hundreds of innocent civilians. The U. S. arms shipments were suspended last spring.

It looked for a while early Wednesday as if the revolutionists were relenting.

John J. Skelly, a newsman from Washington accredited at the foreign ministry to distribute government statements to foreign correspondents, gave news agencies a statement saying the provisional government had ordered a suspension of the executions.

Skelly said the statement was authorized by Carlos Franqui, press coordinator at the Presidential Palace and director of the newspaper Revolucion, an organ of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Franqui was quoted as saying the suspension was ordered after Castro conferred Tuesday night with Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and a presidential secretary, Louis Zuch.

But key points in the statement were denied later by the presidential secretariat and by Franqui.

Reporters assigned to the Presidential Palace were told executions in fact are continuing in accordance with due process of law and Castro and Urrutia did not meet Tuesday.

It said both Cuban and foreign newsmen will be invited to watch the trials and names of all persons executed will be published, along with the charges on which they were convicted.

Because of Eye Ailment

Billy Graham Told To Rest, Cut Pace

ROCHESTER, Minn. — (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham will have to take at least a month's rest and then curtail future activities as a result of a serious eye ailment, his personal physician said Wednesday night.

Dr. Kenneth Gieser of Chicago, working with Mayo Clinic physicians, said early tests had confirmed an angio spastic edema of the macula in the left eye. He said the blood vessels back of the retina were not ruptured as was first believed.

(A spastic edema was described as an abnormal swelling of blood vessels brought on by accumulation of serous fluids because of muscle spasms back of the retina.)

Grady Wilson, a Graham associate, said the minister would continue under examination and treatment here, probably for the rest of the week. He said Graham also would take the month's rest which was advised by the doctors.

Wilson said Graham still was planning to undertake the Australian revival campaign, with its start delayed to Feb. 15 instead of the earlier planned Feb. 8 date. But Wilson said the Australian schedule probably would be somewhat shortened.

Wilson said a complete report covering Graham's physical condition was not expected until later as examinations are continuing. He said also it had not yet been decided where Graham might spend the three weeks of ordered rest after he leaves the clinic, expected at the end of this week.

House Group Seeks to Halt Cuba Deaths

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A House Foreign Affairs Committee moved Wednesday night to see what can be done to halt mass executions in Cuba.

Chairman Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) said the group will summon Assistant Secretary of State Roy Rubottom to testify today. Rubottom is in charge of inter-American affairs for the State Department.

Hays said:

"I'm going to ask him what the State Department is going to do to calm Castro down before he depopulates Cuba."

Short of sending in U.S. troops, Hays said, "There's a million things we can do and I think we should do it."

Close to 200 executives have been reported in Cuba since the forces of Fidel Castro overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista two and a half weeks ago.

After saying he had not approved of Batista's methods, Hays added: "This guy Castro is starting off in the same direction, only worse."

Also Wednesday, Sens. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) added protests against the wave of executions.

Bridges said the official killings raise "grave doubt in regard to the integrity of the new regime."

Fulbright told the Senate: "It is deplorable and much to be regretted that they have not been able to move with consideration for orderly processes of law."

Living Room Truly That

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — (AP) — Mrs. Ronald Dean thought she had trouble a few weeks ago when, during a cold spell, her washing machine froze up and flooded her living room.

A neighbor asked Mrs. Dean if her living room rug was growing. "I wondered if she'd lost her mind," Mrs. Dean said.

Her neighbor hadn't, though. On the green carpet where the bird cage had stood, bird seeds were sprouting.

Appeal Set In School Wrangle

NEW YORK —(AP)— The board of education has voted to appeal a court dismissal of charges against two Negro mothers who kept their children out of Harlem schools they said were inferior.

A spokesman for the school system disclosed the action at the end of a conference on the board's tentative 1959-60 budget.

The decision to appeal, made at a special closed board meeting, drew sharp criticism from one of its members. The Rev. Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, only Negro on the nine-member board, said:

"Wittingly or unwittingly, the board has erased the last line of difference between Little Rock and New York."

Instead of returning the case to court, Dr. Taylor said, the board should acknowledge what he called the disparity in the education of white and Negro children and work to "eradicate the inequities."

The board spokesman said that "for ethical and legal reasons, no board official comment on the appeal will be made so as not to prejudice the courts."

Cuban leader has been paying all his own bills.

Presumably, this is the least of Batista's worries. Rumor holds that he carted off upward of 50 million dollars on the plane ride from Havana alone.

The treasure was so frantically guarded at the landing that one of Batista's children got lost in the shuffle and boarded a New Orleans-bound getaway plane. The child is now at Batista's Daytona Beach estate.

Batista's loyal troops dine well on steaks and lobsters served a la carte from the best hotel in town. The daily food bill runs to $150, payable in cash. It is.

Meanwhile Senora Batista has been house-hunting, obviously eager to move out of the government bungalow before Trujillo's hospitality becomes even chillier.

She has personally inspected the penthouse suite of the Hotel El Embajador twice. Ordinarily it rents for $400 a day.

The hotel manager said he would be pleased to extend a diplomatic discount and charge a mere $300 a day — without food. She smiled, sipped a cup of tea and went away.

It has now been learned that the Batista party will move next week into a semi-luxury hotel, also near the sea, where the bill is $35 a day, plus food.

Batista followers have turned the La Paz Hotel lobby into a milling, thronged madhouse of noise and shrill Spanish babble. Juke boxes juke all day long and American-imported slot machines are cranked from dusk to dawn.

And in the same hotel lives Argentina's famed ex, Juan Peron, his pretty secretary and two poodles. He maintains a deaf-dumb-blind attitude toward the entire Cuban situation.

He too is paying his own way, although life these days affords few, if any, flings and parties.

The local cocktail gossip insists Peron is broke, that Evita salted away the chips in Switzerland in her own name, and died without a will.

At any rate, Peron's favorite pastime is pushing a basket around an American-style supermarket called "Wimpy's."

He is the most popular customer in the supermarket. He kids all the girls, drinks coffee at the soda counter, and buys loads of expensive imported foods and lots of steak at a dollar a pound.

Castro's Men Get a Shave

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Three of Fidel Castro's bearded warriors got their pictures in Havana newspapers Wednesday by getting shaves. They said their commanders instructed them to get rid of the whiskers.

However, no general order to that effect has gone out so far and barbershops are uncrowded. Castro retains his beard.

contract, I would suggest doing it immediately. Prospects are not too good in the Big Eight this season."

Ernie Seiler, who joined Kussrow in negotiating the new contract, said he felt the Orange Bowl Committee would take no immediate action.

"This is all news to us," he said. "We'll have to get the full reports before we can do anything definite."

W. G. Ward, OB schedule chairman, also proposed a "take-it-easy" attitude until the situation develops further.

"Oklahoma's football teams have been popular here, and will always be in demand," Ward said.

Approximately 1,000 fans, their view blocked by players refused to buy that New Year's Day.

"Wilkinson, you stink!" was one of the milder comments heard during the second half. Bud Wilkinson is Oklahoma head coach.

Dugouts were added to the Orange Bowl this year to prevent such a situation. Syracuse acceded in the request that players use the dugout.

Tiger Stadium, home of Louisiana State's national football champions, has used similar dugouts for several years. Officials there report "no problem whatsoever."

own railroad sidings along Seaboard's main line.

Miami and The Miami Herald have marched forward hand in hand in South Florida's vibrant growth pattern.

Florida's population has ballooned 60 per cent since 1950, with Dade scoring the largest numerical gain. The county numbers more than 860,000, which is 350,000 more than in 1950. Experts predict between 1¼ and 1½ million residents by 1965.

The Herald became the first Florida paper to break the 400,000 circulation barrier in 1958, scoring a paid Sunday distribution of 414,656 the last Sunday in February.

Daily circulation has swelled from 175,985 in 1950 to an average of 302,264 for the six-month period ended last March 31. Sunday circulation has skyrocketed from 208,746 to a six-month average of 306,584.

The advertising barometer shows the area's progress, too, placing The Herald out front in the nation in weekday advertising and second only to The Los Angeles Times in daily and Sunday totals.

The site of the new bayfront building is being cleared of all existing buildings, Knight said. Meanwhile, plans are being completed preparatory to breaking ground.

Allies Pledge to Act at Once

West Assures Soviet On A-Control Posts

GENEVA — (UPI) — The U.S. and Britain promised Russia Wednesday they will permit installation of nuclear control posts on their territory as soon as an East-West treaty to ban atomic tests is signed.

The assurance was made by U.S. and British delegates during an hour-and-20-minute session of the three-power nuclear conference.

The Western pledge was an attempt to allay apparent Soviet fears that the U.S. and Britain might sidestep accepting a control post network on their soil until posts had been set up in other countries.

In London, meanwhile, authoritative sources said the U.S. and Britain had dispatched identical notes to Moscow Wednesday expressing their readiness to resume the East-West conference on prevention of surprise attacks.

But the Western notes said the scope and agenda of the talks should be firmly determined in advance, the sources said.

The sources said France, Italy and Canada, which had participated on the Western side in the earlier phase on the 10-nation talks in Geneva, backed the Anglo-American stand.

The surprise-attack conference had broken up Dec. 18 without even succeeding in approving an agenda. The Russians in notes earlier this week had called for resumption of the talks today — a target date which the West felt it was physically impossible to meet.

NAPLES, Italy — (UPI) — Salvatore Vecchione, 14, shot and killed a young friend Wednesday in a game of "William Tell."

Original arrangements were for the show to be recorded in advance. It was changed to a live show as a result of alterations in Mikoyan's schedule to permit him to meet Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday and President Eisenhower Saturday.

other hand, he has no intention of trying to reach any sort of formal agreements with Mikoyan in their meeting here Saturday. His hope, he said, is that they can "get behind each other's facial expression, see what we are thinking, (to see) if there is an honest, peaceful motive."

GERMANY — Russia's proposals to demilitarize West Germany amount to "an exercise in futility." But this country is "ready to make any assurances and material moves" to assure the Russians they are in no danger of German attack.

RED CHINA —The rapidly growing industrial and military might of Communist China poses "a rather bleak problem" for both the U.S. and the free nations near the Chinese mainland. He said "we must indeed be watchful."

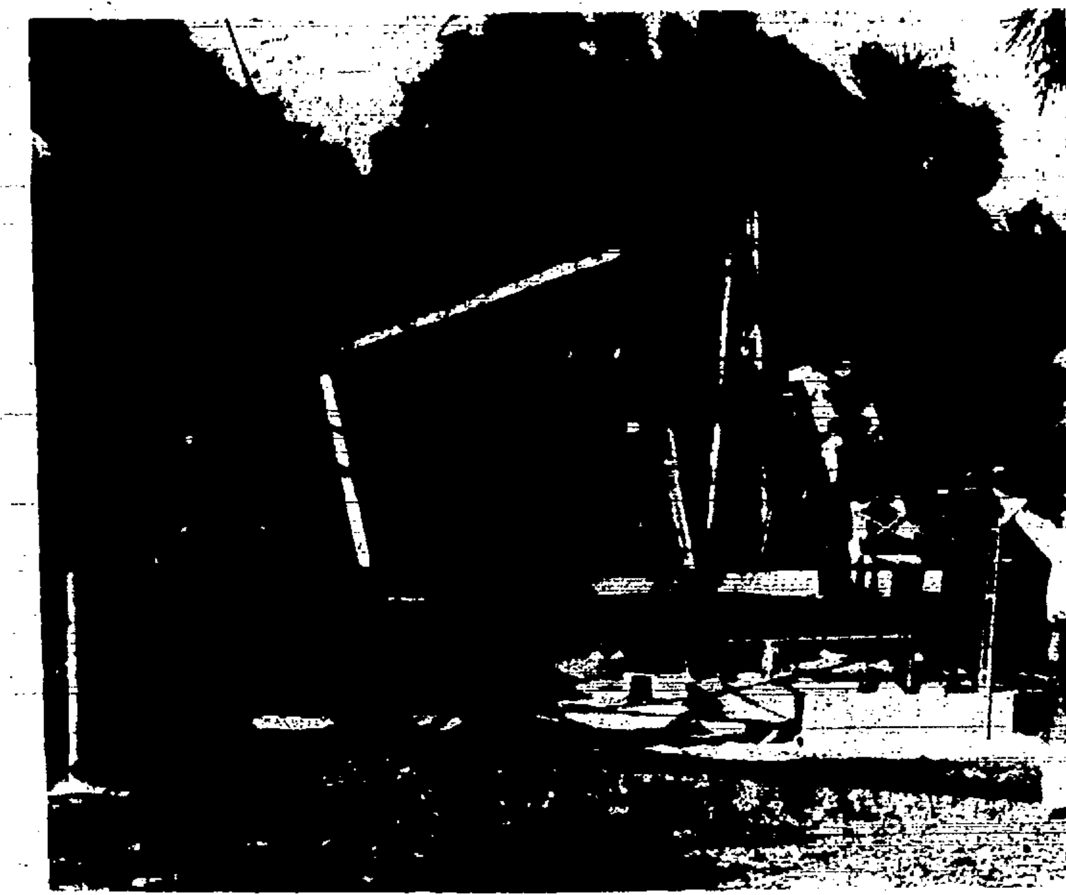
TROUBLE-MAKER: The person who always insists upon telling the truth.



Relic Rebuilt

Extensive repairs are being made to this huge "walking dredge," now in Collier-Seminole State Park at Royal Palm Hammock. The huge machine, an engineering marvel of its day, did much of the work of building the Tamiami Trail across the Everglades more than 30 years ago. It moved by a "walking" movement of its supporting structure, hence its name. The portion which resembles a bridge span at right is a part of the "walking" equipment. Joe Long, Naples contractor, making repairs, indicates a portion that is being rebuilt.

Few at Naples Oppose Moving in County Seat

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — More than half the business people along this city's central business section — the three blocks of Fifth Ave. from East Lake Dr. to Four Corners — favor moving the Collier County seat to Naples.

About a third are undecided or want more information. Less than a seventh are opposed.

Of the 178 businessmen and their employees questioned over three days in a survey by The Herald, 80 favored moving the county seat to Naples, some of them with reluctance because of its effect on Everglades.

Fifty three more wanted to know more about costs and benefits, reasons for the move, what savings it would bring and — in four or five cases — just what was happening.

Only 25 flatly opposed the change and cited reasons given in opposition advertising—that the move would be expensive and result in releasing dozens of county prisoners upon the city streets. Some said having the courthouse here "would bring a lot of politicians, too."

Others said a courthouse "would have a lot of bums sitting around in front of it, chewing tobacco and spitting on the sidewalk."

Supporters urged, "We should have done it 20 years ago; this is the only place for a courthouse."

"We've been looking for an industry and a payroll," said another. "Here it is."

"And it's our own money coming back," pointed out a listener.

"What would Dade County be like if the courthouse were at 40-Mile Bend?" questioned one.

Merchants were in agreement it would bring more trade to the city and anything that brings more trade "is good for us."

Doubtful persons, and even some supporters, said the change "would kill Everglades" which has only the county offices and those of the Collier Development Corp. besides a small fishing industry for payrolls.

Many commented, "This talk about having prisoners hanging around is a lot of eye wash; it's meant to fool idiots." A few insisted they had seen "crowds of riff-raff hanging around Everglades on court days."

The cost was a recurrent theme. A committee appointed by the Collier County Citizens Research Inc., a taxpayers' group, is expected to provide a cost estimate. But some Fifth Ave. businessmen questioned the group's figures even before they were announced.

They declared the committee "is made up only of the rich; it's loaded" and implied the figures would be too.

Meanwhile support of the Naples Jaycees in the task of obtaining the required number of signatures on the petitions requesting the move, was pledged by several Naples groups.

At its Tuesday night meeting the Naples Merchants Association voted support of the moving of the county seat to Naples.

John Rogers, president of the Jaycees, said Wednesday a group of Naples business men had also pledged their support and will aid in placing the petition before the public.

Ad Miller, a real estate broker, was one of the group making the pledge. Miller pointed out the matter must be decided at the polls and he favored the petitions as a means of bringing the matter before the public.

The state law provides that a third of the estimated 4,500 Collier County taxpayers who are registered voters, or between 1,500 and 3,000 must sign the petitions.

These petitions request the County Commission to call a referendum on the proposal to move the county seat. The county seat can be moved by a majority vote in the referendum.

Search on For Missing Boat Skipper

KEY WEST — (UPI) — A fishing boat skipper fell overboard in choppy seas near Dry Tortugas Tuesday night and was feared drowned.

But a Navy plane was dispatched at dawn Wednesday to search for James Worley of Fort Myers Beach.

A crewman aboard Worley's boat, the Three Sisters, radioed that Worley fell overboard at 8:55 p.m.

Several fishing vessels in the area joined in the search during the night by flashing spotlights on the water, and a Navy plane dropped flares, but there was no sign of Worley.

The Coast Guard said it could not determine immediately if Worley was wearing a life jacket or not or the reason he fell overboard.

Dragline Stirs Fuss At Naples

Naples Bureau

NAPLES — Another desk-thumping fuss between Dr. Francis Ford and Councilman Archie Turner broke out Wednesday over whether bids were required for $5,000 worth of dragline work.

The squabble was smoothed over at the end of the council session, but not before Dr. Ford charged that Turner and City Manager Fred Lowdermilk had promised the project ~~to E & I~~ Inc., instead of to Bunnel Piling Co.

They insisted the council had given the manager authority to get the work done without advertising for bids and that Bunnell had not had equipment to do the job at that time.

"We're not mind readers," said Lowdermilk. "We didn't know he was going to buy a dragline."

"You're piddling along on this thing," said Ford. "You got one fellow and his boom broke and now you're lowering the boom on Bunnell."

The other two councilmen said an original offer by an unnamed firm was $37.50 an hour but their machine broke. Lowdermilk said E & I then offered a machine with a shorter boom at $24 an hour.

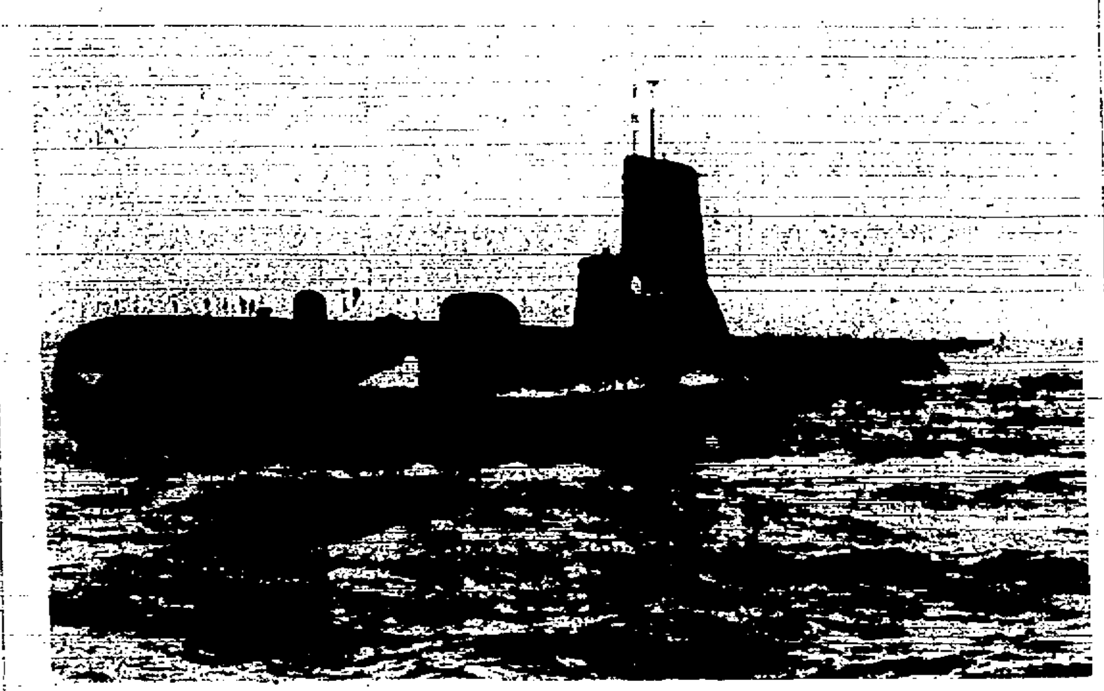
When Ford questioned the legality of refusing Bunnell an opportunity to bid, Turner, as mayor-pro-tem, cut off the discussion.

The argument began again when Lowdermilk declared he found Bunnell had a one and a half yard machine on order but "it's not big enough."

"You two amuse me," said Ford. "You can think of more ways of keeping poor Bunnell out. If he had a 10-yard bucket and a 100-foot boom you two would find something wrong. I say if he wants to bid on a one quart bucket, let him bid."

Councilman Arnie Haynes protested, smilingly, he had "a round-pointed shovel and square one and I'd like to bid."

Turner again ended further discussion.



First To Go

The USS Thornback, a submarine of the "guppy" type, is the first of the 10 Navy ships being transferred from the Key West Naval Base to receive orders. The Thornback, skippered by Lt. Cmdr. Franklin G. Babbitt, has received orders to move to Charleston, S. C. and will be the first sub assigned to duty there. She is due in Charleston late this month.

Reserve Doughboys Crack Navy's Stronghold in Keys

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — The Army has succeeded in cracking the Navy's monopoly on this island.

The crack, admittedly, is a small one, but Company "B" of the 317th Military Police Battalion will fly its banner proudly from new headquarters at 903 Duval St., in the heart of this Navy stronghold.

The unit, less than a year old and 100 strong already, will be a fully equipped Military Police Reserve group drawing its members mainly from young Key West men.

Commanding the outfit is Lt. Dick Mooney, 28, who, out of uniform, is a local insurance adjuster.

The new unit has already received basic weapons — rifles, carbines, sub-machine guns. Heavier equipment — radios, jeeps — is now enroute from the Army's quartermaster depot at Fort Stewart, Ga.

The Army's renewed presence here reminds old-timers that Key West once had an important Army garrison which occupied large portions of the island.

After World War I the Army started pulling out of Key West and turning over much of its land to the Navy. Today the Navy maintains a large installation here.

The new Army reserve unit here was reorganized last February after talks between city and county officials and Gen. L. C. Metheney proved encouraging.

Lt. Mooney says the Army's six - month active duty program has proved to be very popular.

Those who join have only to serve six months on active duty and can satisfy the remainder of their military obligation by attending regular weekly meetings of the local reserve unit.

Response to the Army's revival here leads Mooney to think optimistically of having a full reserve battalion — about 400 men — in the Keys before too long.

Plans are afoot to start a company in Marathon where some 15 or 20 young men have already expressed an interest, he says.

"And with the results we've been getting here," he added, "we should be able to start a second Key West company in the near future."

Canadian Navy Jet Crashes

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — The arrival of a squadron of Royal Canadian Navy Air Arm jet fighters here Wednesday was marred by the crash of one of the ships, the first of the eight-plane squadron to land. The pilot was injured, but not seriously.

The pilot, Sub Lt. J. J. Verneaux, is being treated at the Naval Hospital here. His ship "flamed out" as it approached the runway and crashed, naval authorities said.

The squadron, Fighter Squadron 870 of the Canadian Navy air arm, is equipped with single seater planes. It is commanded by Lt. Cmdr. W. J. Walton and includes 16 officers and 100 men.

The squadron is based at Shearwater Naval Air Station, near Halifax, N.S. It will be at Key West for five weeks.

During that time the Canadian flyers will work with U.S. Naval planes and submarines in anti-submarine warfare tactics. During its stay at Key West the Canadian squadron will be based at Boca Ciega Naval Air Station.

Three Canadian Naval transport planes accompanied the jet fighters and brought squadron personnel and equipment here.

La Concha Hotel Sale Completed

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — Sale of the LaConcha hotel, downtown hostelry, to a Miami Beach man for a price "in the neighborhood of a half-million dollars," was completed Wednesday in Jacksonville.

The hotel was purchased by Michael R. Sudakow of Miami Beach from Roger L. Main and associates of Jacksonville. Negotiations on the sale have been in progress for some time.

Main is president of the St. Joe Paper Co., an official of the Florida National Bank here, and heads the Dupont organization.

Sudakow could not be reached for comment Wednesday and his plans for the hotel could not be learned. Claude Neal is resident manager.

The property includes the six-story hotel, containing 127 guest rooms, dining room, and lounge, and the land, which has a frontage of 176 feet on Duval St., principal business thoroughfare, and 184 feet on Fleming St.

Oil Contract Is Awarded

KEY WEST — The Standard Oil Company has been awarded the contract to supply the City Electric System with its fuel oil needs during 1959.

The contract was awarded by the Utility Board at its regular monthly meeting. Standard's bid of $2.42 per barrel for an anticipated purchase of 100,000 barrels was the lowest submitted.

The board disclosed that at a special meeting Jan. 11, it ~~voted to buy~~ from the General Electric Co. a portable power sub-station for $40,020 on the recommendation of the consulting engineers.

The General Electric price was the lowest of several submitted.

Surfacing Of Bay Point Road OKd

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — Residents of Bay Point came away from the County Commission meeting Tuesday night with assurances of immediate improvements on an existing road and a promise of a new hardtop road in the near future.

Some 75 residents of the small mobile home community 15 miles east of Key West attended the meeting to ask "the status of our road."

County Engineer John Goggin said bids were about to be awarded for grading, drainage and waterbinding the existing road — a stretch of less than a mile jointing Bay Point with U.S. 1.

The commission agreed to put in the waterbound road now for immediate relief and, on the motion of Clarence Higgs, approved a hardtop road to Bay Point out of the 1959 secondary road fund.

Abandoned Boats Eyed

NAPLES — Those boats cluttering Naples Bay can be removed if they have been abandoned by the owners. Some discussion recently has noted nearly a dozen half-sunken or apparently abandoned craft along the shorelines.

On Wednesday City Attorney Kirby Smith told Council he had checked with the Corps of Engineers and Coast Guard and found they would approve such removals and that city has the right to do so under its ordinances.

Bond Issue Delay Also Is Sought

By HARRY CAICEEO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — The five-man committee, representing signers of the utility tax repeal petition, Wednesday asked Monroe County Circuit Court here to declare the petition acceptable.

The City Commission threw out the petition Jan. 5 after a commission checking committee ruled invalid, on several legal points, 3,202 signatures of a total 3,669.

The complaint filed Wednesday charged "The rules, standards and requirements for checking the petition . . . are arbitrary, discriminatory, oppressive and contrary to law."

In a separate, but related, legal action Wednesday, Melvin L. Levitt, asked the Circuit Court to postpone a decision in the city bond validation suit, pending outcome of the petition lawsuit.

A hearing on validation of the $2,750,000 revenue bond issue of the city is scheduled for Monday. The bonds, financed by the utility tax, would pay for a multi-million-dollar municipal improvement program.

Levitt, president of the Monroe County Taxpayers Association, is one of five plaintiffs in the petition lawsuit. The others are Sheldon Smith, Louis Fradette, Raymond Robinson and Irvin F. Nolte.

Named defendants are the city, Mayor Delio Cobo, Commissioners S. Joe Fernandez, Louis Elsner, Bill Chappell and Charles Parra; City Clerk Victor Lowe and City Attorney Hilary Albury.

The suit claims that, at the time the petition was filed, the registered electorate totaled less than the 5,498 claimed by the city.

It also maintains the petition bears more than enough signatures to satisfy the required 35 per cent, necessary to make it valid.

The complaint asks a declaratory decree of the court, holding the petition is proper "in a substance and form for consideration."

It also asks the court to require the city to repeal the utility tax, as requested in the petition; or hold a referendum on the levy.

Levitt's separate action, calling for postponement of the validation proceedings, if granted would hold up any action on the improvement program until final disposition of the lawsuit.

20 Officers Study Subs

KEY WEST — A score of foreign junior naval officers from 10 allied nations are taking a special course in anti-submarine warfare at the Fleet Sonar School here.

The officers, handpicked by their respective navies, come from Iran, Pakistan, Haiti, Norway, Peru, Chile, Greece, Brazil, Colombia and Ecuador.

During their eight - week training period, the student officers receive intensive indoctrination in U.S. anti-submarine operations and tactics.

Their program includes classroom lectures plus practical experience aboard submarines and anti-submarine vessels.

Public Beach To Be Filled in

NAPLES — A $5,000 gift by Lester Norris, Texaco executive, will make possible the filling in of the Naples public beach section, it was reported Wednesday by Manager Fred Lowdermilk.

The money will used to dragline fill from a swamp behind the beach, creating a parking place and a decorative lake.

The property was obtained in a consolidation of abandoned street end by agreement with the Naples Company several years ago but the city had no money to make the fill.

Naples also has about five miles of public beach in front of private homes. The public beach eventually would have bathhouse and other facilities.

As Castro Beards Sprout

Palm Beach Chins Go Into Hiding

By ROSE ALLEGATO

WEST PALM BEACH — We're a hair's breadth away from a new fad.

You can see it growing—literally.

But we gals, who plunged, albeit reluctantly, into sacks and chemise, will just have to keep a stiff upper lip while the men in Palm Beach County take a fling at a fad of their own.

There's a rub, though.

What is it?

Why the Castro beard, of course.

Men in Palm Beach County are sheathing their razors and sprouting a chinful of fuzz. Given time, the fuzz will turn into a shaggy jungle of whiskers.

You don't hardly know whom to blame — Castro or the Seminole Sun Dance.

The Sun Dance Committee is sponsoring a whisker contest. They're bringing back the beard to commemorate the golden anniversary of Palm Beach County.

Men can take their pick of a mustache, goatee, sideburns or a full beard to enter the whisker derby.

Norman B. Hart, general chairman of The Sun Dance, said Tuesday that 50 per cent of the calls the Committee is getting these days filters down to one question: "How do you grow a Castro beard?"

If we gals knew we certainly wouldn't tell, would we?

Take heart, though. Comfort yourselves with the thought that it is a passing fancy. After all, remember Elvis and his sideburns. Practically extinct now.

Besides the Sun Dance contest ends April 25.

And if that doesn't work on the whiskers w-e-l-l, we can head to the hill in a 26th of July movement and plot revolution.

Meanwhile, just turn the other cheek.

Tropical's Gain Increases Optimism Over Racing Here

RIGHT OR WRONG, a lot of people watch horse track figures like weathermen for the barometer when a hurricane is approaching. This is why so many are happy over Tropical Park, which concludes its 43-day meeting today, being ahead of last year in betting.

SILBERMAN

They consider Tropical's being two per cent ahead in its handle evidence there are well heeled tourists in our midst. This is particularly true when you consider attendance was off one per cent.

Tropical's success has inspired optimism over Hialeah's meeting which begins Friday. President Saul Silberman, happy over his own success, thinks both Hialeah and Gulfstream will improve over last year's business. General Manager Elmer Vickers shares this feeling.

All of this means more revenue for the state, which collects eight per cent from each dollar. And fans are happy over having 83 more days in which to beat the horses. (The only sure way is with a whip.)

Calumet's Bardstown was the big winner at Tropical, earning $54,150 in winning the Orange Bowl and Tropical handicaps. The total purse distribution was $1,043,000, plus fees for nominations distributed in the stake events.

Luckiest Fans Had $10 Tickets

Some of the highlights of the Tropical meeting were:

—Luckiest ticket holders were the five who had $10 daily double ducats on Jan. 5, when Gray Ace and Toni Mia caused a $919.90 payoff on $2 tickets.

—Steve Brooks won three stakes, riding Bardstown in his two triumphs and piloting Scotland home first in the Miami Beach Handicap.

—Bobby Ussery was the only rider to score four wins in a single day, accomplishing this feat Tuesday.

—One hundred and thirteen jockeys rode at Tropical and this group included four national champions. Ted Atkinson (1944-46), Joe Culmone (tied with Willie Shoemaker in '50) Charlie Burr ('51) and Bill Hartack (55-56-57).

UM Chiefs Backed Moss

PERRY MOSS, former University of Miami backfield coach, is returning to Florida as successor to Tom Nugent at Florida State University. Perry's bid for the job was Helped by recommendations from UM Athletic Director Jack Harding and Coach Andy Gustafson.

GUSTAFSON

HARDING

Two years as an assistant at Wisconsin gave Moss added experience and he is even more mature than when he was with the Hurricanes. Familiarity with football in the state should help Moss in doing a good job with the Seminoles.

With Moss at FSU the football rivalry between the Seminoles and Hurricanes should be even keener. UM's squad won't need any prodding in the game next fall. The Hurricanes will be ambitious to avenge their licking of 1958.

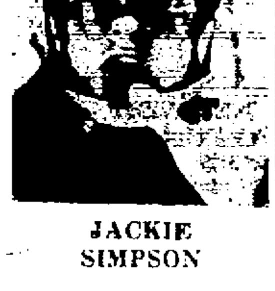
Colts Banking on Simpson

JACKIE SIMPSON, former Edison and Florida star, should be a big help to the Colts next season, Carroll Rosenbloom, president of the Baltimore pro football champions, said Wednesday.



JACKIE SIMPSON

Rosenbloom, vacationing at the Diplomat Hotel is enjoying fun in the sun, which will include attending Hialeah's opening Friday.

"Simpson was raw when he joined us last October after Army service," said Rosenbloom." The team had been formulated, so Coach Weeb Ewbanks didn't have much chance to use Simpson. Next year, Jackie will be one of our offensive backs and if needed can be used on defense, too."

Rosenbloom continued his praise of Simpson, remarking, "He's the kind of player we like to have with us, because he is a team man. Individual stars are not happy with us."

Why Miami Beach Lost NFL Meeting

THE NFL meeting, scheduled Jan. 21 at Philadelphia, was originally booked for Miami. It was moved back to Philly because the doctors did not want Commissioner Bert Bell to make a long trip.

BERT BELL

Despite having to be careful of his health, Bell has enough energy to be a great commissioner. Rosenbloom said, "I don't think anyone would do a better job than Bell. He considers the owners, players and fans and is available for consultation 24 hours a day."

Rosenbloom beat me to the draw about Miami's future prospects of getting into the NFL. He popped the question about Miami as a possible pro team site, before I could ask it.

"Eventually, I think we'll add two cities — but not next year," Rosenbloom said. "Eleven different cities are seeking franchises, but we'll go slow in expanding.

"We would not go into a city where it would hurt a college team. Frankly, I think the pros would help a college team rather than hurt it."

Your reporter is still of the opinion Miami would be a better prospect for the pros five years from now, When we have more than a million people.

Sooners in Roses? Pros in OB? Questions Fly in Dugout Revolt

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Will Oklahoma's Dugout Rebellion bring professional football into the Orange Bowl game?

Did the Sooners engineer their "mutiny" as a first step toward trying to crash California's Rose Bowl in 1961?

Those were the two biggest questions trailing University of Oklahoma's Wednesday announcement that it does not want to return to the Orange Bowl if Sooner players are asked to remain in the new dugouts — a request they ignored in their 21-6 victory over Syracuse two weeks ago despite loud protests from box-seat fans whose vision was blocked.

The answer to both questions could be "yes."

If the Orange Bowl decides to dump Oklahoma's Big Eight Conference altogether, one of the first moves will be an attempt to land the inter-division playoff of the National Football League — the "World Series" of football.

"I don't know that we could get it," said one Orange Bowler, "but I'll say this: The pros are moving in on the colleges everywhere. Why not here?"

The Rose Bowl angle popped up as a possible bit of intrigue tied in with Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson's early-week visit to Los Angeles as a member of the college football national rules committee.

Insiders believe Wilkinson was assured there that the Big Ten will not renew its contract with the Pasadena bowl for 1961. That would leave at least one Rose Bowl spot open for 1961.

With Giants?

Colts Plan Exhibition Tilt Here

By JIMMY BURNS
Herald Sports Editor

Baltimore's Colts, world's pro football champions, are planning an exhibition game at the Orange Bowl, Sept. 5, President Carroll Rosenbloom of the NFL team said here Wednesday.

Rosenbloom said the Colts would try to get the New York Giants, which they beat for the NFL championship in a sudden death playoff last month as the opposing team. Failing in that the Pittsburgh Steelers will provide the opposition.

"The exhibition schedule will be approved at our annual meeting next week at Philadelphia," said Rosenbloom.

Rosenbloom here for a vacation at the Diplomat hotel is concluding arrangement with a local sponsor for the Colts' appearance. Rosenbloom became interested in Miami when the Orioles of the American baseball league chose this city for their spring training camp.

"Baltimore people are still celebrating the Colts' victory over the Giants," said Rosenbloom. "It was a great triumph winning the Western division and then the World's championship. I actually thought we should have won in 1957, but injuries kept us from coming through."

Rosenbloom declared that a strong bench, particularly in linebackers, help Coach Weeb Ewbank and Quarterback Johnny Unitas bring the team through.

"The kids were so close to the title in 1957 that they went into this past season believing in themselves," Rosenbloom continued. "It was nice to win a championship after being in pro football only five years. A good friend of mine, Art Rooney of Pittsburgh never has won."

Pro exhibitions were staged here by the Detroit Lions in 1955-56, when crowds of 26,402 and 20,082 were attracted to the Orange Bowl. The Green Bay Packers appeared here in 1957, but attendance was only 17,377.

Perry's Back, And FSU Has Him
... new head coach Moss 'dazed but happy'

FSU Signs Moss, Flashy Seminole Attack Promised

By Herald Wire Services

TALLAHASSEE — Perry Moss, who helped coach Miami to three consecutive football victories over the University of Florida, Wednesday was named head coach at Florida State.

Florida and Florida State became arch rivals in a football series that started last season with a Florida win.

Moss, 32 and a "comer" in college coaching circles, has been backfield coach at Wisconsin the past two years and helped field powerful teams at Miami and Louisiana State in the early and mid-50's.

Moss said he will use the same type of versatile, wide-open offense as his predecessor, Tom Nugent, who quit to head the University of Maryland football staff.

Moss said he hoped to keep as many members of the staff as possible, but at least three are reported ready to accompany Nugent to Maryland.

The three which Nugent has indicated he wanted to take with him are Line Coach Bob Harbison, Backfield Coach Frank Toomey and Lee Corso, a former FSU quarterback who helps with the backfield.

Nugent said: "I've known Perry for several years and I have always regarded him as a fine fellow and a good, sound coach. I want to wish him a lot of luck in his new assignment."

Moss, now 32, quarterbacked the Illinois team which routed UCLA in the 1947 Rose Bowl, 45-14. He quarterbacked the Tulsa football team in 1944 before going into the Air Force for two years. He also played one year with the professional Green Bay Packers.

Moss served as an assistant at Miami, LSU, University of Washington and University of Illinois before going to Wisconsin.

His salary and other terms will not be disclosed until final Board of Control approval Friday. But this is strictly routine and his selection by the FSU Athletic Committee and President Robert M. Strozier cinches the deal.

Moss will not serve in the dual capacity of coach and athletic director as Nugent did. An athletic director will be picked later, Strozier said.

Nugent was paid $13,000 a year for the two jobs. He was scheduled for a $1,000 raise.

Strozier declined to say whether Moss would get the same, more or less. But earlier he commented that if FSU picked a young coach on his way up, he'd be paid less than an established "name" coach.

While Moss was coaching the backfield at Miami under Andy Gustafson, in 1954-55-56, the Hurricanes beat Florida, 14-0, 7-6, and 20-7. During those years, Miami's overall record was 22 wins, five losses and one tie.

The Big News Slows Perry ... Just Slightly

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Talkative Perry Moss, former University of Miami and Wisconsin backfield coach, needed only six words to sum up his feelings over his new job as Florida State head football coach.

"I am," he said over the long distance wire from Tallahassee, "a little bit dazed."

He paused . . . and then began to expound.

"It's great coming back to Florida. My family and I enjoyed Miami so much while we were there (1954-58) and we're looking forward to seeing our Florida friends again."

Moss, who replaces Maryland-bound Tom Nugent, said terms of his contract would be released Friday but called the pact "very satisfactory."

Moss, who leans to the wide-open brand of football, said he would strive for a balanced attack.

"It all depends on the personnel, of course," he said, "and right now I don't know too much about the players we have.

"But we'll try to mix our running and passing. If we can't run, we'll throw. If we can't throw, we'll run. If we can't do either" — he paused — "we'll probably get beat."

Moss said that high school players recruited by Nugent for FSU before he decided to take the Maryland post would be guaranteed exactly the same terms Nugent offered them.

"I'm sure Tom went after fine prospects," he said. "I'd like to have them at Florida State."

Miami and FSU meet Oct. 3 at Tallahassee. How does Moss feel about that one?

"Well," he said, "it'll be a tough game. We'll just try to outscore UM, same as we did at UM when I was there and FSU was the opponent."

Hurricanes Fight Gators, Road Jinx

The University of Miami launches a crucial weekend of basketball tonight in Gainesville against the University of Florida . . . a team Miami hasn't defeated in Gainesville since 1949.

The Hurricanes, 7-4 for the season, meet Florida, Jacksonville University and Florida State on successive nights on their home courts. The Hurricane frosh will play preliminary games each night.

It was a three straight loss record on a similar trip a year ago which knocked the Hurricanes out of a probable bid to the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

Miami already owns wins over two of the opponents: Florida in the Miami Beach Auditorium and Florida State in the opening round of The Citadel Invitational Tournament.

Bruce Hale's Hurricanes look to Harry Manushaw and Ron Godfrey, to give them control of the backboards in all three games and this edge could prove decisive. The Hurricanes will especially outrange the Gators.

Florida has been depending more and more heavily upon its sophomore material and the newcomers have come through very well. Four of them are likely to start Thursday.

Sooners Don't Dig Those New Dugouts

Oklahoma 'Insulted,' Wants to Quit Bowl

'Pro Bowl' talk Revived . . . Page 2D

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma, sizzling over insults hurled at its won't-sit-down football players New Year's Day, Wednesday proclaimed it doesn't "have to go" to the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma's Board of Regents asked the Big Eight Conference to amend the contract requiring the league champion to play in the game, and at least one Orange Bowl Committeeman agreed that would be a splendid idea.

President George L. Cross said his request stemmed directly from the hassle over Oklahoma players not using a knee-high dugout for its substitutes during the 21-6 victory over Syracuse New Year's Day. The Sooners were pelted with insults, paper cups and ice cubes by irate box seat fans who paid $7.50 to see a bunch of broad backs.

"I want to go on record to this board (Oklahoma Board of Regents) that our team will not go to Miami again until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior at the sideline," Cross said in Norman, Oklahoma.

"If there isn't a clear understanding about that behavior," fired OB Committeeman Van C. Kussrow, "we don't want that team back. We paid Oklahoma to come here, they didn't pay us."

Cross said the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level.

Kussrow could only gasp at this.

"And I," he finally said, "was one of the men who negotiated the contract which brought Oklahoma here."

Under terms of the new three-year contract which started with the Oklahoma-Syracuse contest, no Big Eight team can appear in the Orange Bowl two years in a row. The rule was waived this year due to the Bowl's Silver Anniversary, but Oklahoma now is ineligible for the game until 1961.

A just-expired five-year contract called for the Big Eight champion to meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. Oklahoma played in the Orange Bowl twice — defeating Maryland in 1954 and 1956 — under that pact. The Sooners also beat Duke in 1958 and lost to Tennessee in 1939.

Cross proposed that the Big Eight select one of its members, but not necessarily the champion, to play in the Orange Bowl until the contract runs out. (The present contract definitely calls for the champion unless the same team wins the title two years in a row.

He told the regents he thinks the Orange Bowl will welcome such an amendment as an "out." He said he thought Oklahomans and Miamians were "bored with each other."

"I would not use the word 'bored'," said Kussrow. "But my personal feeling is that we might be better off choosing a team at large.

"Oklahoma can only come here in 1961.

New Auxiliary Building

Herald Expands Press Facilities

Six high-speed newspaper press units soon will thunder out another tribute to Miami's dynamic population progress.

They are being installed by The Miami Herald in a new auxiliary building in the city's Northwest section.

The additional, full-color units will go into operation this spring, in March or April, General Manager James L. Knight announced Wednesday.

The equipment will bridge the gap pending completion of The Herald's new 20-million-dollar building which will rise between Venetian and MacArthur causeways on Biscayne Bay.

Plans for the big central building call for 8 presses consisting of 59 units.

"But our circulation growth has been so rapid that we cannot wait for completion of the new plant," Knight pointed out.

The extra equipment will mark a sharp jump in printing capacity over The Herald's current 32 units in operation at the present downtown location.

The auxiliary plant will remain in operation even after opening of the new building, the general manager said.

"The equipment will enable the paper to solve many production problems which have developed in our circulation growth," he explained. It probably will be used to produce The Herald's state editions and possibly some of its suburban issues.

The auxiliary building fronts on NW 24th Ave. between 22nd and 23rd St. Its 21,000 square feet will provide space for 24 units if needed, and will house complete wrapping, bundling and mailing equipment.

Gearing to meet the challenge of South Florida's dramatic growth, The Herald already had acquired warehouse facilities across the Seaboard Airline tracks from the new auxiliary building. The warehouse added storage space for 7,500 tons of newsprint. The facilities will be served by their

New Panama Coast Line Law Sticks

PANAMA CITY, Panama — (AP) — The National Assembly unanimously rejected a U.S. request for reconsideration of its law extending Panama's territorial waters. The extension to 12 miles boxes in the Panama Canal entrances.

An assembly resolution asked friendly nations to support the extension from the previous three-mile limit. The law passed last month promised free passage to innocent shipping.

During a debate on the U.S. request, former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd called for Panama to receive half of the gross revenue from the canal, which is operated by the U.S. under long-term treaty.

Boyd, who has presidential ambitions, asserted that the U.S. makes 100 million dollars from the canal while paying Panama only $1,900,000 a year. He said Panama was not seeking a voice in canal administration but considered half of the total income as its fair share.

The Panama Canal Co. reported that in the year ending July 1 it collected nearly 43 million dollars in tolls and made a net profit of $2,656,000. The U.S. pays Panama $1,930,000 a year for use of the 10-mile-wide canal strip, which includes three miles of the water off each end.

Goldwater Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican senators Wednesday postponed for a week a showdown vote on the question of installing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as their campaign chairman.

The postponement was announced by Sen. Styles Bridges (New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, as he left a closed meeting of his Republican colleagues.

The senators had assembled to consider a proposed rule change which would let those GOP senators seeking reelection next year choose the campaign chairman. This move apparently would assure the selection of Goldwater.

Ike Against Stiffening Integration

Says Voting Rights More Important

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected the idea of new federal legislation to enforce public school integration. He said it was more important for the new Congresss to strengthen Negro voting rights.

Eisenhower made the statement during an unprecedented 50-minute question-and-answer session with more than 500 members of the National Press Club which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The President said that once the right to vote is firmly guaranteed by federal law, state and local voters would solve the school problem and insure the "proper observance of their other rights."

Eisenhower described as "tragic" the fact that public schools were shut down in some areas to avoid compliance with Federal Court integration orders. He said the image of America was being damaged overseas because thousands of children were being deprived of their rightful education.

The President also covered these subjects:

FEDERAL ECONOMY — A balanced budget and stabilized cost of living would increase chances for tax relief. However, he is not thinking in terms of personal income tax cuts in 1960. He warned special pressure groups to lay off demands for heavy federal spending in their areas.

POLITICS — He will take a hand in the selection of a 1960 Republican presidential nominee if the front-runner turns out to be a man whose basic philosophy clashes with his. He said there were at least a dozen "fine virile men in the Republican Party I could gladly support."

MISSILES — Russia undoubtedly is ahead of the U.S. in some phases of rocket development and it would be "stupid" to assume otherwise. But U.S. scientists have made "very remarkable progress" in a comparatively short time. He has the fullest confidence in the "balanced" American approach to defense.

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — The Vatican state has recognized the new Cuban government. The Vatican press office said Wednesday the apostolic nuncio to Cuba, Archbishop Luigi Centoz, had been directed to notify the regime of Provisional President Manuel Urrutia.

Warning on Budget Pleas to Congress

Don't Bypass Ike, Secret Note Says

It Aims At Defense Officials

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's budget chief has warned defense officials against going over the President's head and asking Congress for more military funds than the new budget provides.

The edict was laid down in a secret memo which Budget Director Maurice H. Stans sent two weeks ago to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. It ruled out both public and secret bids to Congress for more money.

While the memo did not threaten any reprisals if the order was disobeyed, it said "executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations."

The memorandum was made public at a time when many Democrats were complaining that the President's new defense budget was sacrificing national security in favor of a balanced budget.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 31, fell into the hands of Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D. Pa.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, who made it available to United Press International.

Flood denounced Stans' directive as a "shocking" attempt to impose a "gag-rule" on Defense witnesses.

He called for an immediate inquiry into what he termed this "latest affront" to congressional dignity.

"What kind of groveling, heel-clicking faceless wonders will this memorandum make of Defense Department witnesses before the armed services and appropriations committees of the Congress?" Flood demanded.

"It is a sham and a fraud to say that this memorandum is other than a deliberately-intended threat and gag to witnesses. It is what the letter leaves unsaid that is the true evil! The Sword of Damocles indeed . . . in this atmosphere, Machiavelli would be a rank amateur."

The Stans memorandum said in part:

"It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record."

The memo said direct congressional questions must be answered frankly. But it said any witness "who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget" should point out that Eisenhower's decision was reached "from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of over-riding national policy."

Batista Trujillo Peron

Trujillo Finds 3 Is a Crowd; Puts Chill on Batista, Peron

By PEGGE PARKER
Herald Special Writer

CUIDAD Trujillo, Dominican Republic — There is a crowd. And no one is more painfully aware of it than unloved, unwanted, unemployed dictators.

Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo and his two deposed colleagues, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and Juan Peron of Argentina, have agreed to ignore each other.

They live within a few blocks of each other here, but they have not met. They don't want to meet.

Their relationship is icily formal. And it is as clear as the blue waters of the Caribbean along side this dictatorship paradise that any untoward deley in the departure of Batista's 150 refugees will be met with, "Here's your sombrero, what's your hurry?"

Batista is keeping himself occupied these days with a depressing mixture of memories and regrets. He has broken the silence of his gloomy meditations only once, releasing a statement Wednesday that he was "forced" to flee because he was short of arms.

Written law for granting asylum, plus the gentlemen's agreement among Latin American bosses (who never know who will be next), was sufficient assurance for Batista to fly here in wildest haste.

But as an American businessman here put it: "Trujillo does business only with winners, even if he hates their guts. He has already recognized Castro and wants no political identity with Batista, his party, or his hangers-on."

To Batista's embarrassment, the Trujillo government already has hinted it may turn over his four evacuation planes to Castro.

When Perez Jimenez fled Venezuela, Trujillo promptly returned that plane to the new Venezuelan government. It would surprise no one if Batista receives the same treatment.

Although Trujillo set up Batista with a plush ultra-modern bungalow next door to his own castle-in-Spain-style Foreign Office, he has snubbed him completely. Trujillo has made no "courtesy gestures" whatsoever.

And from the beginning the

He Sees 'Years of Danger'

Senate Unit Backs Up Dulles on Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won firm backing from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday for his insistence on the right of Western Allies to keep their troops in Berlin.

A resolution supporting this stand was informally approved during a closed-door briefing by Dulles on the international situation. The resolution also backs Dulles' insistence on maintaining free access to the city inside Communist-dominated East Germany.

Dulles called on the American people to face up to years "full of danger" with self-sacrifice and self-discipline.

"We shall need the national will to stand firm in the face of the aggressive threats and probings from the Sino-Soviet bloc," he said.

Formal action on the resolution, aimed at voicing the committee's sentiment in advance of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's talks this weekend with President Eisenhower and Dulles, was held up pending further discussion.

Dulles told the committee the need for "austerity and sacrifice" may continue for generations.

"We may face a period even harder than we have become used to," he said.

The secretary, declared:

"The price of failure would be the destruction of all our national objectives . . . We must press on with courage to build surer foundations for the interdependent world community of which we are a part.

"This will call for austerity and sacrifice on the part of all."

Dulles told the committee U. S. foreign policy has three basic purposes: To block aggressive force, to promote human dignity and freedom, and to stimulate economic growth and inter-dependence.

"These goals are not attainable in a few years, but will require decades and perhaps even generations."

Dulles said the primary threat is the rapid economic and industrial growth of Red China and the Soviet bloc through forced labor.

The U.S. must stand firm in the face of Communist threats and probings, he said, and make "whatever unusual sacrifices may be necessary."

Winter Hits North Again

CHICAGO — (AP) — Winter started a vigorous comeback Wednesday as a broad front of Arctic air plunged southward into the midcontinent.

Temperatures tumbled to near zero at noon in North Dakota and were expected to reach 15 below by early Thursday in northern Minnesota.

Colder weather was in store for much of the area from the Rockies to the Appalachians by Thursday afternoon.

Snow pelted eastern North Dakota and Minnesota. Snow falling in the Montana mountains cut visibility to half a mile.

A less intense cool front advancing from the West dropped temperatures in part of the Midwest in advance of the Arctic front moving down from the north.

Pickets Dog His Footsteps

Kremlinite Mikoyan Wined And Dined by Wall Streeters

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Kremlin finally shook hands Wednesday with Wall Street — its ancient capitalist whipping boy — as Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan lunched with some of America's top financiers.

In a highlight of his visit to this country, Mikoyan walked into the City Bank Farmers Trust Co. building at 22 William St. as luncheon guest of banking representatives.

Police lines were posted in the famed financial district to keep the curious at a distance.

About 10 anti-Communist pickets, headed by their leader, Bela Fabian, handed out leaflets in the area. As Mikoyan emerged after lunch, they shouted: "Red butcher, Red butcher . . . murderer, murderer, murderer."

Fabian, head of a Hungarian refugee group, has announced that he has 1,000 pickets ready to harass Mikoyan during the Soviet official's two-day visit here. Tuesday night, however, he gathered only about 20 for Mikoyan's arrival at Idlewild Airport, and in Wall Street mustered only half that number.

During a just-completed transcontinental tour, Mikoyan was the target of intense picketing in a number of cities.

New York City has assigned some 500 police to keep demonstrators in hand, in a display of security unmatched except for visits here of the President of the U.S.

Meanwhile, back in Moscow, a radio commentator, ignoring past picket incidents lauded the warmth and friendliness of Mikoyan's reception here. The broadcaster said it proved "how much the people of our two countries want to live in peace with each other and how alien to them is the cold war."

Added the commentator: "There are no differences between Americans and Russians that could cause us to fight each other."

Cuba Decides to Go On Executing War Criminals

180 Shot; Speedup Ordered

HAVANA —(AP)— Cuba's provisional government appeared determined Wednesday to continue executing Batistans adjudged war criminals, regardless of what the world thinks. Revolutionary tribunals moved swiftly to bring more suspects to trial.

Just how many eventually will die is anybody's guess.

Estimates of the number jailed in the island nation's six provinces swelled from 4,000 to 6,000. Suspects are still being hunted down. Perhaps 5,000 or more remain at large. Some are accused of acting as informers, others of a variety of misdeeds.

Fidel Castro, the civil war victor who now heads the Cuban armed forces, has recommended long terms at hard labor for those convicted of lesser crimes. He reiterated Tuesday night that murderers and traitors must die.

He ordered tribunals to speed the trials. His topflight commanders backed him up.

Castro and other Cubans contend that Cuba has as much right to exterminate war criminals as the Allies had in condemning Nazi leaders at the Nuernberg trials after World War II.

There is evidence of a growing irritation among Cubans over world criticism of the executions, particularly from the U. S.

Cuba's man-in-the-street said the critics failed to condemn atrocities under the dictatorship and that U. S. arms supplied to Batista had contributed to the killing of hundreds of innocent civilians. The U. S. arms shipments were suspended last spring.

It looked for a while early Wednesday as if the revolutionists were relenting.

John J. Skelly, a newsman from Washington accredited at the foreign ministry to distribute government statements to foreign correspondents, gave news agencies a statement saying the provisional government had ordered a suspension of the executions.

Skelly said the statement was authorized by Carlos Franqui, press coordinator at the Presidential Palace and director of the newspaper Revolucion, an organ of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Franqui was quoted as saying the suspension was ordered after Castro conferred Tuesday night with Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and a presidential secretary, Louis Zuch.

But key points in the statement were denied later by the presidential secretariat and by Franqui.

Reporters assigned to the Presidential Palace were told executions in fact are continuing in accordance with due process of law and Castro and Urrutia did not meet Tuesday.

It said both Cuban and foreign newsmen will be invited to watch the trials and names of all persons executed will be published, along with the charges on which they were convicted.

Because of Eye Ailment

Billy Graham Told To Rest, Cut Pace

ROCHESTER, Minn. —(AP)— Evangelist Billy Graham will have to take at least a month's rest and then curtail future activities as a result of a serious eye ailment, his personal physician said Wednesday night.

Dr. Kenneth Gieser of Chicago, working with Mayo Clinic physicians, said early tests had confirmed an angio spastic edema of the macula in the left eye. He said the blood vessels back of the retina were not ruptured as was first believed.

(A spastic edema was described as an abnormal swelling of blood vessels brought on by accumulation of serous fluids because of muscle spasms back of the retina.)

Grady Wilson, a Graham associate, said the minister would continue under examination and treatment here, probably for the rest of the week. He said Graham also would take the month's rest which was advised by the doctors.

Wilson said Graham still was planning to undertake the Australian revival campaign, with its start delayed to Feb. 15 instead of the earlier planned Feb. 8 date. But Wilson said the Australian schedule probably would be somewhat shortened.

Wilson said a complete report covering Graham's physical condition was not expected until later as examinations are continuing. He said also it had not yet been decided where Graham might spend the three weeks of ordered rest after he leaves the clinic, expected at the end of this week.

House Group Seeks to Halt Cuba Deaths

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A House Foreign Affairs Committee moved Wednesday night to see what can be done to halt mass executions in Cuba.

Chairman Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) said the group will summon Assistant Secretary of State Roy Rubottom to testify today. Rubottom is in charge of inter-American affairs for the State Department.

Hays said:

"I'm going to ask him what the State Department is going to do to calm Castro down before he depopulates Cuba."

Short of sending in U.S. troops, Hays said, "There's a million things we can do and I think we should do it."

Close to 200 executives have been reported in Cuba since the forces of Fidel Castro overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista two and a half weeks ago.

After saying he had not approved of Batista's methods, Hays added: "This guy Castro is starting off in the same direction, only worse."

Also Wednesday, Sens. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) added protests against the wave of executions.

Bridges said the official killings raise "grave doubt in regard to the integrity of the new regime."

Fulbright told the Senate: "It is deplorable and much to be regretted that they have not been able to move with consideration for orderly processes of law."

Living Room Truly That

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—Mrs. Ronald Dean thought she had trouble a few weeks ago when, during a cold spell, her washing machine froze up and flooded her living room.

A neighbor asked Mrs. Dean if her living room rug was growing. "I wondered if she'd lost her mind," Mrs. Dean said.

Her neighbor hadn't, though. On the green carpet where the bird cage had stood, bird seeds were sprouting.

Appeal Set In School Wrangle

NEW YORK—(AP)—The board of education has voted to appeal a court dismissal of charges against two Negro mothers who kept their children out of Harlem schools they said were inferior.

A spokesman for the school system disclosed the action at the end of a conference on the board's tentative 1959-60 budget.

The decision to appeal, made at a special closed board meeting, drew sharp criticism from one of its members. The Rev. Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, only Negro on the nine-member board, said:

"Wittingly or unwittingly, the board has erased the last line of difference between Little Rock and New York."

Instead of returning the case to court, Dr. Taylor said, the board should acknowledge what he called the disparity in the education of white and Negro children and work to "eradicate the inequities."

The board spokesman said that "for ethical and legal reasons, no board official comment on the appeal will be made so as not to prejudice the courts."

During the remainder of his stay, he will spend much of his time on the campus and talk informally to art students.

Trujillo Finds 3 Is Crowd

Cuban leader has been paying all his own bills.

Presumably, this is the least of Batista's worries. Rumor holds that he carted off upward of 50 million dollars on the plane ride from Havana alone.

The treasure was so frantically guarded at the landing that one of Batista's children got lost in the shuffle and boarded a New Orleans-bound getaway plane. The child is now at Batista's Daytona Beach estate.

Batista's loyal troops dine well on steaks and lobsters served a la carte from the best hotel in town. The daily food bill runs to $150, payable in cash. It is.

Meanwhile Senora Batista has been house-hunting, obviously eager to move out of the government bungalow before Trujillo's hospitality becomes even chillier.

She has personally inspected the penthouse suite of the Hotel El Embajador twice. Ordinarily it rents for $400 a day.

The hotel manager said he would be pleased to extend a diplomatic discount and charge a mere $300 a day — without food. She smiled, sipped a cup of tea and went away.

It has now been learned that the Batista party will move next week into a semi-luxury hotel, also near the sea, where the bill is $35 a day, plus food.

Batista followers have turned the La Paz Hotel lobby into a milling, thronged madhouse of noise and shrill Spanish babble. Juke boxes juke all day long and American-imported slot machines are cranked from dusk to dawn.

And in the same hotel lives Argentina's famed ex, Juan Peron, his pretty secretary and two poodles. He maintains a deaf-dumb-blind attitude toward the entire Cuban situation.

He too is paying his own way, although life these days affords few, if any, flings and parties.

The local cocktail gossip insists Peron is broke, that Evita salted away the chips in Switzerland in her own name and died without a will.

At any rate, Peron's favorite pastime is pushing a basket around an American-style supermarket called "Wimpy's."

He is the most popular customer in the supermarket. He kids all the girls, drinks coffee at the soda counter, and buys loads of expensive imported foods and lots of steak at a dollar a pound.

However, no general order to that effect has gone out so far and barbershops are uncrowded. Castro retains his beard.

contract, I would suggest doing it immediately. Prospects are not too good in the Big Eight this season."

Ernie Seiler, who joined Kissrow in negotiating the new contract, said he felt the Orange Bowl Committee would take no immediate action.

"This is all news to us," he said. "We'll have to get the full reports before we can do anything definite."

W. G. Ward, OB schedule chairman, also proposed a "take-it-easy" attitude until the situation develops further.

"Oklahoma's football teams have been popular here, and will always be in demand," Ward said.

Approximately 1,000 fans, their view blocked by players refused to buy that New Year's Day.

Dugouts were added to the Orange Bowl this year to prevent such a situation. Syracuse acceded to the request that players use the dugout.

Tiger Stadium, home of Louisiana State's national football champions, has used similar dugouts for several years. Officials there report "no problem whatsoever."

own railroad sidings along Seaboard's main line.

Miami and The Miami Herald have marched forward hand in hand in South Florida's vibrant growth pattern.

Florida's population has ballooned 60 per cent since 1950, with Dade scoring the largest numerical gain. The county numbers more than 860,000, which is 350,000 more than in 1950. Experts predict between 1¼ and 1½ million residents by 1965.

The Herald became the first Florida paper to break the 400,000 circulation barrier in 1958, scoring a paid Sunday distribution of 414,656 the last Sunday in February.

Daily circulation has swelled from 175,985 in 1950 to an average of 302,264 for the six-month period ended last March 31. Sunday circulation has skyrocketed from 203,746 to a six-month average of 386,584.

The advertising barometer shows the area's progress, too, placing The Herald out front in the nation in weekday advertising and second only to The Los Angeles Times in daily and Sunday totals.

The site of the new bayfront building is being cleared of all existing buildings, Knight said. Meanwhile, plans are being completed preparatory to breaking ground.

Allies Pledge to Act at Once

West Assures Soviet On A-Control Posts

GENEVA — (UPI) — The U.S. and Britain promised Russia Wednesday they will permit installation of nuclear control posts on their territory as soon as an East-West treaty to ban atomic tests is signed.

The assurance was made by U.S. and British delegates during an hour-and-20-minute session of the three-power nuclear conference.

The Western pledge was an attempt to allay apparent Soviet fears that the U.S. and Britain might sidestep accepting a control post network on their soil until posts had been set up in other countries.

In London, meanwhile, authoritative sources said the U.S. and Britain had dispatched identical notes to Moscow Wednesday expressing their readiness to resume the East-West conference on prevention of surprise attacks.

But the Western notes said the scope and agenda of the talks should be firmly determined in advance, the sources said.

The sources said France, Italy and Canada, which had participated on the Western side in the earlier phase on the 10-nation talks in Geneva, backed the Anglo-American stand.

The surprise-attack conference had broken up Dec. 18 without even succeeding in approving an agenda. The Russians in notes earlier this week had called for resumption of the talks today — a target date which the West felt it was physically impossible to meet.

How Secure Must Port Be?

HOW MUCH SECURITY does Port Everglades need? The port commissioners would like some opinions on it, and they've delegated Commissioner Fred Stevens to feel the pulse of the citizenry.

Is tight, wartime security, with everything closely guarded, necessary? Would it be sufficient simply to tighten the protection against fire? Is the present situation acceptable? These are the questions which have arisen and which Fred is seeking opinions on.

* * *

Let the Public Meander

HERE'S OUR TWO CENTS worth: The port should be reasonably well guarded and patrolled, but not barricaded to the public.

That old sign at the entrance reading, "No Admittance Except on Business," should be taken down. It's a little ridiculous, with all the movement there is in and out of the port gates. Probably there should be a watchman at the gate after dark, and certainly enough patrolmen covering all of the port property to spot anything suspicious.

The port has become in the past couple of years a public institution. People who used to regard it as a messy jumble of freighters and oil tanks and mutter against paying taxes to support it now are taking an interest in it. They enjoy going there to see the passenger liners come in, and to visit the Navy ships. Fathers take small boys down there on Sunday afternoons to show them freighters from across the sea. Fishermen overrun it. Residents take visitors there to point with pride to it.

Handicapped Shop Needs Contracts

THE DISABLED ASSOCIATES workshop, which employs handicapped people, is again seeking manufacturing subcontracts. They've launched a little enterprise of their own, making plastic party ornaments, and will have a sales booth at the dog show at the War Memorial next Tuesday. Work is slow, though; what they need is some contracts.

They would also like to have a shop location with window display space. They're housed now in a garage at 911 NE Third Ave. . .

Drivers to Get Green Lights

IT'S BEEN WIDELY debated whether the Federal Hwy. traffic lights in Pompano Beach are deliberately non-synchronized to stop the motorist at every intersection. The latest word from City Hall is that it's not deliberate and they will be synchronized before long.

At any rate, one resident there has a theory that the lights are responsible for the speed of southbound traffic out of town. He figures that after the motorist gets away from the signal, he's lost so much time he stomps on the gas . . .

Riverside Cadets Hit By 2nd Blaze in Week

HOLLYWOOD — Fire struck at Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, Ga., Wednesday morning, but it was nothing like the $200,000 blaze that forced the school to close up winter quarters here last week.

Damage was estimated at between $200 and $300 by Assistant Fire Chief John Phillips of Gainesville.

The blaze was discovered at 11 a.m. in the junior barracks, which houses about 150 of the academy's 750 cadets.

"It apparently started in the ceiling and damaged a wall and the roof," Phillips said. "We were lucky. In three minutes the fire might have really been serious."

Earlier Associated Press reports of extensive damage were scoffed at by Col. J. L. Beaver, superintendent of the academy.

"The two boys who lived in the room didn't lose a single belonging," he told The Herald by telephone.

But Beaver said possible arson is being checked. "You have to expect arson when there are fires this close together and this much alike. But I believe it was just a streak of bad luck."

Firemen from four cities battled the Hollywood fire Jan. 5 for two hours. It was the worst fire here in 10 years. Firemen said the cause was probably careless smoking by a cadet.

City building inspectors have recommended the 35-year-old former luxury hotel be torn down. No one was in the Gainesville barracks when the fire was reported, Col. Beaver said. Cadets were all in class.

Retired Champ Soars Anew

Cannonball Off Again

By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer

The retired world's champion human cannonball took the place of his injured brother Wednesday night — and orbited.

As he climbed up, the mouth of the great silver cannon yawned darkly beneath the big top of Christiani Brothers Circus.

Then he slid himself into the slender, 22-foot barrel for the first time since 1952.

Nearby, muscular Luis Munoz Zucchini, 30, his arm in a sling, encouraged him on. Luis ended up in Jackson Memorial Hospital the previous night after a misfiring.

"You shoot out fast — maybe 90 miles an hour," explained Luis. "Then you must flip over quickly at the net.

"That's what I didn't do."

The fall of a child star, Nancy Elliott, 12, immediately preceding the cannonball act, must have jinxed the Zucchinis, Luis said.

"She's the darling of the show," he explained.

Nancy was in Jackson Memorial Hospital Wednesday with a broken leg. She is a trick rider who was straddling two horses, standing, one foot on each, when her fall unnerved other performers.

The cannon "explodes" when it's shot, but actually operates via two electric motors and 3,000 pounds of compressed air. It's cannon number 15. Fourteen others have been used, then destroyed.

Luis and Emanuel's grandfather was a circus performer, as were both parents. But Francois, their 70-year-old father, built the first cannon on Isle of Malta. Seven death defying sons have been shot from it.

"Luis is best. He is strong and fast," bragged Emanuel earlier.

Emanuel holds the record," denied Luis, who was born under a circus tent in Madrid. "He has shot 250 feet, 95 feet high."

What do you think when you lie in the hollow tube, waiting?

"You think of God — and of yourself," said Emanuel. He smiled. "And you think that hole is too small and you won't go out."

Luis nodded: "And you sweat when its cold, and don't eat beforehand, because you get indigestion."

Both wear medals of St. Anthony in their shoot suits. Emanuel has suffered a fractured neck and a broken knee in his career. The Miami accident was Luis' first.

He has been with Christiani Brothers four years — and expects to be back in the rocket soon.

The thrill of the circus cut through the talk. Nearby, General Manager Lucio Christiani strummed a soft tune on his guitar. Somewhere a horse whinneyed and the trumpet of an elephant answered the sound. A juggler tossed his gay discs and the smell of candy apples was sweet on the air.

"I don't know if I can stay out," admitted Luis, eyeing Cannon 15

"And I don't know if I can stay in," said Emanuel.

Well, Here We Go Again; Price Still Standing Alone

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

WILTON MANORS — Ignoring Harold Price's overwhelming election victory, three holdover councilmen named incumbent Robert Schmidt board president Wednesday night.

Schmidt is entering his second year of office. Price is starting his third. Neither has been council president before.

PRICE

Councilman Verne Burnell moved to give Schmidt the job. Councilman Carl Beimly seconded the motion. Schmidt voted for himself, clinching the issue.

Newcomer Howard Goll Jr. and Price followed suit.

Price found himself again in an isolated position when he voted against rehiring City Clerk Marcia Stafford at a salary of $110 a week.

"I think the salary is too high," Price said. He was outvoted 4-1.

"Price is beginning to show his hand already," warned deposed Council President Earle Middleton from the audience. "I don't like it."

Goll, with 622, also exceeded previous individual records. Goll was making his first bid in politics.

At 31, he replaces Earle Middleton, 74-year-old former council president, on the five-man board.

Middleton received 267 votes, Jay O'Gorman polled 111, and Arnold Ross was last with 98.

Price and Goll had the backing of the Wilton Manors Civic Association and the East Wilton Manors Civic Association. The two groups are merging.

Price's landslide endorsement by the voters came at the end of a year in which he was repeatedly beaten down by the other four council members.

He frequently opposed their granting business zoning requests over the objections of affected residents.

Zoning justice for homeowners was also a plank of Goll's platform.

Last week Price stood up for the right of city employes to free speech when the council put a strict gag on their activities during election campaigns.

It appeared that the measure was aimed against Price, who is a volunteer fireman and helped organize the auxiliary police force.

Price agreed that employes should not campaign actively, but held out for their right to express an opinion.

Recently Price fought persistently to recover the city's lost cigaret taxes. Taxpayers consequently got a $69,000 windfall.

He was again in a minority position when he voted against an unexpected $20-a-week pay raise given to City Clerk Marcia Stafford.

Price sat on the wrong end of a 4-1 vote once more when the council passed an unbalanced budget for the current fiscal year. He raised a lone voice, too, in trying to improve city garbage collection, and in working for civil service for employes.

When released Sunday night, Long said he planned to leave town

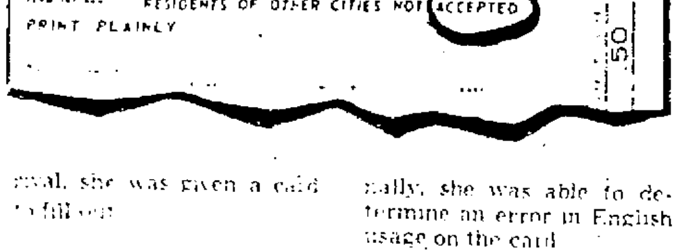
FORT LAUDERDALE—Neither Miami's English nor its automobile inspection process is clear to one woman here.

Mrs. Adelaide Stiles, a Fort Lauderdale resident was warned recently by a Miami policeman, "even if you live in Fort Lauderdale, if you come to Miami frequently, you must have the inspection."

So Mrs. Stiles went to an inspection station to carry out the directive. On arrival, she was given a card to fill out.



CITY OF MIAMI
FAILED TO PASS INSPECTION FOR THE REASON ABOVE
RESIDENTS OF OTHER CITIES NOT ACCEPTED

Across the top, it read, "RESIDENTS OF OTHER CITIES NOT ACCEPTED."

Confused, Mrs. Stiles questioned an inspector. Finally, she was able to determine an error in English usage on the card.

"Accepted" should have been "excepted."

Mrs. Stiles was accepted, and got her inspection sticker, except she's still hurt about the confusion.

A half hour is allocated for each topic. Others are at:

9:30 A.M.: John Lawlor, president of the North Andrews Gardens Homeowners and Residents Association, will ask for a referendum before any action annexing his area to Oakland Park is considered. "We are against annexation," Lawlow said.

10 A.M.: Henry Kammen, a Pompano Beach resident, wants action to stop boats leaving a wake in the Intracoastal Waterway.

Bill Asks Fire Unit For County

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — A proposed draft of a bill to set up a tax-supported county fire department for unincorporated areas will be presented to the Broward legislative delegation Monday.

The measure is looked upon as a "must" by the Broward County Volunteer Firemen's Association, sponsor.

"It would provide badly needed protection in unincorporated areas that don't have fire units," said M. L. Lehman, assocation president.

The measure, drafted by Dania City Attorney Clarke Walden, would set up special taxing districts. The tax bite probably will be one mill, according to John Lassiter, head of the firemen association's legislative committee.

Walden said possibility of a referendum on the bill has been discussed.

The levy would pay salaries of a county fire chief, fire captains for the north and south ends of the county, and lieutenants to staff branch units.

"We would also pruchase new equipment," said Lehman. He said some departments are currently operating with inferior equipment.

The proposed county fire department, Lehman said, would eliminate contributions and cut out the annual county appropriation, which last year was $15,000.

Lehman said that while volunteer fire units currently have a "mutual agreement," city departments are reluctant to fight county fires because they jeopardize the city's fire insurance rates.

Margate Police Captain Gets Vote of Confidence

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

MARGATE — A vote of public confidence was expressed here by 208 petitioners Wednesday for Margate Police Captain Paul Kettren, who was the target several months ago of charges he used "Gestapo tactics."

At a Town Council meeting, Mayor Victor Semet read the "gesture of confidence" in Kettren's actions, supporting his retention on the police force.

Kettren and the Town of Margate are subjects of a false arrest suit filed in Circuit Court by Thomas Dell.

At the time of the incident, in November, some persons were demanding that Kettren be dismissed.

In other matters, the council approved purchase of several hundred dollars worth of fire hose to activate the volunteer fire department which was recently formed.

Fire Chief Warren West said the hose requested would enable them to handle fires at Margate Elementary School.

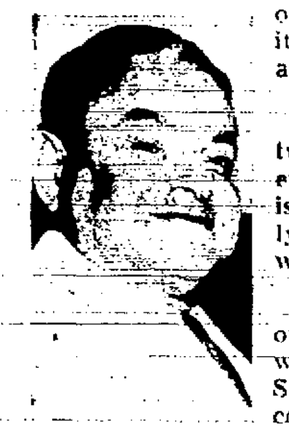
Tropical's Gain Increases Optimism Over Racing Here

RIGHT OR WRONG, a lot of people watch horse track figures like weathermen for the barometer when a hurricane is approaching. This is why so many are happy over Tropical Park, which concludes its 43-day meeting today, being ahead of last year in betting.



SILBERMAN

They consider Tropical's being two per cent ahead in its handle evidence there are well heeled tourists in our midst. This is particularly true when you consider attendance was off one per cent.

Tropical's success has inspired optimism over Hialeah's meeting which begins Friday. President Saul Silberman, happy over his own success, thinks both Hialeah and Gulfstream will improve over last year's business. General Manager Elmer Vickers shares this feeling.

All of this means more revenue for the state, which collects eight per cent from each dollar. And fans are happy over having 83 more days in which to beat the horses. (The only sure way is with a whip.)

Calumet's Bardstown was the big winner at Tropical, earning $54,150 in winning the Orange Bowl and Tropical handicaps. The total purse distribution was $1,043,000, plus fees for nominations distributed in the stake events.

★ ★ ★

Luckiest Fans Had $10 Tickets

Some of the highlights of the Tropical meeting were:

—Luckiest ticket holders were the five who had $10 daily double ducats on Jan. 5. when Gray Ace and Toni Mia caused a $919.90 payoff on $2 tickets.

—Steve Brooks won three stakes, riding Bardstown in his two triumphs and piloting Scotland home first in the Miami Beach Handicap.

—Bobby Ussery was the only rider to score four wins in a single day, accomplishing this feat Tuesday.

—One hundred and thirteen jockeys rode at Tropical and this group included four national champions. Ted Atkinson (1944-46), Joe Culmone (tied with Willie Shoemaker in '50) Charlie Burr ('51) and Bill Hartack (55-56-57).

UM Chiefs Backed Moss

Two years as an assistant at Wisconsin gave Moss added experience and he is even more mature than when he was with the Hurricanes. Familiarity with football in the state should help Moss in doing a good job with the Seminoles.

With Moss at FSU the football rivalry between the Seminoles and Hurricanes should be even keener. UM's squad won't need any prodding in the game next fall. The Hurricanes will be ambitious to avenge their licking of 1958.

Colts Banking on Simpson

JACKIE SIMPSON, former Edison and Florida star, should be a big help to the Colts next season, Carroll Rosenbloom, president of the Baltimore pro football champions, said Wednesday.

Rosenbloom, vacationing at the Diplomat Hotel is enjoying fun in the sun, which will include attending Hialeah's opening Friday.

"Simpson was raw when he joined us last October after Army service," said Rosenbloom." The team had been formulated, so Coach Weeb Ewbanks didn't have much chance to use Simpson. Next year, Jackie will be one of our offensive backs and if needed can be used on defense, too."

JACKIE SIMPSON

Rosenbloom continued his praise of Simpson, remarking. "He's the kind of player we like to have with us, because he is a team man. Individual stars are not happy with us."

Why Miami Beach Lost NFL Meeting

THE NFL meeting, scheduled Jan. 21 at Philadelphia, was originally booked for Miami Beach. It was moved back to Philly because the doctors did not want Commissioner Bert Bell to make a long trip.

BERT BELL

Despite having to be careful of his health, Bell has enough energy to be a great commissioner. Rosenbloom said, "I don't think anyone would do a better job than Bell. He considers the owners, players and fans and is available for consultation 24 hours a day."

Rosenbloom beat me to the draw about Miami's future prospects of getting into the NFL. He popped the question about Miami as a possible pro team site, before I could ask it.

"Eventually, I think we'll add two cities — but not next year." Rosenbloom said. "Eleven different cities are seeking franchises, but we'll go slow in expanding.

"We would not go into a city where it would hurt a college team. Frankly, I think the pros would help a college team rather than hurt it."

Your reporter is still of the opinion Miami would be a better prospect for the pros five years from now, When we have more than a million people.

Sooners in Roses? Pros in OB? Questions Fly in Dugout Revolt

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Will Oklahoma's Dugout Rebellion bring professional football into the Orange Bowl game?

Did the Sooners engineer their "mutiny" as a first step toward trying to crash California's Rose Bowl in 1961?

Those were the two biggest questions trailing University of Oklahoma's Wednesday announcement that it does not want to return to the Orange Bowl if Sooner players are asked to remain in the new dugouts — a request they ignored in their 21-6 victory over Syracuse two weeks ago despite loud protests from box-seat fans whose vision was blocked.

The answer to both questions could be "yes."

If the Orange Bowl decides to dump Oklahoma's Big Eight Conference altogether, one of the first moves will be an attempt to land the inter-division playoff of the National Football League — the "World Series" of football.

"I don't know that we could get it," said one Orange Bowler, "but I'll say this: The pros are moving in on the colleges everywhere. Why not here?"

The Rose Bowl angle popped up as a possible bit of intrigue tied in with Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson's early-week visit to Los Angeles as a member of the college football national rules committee.

Insiders believe Wilkinson was assured there that the Big Ten will not renew its contract with the Pasadena bowl for 1961. That would leave at least one Rose Bowl spot open for 1961.

"Call me a liar if you want," an OBC insider said, "but my understanding is that Wilkinson feels Oklahoma might have a good shot at the Rose Bowl for '61. And, in that case, why should he go through the dugout business with the Orange Bowl all over again?"

Both the pro and Rose Bowl angles are, of course, contingent upon what action the Orange Bowl Committee takes in regard to Oklahoma's dugout declaration.

Most OBC members do not care to be quoted on the future of the game.

This much is clear, however:

If Oklahoma does not want to return in 1961 (the next time it is eligible, and the final year of the OBC-Big Eight contract), the presence of another Big Eight team in next year's game would hold no particular charm. Orange Bowlers feel their contract is binding upon Oklahoma but they have no desire to force a game upon a school that does not want to play.

Thus, if the contract were voided, the OBC would start shopping around for a new style of game.

There is doubt that the Orange Bowl could sign up the Big Ten champion if and when the Rose Bowl agreement expires. If both this and the pro possibility fizzled, the Orange Bowl would go wide open and look for the best two teams available.

Automatically eliminated from OBC consideration are the Southeastern Conference champion, now tied to the Sugar Bowl; the Southwest Conference champion, committed to the Cotton Bowl, and — thus far — such powerful independents as Notre Dame, Army and Navy.

He's Dazed

FSU Signs Moss

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Talkative Perry Moss, former University of Miami and Wisconsin backfield coach, needed only six words to sum up his feelings over his new job as Florida State head football coach.

"I am," he said over the long distance wire from Tallahassee, "a little bit dazed."

He paused . . . and then began to expound.

"It's great coming back to Florida. My family and I enjoyed Miami so much while we were there (1954-56) and we're looking forward to seeing our Florida friends again."

Moss, who replaces Maryland-bound Tom Nugent, said terms of his contract would be released Friday but called the pact "very satisfactory."

Moss, who leans to the wide-open brand of football, said he would strive for a balanced attack.

"It all depends on the personnel, of course," he said, "and right now I don't know too much about the players we have.

"But we'll try to mix our running and passing. If we can't run, we'll throw. If we can't throw, we'll run. If we can't do either" — he paused — "we'll probably get beat."

Moss said that high school players recruited by Nugent for FSU before he decided to take the Maryland post would be guaranteed exactly the same terms Nugent offered them.

"I'm sure Tom went after fine prospects," he said. "I'd like to have them at Florida State."

Miami and FSU meet Oct. 3 at Tallahassee. How does Moss feel about that one?

"Well," he said, "it'll be a tough game. We'll just try to outscore UM, same as we did at UM when I was there and FSU was the opponent."

$7.50 Seats vs. 18-Inch Dugouts

Ya' See, They Couldn't See . . . That's How Ruckus Started

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Ya' see, it all started because they couldn't see.

That's the how and why of the New Year's Day fan-player squabble that resulted Wednesday in Oklahoma going cold on its Orange Bowl contract.

Mathematically speaking, it's a squabble about 18 inches and $7.50.

The 18 inches are the depth of the dugouts in which Oklahoma players were askde to rest their feet and shins while the rest of them sat on a beach just above the ground.

The $7.50 was the price paid for the low-level box seats on the northside from which the occupants could see only the backs of Oklahoma's players. Fans behind the Syracuse players were all right — the Orangemen sat.

The day of the game, hundreds of high-paying VIP fans loudly complained that they couldn't see because broad-shouldered Oklahoma reserves were cluttering up the sidelines.

At first there were a few shouts of "Down in front."

Then, several irate dignitaries who paid for their "best seats in the house," complained to police and OB officials.

Officials' entreaties to Coach Wilkenson did no good.

As tempers grew hotter, the fan-fare flamed: "Oklahoma, go home! We hate Oklahoma!" — and unprintable expressions of ire.

Wilkinson, standing with his team at the sidelines, appeared to shrug it off.

Blaik Heads Home; With Sooner Job?

Oklahoma may not want to come back to the Orange Bowl, but the Sooners are taking home a slice of Miami's football staff.

That was all but certain Wednesday night as University of Miami Backfield Coach Bob Blaik canceled a scheduled New England recruiting trip and headed back from Norman, Okla., to talk with Head Coach Andy Gustafson.

All that's missing is the official word from Blaik — and that's not surprising since he has maintained a discreet silence through the whole affair.

Blaik was scheduled to leave Norman for Boston Wednesday where he was to talk to high school prospects.

But after a long pow wow with Oklahoma officials, Blaik checked out of his Norman hotel and flew home to talk with Gustafson.

Oklahoma officials dodged the issue by saying Blaik couldn't be offered a job until a vacancy arose. But Clive Rush, an assistant coach, is reported ready to return to Ohio State.

Ah, Those Sooners, A Real Scrappy Bunch

Oklahoma's "out with the dugout!" declaration Wednesday may have shocked some Orange Bowl fans, but controversy is old stuff to Sooner followers of the last 10 years.

OU football has been party to one rhubarb after another since Bud Wilkinson took over as head coach in 1947. The dugout issue, though, marks one of the few occasions on which Wilkinson has taken an outspoken stand on a "hot potato."

In 1947, an official in an Oklahoma game was set upon by enraged spectators as a result of a disputed Texas touchdown in a 34-14 Sooner victory.

Next came the "spying" incident preceding Oklahoma's 35-0 trampling of LSU in the 1950 Sugar Bowl. Some Sooners accused former LSU Lineman Piggy Barnes of watching their workouts through binoculars.

Wilkinson had a spat with Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland after the Sooners' 7-0 Orange Bowl victory of 1954. The issue there was the legality of Oklahoma blocking.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association placed Oklahoma on two-year probation early in 1954.

Soaring School Costs Hit

School Session Tonight

Officials Seek More Money

A group of Broward County residents will sit down tonight and attempt to find ways of getting more money to support schools here.

The meeting, open to School Board members and directors of the Broward County Taxpayers Association, will start at 7:30 p.m. in the school administration building.

"Our aim is to find ways of broadening the tax base, either on a county or state level," said Charles Forman, chairman of the tax group's committee on education.

Suspect Sought

A man who was shot while allegedly breaking into a nightclub was being sought Wednesday by FORT LAUDERDALE police.

City police said James Newton, 24, Negro, 304 NW Fourth Ave., escaped while being treated at Provident Hospital. Newton was shot in the chest by a night watchman at the Downbeat Club, 623 NW 15th Ave., police reported. He's been charged with breaking and entering.

Erosion, Zoning

Erosion and zoning will be the main topics of discussion when the Broward County League of Municipalities meets Thursday night at the city hall in DEERFIELD BEACH.

The group will discuss a legislative bill to provide a county regional planning board. They're also expected to talk about creation of an erosion prevention district, as proposed recently by Deerfield Mayor Barney Chalker.

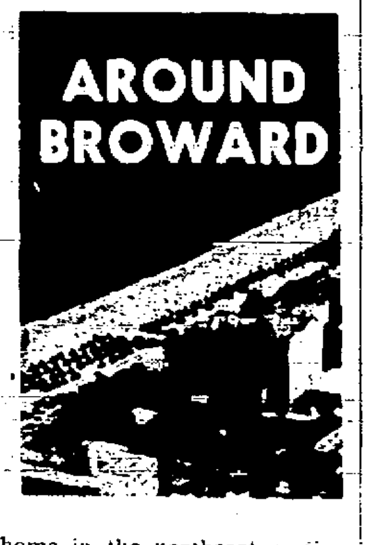
Fire Setter

A 12-year-old admitted starting three separate building fires because he "liked to hear the sirens," Hollywood police reported.

The blazes were set at the International Arcade building and a two-car garage and a home in the northeast section, police said. The boy was seen at all the fires, police said.



Newspapers and telephone directory pages, stuffed in a paper basket in the washroom, were ignited and caused about $200 damage to the arcade, police said. The boy was turned over to Junior Haven detention home pending action by Juvenile Court authorities.

The awards went to Jesse Barrs, 35 years service; Riley Walters, 33 years; Fire Chief H. L. Cook, 33 years; Denver Pruitt, 31 years; N. J. Renn, 30 years; City Clerk Mrs. Blanche Mann, 27 years; and Ernest Barrs, Jack La Marr and Connie Sutton, all 25 years service with the city.

Duplex Study

POMPANO BEACH City Attorney Eugene Betts said Wednesday there is a "good possibility" the city will institute action against Fort Lauderdale Contractor Frank Cassoli for violating zoning regulations.

The City Commission Tuesday heard of instances where Cassoli filed plans for a duplex with the Building Department, but ended up building a three-rental unit in an area zoned only for two-family dwellings.

Building Inspector Howard Lane Wednesday was busy searching old building permit records to turn over to City Manager James Hughes to pinpoint the violations.

Hughes said if it is finally determined that "a violation did occur, we'll work on it."

Brush Off

HOLLYWOOD City Commissioner Jerry Tardiff Wednesday brushed off local newspaper criticism of his selling liability insurance to the soft drink and golf cart concessions at city-owned Orange Brook Golf Course.

He indicated the premiums were in the vicinity of $50.

'Get Rapport,' Says One of Top Jaycees

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Personality is more important in dealing with delinquents than formal education, said Loren E. Schnack.

Schnack is county judge in Quincy, Ill., and was chosen by the Jaycees as one of the nation's 10 outstanding young men for his work with delinquents.

Loren E. Schnack
. . . 'get en rapport'

"Rapport (ability to establish a harmonious relationship) is important. Either you have it or you don't, and if you don't, a formal education is no help," he said. "Rapport can't be taught."

Schnack, 32, is here for the Jaycees' Congress honoring the 10 men chosen as the nation's best.

He said he spent many off-hours and evenings getting to know the residents of high-delinquency neighborhoods. A prime cause of delinquency is failure of an individual to be absorbed into the culture of a community, he said.

Schnack pointed out this was particularly difficult in areas where the population is transient, but he said it can be done. Natural leaders in the neighborhood can accomplish a great deal, he said.

"I've sent some of my best friends to jail and they've come back to help me."

Rehabilitation of a delinquent depends a great deal on the individual community, he explained.

"Many times a child who has been in trouble cannot gain acceptance among people of the community. He can only get acceptance in the environment that got him into trouble in the first place.

"Then organized society wonders why he's not rehabilitated."

Leadership Seen No. 1 U.S. Need

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The one great need of the U.S. as it faces massive problems on every hand is "dynamic leadership," the president of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday.

In the first major address of the Ten Outstanding Young Men Congress in progress here this week, Robert V. Cox told the Downtown Rotary Club the Jaycee movement is attempting to supply that leadership.

"Here's where the Junior Chamber of Commerce comes in," said Cox, a Chapel Hill, N.C., clothier. "Our basic philosophy is leadership training through community service."

Too many Americans, he added, "are forgetting how important the governmental unit of the family is — that the family is the bedrock, the grass roots."

Members of the U.S. Jaycee executive committee and leaders of the local organization were present at the meeting.

Today at noon the TOYM selections who have arrived here, and their wives, will be entertained at luncheon at Bahia-Mar Yacht Center, aboard the Bernard Castro and Kraft Co. boats. Dinner is to be at the Galt Ocean Mile Hotel.

Jaycees Caught in 'Nutty' Fix

By RICK TUTTLE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Coconuts, anyone?

If so, call the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It's in trouble, and if someone doesn't help out soon, the Jaycees will be a red-faced bunch—not coconuts.

Despite reports of an estimated 25,000 coconut palms in Hollywood, the Jaycees have had trouble collecting a half-dozen, President Niles Cooney said.

The Jaycees here promised the officials of the Ten Outstanding Young Men Congress they would provide at least 500 coconuts as souvenirs for the big luncheon Saturday.

They are a little short—494 short, as of Wednesday night.

"We could use more than 500," Cooney said.

Jaycees will be combing the area Friday and Saturday in search of the fruit.

The various towns in South Broward haven't trimmed the coconut palms since the hurricane season ended in November.

"Guess they're out of season, too," Cooney aid.

So if you have any extra coconuts hanging around, call WA 3-1122. A Jaycee will be right out.

Seminoles Choose New Attorney

Herald Bureau

DANIA SEMINOLE RESERVATION — Attorney A. J. Ryan Jr. has been appointed counsel for the Governing Tribal Council, it was announced Wednesday.

Ryan replaces Miami Attorney O. B. White, censured by the council recently for criticizing the Indian Affairs Bureau in Washington and an Indian agent here in connection with a land lease.

Council President Billy Osceola, acting with majority approval, refused to sign White's two-year contract as council attorney.

The council disagreed with the published reports and said White acted without proper authority in speaking for the Indians.

White was reported ill Wednesday and could not be reached for comment.

Laura Mae Osceola, council secretary, said the council attorney receives $25 for each meeting he attends.

No Autopsy Allowed

Pneumonia Claimed Patient Turned Back by Hospitals

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A doctor said Wednesday that the death of Albert Wulff, 54, of Pompano Beach, was due to "neumonitis," a form of pneumonia.

Wulff died at Broward General Hospital Tuesday afternoon. He had been admitted at 3:15 a.m. Monday by a doctor from Broward County Medical Association, after a policeman had tried in vain to get him admitted at Holy Cross and Broward General.

Attendants at both places said they had no beds available.

An autopsy had been slated to see if there were any other contributing factors to the neumonitis other than the man's asthmatic condition. But Wulff's father, when contacted in Yakima, Wash., denied authorization for the post mortem.

A doctor said it was his opinion Wulff had an illness of long standing which was the underlying cause of his neumonitis "and perhaps his death." This could be proved only by autopsy. The doctor said he was "sorry" an autopsy had not been authorized.

Wulff had lived in Broward County for about 16 years and had been employed at the State Farmers Market in Pompano.

Fannin Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. The Welfare Department was investigating to see if it would bear the expense.

Wulff had been married twice, but was divorced four years ago. It was reported he had two married daughters. He is also survived by three brothers, Arthur and Raymond in Mt. Vernon, N.Y., and Earle in Kankakee, Ill.; and a sister, Alma, also of Kankakee.

Cops Told to Remember Emergency Facilities

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Letters reminding the Sheriff's Department and the police departments of Fort Lauderdale and Pompano Beach that the Fort Lauderdale Beach Hospital has an emergency room and bed space were in the Mail Wednesday.

Dr. Louis Amato, head of the institution, said he had written the letters and added that the hospital had room for an asthma victim whose admission to Broward General Hospital was delayed for four hours early Monday.

The patient, Albert Wulff of Pompano Beach, died Tuesday.

"We were called," Dr. Amato said, "and got a bed all ready for the man. Then we were told he would be kept at Broward General."

The hospital, a private institution in its third year of operation, is on Birch Rd. in the waterfront building which formerly was the Blue Water Hotel. It has a "fully equipped" emergency room, Dr. Amato said, and some unoccupied beds.

"We're ready to cooperate with the police any time," he asserted, but added that "few police cases are sent there."

Trouble Dogs Welborn Girl

FORT LAUDERDALE — Trouble continued to follow Mary Welborn Wednesday.

The Sheriff's Department received a telegram from the police chief in Cortez, Colo., asking for all local information on the 23-year-old redhead.

She may be wanted for questioning in a murder case there, it added.

Mary was acquitted here last week of a second degree murder charge. After disappearing from a home in Miami, she was picked up in Pompano Beach and put on a plane for her home in Albuquerque, N.M.

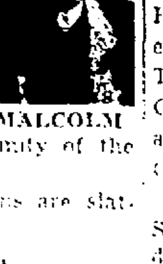
Gives Ill Health as Reason

Malcolm Quits Post At Hillsborough

Herald Bureau

HILLSBORO BEACH—Commissioner Herbert Malcolm, 74, resigned Tuesday from the City Commission because of ill health.

Malcolm was elected to the two-year term last March.



MALCOLM

The town charter provides that the commission may appoint a successor if it desires.

Mayor A. D. Henderson said the matter had not yet been discussed because of the proximity of the elections.

Municipal elections are slated for March 3.

Malcolm offered his resignation by telephone while the commission was in session Wednesday. He said it would be followed by letter.

This means there will be only one holdover commissioner, Frank Neaville, in the March elections.

The terms of Mayor Henderson, Vice Mayor Alan Reid, and Commissioner Anne Cannon all expire this year.

Poling Rites At 2 Today

FORT LAUDERDALE — Harry Lloyd Poling, 42, founder and co-owner of the Poling TV Co., died Tuesday at Holy Cross Hospital. Services will be at 2 p.m. today at the Fannin Chapel.

Mr. Poling, of 2021 SW 13th St., had been a Fort Lauderdale resident for 14 years. He came here from Elkins, W. Va.

Survivors include his wife, Kathleen D.; a daughter, Katherine; his mother, Mrs. S. M. Poling; three brothers, including Sylvester of Fort Lauderdale, and a sister.

'Extra' Expenses Put Under Study

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— A key legislator said Tuesday the costs of Florida's public school program may get out of hand with expenses mounting "at both ends and the middle."

Wilson Carraway, Tallahassee banker who will be chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he considered the state's primary duty was to support the regular elementary and high school educational programs.

Wilson Carraway
. . . 'getting out of hand'

He asked for cost breakdowns on other parts of the educational program, such as kindergartens, adult education, summer recreation programs, and special education for retarded and exceptional children.

Carraway and other members of Senate and House appropriations committees questioned School Superintendent Thomas Bailey during hearings on budget requests of state agencies for the next biennium. The Legislature will be appropriating money when it meets in April and May.

Bailey reminded the legislators the object of the state minimum foundation program was to guarantee every child in Florida an adequate education, no matter whether he happened to be going to school in a poor or a rich county.

Aid the state gives to counties under the minimum foundation program varies widely in proportion to the ability of the county to pay, Bailey said.

"I know you as legislators don't live to levy taxes," Bailey said, "but I believe the only way to get everyone in the state to help support schools is through the state taxing machinery.

"Any of you who condemn schools to the local property taxes would be condemning them to mediocre programs," he said.

The State Department of Education has asked nearly 31 million dollars to help counties build new schools in biennium starting July 1.

This would be a continuation of a program, started two years ago, with a 23 million dollar appropriation. To get the state funds, counties must match the money; but the 1957 Legislature helped by voting to give them 18 million dollars a year from sales tax income.

Legislators tossed numerous questions at Bailey about workings of the state education program.

Bailey said many school teachers had part time jobs in addition to school jobs. Some in Dade County work at race tracks, and a number teach adult education courses at night.

Sen. Tom Adams of Orange Park said he doubted the propriety of using the teachers to staff the night classes and Sen. J. Emory Cross of Gainesville commented the state perhaps should pay the teachers an adequate salary and prohibit them from taking other jobs.

West Hollywood Reports

Adequate Finances Predicted For City

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — West Hollywood is in excellent financial condition for immediate incorporation, the Chamber of Commerce City Committee said Wednesday.

The committee said an estimated income of $323,500 during the first year, plus a five mill ad valorem tax, could support a city.

"We'd be in such good condition that operation could begin on a pay-as-you-go basis," said Jack Meyer, committee chairman.

The figures were based on a comptroller's report, released by the chamber.

Except for the ad valorem tax, the income would be derived from excise levies such as licenses, construction permits, fines and forfeitures, cigaret and utility taxes.

According to the report, West Hollywood had more than $50,000 in construction permit fees alone during 1958, as compared with $42,000 in Pompano Beach and $52,500 in North Miami Beach.

The ad valorem tax, Meyer said, is low in comparison with other cities of similar size.

"For example, Pompano Beach levies 8.3 mills, which brings the city $554,000 annually," he said.

The committee has suggested a mayor and council be elected to serve without pay, as in nearby Miramar.

Fire and police departments would be salaried.

Added revenue during the second year would come from telephone, electric, and gas franchises, Meyer said.

The committee will ask the Legislature for authority to hold a referendum by next November. It will be the fifth attempt to incorporate here.

Regis Reasbeck, president of the chamber, said a proposed referendum in Holwood on annexation of West Hollywood would not alter the plan.

The chamber's aim, he said, is to inform the public of costs, and benefits of incorporation, then let residents decide the issue at the polls.

Water Bill Drive Scores

DANIA — City Manager Charles Peters reports success in a crackdown on residents who haven't been paying their water bills.

A delinquent list of about 80 users has been reduced to 33, with more than $1,000 in overdue payments collected during the past three weeks, Peters said.

Joins School in Fight

Minister Opposes Bar Plan

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A Presbyterian minister objected Wednesday to plans for a cocktail lounge that would be 750 feet from his church.

The Rev. Joseph Scharer, pastor of the Plaza Presbyterian Church, 201 SW 38th Ave., registered the complaint at a School Board meeting.

He said approximately half of the church's 232 members plan to support his view at a County Commission zoning meeting Friday.

School officials told Mr. Scharer they, too, are opposed to the plan.

The lounge would be 2,150 feet from the new Parkway Junior High School on W. Broward Blvd.—350 feet under the minimum distance set by zoning laws.

Developers of the Plaza Shopping Center, in which the lounge would be, are hopeful the county will make an exception in their case.

They say the lounge would be in a cafeteria and wouldn't have an outside entrance.

Opponents have pointed out that the design could be changed later on.

"If the county gives in, the results could be pathetic," the pastor told school officials.

First Federal Official Takes Broward Bank Post

FORT LAUDERDALE — The president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association is now a director of the Broward National Bank.

Election of E. Thomas Wilburn to the Broward bank's board was announced Wednesday, following a stockholders and directors meeting Tuesday.

Also announced was the elevation of J. D. Camp from the presidency of the Broward to the chairmanship of the board. Executive Vice President Arthur W. Saarinen was made president.

Ernest N. Orr, formerly assistant to Camp, was elected a vice president, and Paul Basye, assistant vice president.

Sooners Don't Dig Those New Dugouts

Oklahoma 'Insulted,' Wants to Quit Bowl

'Pro Bowl' talk Revived . . . Page 2D

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma, sizzling over insults hurled at its won't-sit-down football players New Year's Day, Wednesday proclaimed it doesn't "have to go" to the Orange Bowl."

Oklahoma's Board of Regents asked the Big Eight Conference to amend the contract requiring the league champion to play in the game, and at least one Orange Bowl Committeeman agreed that would be a splendid idea.

President George L. Cross said his request stemmed directly from the hassle over Oklahoma players not using a knee-high dugout for its substitutes during the 21-6 victory over Syracuse New Year's Day. The Sooners were pelted with insults, paper cups and ice cubes by irate box seat fans who paid $7.50 to see a bunch of broad backs.

"I want to go on record to this board (Oklahoma Board of Regents) that our team will not go to Miami again until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior at the sideline," Cross said in Norman, Oklahoma.

"If there isn't a clear understanding about that behavior," fired OB Committeeman Van C. Kussrow, "we don't want that team back. We paid Oklahoma to come here, they didn't pay us."

Cross said the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level.

Kussrow could only gasp at this.

"And I," he finally said, "was one of the men who negotiated the contract which brought Oklahoma here."

Under terms of the new three-year... contract which started with the Oklahoma-Syracuse contest, no Big Eight team can appear in the Orange Bowl two years in a row. The rule was waived this year due to the Bowl's Silver Anniversary, but Oklahoma now is ineligible for the game until 1961.

A just-expired five-year contract called for the Big Eight champion to meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. Oklahoma played in the Orange Bowl twice — defeating Maryland in 1954 and 1956 — under that pact. The Sooners also beat Duke in 1958 and lost to Tennessee in 1939.

Cross proposed that the Big Eight select one of its members, but not necessarily the champion, to play in the Orange Bowl until the contract runs out. (The present contract definitely calls for the champion unless the same team wins the title two years in a row.

He told the regents he thinks the Orange Bowl will welcome such an amendment as an "out." He said he thought Oklahomans and Miamians were "bored with each other."

"I would not use the word 'bored'," said Kussrow. "But my personal feeling is that we might be better off choosing a team at large.

"Oklahoma can only come here in 1961.

New Auxiliary Building

Herald Expands Press Facilities

Six high-speed newspaper press units soon will thunder out another tribute to Miami's dynamic population progress.

They are being installed by The Miami Herald in a new auxiliary building in the city's Northwest section.

The additional full-color units will go into operation this spring, in March or April, General Manager James L. Knight announced Wednesday.

The equipment will bridge the gap pending completion of The Herald's new 20-million-dollar building which will rise between Venetian and MacArthur causeways on Biscayne Bay.

Plans for the big central building call for 8 presses consisting of 59 units.

"But our circulation growth has been so rapid that we cannot wait for completion of the dew plant," Knight pointed out.

The extra equipment will mark a sharp jump in printing capacity over The Herald's current 32 units in operation at the present downtown location.

The auxiliary plant will remain in operation even after opening of the new building, the general manager said.

"The equipment will enable the paper to solve many production problems which have developed in our circulation growth," he explained. It probably will be used to produce The Herald's state editions and possibly some of its suburban issues.

The auxiliary building fronts on NW 24th Ave. between 22nd and 23rd St. Its 21,000 square feet will provide space for 24 units if needed, and will house complete wrapping, bundling and mailing equipment.

Gearing to meet the challenge of South Florida's dramatic growth, The Herald already had acquired warehouse facilities across the Seaboard Airline tracks from the new auxiliary building. The warehouse added storage space for 7,500 tons of newsprint. The facilities will be served by their

New Panama Coast Line Law Sticks

PANAMA CITY, Panama — (AP) — The National Assembly unanimously rejected a U.S. request for reconsideration of its law extending Panama's territorial waters. The extension to 12 miles boxes in the Panama Canal entrances.

An assembly resolution asked friendly nations to support the extension from the previous three-mile limit. The law passed last month promised free passage to innocent shipping.

During a debate on the U.S. request, former Foreign Minister Aquilino Boyd called for Panama to receive half of the gross revenue from the canal, which is operated by the U.S. under long-term treaty.

Boyd, who has presidential ambitions, asserted that the U.S. makes 100 million dollars from the canal while paying Panama only $1,900,000 a year. He said Panama was not seeking a voice in canal administration but considered half of the total income as its fair share.

The Panama Canal Co. reported that in the year ending July 1 it collected nearly 43 million dollars in tolls and made a net profit of $2,656,000. The U.S. pays Panama $1,930,000 a year for use of the 10-mile-wide canal strip, which includes three miles of the water off each end.

Goldwater Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican senators Wednesday postponed for a week a showdown vote on the question of installing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as their campaign chairman.

The postponement was announced by Sen. Styles Bridges (New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, as he left a closed meeting of his Republican colleagues.

The senators had assembled to consider a proposed rule change which would let those GOP senators seeking reelection next year choose the campaign chairman. This move apparently would assure the selection of Goldwater.

Developer's Suit Being Studied

WEST PALM BEACH — Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow Wednesday took under advisement a suit by Perini-Westward Developers aimed at blocking annexation of a 225-acre tract by the town of Mangonia Park.

The suit asks the court to nullify an annexation ordinance adopted by the town council Sept. 16.

The contested land is just north of W. 45th St., and contiguous to the western city limits of Mangonia Park. It is separated from the westward expansion area by 45th St.

In a hearing before Judge Morrow, officials of Mangonia Park claimed they had already annexed the land. They said there was only one public notice remaining to be published when Perini-Westward filed the injunction suit.

They also denied allegations that they could not furnish proper water, sewer and drainage services.

Westward Developers, who joined Property Owners Helen K. Homan and Gertrude K. Pettengill in the suit, said it owns part of the land and is under contract to purchase the rest.

Ike Against Stiffening Integration

Says Voting Rights More Important

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected the idea of new federal legislation to enforce public school integration. He said it was more important for the new Congresss to strengthen Negro voting rights.

Eisenhower made the statement during an unprecedented 50-minute question-and-answer session with more than 500 members of the National Press Club which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The President said that once the right to vote is firmly guaranteed by federal law, state and local voters would solve the school problem and insure the proper observance of their other rights."

Eisenhower described as "tragic" the fact that public schools were shut down in some areas to avoid compliance with Federal Court integration orders. He said the image of America was being damaged overseas because thousands of children were being deprived of their rightful education.

The President also covered these subjects:

FEDERAL ECONOMY — A balanced budget and stabilized cost of living would increase chances for tax relief. However, he is not thinking in terms of personal income tax cuts in 1960. He warned special pressure groups to lay off demands for heavy federal spending in their areas.

POLITICS — He will take a hand in the selection of a 1960 Republican presidential nominee if the front-runner turns out to be a man whose basic philosophy clashes with his. He said there were at least a dozen "fine virile men in the Republican Party I could gladly support."

MISSILES — Russia undoubtedly is ahead of the U.S. in some phases of rocket development and it would be "stupid" to assume otherwise. But U.S. scientists have made "very remarkable progress" in a comparatively short time. He has the fullest confidence in the "balanced" American approach to defense.

Pickets Dog His Footsteps

Kremlinite Mikoyan Wined And Dined by Wall Streeters

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Kremlin finally shook hands Wednesday with Wall Street — its ancient capitalist whipping boy — as Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan lunched with some of America's top financiers.

In a highlight of his visit to this country, Mikoyan walked into the City Bank Farmers Trust Co. building at 22 William St. as luncheon guest of banking representatives.

Police lines were posted in the famed financial district to keep the curious at a distance.

About 10 anti-Communist pickets, headed by their leader, Bela Fabian, handed out leaflets in the area. As Mikoyan emerged after lunch, they shouted: "Red butcher, Red butcher . . ."; murderer, murderer, murderer."

Fabian, head of a Hungarian refugee group, has announced that he has 1,000 pickets ready to harass Mikoyan during the Soviet official's two-day visit here. Tuesday night, however, he gathered only about 20 for Mikoyan's arrival at Idlewild Airport, and in Wall Street mustered only half that number.

New York City has assigned some 500 police to keep demonstrators in hand, in a display of security unmatched except for visits here of the President of the U.S.

Meanwhile, back in Moscow, a radio commentator, ignoring past picket incidents lauded the warmth and friendliness of Mikoyan's reception here. The broadcaster said it proved "how much the people of our two countries want to live in peace with each other and how alien to them is the cold war."

Added the commentator: "There are no differences between Americans and Russians that could cause us to fight each other."

Warning on Budget Pleas to Congress

Don't Bypass Ike, Secret Note Says

It Aims At Defense Officials

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's budget chief has warned defense officials against going over the President's head and asking Congress for more military funds than the new budget provides.

The edict was laid down in a secret memo which Budget Director Maurice H. Stans sent two weeks ago to Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. It ruled out both public and secret bids to Congress for more money.

While the memo did not threaten any reprisals if the order was disobeyed, it said "executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations."

The memorandum was made public at a time when many Democrats were complaining that the President's new defense budget was sacrificing national security in favor of a balanced budget.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 31, fell into the hands of Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D. Pa.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, who made it available to United Press International.

Flood denounced Stans' directive as a "shocking" attempt to impose a "gag-rule" on Defense witnesses.

He called for an immediate inquiry into what he termed this "latest affront" to congressional dignity.

"What kind of groveling, heel-clicking faceless wonders will this memorandum make of Defense Department witnesses before the armed services and appropriations committees of the Congress?" Flood demanded.

"It is a sham and a fraud to say that this memorandum is other than a deliberately-intended threat and gag to witnesses. It is what the letter leaves unsaid that is the true evil! The Sword of Damocles indeed . . . in this atmosphere, Machiavelli would be a rank amateur."

The Stans memorandum said in part:

"It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record."

The memo said direct congressional questions must be answered frankly. But it said any witness "who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget" should point out that Eisenhower's decision was reached "from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of over-riding national policy."

Trujillo Finds 3 Is a Crowd; Puts Chill on Batista, Peron

By PEGGE PARKER
Herald Special Writer

CUIDAD Trujillo, Domincan Republic. — There is a crowd. And no one is more painfully aware of it than unloved, unwanted, unemployed dictators.

Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo and his two deposed colleagues, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and Juan Peron of Argentina, have agreed to ignore each other.

They live within a few blocks of each other here, but they have not met. They don't want to meet.

Their relationship is icily formal. And it is as clear as the blue waters of the Caribbean along side this dictatorship paradise that any untoward deley in the departure of Batista's 150 refugees will be met with "Here's your sombrero, what's your hurry?"

Batista is keeping himself occupied these days with a depressing mixture of memories and regrets. He has broken the silence of his gloomy meditations only once, releasing a statement Wednesday that he was "forced" to flee because he was short of arms.

Written law for granting asylum, plus the gentlemen's agreement among Latin American bosses (who never know who will be next), was sufficient assurance for Batista to fly here in wildest haste.

But as an American businessman here put it: "Trujillo does business only with winners, even if he hates their guts. He has already recognized Castro and wants no political identity with Batista, his party, or his hangers-on."

To Batista's embarrassment, the Trujillo government already has hinted it may turn over his four evacuation planes to Castro.

When Perez Jimenez fled Venezuela, Trujillo promptly returned that plane to the new Venezuelan government. It would surprise no one if Batista receives the same treatment.

Although Trujillo set up Batista with a plush ultra-modern bungalow next door to his own castle-in-Spain-style Foreign Office, he has snubbed him completely. Trujillo has made no "courtesy gestures" whatsoever.

He Sees 'Years of Danger'

Senate Unit Backs Up Dulles on Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won firm backing from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday for his insistence on the right of Western Allies to keep their troops in Berlin.

A resolution supporting this stand was informally approved during a closed-door briefing by Dulles on the international situation. The resolution also backs Dulles' insistence on maintaining free access to the city inside Communist-dominated East Germany.

Dulles called on the American people to face up to years "full of danger" with self-sacrifice and self-discipline.

"We shall need the national will to stand firm in the face of the aggressive threats and probings from the Sino-Soviet bloc," he said.

Formal action on the resolution, aimed at voicing the committee's sentiment in advance of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's talks this weekend with President Eisenhower and Dulles, was held up pending further discussion.

Dulles told the committee the need for "austerity and sacrifice" may continue for generations.

"We may face a period even harder than we have become used to," he said.

The secretary, declared:

"The price of failure would be the destruction of all our national objectives . . . We must press on with courage to build surer foundations for the interdependent world community of which we are a part.

"This will call for austerity and sacrifice on the part of all."

Dulles told the committee U. S. foreign policy has three basic purposes: To block aggressive force, to promote human dignity and freedom, and to stimulate economic growth and inter-dependence.

"These goals are not attainable in a few years, but will require decades and perhaps even generations."

Dulles said the primary threat is the rapid economic and industrial growth of Red China and the Soviet bloc through forced labor.

The U.S. must stand firm in the face of Communist threats and probings, he said, and make "whatever unusual sacrifices may be necessary."

Winter Hits North Again

CHICAGO — (AP) — Winter started a vigorous comeback Wednesday as a broad front of Arctic air plunged southward into the midcontinent.

Temperatures tumbled to near zero at noon in North Dakota and were expected to reach 15 below by early Thursday in northern Minnesota.

Colder weather was in store for much of the area from the Rockies to the Appalachians by Thursday afternoon.

Snow pelted eastern North Dakota and Minnesota. Snow falling in the Montana mountains cut visibility to half a mile.

Cuba Decides to Go On Executing War Criminals

180 Shot; Speedup Ordered

HAVANA —(AP)— Cuba's provisional government appeared determined Wednesday to continue executing Batistans adjudged war criminals, regardless of what the world thinks. Revolutionary tribunals moved swiftly to bring more suspects to trial.

Just how many eventually will die is anybody's guess.

Estimates of the number jailed in the island nation's six provinces swelled from 4,000 to 6,000. Suspects are still being hunted down. Perhaps 5,000 or more remain at large. Some are accused of acting as informers, others of a variety of misdeeds.

Fidel Castro, the civil war victor who now heads the Cuban armed forces, has recommended long terms at hard labor for those convicted of lesser crimes. He reiterated Tuesday night that murderers and traitors must die.

He ordered tribunals to speed the trials. His topflight commanders backed him up.

Castro and other Cubans contend that Cuba has as much right to exterminate war criminals as the Allies had in condemning Nazi leaders at the Nuernberg trials after World War II.

There is evidence of a growing irritation among Cubans over world criticism of the executions, particularly from the U. S.

Cuba's man-in-the-street said the critics failed to condemn atrocities under the dictatorship and that U. S. arms supplied to Batista had contributed to the killing of hundreds of innocent civilians. The U. S. arms shipments were suspended last spring.

It looked for a while early Wednesday as if the revolutionists were relenting.

John J. Skelly, a newsman from Washington accredited at the foreign ministry to distribute government statements to foreign correspondents, gave news agencies a statement saying the provisional government had ordered a suspension of the executions.

Skelly said the statement was authorized by Carlos Franqui, press coordinator at the Presidential Palace and director of the newspaper Revolucion, an organ of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Franqui was quoted as saying the suspension was ordered after Castro conferred Tuesday night with Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and a presidential secretary, Louis Zuch.

But key points in the statement were denied later by the presidential secratariat and by Franqui.

Reporters assigned to the Presidential Palace were told executions in fact are continuing in accordance with due process of law and Castro and Urrutia did not meet Tuesday.

It said both Cuban and foreign newsmen will be invited to watch the trials and names of all persons executed will be published, along with the charges on which they were convicted.

Because of Eye Ailment

Billy Graham Told To Rest, Cut Pace

ROCHESTER, Minn. —(AP)— Evangelist Billy Graham will have to take at least a month's rest and then curtail future activities as a result of a serious eye ailment, his personal physician said Wednesday night.

Dr. Kenneth Gieser of Chicago, working with Mayo Clinic physicians, said early tests had confirmed an angio spastic edema of the macula in the left eye. He said the blood vessels back of the retina were not ruptured as was first believed.

(A spastic edema was described as an abnormal swelling of blood vessels brought on by accumulation of serous fluids because of muscle spasms back of the retina.)

Grady Wilson, a Graham associate, said the minister would continue under examination and treatment here, probably for the rest of the week. He said Graham also would take the month's rest which was advised by the doctors.

Wilson said Graham still was planning to undertake the Australian revival campaign, with its start delayed to Feb. 15 instead of the earlier planned Feb. 8 date. But Wilson said the Australian schedule probably would be somewhat shortened.

Wilson said a complete report covering Graham's physical condition was not expected until later as examinations are continuing. He said also it had not yet been decided where Graham might spend the three weeks of ordered rest after he leaves the clinic, expected at the end of this week.

House Group Seeks to Halt Cuba Deaths

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A House Foreign Affairs Committee moved Wednesday night to see what can be done to halt mass executions in Cuba.

Chairman Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) said the group will summon Assistant Secretary of State Roy Rubottom to testify today. Rubottom is in charge of inter-American affairs for the State Department.

Hays said:

"I'm going to ask him what the State Department is going to do to calm Castro down before he depopulates Cuba."

Short of sending in U.S. troops, Hays said, "There's a million things we can do and I think we should do it."

Close to 200 executives have been reported in Cuba since the forces of Fidel Castro overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista two and a half weeks ago.

After saying he had not approved of Batista's methods, Hays added: "This guy Castro is starting off in the same direction, only worse."

Also Wednesday, Sens. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) added protests against the wave of executions.

Bridges said the official killings raise "grave doubt in regard to the integrity of the new regime."

Fulbright told the Senate: "It is deplorable and much to be regretted that they have not been able to move with consideration for orderly processes of law."

Living Room Truly That

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—Mrs. Ronald Dean thought she had trouble a few weeks ago when, during a cold spell, her washing machine froze up and flooded her living room.

A neighbor asked Mrs. Dean if her living room rug was growing. "I wondered if she'd lost her mind," Mrs. Dean said.

Her neighbor hadn't, though. On the green carpet where the bird cage had stood, bird seeds were sprouting.

Appeal Set In School Wrangle

NEW YORK—(AP)—The board of education has voted to appeal a court dismissal of charges against two Negro mothers who kept their children out of Harlem schools they said were inferior.

A spokesman for the school system disclosed the action at the end of a conference on the board's tentative 1959-60 budget.

The decision to appeal, made at a special closed board meeting, drew sharp criticism from one of its members. The Rev. Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, only Negro on the nine-member board, said:

"Wittingly or unwittingly, the board has erased the last line of difference between Little Rock and New York."

Instead of returning the case to court, Dr. Taylor said, the board should acknowledge what he called the disparity in the education of white and Negro children and work to "eradicate the inequities."

The board spokesman said that "for ethical and legal reasons, no board official comment on the appeal will be made so as not to prejudice the courts."

Trujillo Finds 3 Is Crowd

Cuban leader has been paying all his own bills.

Presumably, this is the least of Batista's worries. Rumor holds that he carted off upward of 50 million dollars on the plane ride from Havana alone.

The treasure was so frantically guarded at the landing that one of Batista's children got lost in the shuffle and boarded a New Orleans-bound getaway plane. The child is now at Batista's Daytona Beach estate.

Batista's loyal troops dine well on steaks and lobsters served a la carte from the best hotel in town. The daily food bill runs to $150, payable in cash. It is.

Meanwhile Senora Batista has been house-hunting, obviously eager to move out of the government bungalow before Trujillo's hospitality becomes even chillier.

She has personally inspected the penthouse suite of the Hotel El Embajador twice. Ordinarily it rents for $400 a day.

The hotel manager said he would be pleased to extend a diplomatic discount and charge a mere $300 a day — without food. She smiled, sipped a cup of tea and went away.

It has now been learned that the Batista party will move next week into a semi-luxury hotel, also near the sea, where the bill is $35 a day, plus food.

Batista followers have turned the La Paz Hotel lobby into a milling, thronged madhouse of noise and shrill Spanish babble. Juke boxes juke all day long and American-imported slot machines are cranked from dusk to dawn.

And in the same hotel lives Argentina's famed ex, Juan Peron, his pretty secretary and two poodles. He maintains a deaf-dumb-blind attitude toward the entire Cuban situation.

He too is paying his own way, although life these days affords few, if any, flings and parties.

The local cocktail gossip insists Peron is broke, that Evita salted away the chips in Switzerland in her own name and died without a will.

At any rate, Peron's favorite pastime is pushing a basket around an American-style supermarket called "Wimpy's."

He is the most popular customer in the supermarket. He kids all the girls, drinks coffee at the soda counter, and buys loads of expensive imported foods and lots of steak at a dollar a pound.

Castro's Men Get a Shave

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Three of Fidel Castro's bearded warriors got their pictures in Havana newspapers Wednesday by getting shaves. They said their commanders instructed them to get rid of the whiskers.

However, no general order to that effect has gone out so far and barbershops are uncrowded. Castro retains his beard.

contract, I would suggest doing it immediately. Prospects are not too good in the Big Eight this season."

Ernie Seiler, who joined Kussrow in negotiating the new contract, said he felt the Orange Bowl Committee would take no immediate action.

"This is all news to us," he said. "We'll have to get the full reports before we can do anything definite."

W. G. Ward, OB schedule chairman, also proposed a "take-it-easy" attitude until the situation develops further.

"Oklahoma's football teams have been popular here, and will always be in demand," Ward said.

Approximately 1,000 fans, their view blocked by players refused to buy that New Year's Day.

Dugouts were added to the Orange Bowl this year to prevent such a situation. Syracuse acceded to the request that players use the dugout.

Tiger Stadium, home of Louisiana State's national football champions, has used similar dugouts for several years. Officials there report "no problem whatsoever."

own railroad sidings along Seaboard's main line.

Miami and The Miami Herald have marched forward hand in hand in South Florida's vibrant growth pattern.

Florida's population has ballooned 60 per cent since 1950, with Dade scoring the largest numerical gain. The county numbers more than 860,000, which is 350,000 more than in 1950. Experts predict between 1¼ and 1½ million residents by 1965.

The Herald became the first Florida paper to break the 400,000 circulation barrier in 1958, scoring a paid Sunday distribution of 414,656 the last Sunday in February.

Daily circulation has swelled from 175,985 in 1950 to an average of 302,264 for the six-month period ended last March 31. Sunday circulation has skyrocketed from 203,746 to a six-month average of 366,584.

The advertising barometer shows the area's progress, too, placing The Herald out front in the nation in weekday advertising and second only to The Los Angeles Times in daily and Sunday totals.

"The site of the new bayfront building is being cleared of all existing buildings," Knight said. Meanwhile, plans are being completed preparatory to breaking ground.

Allies Pledge to Act at Once

West Assures Soviet On A-Control Posts

GENEVA — (UPI) — The U.S. and Britain promised Russia Wednesday they will permit installation of nuclear control posts on their territory as soon as an East-West treaty to ban atomic tests is signed.

The assurance was made by U.S. and British delegates during an hour-and-20-minute session of the three-power nuclear conference.

The Western pledge was an attempt to allay apparent Soviet fears that the U.S. and Britain might sidestep accepting a control post network on their soil until posts had been set up in other countries.

In London, meanwhile, authoritative sources said the U.S. and Britain had dispatched identical notes to Moscow Wednesday expressing their readiness to resume the East-West conference on prevention of surprise attacks.

But the Western notes said the scope and agenda of the talks should be firmly determined in advance, the sources said.

The sources said France, Italy and Canada, which had participated on the Western side in the earlier phase on the 10-nation talks in Geneva, backed the Anglo-American stand.

The surprise-attack conference had broken up Dec. 18 without even succeeding in approving an agenda. The Russians in notes earlier this week had called for resumption of the talks today — a target date which the West felt it was physically impossible to meet.

Waters Have Cleared Since Survey

How Badly Is Lake Polluted?

By PETE WEITZEL
WPB Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — It will be several years before residents of the Palm Beaches will know whether they can swim in Lake Worth.

The lake, badly polluted and condemned for public bathing, is apparently clearing up. But no one knows how much.

A survey of the degree of pollution has not been made since the early 1950s, when the lake was condemned by the State Health Department.

According to James Brown, sanitary engineer for the county, no survey is planned until at least 1960.

The pollution was caused by dumping raw sewage into the lake by this city, Palm Beach and Lake Worth. West Palm Beach last spring tied the last raw sewer lines into their new treatment station. Now only chemically purified sewage is piped into the lake.

Palm Beach, with a new city-wide sewer system and an ocean outfall system, puts all sewage into the Atlantic.

Only Lake Worth remains as an offender. And this city will shortly have under construction an ocean outfall system of its own.

Revenue bonds for the program were validated recently by Judge Culver Smith. Contracts are scheduled to be let later this month on the project, estimated to take two and a half years.

Brown said as far as he knows, the water is not yet safe for swimming. "It takes several years for the pollution to dissipate," he explained. "That's one reason a survey at this time would be of little practical value."

The county sanitation engineer said he might ask funds for a study in his 1960 budget request, but not until then.

He added a survey of water south of the City of Lake Worth would be similiarly of no value until the city had completed its ocean outfall system.

The State Health Department permits swimming in the waters of Lake Worth off Riviera Beach and northwards. No raw sewage has ever been dumped into the lake by that city or the newer municipalities in the north end of the county.

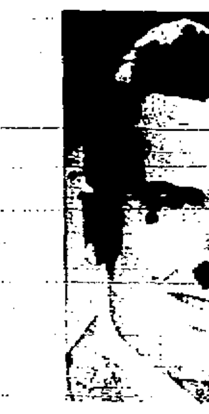
Horner Defends System

Kent's Attack on Schools Is 'Completely Off Base'

By PETE WEITZEL
WPB Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A Palm Beach County School Board official Wednesday blasted an attack on Florida schools by former Board of Control Chairman Fred Kent.



HORNER

Robert R. Horner, vice chairman of the County Board, said Kent was "completely off base."

He said he learned recently that more money is spent in the state each year for liquor than the state spends on education.

"Any state that can do this is not poverty stricken," Horner charged.

Kent claimed Florida schools were about to "spend themselves out of business and the State of Florida into bankruptcy." He said that although educational spending was up 50 per cent, "adequate standards are not being maintained."

Horner charged that Kent failed to take into account the tremendous growth in school population which had spiralled school construction. "School officials are doing all they can to maintain quality and at the same time provide enough classrooms to meet the demand," he contended.

At the present rate of growth, Palm Beach County will add 4,000 new school children next year, Horner said. "With an average of 30 students per class and a minimum of $12,000 per classroom, that still means two million dollars just to build space for them."

"How in the world anybody can expect School Boards to produce increased facilities without money, I don't know, unless we were to put schools on double sessions."

The Board official added double sessions would only lessen educational quality, which Kent also attacked.

Horner said the County School Board, in order to provide greatly needed facilities with the money at hand, has had to shave new buildings to bare essentials.

"We've got ceilings at minimum height, classrooms of minimum square footage, combined cafeterias and auditoriums, and we've even left plaster off the walls," he explained.

Horner said he felt the situation was similar throughout the state, yet "we're still getting more for our dollar than most states."

Florida is ranked in the upper 10 per cent among the states in quality of elementary education, he said.

"As far as this county is concerned, we have figures to show that 65 per cent of our students have gone on to college as compared with a national average of 30 per cent," he added.

"And we're constantly studying our curricula to strengthen it where necessary," Horner said.

Retrial Asked in Bus Case

Drivers' Award Is Challenged

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH—Florida Cities Bus Co., transportation system for the area, Wednesday asked that a Circuit Court award of $23,000 to nine discharged bus drivers be set aside and that a rehearing be granted.

The final decree making the damage award was handed down Jan. 8 by Judge James R. Knott with an amendment Jan. 12.

It left the way open for the discharged drivers to seek reinstatement with the bus company through other litigation.

The petition for the new trial, filed by Attorney A. Kenneth Pincourt, held that the finding of the court against the bus company was contrary to both the weight of evidence and the law.

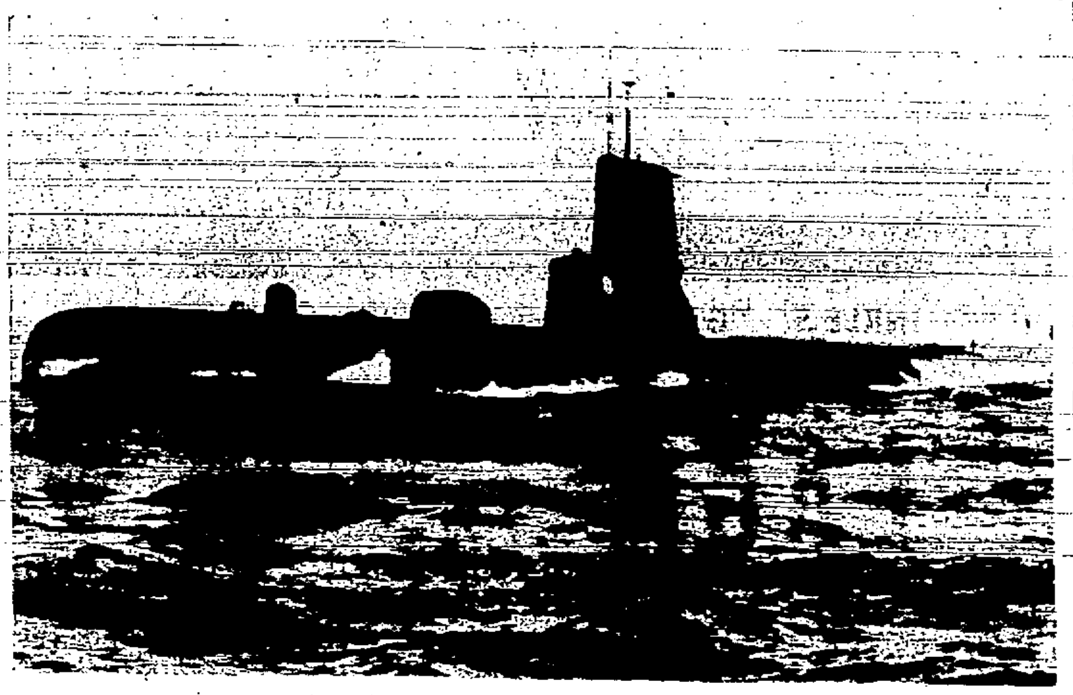
Counsel for the bus lines earlier said that, if necessary, an appeal would be taken to higher courts.

The damage award—which had the effect of reimbursing the discharged drivers for time they lost—was in a combined suit which included litigation brought by the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes against the utility.

Until last October Amalgamated had a bargaining contract with Florida Cities. The company refused to renew the contract, claiming the bulk of its employes are non-union.

Since the contract expired, both the Teamsters Union and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have made overtures toward becoming the bargaining agency for the bus line personnel.

Courtroom Survey Checks Congestion



First To Go

The USS Thornback, a submarine of the "guppy" type, is the first of the 10 Navy ships being transferred from the Key West Naval Base to receive orders. The Thornback, skippered by Lt. Cmdr. Franklin G. Babbitt, has received orders to move to Charleston, S. C. and will be the first sub assigned to duty there. She is due in Charleston late this month.

Day by Day Count Kept On Cases

By ED PFISTER
WPB Bureau Chief

WEST PALM BEACH — A survey is underway to determine if additional courtroom facilities should be installed in the Palm Beach County Courthouse, it was learned Wednesday.

The survey was requested by a member of the County Commission when the subject of courthouse congestion came up at an administrative meeting early in December.

Nothing was said about how or where these facilities would be located in the remodeled building if the survey shows the need is acute.

But in accordance with the commissioner's request, the survey has been carried out by the county engineering department since Dec. 15.

It involves a day by day check of the number of hours each day that two circuit and two criminal courtrooms are in use. The county judges' courtroom and the small claims courtroom are not included in the check.

The survey to date indicates that — except for the holiday period when the courthouse was closed—most of the courtrooms have been put to extensive use.

Until 1955 Palm Beach County had only two circuit judges and a single Criminal Court judge, with one courtroom alotted to each division.

At almost the same time the county launched an elaborate remodeling program for the courthouse a short time later, the number of circuit judges to which the county was entitled began to increase.

A third judge was added in 1955, and two years ago a fourth judge was added to the circuit bench here.

Seeking to solve the question of congestion in the old building, the county ripped out the old, large circuit courtroom and built three new ones for that division.

But in the interval the Criminal Court case load increased to a point where another judge was added, necessitating a second courtroom. One of three circuit courtrooms was assigned to the second Criminal Court judge.

Each of the divisions, Circuit Court with four judges and Criminal Court with two, have two courtrooms at their disposal.

The survey apparently is expected to determine if the current need is acute and what steps can be taken to correct the situation.

Want to Probe Weather Secrets?

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The adult education department of the Palm Beach County public school system is optimistic.

It's starting a course called, "understanding our weather." Yeah, that's right, understanding the weather, that variable of life.

With $2 and eight weeks, you can be your own weatherman. You can do it yourself without depending on such unscientific aids as aching corns, lumbago, or rheumatism.

The course, to be taught by John W. Blake, of Palm Beach High School, will teach you how to forecast the weather and even how to build the equipment that will help you predict the whims of weather.

As soon as 22 people sign up, the course can begin.

The course will focus on semi-tropical climate, with emphasis on hurricanes and storms.

Classes will be held on Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Science Bldg. at the high school.

Polio Hits 2 In PB County

JACKSONVILLE —(UPI)— Four new polio, including two in Palm Beach County, cases last week pushed Florida's total for the year to five, four fewer than recorded during the same period in 1958.

The State Board of Health said Wednesday that two of the cases were paralytic, a 24-year-old white woman and a four-year-old white girl.

One case each was diagnosed in Orange and Putnam Counties.

Engineers OK Plans For Marina

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH—U.S. engineers have approved plans for a new marina along the banks of the St. Lucie canal at Indiantown, Robert Post, executive director of Indiantown Co. Inc. said Wednesday.

Post said the project will commence as soon as excavation bids can be let. The basic marina will have boat ramps, a lift and an office besides extensive docking facilities.

Included in the overall plans are fresh water boat storage, a motel, restaurant, tennis courts, swimming pool and picnic grounds, Post said.

The marina is expected to be a regular stopover for pleasure boats traveling the Cross-State St. Lucie canal. It will be located a half mile west of the Seaboard Railroad bridge on one of the most scenic stretches of the canal.

First phase of construction is expected to be completed by April 15.

Study Under Way

Is Ad Board Entitled To Public Funds?

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Is the City of West Palm Beach illegally delegating authority by permitting the Advertising Commission to spend public funds without City Commission approval of each expenditure?

It was learned Wednesday that the question has been raised and an answer may be sought in Circuit Court.

It was understood that a study was under way, by persons who prefer to remain anonymous at the moment, to determine the precise method of procedure for challenging the legality of the Ad Board, which is not a municipal board.

The Advertising Commission has a meeting scheduled at noon today in the Pennsylvania Hotel.

$560,000 Suit Settled Out of Court

WEST PALM BEACH—(AP)— A $560,000 damage action in which J. Frank Gibson, mayor of Rocky River, Ohio, was both a plaintiff and defendant, was settled out of court Wednesday just before it was scheduled for trial.

Five suits were involved, all growing out of a two-car accident in Palm Beach County March 6, 1958. They were consolidated for trial on Dec. 8 but were continued at the request of attorneys.

Gibson and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Cosford, who were in one car, were summoned for the hearing but it was settled before they reached circuit Judge Joseph S. White's court.

The trial had been scheduled in Judge James R. Knott's court but was transferred because of a crowded calendar.

The Gibsons and Cosfords asked $250,000 damages from brothers Rosario and Robert Bafumo. Rosario was owner and Robert driver of the other car involved.

The other three suits were filed in behalf of three minors in Bufamo's car and asked $310,000 from Gibson.

Larson also charged Hausrath with keeping money paid to him for insurance premiums.

As Castro Beards Sprout

Palm Beach Chins Go Into Hiding

By ROSE ALLEGATO
WPB Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — We're a hair's breadth away from a new fad.

You can see it growing—literally.

But we gals who plunged, albeit reluctantly, into sacks and chemise, will just have to keep a stiff upper lip while the men in Palm Beach County take a fling at a fad of their own.

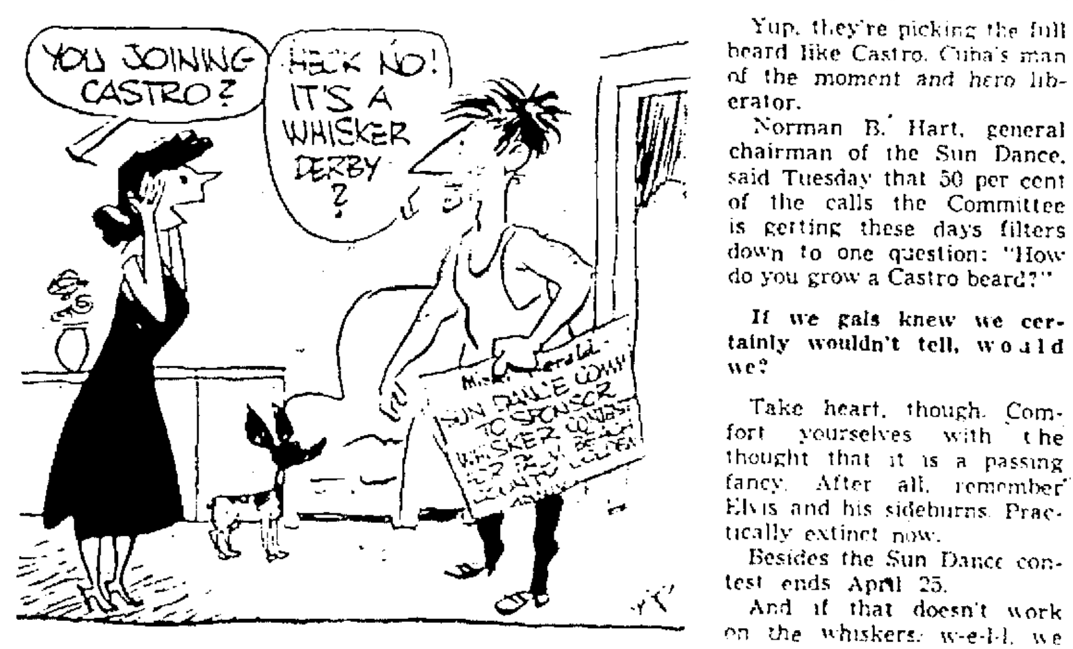
There's a rub, though.

What is it?

Why the Castro beard, of course.

Men in Palm Beach County are sheathing their razors and sprouting a chinful of fuzz. Given time, the fuzz will turn into a shaggy jungle of whiskers.

You don't hardly know whom to blame — Castro or the Seminole Sun Dance.



YOU JOINING CASTRO?
HECK NO! IT'S A WHISKER DERBY?

SUN DANCE COMM TO SPONSOR WHISKER CONTEST

The Sun Dance Committee is sponsoring a whisker contest. They're bringing back the beard to commemorate the golden anniversary of Palm Beach County.

Men can take their pick of a mustache, goatee, sideburns or a full beard to enter the whisker derby.

Norman B. Hart, general chairman of the Sun Dance, said Tuesday that 50 per cent of the calls the Committee is getting these days filters down to one question: "How do you grow a Castro beard?"

If we gals knew we certainly wouldn't tell, would we?

Take heart, though. Comfort yourselves with the thought that it is a passing fancy. After all, remember Elvis and his sideburns. Practically extinct now.

Besides the Sun Dance contest ends April 25.

And if that doesn't work on the whiskers, w-e-l-l, we can head to the hill in a 26th of July movement and plot revolution.

Meanwhile, just turn the other cheek.

Tropical's Gain Increases Optimism Over Racing Here

RIGHT OR WRONG, a lot of people watch horse track figures like weathermen for the barometer when a hurricane is approaching. This is why so many are happy over Tropical Park, which concludes its 43-day meeting today, being ahead of last year in betting.

SILBERMAN

They consider Tropical's being two per cent ahead in its handle evidence there are well heeled tourists in our midst. This is particularly true when you consider attendance was off one per cent.

Tropical's success has inspired optimism over Hialeah's meeting which begins Friday. President Saul Silberman, happy over his own success, thinks both Hialeah and Gulfstream will improve over last year's business. General Manager Elmer Vickers shares this feeling.

All of this means more revenue for the state, which collects eight per cent from each dollar. And fans are happy over having 83 more days in which to beat the horses. (The only sure way is with a whip.)

Calumet's Bardstown was the big winner at Tropical, earning $54,150 in winning the Orange Bowl and Tropical handicaps. The total purse distribution was $1,043,000, plus fees for nominations distributed in the stake events.

Luckiest Fans Had $10 Tickets

Some of the highlights of the Tropical meeting were:

—Luckiest ticket holders were the five who had $10 daily double ducats on Jan. 5, when Gray Ace and Toni Mia caused a $919.90 payoff on $2 tickets.

—Steve Brooks won three stakes, riding Bardstown in his two triumphs and piloting Scotland home first in the Miami Beach Handicap.

—Bobby Ussery was the only rider to score four wins in a single day, accomplishing this feat Tuesday.

—One hundred and thirteen jockeys rode at Tropical and this group included four national champions—Ted Atkinson (1944-46), Joe Culmone (tied with Willie Shoemaker in '50) Charlie Burr ('51) and Bill Hartack (55-56-57).

UM Chiefs Backed Moss

PERRY MOSS, former University of Miami backfield coach, is returning to Florida as successor to Tom Nugent at Florida State University. Perry's bid for the job was Helped by recommendations from UM Athletic Director Jack Harding and Coach Andy Gustafson.

GUSTAFSON

HARDING

Two years as an assistant at Wisconsin gave Moss added experience and he is even more mature than when he was with the Hurricanes. Familiarity with football in the state should help Moss in doing a good job with the Seminoles.

With Moss at FSU the football rivalry between the Seminoles and Hurricanes should be even keener. UM's squad won't need any prodding in the game next fall. The Hurricanes will be ambitious to avenge their licking of 1958.

Colts Banking on Simpson

JACKIE SIMPSON, former Edison and Florida star, should be a big help to the Colts next season. Carroll Rosenbloom, president of the Baltimore pro football champions, said Wednesday.

Rosenbloom, vacationing at the Diplomat Hotel is enjoying fun in the sun, which will include attending Hialeah's opening Friday.

JACKIE SIMPSON

"Simpson was raw when he joined us last October after Army service," said Rosenbloom." The team had been formulated, so Coach Weeb Ewbanks didn't have much chance to use Simpson. Next year, Jackie will be one of our offensive backs and if needed can be used on defense, too."

Rosenbloom continued his praise of Simpson, remarking, "He's the kind of player we like to have with us, because he is a team man. Individual stars are not happy with us."

Why Miami Beach Lost NFL Meeting

THE NFL meeting, scheduled Jan. 21 at Philadelphia, was originally booked for Miami Beach. It was moved back to Philly because the doctors did not want Commissioner Bert Bell to make a long trip.

BERT BELL

Despite having to be careful of his health, Bell has enough energy to be a great commissioner. Rosenbloom said, "I don't think anyone would do a better job than Bell. He considers the owners, players and fans and is available for consultation 24 hours a day."

Rosenbloom beat me to the draw about Miami's future prospects of getting into the NFL. He popped the question about Miami as a possible pro team site, before I could ask it.

"Eventually, I think we'll add two cities — but not next year," Rosenbloom said. "Eleven different cities are seeking franchises, but we'll go slow in expanding.

"We would not go into a city where it would hurt a college team. Frankly, I think the pros would help a college team rather than hurt it."

Your reporter is still of the opinion Miami would be a better prospect for the pros five years from now, When we have more than a million people.

Sooners in Roses? Pros in OB? Questions Fly in Dugout Revolt

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Will Oklahoma's Dugout Rebellion bring professional football into the Orange Bowl game?

Did the Sooners engineer their "mutiny" as a first step toward trying to crash California's Rose Bowl in 1961?

Those were the two biggest questions trailing University of Oklahoma's Wednesday announcement that it does not want to return to the Orange Bowl if Sooner players are asked to remain in the new dugouts — a request they ignored in their 21-6 victory over Syracuse two weeks ago despite loud protests from box-seat fans whose vision was blocked.

The answer to both questions could be "yes."

If the Orange Bowl decides to dump Oklahoma's Big Eight Conference altogether, one of the first moves will be an attempt to land the inter-division playoff of the National Football League — the "World Series" of football.

"I don't know that we could get it," said one Orange Bowler, "but I'll say this: The pros are moving in on the colleges everywhere. Why not here?"

The Rose Bowl angle popped up as a possible bit of intrigue tied-in-with Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson's early-week visit to Los Angeles as a member of the college football national rules committee.

Insiders believe Wilkinson was assured there that the Big Ten will not renew its contract with the Pasadena bowl for 1961. That would leave at least one Rose Bowl spot open for 1961.

"Call me a liar if you want," an OBC insider said, "but my understanding is that Wilkinson feels Oklahoma might have a good shot at the Rose Bowl for '61. And, in that case, why should he go through the dugout business with the Orange Bowl all over again?"

Both the pro and Rose Bowl angles are, of course, contingent upon what action the Orange Bowl Committee takes in regard to Oklahoma's dugout-declaration.

Most OBC members do not care to be quoted on the future of the game.

This much is clear, however:

If Oklahoma does not want to return in 1961 (the next time it is eligible, and the final year of the OBC-Big Eight contract), the presence of another Big Eight team in next year's game would hold no particular charm. Orange Bowlers feel their contract is binding upon Oklahoma but they have no desire to force a game upon a school that does not want to play.

Thus, if the contract were voided, the OBC would start shopping around for a new style of game.

There is doubt that the Orange Bowl could sign up the Big Ten champion if and when the Rose Bowl agreement expires. If both this and the pro possibility fizzled, the Orange Bowl would go wide open and look for the best two teams available.

Automatically eliminated from OBC consideration are the Southeastern Conference champion, now tied to the Sugar Bowl; the Southwest Conference champion, committed to the Cotton Bowl, and — thus far — such powerful independents as Notre Dame, Army and Navy.

He's Dazed

FSU Signs Moss

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Talkative Perry Moss, former University of Miami and Wisconsin backfield coach, needed only six words to sum up his feelings over his new job as Florida State head football coach.

"I am," he said over the long distance wire from Tallahassee, "a little bit dazed."

He paused . . . and then began to expound.

"It's great coming back to Florida. My family and I enjoyed Miami so much while we were there (1954-56), and we're looking forward to seeing our Florida friends again."

Moss, who replaces Maryland-bound Tom Nugent, said terms of his contract would be released Friday but called the pact "very satisfactory."

Moss, who leans to the wide-open brand of football, said he would strive for a balanced attack.

"It all depends on the personnel, of course," he said, "and right now I don't know too much about the players we have.

"But we'll try to mix our running and passing. If we can't run, we'll throw. If we can't throw, we'll run. If we can't do either" — he paused — "we'll probably get beat."

Moss said that high school players recruited by Nugent for FSU before he decided to take the Maryland post would be guaranteed exactly the same terms Nugent offered them.

"I'm sure Tom went after fine prospects," he said. "I'd like to have them at Florida State."

Miami and FSU meet Oct. 3 at Tallahassee. How does Moss feel about that one?

"Well," he said, "it'll be a tough game. We'll just try to outscore UM, same as we did at UM when I was there and FSU was the opponent."

$7.50 Seats vs. 18-Inch Dugouts

Ya' See, They Couldn't See . . . That's How Ruckus Started

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Ya' see, it all started because they couldn't see.

That's the how and why of the New Year's Day fan-player squabble that resulted Wednesday in Oklahoma going cold on its Orange Bowl contract.

Mathematically speaking, it's a squabble about 18 inches and $7.50.

The 18 inches are the depth of the dugouts in which Oklahoma players were askde to rest their feet and shins while the rest of them sat on a beach just above the ground.

The $7.50 was the price paid for the low-level box seats on the northside from which the occupants could see only the backs of Oklahoma's players. Fans behind the Syracuse players were all right —the Orangemen sat.

The day of the game, hundreds of high-paying VIP fans loudly complained that they couldn't see because broad-shouldered Oklahoma reserves were cluttering up the sidelines.

At first there were a few shouts of "Down in front."

Then, several irate dignitaries who paid for their "best seats in the house," complained to police and OB officials.

Officials' entreaties to Coach Wilkenson did no good.

As tempers grew hotter, the fan-fare flamed: "Oklahoma, go home! We hate Oklahoma!" — and unprintable expressions of ire.

Wilkinson, standing with his team at the sidelines, appeared to shrug it off.

Ah, Those Sooners, A Real Scrappy Bunch

Oklahoma's "out with the dugout!" declaration Wednesday may have shocked some Orange Bowl fans, but controversy is old stuff to Sooner followers of the last 10 years.

OU football has been party to one rhubarb after another since Bud Wilkinson took over as head coach in 1947. The dugout issue, though, marks one of the few occasions on which Wilkinson has taken an outspoken stand on a "hot potato."

In 1947*, an official in an Oklahoma game was set upon by enraged spectators as a result of a disputed Texas touchdown in a 34-14 Sooner victory.

Next came the "spying" incident preceding Oklahoma's 35-0 trampling of LSU in the 1950 Sugar Bowl. Some Sooners accused former LSU Lineman Piggy Barnes of watching their workouts through binoculars.

Wilkinson had a spat with Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland after the Sooners' 7-0 Orange Bowl victory of 1954. The issue there was the legality of Oklahoma blocking.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association placed Oklahoma on two-year probation early in 1954.

Blaik Heads Home; With Sooner Job?

Oklahoma may not want to come back to the Orange Bowl, but the Sooners are taking home a slice of Miami's football staff.

That was all but certain Wednesday night as University of Miami Backfield Coach Bob Blaik canceled a scheduled New England recruiting trip and headed back from Norman, Okla., to talk with Head Coach Andy Gustafson.

All that's missing is the official word from Blaik — and that's not surprising since he has maintained a discreet silence through the whole affair.

Blaik was scheduled to leave Norman for Boston Wednesday where he was to talk to high school prospects.

But after a long pow wow with Oklahoma officials, Blaik checked out of his Norman hotel and flew home to talk with Gustafson.

Oklahoma officials dodged the issue by saying Blaik couldn't be offered a job until a vacancy arose. But Clive Rush, an assistant coach, is reported ready to return to Ohio State.
